

A special night

CLAUDIO CUGLIARI / SPECIAL TO THE BEAVER

AT GAIRLOCH: Paul Fulton and Rose Bouthillier enjoy Gairloch Gardens by candlelight during the recent A Night at Gairloch Gardens fundraiser for Oakville Galleries. This summer soirée, held in support of Oakville Galleries' artistic and educational programs, is a tradition and boasts food, fine wine, art exhibits and lots of ambiance. For more information, contact Oakville Galleries at 905-844-4402 or visit oakvillegalleries.com.

A fairy special show

Illustrator and artist Frances Tyrrell will bring her magical world with her to Sovereign House, where she is hosting an art show featuring her originals. The Midsummer Magic 2011 exhibition and sale opens Saturday, July 2. Tyrrell is an illustrator of children's books, including The Illustrated Fairy Gazette series. The show will feature the original paintings and prints from the series, as well as from other books. Tyrrell finds her inspiration in fairy tales and nature. The exhibit will also feature the sales of the Woodland Nutcracker book, which she illustrated and her mother, Avril Tyrrell, wrote. A limited number of books are available and $2 from each book sale will be donated to St. Matthew's House in Hamilton, a non-profit service agency helping families dealing with poverty. The invitation to the exhibit reads, "Children and Fairies welcome. Wings may be worn." The exhibit is open to the public Saturdays, Sundays and Wednesdays from 1-4 p.m. The show ends Wednesday, July 13. Sovereign House is at 7 West River St. in Bronte. For information on the artist, visit www.francestyrrell.com.
