We have frequently heard the celebrated German Bitters, sold by Dr. C. M. Jackson, 120 Arch Street, Philadelphia, spoken of in terms of the highest commendation, and we honestly believe that it is one of the best medicines advertised for the complaints for which it is recommended. They are pleasant to the taste, and can be taken under any circumstances by the most delicate stomach. The press far and wide have united in commending this invaluable remedy for dyspepsia, debility, &c.; and such are the healing effects of the potent, that we hope it may be introduced to every family where dyspepsia has or is likely to have a victim. See advertisement. 193

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS will cure any disease of the Skin of the longest standing.—William Frederick Anderson, of Parry Islands, suffered for a long time from eruptions on the skin, his face, arms, and legs, were covered with little pustules and sores of a scorbutic nature,—for the cure of this unsightly and painful disfigurement, he tried a variety of remedies, which failed to benefit him. At last he tried Holloway's Ointment and Pills, which very soon produced a favorable change, and by a few weeks' perseverance in these remedies, he was completely cured. This famous Ointment will cure ulcers and old wounds of twenty years standing. 193

When Machon, the Greek Physician was slain, Homer said of him, 'a good Physician is worth as much as a whole army.' Then a good medicine like Ayer's Cathartic Pills, is worth a great deal more, because it cures as well, works wider, and lasts longer. The circle of the best Physician's labor must be narrow, while such a remedy is available to all—can be had by every body, and is worth having. 193

DYSPEPSIA.—We call the attention of our readers to the following notice from the Buffalo Christian Advocate: "It is startling to whomever has suffered from Headache, Sickness, Nervousness, Low Spirits, Dimness of Vision with Motes, Specks or Webs before the Eyes, Itching of the Nostils, Dullness of Hearing and Ringing or Drumming in the Ears, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Tightness or Weight about the Chest, Difficulty of Breathing, Sense of Suffocation in lying down or in ascending stairs, Palpitation or uneasy feeling about the Heart, irregular or deficient Appetite, Sense of Sinking at the Heart, Sinking at the Stomach, Acidity, Heartburn, pain or fullness in the Abdomen, or Costiveness, to experienced some of the symptoms of that dreadful disease so common in this country—Dyspepsia! We would call attention to the fact that Dr. McCurdy's Dyspepsia Elixir, is the only really scientific remedy ever introduced to the public for the certain and rapid cure of all the above symptoms and the entire eradication of Dyspepsia from the system. Our table has to our knowledge cured a case of ten years standing, and it never fails to give relief."

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS! Pills that are Pills! Prof. Hayes, State Chemist of Massachusetts, says they are the best of all Pills, and annexed are the men who certify that Dr. Hayes knows, viz:—
Lemuel Shaw, Chief Justice Supreme Court of Mass., Lemuel Washburn, Governor of Mass., W. C. Plunkett, Lieut. Governor of Mass., Edward Everett, Ex-Sec. of State and Senator of U. S., Robert C. Winthrop, Ex-Speaker House Rep. U. S. A., Abbott Lawrence, Minister Plenipot. to Great Britain, † John B. Fitzpatrick, Catholic Bishop of Boston. Men that are Men. ‡ Among the diseases this Pill has cured with astonishing rapidity, we may mention—Costiveness, Bilious Complaints, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Heartburn, Headache arising from a foul Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Morbid inaction of the Bowels, and pain arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, all Ulcerous and Cutaneous Diseases, which require an evacuant Medicine, Scrofula or King's Evil. They also by purifying the blood and stimulating the system, cure many Complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach; such as Deafness, Partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability, Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout, and other kindred complaints, arising from a low state of the body, or obstructions of the functions. They are the best Purgative Medicine ever discovered, and you will but need to use them once to know it.
Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Ms. and sold by every respectable Druggist in Canada and the United States.
‡ Sold by H. Peters, H. H. Parker, and all Druggists in Kingston and vicinity. 218-15sep

The Campaign in Asia Minor.

Intelligence from Asia Minor is reported to be more favourable to the Turks. According to a Turkish bulletin the Russians advanced, on the 4th of August, against the entrenchment of Kars, and attacked a battery. An artillery fight ensued, which lasted two hours, and the Russians retired, leaving 100 dead. Allowing for exaggeration, it would seem that no general attack had been attempted. Erzeroum is said to be completely relieved. At Kerpi-Reni, a village on the road to Kars, a skirmish of cavalry took place. Afterwards the Russians broke up their camp before Erzeroum and retired on Kars, across the Soghanli range of hills.

Letters say that Omar Pacha will not go to Kars, but will move on to Teflis with the twofold object of menacing the communication of the Russians with Georgia and cutting off their retreat, also of presenting an opportunity to the Circassians and other mountain tribes to join them.

THE BALTIC SEA.

Dantzic, Aug. 31.—The Greyser, 7, commander R. Dew, arrived in the roads yesterday afternoon, with the weekly mails from Nargen, at which place Admiral Dundas still remains, with a portion of the fleet; the other squadron, under Admiral Seymour, (with the exception of two vessels, which remain behind) left the anchorage off Cronstadt, and is now stationed at Seskar Island.

The truth of the following statements has been confirmed by a letter addressed to Admiral Dundas by the English Ambassador at Stockholm. The Russians lost upward of 2000 men at Sweaborg; the terrific explosion which took place at noon on the first day blew up the magazine, containing the entire stock of shells, and 600 men were killed by it. Every magazine in the place was destroyed, also immense stores of cordage, rope, tar and other naval supplies.

The large Russian man-of-war which was anchored in the passage between the two islands to the North of the fortress, had her sides blown out, and 14 or 15 different descriptions of vessels lying inside the dockyard basin were destroyed entirely. The Russian authorities at Helsingfors have forbidden all intercourse between that place and Sweaborg, so anxious are they to conceal from every eye the immense amount of damage done by the bombardment. The Vulture, after having towed the Calcutta clear of Dagerort, was returning to join the fleet, when she struck on a rock off Hango, and, after remaining 12 hours on shore, was got off without assistance. She is however said to be seriously damaged. The Dragoon has likewise been on shore at Ledsund, but sustained little injury.

The London Times adds to the above despatch:—

Respecting the bombardment of Sweaborg, a detailed account of which was transmitted by the Vulture, via Dantzic, we have learnt through the islanders that, in Revel, telegraphic despatches had been received from the capital, giving the Government version of the affair. In the report they admit a loss of as many as 400 men killed, and about 1200 wounded, which, judging from the vast quantity of shells projected into so small a space, crowded, as it appears to have been, with 12,000 troops, does not appear at all exaggerated; but rather the reverse.

Of the destruction of 160 gunboat sheds there is no doubt; and the demolition of vast quantities of stores, materiel, and barracks, with ships and barracks, for troops as well as blue jackets, is confirmed. Although everything of an inflammable matter was burned, and two batteries were destroyed by the explosion of the magazines, still the actual fortifications are standing, and, probably, on a nearer acquaintance, may prove as effective as ever. The result of the bombardment nevertheless realized the most sanguine expectations, and persons acquainted with the subject are convinced that a continuation or following up of the attack would have been productive of no further results.

Dantzic, Thursday, Sept. 6, 8 P. M.

The Vulture has arrived. She is not so seriously injured as was at first supposed.—There is not any news of importance. The weather is very bad. The fleets are healthy.

Frontenac, Lennox and Addington.

In compliance with a circular from A. J. Macdonell, Esq., a meeting, attended by a number of gentlemen, was held on Thursday evening last, at the British American Hotel, for the purpose of taking into consideration the advisability of offering premiums for an Essay on the United Counties above named descriptive of their agricultural, commercial, manufacturing and other resources and facilities.

The Mayor of the city having been called to the Chair, and Thomas Parke, Esq., having been appointed Secretary, the following resolutions were moved and carried:—

1st. Resolved, that it is advisable to open a subscription list for the purpose of raising a sum of money to be awarded as premiums for the first and second best Essays on the United Counties of Frontenac, Lennox and Addington, and that a prize of £100 be offered for the best and £50 for the second best Essay.

2nd. Resolved, That the Rev. Professor Williamson, The Hon. John A. Macdonald, The Hon. John Hamilton, the Warden of the Counties, the Mayor of Kingston, the President of the Board of Trade of this city, John B. Marks, Esq., G. Cummings, Esq., David Shaw, Esq., Arch John Macdonell, Esq., A. Campbell, Esq., George Baxter, Esq., Wm. G. Draper, Esq., and J. J. Burrowes, Esq., be a Committee to define the object of the Essays, and to select the Judges and make regulations generally, five of whom to form a quorum; and that A. J. Macdonell, A. Campbell, G. Mowle, J. Shaw, and George Baxter, Esqrs., be a Committee to collect subscriptions; and that A. J. Macdonell, Esq., be Treasurer.

It was then proposed by E. Shaw, Esq., that an Association of a permanent character should be formed, having for its object the fostering of the general interests and progress of the United Counties; which proposition was unanimously assented to.

The Mayor then called the attention of the meeting to the injury to the interests of the city, and the adjacent counties, caused by the removal of the government Emigrant Agent from Kingston and requested the co-operation of the gentlemen present to assist him in an application to the Provincial Government for the permanent appointment of an Emigrant Agent at Kingston. The suggestion of the Mayor was cheerfully responded to, and a resolution adopted to invite the Board of Trade of the city to unite with the citizens in an application to the Executive for the appointing of an efficient Emigrant Agent for this port.

The Liverpool Correspondent of the New York Commercial Advertiser, writing on the morning of the steamer's departure, says:

"The Liverpool cotton market, influenced by the favorable accounts of the growing crops in America, and by the increased stringency of money at home, has been dull, with prices of last week barely supported, and, on uplands, a partial decline of 1-16d a ¼d. The week's sales amount to 56,000 bales, of which 43,000 were taken by the trade. Splendid harvest weather has prevailed throughout the week, and the bulk of the British corn crops is likely to be housed in excellent condition. Wheat is still thought to be rather a light yield; but Spring corn and roots, including potatoes, are abundant. Yet prices of breadstuffs are maintained, under the impression, that in any event, large imports will be required. Bacon has advanced 1s. per cwt. Beef and Pork are unchanged. Lard and tallow in active demand, at an advance. Naval stores generally dull. Rice, sugar, and coffee firm. American securities are reported steady, without material change in price.

"The week is more barren of news than any similar period since the commencement of the war. With the exception of the announcement that the Russians on the Tchernaya are again menacing the allied lines; and a surmise that England, instigated by France, is about to pick a quarrel with Naples, the papers contain little else than odds and ends of correspondence respecting the battle of Traktir and the bombardment of Sweaborg—events of the past."

A Toronto Coroner's Speech to his Jury.

Before the Court had been formally opened, Coroner Duggan delivered an address to the Jury, which was characterised by more than his usual eloquence and energy, in the course of which he took occasion to refer to the manner in which the Chief of Police served him, by allowing him one constable, and otherwise treating him with great contempt. He also referred to the services he had rendered to Canada in times of war, and remarked that the Government had rewarded all the cowards, but never rewarded him. He had always performed his duty without fee, favor, or reward, and he never received anything but this d—d coroner's office. The Government had treated him like a brute and he was sick of them. He had applied to the Government for some other office, better suited to his talents, but they, the d—l rascals, had never given him a snap-of-the-finger's worth. Sir Charles Metcalfe, poor fellow, had shed tears when he (the coroner) recited his wrongs to him and asked him to take a pension for the loss of his hearing; but he refused.

The coroner then proceeded to state how he had lost his hearing. It was in the battle of York, when he volunteered to work a double-fortified sixteen-pounder. Ever since then, juries had to sit on his left side. He had performed his duty faithfully; and if he had not had the grace of God about him, he might have been in General Scott's place now—commander of the forces in America—as he was offered by General Denham a high office in the United States army. But he refused it, and remained steadfast to his country, and this was all the reward he had received for his patriotism and services. The Coroner concluded his address, after some further observations.

 If such harangues are made by Mr. Duggan, the Government should quietly supersede him. Any County Coroner can hold an Inquest in a City within that County—Mr. Bull, of Hamilton, who is not a City Coroner, does that daily.

DOMESTIC.

MILITIA.—The Deputy Adjutant General of Militia for Lower Canada, Colonel De Salaberry, is about to resign his commission as such, and will, it is said, be appointed an Inspecting Field Officer.

McKenzie at Brampton.

The Brampton Standard—a Conservative Journal—very properly condems the pelting Mr. McKenzie with rotten eggs in that village on Saturday last. Mr. McKenzie may be a very disagreeable person; he may also be a very mischievous politican. But if any one will point out a single instance, where a good cause was furthered, or a bad man put down, by the argument of rotten eggs, then we will acknowledge that the logic was well applied against Mr. McKenzie. But we will venture to assert that this circumstance alone will double the number of his hearers at his next repeal meeting—if he holds another—will double their zeal for the cause he advocates; and will cause ten men to put their hands in their pockets and give him a dollar towards the agitation, for every one that could have been found before to give a shilling. Besides, these exhibitions cause persons at a distance to think that we are unruly and a turbulent people,—a very bad character to acquire, and a very undeserved one for Canada. It is a strange expression to make but it is nevertheless a true one, that McKenzie's repeal agitation will never small the worse for rotten eggs.

OTTAWA TO MONTREAL BY RAILWAY.—Arrangements have been made between the Ottawa and Prescott Railway Co. and the Grand Trunk Co., by which the former will connect with the latter at Prescott, and passengers and freight from Montreal to Ottawa or vice versa, will pass through without detention. The journey will thus be reduced to some 7 or 8 hours instead of 12 as at present. The Grand Trunk will be in operation from Brockville to Montreal about the Middle of next month. This arrangement will be of great importance to the people of the Ottawa country.

The Quebec Morning Chronicle of the 17th instant, states that the Hon. F. W. Primrose has been dismissed from the office of Inspector of the Crown Domain, held by him for many years past. The duties of this branch for the present, will be discharged in the Crown Lands Department, but it is said that Mr. Felix Fortier, Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, will receive the vacant appointment, which is hereafter to include the agency of the Louzon Seigniory.

CORONER'S INQUESTS AT TORONTO.

Dr. Scott held an inquest on the 20th inst. at the Hospital, on the body of Wm. Osfor the man who was injured on the Grand Trunk Railway, near Highland Creek, on Monday last, and who died yesterday morning. The evidence substantiated the circumstances as detailed in Wednesday's issue. The verdict rendered was "Accidental death."

The adjourned inquest on the body of David Morton, the Conductor of the gravel train, who was injured near Weston on Saturday last, was resumed yesterday afternoon at the Black Bull Inn before Coroner Duggan. The verdict was "That the deceased, David Morton, came to death in consequence of a switch on the Grand Trunk Railway being accidentally left open."

The inquest on the body of Margaret Ryan, a pensioner's wife, in the rear of St Patrick's Market, the circumstances of whose death were published on Wednesday, was resumed yesterday before Dr. Scott. From various circumstances, the husband of the woman was suspected of having killed her, and a number of witnesses were examined, but nothing of a criminating nature against the man was elicited. The Jury returned a verdict, "That the deceased came to her death by intemperance, and from wounds received from some person to them unknown."

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

Gale on Lake Michigan.

Chicago, Sept. 18.

During a violent gale which commenced here this afternoon, the brig Tuscarora, from the lower lakes, loaded with coal, dragged her anchor and had her masts and rigging all carried away.

The crew were saved by a life-boat. The vessel will probably go to pieces. The gale is increasing in fury. Several other vessels are in sight.

We learn from Milwaukie that during a storm this morning the steamer Sebastopol at 8 A M went ashore two miles south of the Milwaukee river. The latest accounts say she was on the bar with the waves breaking over her.

Men, women and children were seen on board. She will probably go to pieces unless the storm abates.

Two men attempted to swim to shore from the vessel, but one failed and was drowned, the other reports that there is a large number of passengers on board.

A later account from Milwaukie states that there is no chance of saving the steamer, and that she had already commenced going to pieces.

A despatch from Chicago of yesterday mentions that the steamer, Queen City, of the Collingwood line, was reported to be ashore between Sheboygan and Milwaukie.

We are glad to learn that the Steamer Ottawa which was recently run into by the Tribune near Brockville, is again afloat, and may be expected up to-morrow.

The steamers Cataract and Ontario, arrived yesterday from Ogdensburgh, with 180 tons of merchandize for Chicago, Sheboygan, Kenosha, Milwaukie, &c., which they discharged at the Northern Railway wharf, and which was sent up the road yesterday. These fine steamers belong to the American Mail Line of steamers, plying on the South shore of Lake Ontario from Ogdensburg to Lewistown. They arrived at the latter port early in the morning, and have plenty of time to come over to Toronto; discharge a cargo, and get back again in time for departure at the usual hour. There is a large freight business being done just now between Ogdensburg and Toronto.

THE PROPELLER "ST. LAWRENCE."—The propeller St. Lawrence mentioned yesterday as being ashore near Niagara, was bound from Chicago to Montreal, instead of from Cleveland. She left Port Dalhousie on the morning of the 16th inst., with fine weather. She took her course down the Lake, and at seven o'clock, when about opposite Niagara river, the wind suddenly sprung up from the northeast and blew a strong and terrific gale—the rain also coming down in torrents. As long as it was practicable the vessel kept on her course, but the wind became so strong, and the sea so heavy, that it was necessary for her safety that she should make either for Port Dalhousie or the Niagara river. She headed towards the latter, the sea increasing to such an extent as to smash in the gangways and to fill her with water. She was thus in imminent danger of sinking. They failed to reach the river and, notwithstanding, every effort was made to keep her heading in that direction, she was driven ashore by the violence of the wind about half a mile from the town of Niagara, where she now lies in four feet of water. Her cargo, which is said to be greatly damaged, consists of 8,500 bushels of wheat 599 brls. of flour, 200 brls of pork, and 50 boxes Canada plate, the property of Messrs. Young, Jones & Co. of Montreal, and which, we believe is insured. The vessel is considerably injured and belongs to Messrs. Booker, Pridham & Co of this city and Montreal, and is only partially insured.

CORA AND THE DOCTOR, OR REVALATIONS OF A PHYSICIAN'S LIFE. J. P. Jewett, and Co., Boston; John Duff, Kingston. 8vo. pp. 408. Muslin.

This is a very simple but very charming Tale of New England Manners and Opinions, written in the choicest of English, and apparently by a woman. Properly speaking it has no plot or continued narrative, but is descriptive of an infinity of incidents coming within the scope and notice of a country physician. "Cora" is an English lady married at home to an American, who takes her to his home, where, at intervals, she details to her English relatives her experience of twenty years as a wife and mother. As we said before it is very charmingly written, and will amply repay a perusal. Moreover, it is particularly well printed, and got up in true Boston style.

Drs. Vivanco and Lanktree.

Nothing is more annoying in a newspaper, than to see two gentlemen, who are old enough to know better, abusing each other like pick pockets. Such is the character of the dispute between Drs. Vivanco and Lanktree in the British Whig. This is the more annoying because the fault originally lay with us, in overlooking the purport of some observations in Dr. Vivanco's first letter. This however is certain, that allowing Dr. Lanktree to be an unlicensed Practitioner, and therefore obnoxious to the charge of Empyricism, he is no "blackguard," but on the contrary a man of character and integrity. With this short preface, we give Dr. Lanktree's Reply to Dr. Vivanco, intending then to drop the matter.

Dr. Vivanco's decent notice in Friday's Whig, is worthy of him, if he fled away from Cuba, he will also follow his pills or the letter he referred to. Such a destiny would become and undoubtedly awaits him. This Filibuster's letter contained so many infamous and model expressions, that a decent person could not let it pass unnoticed. He classes our Redeemer, himself and a few more notorious characters together. He insinuates that he is a subject of great persecution, and cannot stop long in any place. It was well for the poor fellow that he was not decapitated with Lopez. It was well that he tried his heroism in swimming to the ship and saved his caput. But once more he tays to turn the world upside down. Says that medicine is worse than sickness. Calomel, Morphia, Chloroform and Opium, with all the other poisonous drugs, certainly are worse than sickness. He does not acknowledge himself bound by any regular system, discourses of his own not disallows discourses to others. He now says he gave up the Medical Practice in disgust. I am sure not willingly, but of necessity, for he certainly was an agent of death to lay many a poor fellow in the grave, with his Theophrastus practice. He now assails the respectable classical teachers of this city, says he teaches pupils who were many years learning foreign languages, who paid, as he said, devilish well for it, but now cannot speak a word of them correctly. I am astonished that any lady or gentleman would send their children to such a toulmouthed and runabout fellow when there are so many worthy teachers in this city. He speaks of the thousands of volumes read and written by him in seven languages. What has he to show for it, (as when he came here he applied for assistance to the medical gentlemen of this city.) It was as a mountain in labor and brought forth a mouse. Our quality have want chaste and religious teachers for their children, not loafers or would-be-gentlemen. This Bombastes speaks of a diploma. If he comes to me I will show him a diploma, both in my ability and from a Medical Board. There are many runabout fellows who have diplomas, not by merit, but by bribery or otherwise. It was well said in the House of Parliament some time ago, that there were more Quacks in the Medical Profession than out of it. I am not one of the Infidel Theophrastus, but I am one of the followers of the celebrated Galen and Hippocrates; Physicians, whose practice of medicine governed the world nearly up to the fifteenth century, until this Theophrastus came out, and said if God did not reveal the healing art it would be right to apply to the Devil for it. He then said that he had got the real elixir of life, and thus was the great quick-silver, or as the Germans called it quack-salver. He therefore became the great prototype of quackery, which word properly and by copyright belongs to the Medical Profession. This fellow took the worthy Galen's books and burned them before the multitude, and became the great head of the mercurial system, the evils of which will not be known until the dead small and great shall stand before the throne to be judged according to their deeds. If I wished to be austentatious I could get hundreds of testimonials of cures in this city and its invirons; I could also show that the best of quality hundreds of miles off send to me, and are also advised to come by some worthy and unprejudiced Medical men, who could not cure them with their medicine or skill. I now call upon you to show your ability, if you have any, and let the public judge between us, both far and near. My name, sir, I never did or will deny, it is

J. LANKTREE, H. B. P.

Kingston, September 22nd, 1855.

LYRIC.

BY CHARLES KINGSLEY.

Three fishers went sailing out into the West,
Out into the West as the sun went down,
Each thought of the woman who loved him the best,
And the children stood watching them out of the town;
For men must work and women must weep,
And there's little to earn and many to keep,
Though the harbor bar be moaning.

Three wives sat up in the light-house tower,
And trimmed the lamps as the sun went down;
And they looked at the squall, and they looked at the shower,
And the rack it came rolling up ragged and brown;
But men must work and women must weep,
Though storms be sudden and waters deep,
And the harbor bar be moaning.

Three corpses lay out on the shining sands
In the morning gleam as the tide went down,
And the women were watching and wringing their hands
For those who will never come back to the town;
For men must work and women must weep,
And the sooner it's over, the sooner to sleep—
And good-by to the bar and its moaning.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

FIRES.

A fire broke out yesterday morning about 3 o'clock in the basement of the store occupied by Mr. W. H. B. Smyth, as a dry goods store. When the engines reached the ground there was no water in the hydrants, and unfortunately a misunderstanding on the part of the hose companies prevented an immediate supply from the harbor, and the fire raged for some time before anything was done.—The fire-proof character of the building prevented the flames from extending to the adjoining buildings. After some time a supply of water was obtained, and the fire confined to the place where it originated. Mr. Smyth's stock was almost totally destroyed; but his loss is covered by insurance.

Another fire broke out at 10 o'clock yesterday in the stables connected with the Bay of Quinte House, kept by Mr. Clark. The fire is supposed to have been caused by the dropping of an ignited match among the hay after it had been used to light a pipe or cigar. With unabated fury the devouring element raged, until checked by the efforts of the firemen, and that was not until the stables and the wooden rear of the hotel was level with the ground, and the roof of the Bay of Quinte House destroyed. There was here no lack of unanimity on the part of the firemen, but a deplorable lack of water; when a small portion, for it came but in small portions, was obtained, it was used to the best advantage and with all possible despatch. Notwithstanding the short supply, however, the fire was stayed at the main part of the Bay of Quinte House, the roof having been partially destroyed.

The several Fire Companies worked as they always do, well and faithfully, and it is sadly to be regretted that any misunderstanding or bad feeling should exist between them. The Mayor has promised to hold an Investigation touching the conduct of one of the Hose Companies.

The Lake Ontario and St. Lawrence Steamboat Company, in connection with the Railroad Companies, offer to carry passengers from Kingston to Elmira, and return, at the moderate price of $10, for 1st class fare, or $7.50 for the second class.—These prices hold out strong inducements to visit that section of the State of New York, and at the same time to attend the State Fair: always an object of much interest. See Advertisement.
