FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 2, 1855.

The Capture of the Redan

The following is an extract from a letter of an officer of the Light Division :—

"Sebastopol, Sept. 18.—By the way, I must give you the history, in a few words, of a few hours in the life of a hero, and depend upon it, of a future great man if he lives. He is in the next regiment to us, and I have the details from a wounded sergeant of ours who lay next him during the day and night of the 8th. I allude to young Dunham-Massy, of the 19th—I believe the youngest officer of the army. He is now known as 'Redan Massy,' for there are three of the same name in the regiment. This noble boy, in the absence of his cousin, led the Grenadier Company, and was about the first man in the corps to jump into the ditch of the Redan, waving his sword, and calling on his men, who nobly stood by him, till, left for nearly two hours without support and seized by a fear of being blown up, they retired.—Young Massy, borne along, endeavoured to disengage from the crowd, and stood almost alone, facing round frequently to the batteries, with head erect, and with a calm, proud disdainful eye. Hundreds of shot were aimed at him, and at last, when leading and climbing the ditch, he was struck and his thigh broken. Being the last, he was of course left there. Now, listen to this. The wounded around were groaning, and some even loudly crying out. A voice called out faintly at first, loudly afterwards, 'Are you Queen Victoria's soldiers?' Some voices answered, 'I am! I am!' 'Then,' said the gallant boy, 'let us not shame ourselves; let us show those Russians that we can bear pain, as well as fight like men.' There was a silence as of death, and more than once he had it renewed by similar appeals. The unquailing spirit of that beardless boy ruled all around him. As evening came on the Russians crept out of the Redan and plundered some of the wounded, and the same time showing kindness, and in some cases giving water. Men, with bayonets fixed, frequently came over the body of young Massy. One fellow took away his havre-sack. Sometimes he feigned death. At other times the pain of his wound would not permit him. A Russian officer, with a drawn sword, came to him and endeavoured to disengage the sword which the young hero still grasped. Seeing that resistance was in vain he gave it up. The Russian smiled gently and compassionately on him, fascinated probably, by his youth, and by the bold unfaltering glance which met his. When the the works of the Redan were blown up in the night by the retreating Russians, the poor boy had his right leg fearfully crushed by a falling stone. He was found in the morning by some Highlanders, and brought to his regiment almost dead from loss of blood. Great was the joy of all at seeing him, as he was about to be returned as killed or missing. Dangerously wounded was substituted, but he is now doing well."

THE BECOME CASE.—Our columns, today, contain an announcement, which will, no doubt, be received with general satisfaction. We allude to the acquittal of Mr Dixon, the medical student, against whom the charge of Manslaughter was returned by a Coroner's Jury, in July last. The trial was heard before His Lordship the Chief Justice, yesterday, and almost exclusively occupied the Court during its sitting. The witnesses examined on the part of the Crown were, the window of the deceased, her two sons and Drs. Aikins, Rolph, McIlmurry, Grant, Philbrick and Holder. The evidence of the last witness closed the case for the Crown. Mr Dixon's Counsel, P. M. Vankoughnet, Esq., Q. C., then stated his readiness to bring forward any amount of evidence for the defence; but submitted to the Court that his case had already been clearly proved. His Lordship, ruled, that the evidence had not proved Mr. Dixon to have been guilty of any culpable negligence or carelessness, in administering the overdose but simply established the fact, that he had committed a mistake; and, it was his opinion, that the evidence adduced would not justify the jury in convicting him of a felony. The Counsel for the Crown, the Hon J. H. Cameron, expressed himself perfectly satisfied with His Lordship's decision.—And, without a moment's hesitation, the jury returned a verdict of Not Guilty.—This announcement, although it was not applauded, was evidently received with much pleasure by the majority of the gentlemen present, who had assembled to listen to the proceedings.—[Leader

FAITHFUL LOVE.—The gallant Sir Thomas Troubridge is about to lead to the altar Miss Louisa Gurney, daughter of Daniel Gurney, Esq., of Norwich, and sister of the Hon. Mrs. W. Cooper. Seldom has that proud meed of homage which beauty loves to pay to valour been conferred on a more worthy recipent. The descendant of one of England's greatest admirals, and among the bravest of the brave at Alma, the heroic valor of Sir Thomas Troubridge, at Inkermann has become one of the glorious facts of history. Those who record the great achievements of England's soldiers in the present war, will emblazon, in the brightest colors of military story, how, when his skill and courage in directing the fire of a battery had contributed to turn the tide of battle, and when a fatal cannon shot had carried away both his feet—the wounded hero refused to be conveyed to the rear, demanding of his fellow soldiers but to carry him to the front and raise him on a gun carriage, that, before bleeding to death, he might witness the successful issue of the conflict; and then, coolly, in that position, continuing to direct the fire of his battery until he shared in the final triumph and shouts of vicinity.

Preserved by almost a miracle to life—his services crowned by every applause that a nation's gratitude could bestow—his honors hallowed and enchanced by the tear of pity from his sovereign, herself, while placing them upon his scattered frame, the noble soldier now reaps his final and greatest reward in the happy consummation of a long cherished attachment with the beautiful and amiable lady who is about to share his titles and honors, while she consoles and repays his sufferings.—English paper.

This interesting marriage reminds us of the similiar case of the gallant Captain Barclay, who was married while in command of the British squadron in the battle of Lake Erie. It is said that after the disaster he wrote to his betrothed, desiring that she would consider herself released from the engagement, but his misfortune only increased her affection, and she insisted upon the marriage. It is also related of the great Duke of Wellington, that Miss Pakenham having been badly disfigured by pittings of the small-pox, with which disease she was attacked after her betrothal to him, she released him from his engagement, but from motives either of honor or affection he refused to be disengaged, and married her.

A POINT OF LAW.—An interesting case occurred at the last Brantford Assizes, which is well worthy of notice. It appeared that the Buffalo, Brantford & Goderich Railway Co. became indebted to a Mr. Moore in the sum of £55 8s.—and that gentlemen, like many other creditors of the same company, remained unpaid. It appeared also that a person named Kirkland, was a stockholder in Company to the amount of ten shares, a portion of which remained unpaid. Thereupon Mr. Moore commenced an action against Mr. Kirkland for the recovery of the debt due to him by the company.—It was argued at the trial that as Mr. Kirkland was liable to the company for the arrears due upon the unpaid shares, that it was quite competent for any creditor of the company to recover from him the amount of the company to recover from him the amount of the arrearges in liquidation for debt owed by the company. This view of the case was upheld by the Court, which remarked "That the action was brought on the statute which had been framed on purpose to give creditors a remedy in case of wild schemes or negligent management of Railway Companies. If there were any person who had in this way added to the difficulties of the Company, they should be liable to pay up their arrears, not to the company, but to the parties thus suffering. It was no hardship to the stockholders; for he might as well pay the money to the creditor as to the Company. The Stockholder would only get rid of his responsibility by forfeiting his stock. It was in the direction of the company to forfeit the stock, but they had not done so, and therefore the defendant undoubtedly remained liable for the amount used for, with interest.'

The London correspondent of the Boston Post says: "The election of a Jew to be Lord Mayor of London is hailed as a great victory by those who are in favor of the removal of Jewish disabilties. But it is really no victory whatever. Mr. David Salomons—who by they way, is one of the most eminent commercial men in England—has been for more than twenty years one of the aldermen—a life office in London—and as it came his turn to be Lord Mayor, it was the most natural thing in the world that he should be elected.

MR. GORDON CUMMING, THE LION HUNTER.—This gentleman, well known to fame through the extraordinary book which has been received with much incredulity, has opened an exhibition in Piccadilly, where he produces visible trophies of success in some hundreds of skins, skulls, tusks, horns, &c., the produce of the chase. Mr. Cumming further illustrates his adventured by a diorama, which he accompanies by a descriptive lecture. His manner and address are simple and straightforward, and carry conviction of the substantial accuracy of his statements. He vindicates himself from the accusation of wanton destructiveness, by observing that the flesh of the animals which he killed, even of the toughest old elephant, afforded acceptable food to the hungry natives who followed him, and that as for the lions and leopards, he was performing a useful public service in relieving the country from their terrible presence. Coming as he does from beyond the boundaries of civilization, it was pleasing to find him speaking with much respect of the South African missionaries and their work. Apart from the excitement attaching to details of adventure, Mr. Cumming's lecture affords an interesting insight into the geography and zoology of unknown lands.

Little Bits of News.

AMERICAN MEDIATION ON THE WAR.—The New-York Herald says as "a fixed fact," that a new Ambassador from Russia is about to arrive, bringing a confidential communication from the Czar of an important character, relating to the terms on which Russia will alone consent to a peace being concluded. He does not ask for American Mediation, but he will accept it and will at once indicate his terms.

Recent English journals mention that a young preacher of the Methodist church is creating as much excitement as Irving and Whitfield did in their day. His name is Spurgen, and he can scarcely have reached the 22d or 23d year. His eloquence is extraordinary; it overwhelms you with its force and brilliancy, and his voice has the characteristic which Whitfield's is said to have possessed—a ringing tone, and capable of being heard by an assemblage of ten thousand persons.

The Scientific American writes in favour of constructing railroad cars from iron exclusively, instead of from wood, as is the case at present. It is stated that such cars are safer in case of collision; that they are more durable, and in case of breakage more easily repaired; that they are cheaper and much lighter than the cars at present in use of the same size. If they possess all these advantages there can be little doubt they will come into general use.

The Canadian Government have contracted for a semi-monthly line of steamers between Quebec and Liverpool, during the summer, and between Portland and Liverpool during the winter. The Government is to pay the contractor $96,000 a year for carrying the mails.

MATRIMONIAL ON DIT.—That one of the daughters of Sir Allan McNab will shortly be led to the Hymenial altar by Lord Bury. The white washing which his Lordship received a few days since at the hands of the Spectator was evidently intended to smooth the way and "make matters pleasant."

Mr. Wakeley, the Middlesex Coroner, has held an inquest on the body of Lieutenant Colonel Gillies Macpherson, late of the Canadian Rifles, who was found dead at his residence, 49 Brampton Square, on the 2nd October ult. At half-past eight on the preceding evening, he had been seen in the conservatory, smoking his cigar. Mrs. Macpherson, about two, said the Colonel was very ill, and told the maid to go for a doctor. She went for Dr. Cumming, of Cadogan Place; but in the meantime, Dr. Janet was called in by the boy. The deceased was removed from the bed to the closet, where he died. The medical evidence showed that the cause of death was disease of the heart. The verdict of the jury was "Natural Death."

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS will cure any disease of the Skin of the longest standing.—William Frederick Anderson, of Parry Islands, suffered for a long time from eruptions on the skin, his face, arms, and legs were covered with little pustules and sores of a scorbutic nature,—for the cure of this unsightly and painful disfigurement, he tried a variety of remedies, which failed to benefit him. At last he tried Holloway's Ointment and Pills, which very soon produced a favourable change, and by a few weeks' perseverance with these remedies, he was completely cured. This famous Ointment will cure ulcers and old wounds of twenty years standing. 193

When Machaon, the Greek Physician was slain, Homer said of him, 'a good Physician is worth as much as a whole army.' Then a good medicine like Ayer's Cathartic Pills, is worth a great deal more, because it cures as well, works wider, and lasts longer. The circle of the best Physician's labor must be narrow, while such a remedy is available to all—can be had by every body, and is worth having. 193

DYSPEPSIA.—We call the attention of our readers to the following notice from the Buffalo Christian Advocate, of a late date: "Whoever has suffered from Headache, Giddiness, Nervousness, Low Spirits, Dimness of Vision with Motes, Specks or Webs before the Eyes, Itching of the Nostrils, Dullness of Hearing and Ringing or Drumming in the Ears, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Tightness or Weight about the Chest, Difficulty of Breathing, Sense of Suffocation in lying down or in ascending stairs, Palpitation or uneasy feeling about the Heart, irregular or deficient Appetite, Sense of Sinking at the Heart, Sinking at the Stomach, Acidity, Heartburn, pain or fullness in the Abdomen, or Costiveness, has experienced some of the symptoms of that dreadful disease so common in this country—Dyspepsia! We would call attention to the fact that Dr. McClintock's DYSPEPTIC ELIXIR is the only really scientific remedy ever introduced to the public for the certain and rapid cure of all the above symptoms and the entire eradication of Dyspepsia from the system. One bottle has to our knowledge cured a case of ten years standing, and it never fails to give relief."

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS! Pills that are Pills! Prof. Hayes, State Chemist of Massachusetts, says they are the best of all Pills, and assuredly are the men who certify that Dr. Hayes knows, viz:—

Lemuel Shaw, Chief Justice Supreme Court of Mass., Emery Washburn, Governor of Mass., W. C. Plunkett, Lieut. Governor of Mass., Edward Everett, Ex-Sec. of State and Senator of U. S., Robert C. Winthrop, Ex-Speaker House Rep. U. S. A., Abbott Lawrence, Minister Plenipot. to Great Britain, † John B. Fitzpatrick, Catholic Bishop of Boston. Men that are Men!!! Among the diseases this Pill has cured with astonishing rapidity, we may mention—Costiveness, Bilious Complaints, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Heartburn, Headache arising from a foul Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Morbid action of the Bowels, and pain arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, all Ulcerous and cutaneous Diseases, which require an evacuant Medicine, Scrofula or King's Evil. They also by purifying the blood and stimulating the system cure many Complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach; such as Deafness, Partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability, Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout, and other kindred complaints, arising from a low state of the body, or obstructions of its functions. They are the best Purgative Medicine ever discovered, and you will but need to use them once to know it.

☞ EPIDEMICS NO LONGER A TERROR.—While Dr. Jas McClintock was Physician to the City Cholera Hospital and City Prison, Philadelphia, during the dreadful epidemic of 1832, and where he attended two hundred cases at a time, he made one discovery that at once robbed Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhea, &c., &c., of all their terrors. His "Diarrhea Cordial and Cholera Preventive," has saved thousands of valuable lives, and relieved an immense amount of human suffering. Prepared by A. CORMAN & Co, Chemists, 295 Broadway.

☞ MANY VALUABLE DISCOVERIES have been forever lost to the public for want of liberality of their authors to resort to the public press to announce the result of their researches to the world. Notes with Dr. Jas. McClintock, late Dean of Philadelphia College of Medicine. His Family Medicines are known far and wide as bearing the Stamp of Genuine Science. His Dyspeptic Elixir, for Dyspepsia and Indigestion, and the Alterative Syrup, for Purifying the Blood, are daily effecting the most astonishing cures on record.

☞ "ONLY A COLD!" said Abernethy, in reply to the remark of a patient—What would you have, sir? the Plague? Coughs and Colds are the avant couriers of Bronchitis, Consumption and Death. Is it not madness, then to suffer Coughs and Colds to increase in violence and imperil life, when they can be removed with unerring certainty by a few doses of Dr. Jas. McClintock's Pectoral Syrup, or, in early stages, by his Cold and Cough Mixture.

☞ THE QUIVERING VICTIM OF AGUE AND FEVER pale, emaciated, weak, and despairing, is invited back to health and vigor through the instrumentality of two of Dr. Jas. McClintock's most Celebrated Family Medicines—the Fever and Ague Specific, and Anti-Bilious Pills. The Specific breaks the chills, and, if persevered in, permanently eradicates the disease, while the Pills regulate the disordered functions of the Liver, and restore the Stomach and Bowels to healthy action.

The above Medicines prepared under the direction of Professor James McClintock late President of the Philadelphia (United States) College of Medicine, &c from the purest and freshest materials, are strongly recommended to the afflicted. They may be procured in Kingston, of E. W. Palmer, also of E. H. Parker & Co., who are the duly authorized agents for the City of Kingston. 293

As only a sufficient number of Tickets will be sold to cover the actual valuation of the property each ticket holder will stand an equal chance of drawing either of the capital prizes or any other. Immediately after the drawing a certified statement of the same, will be printed in a newspaper, copies of which will be sent to the Agents in the several localities, which will enable ticket holders to see at a glance whether or not a prize has been drawn to his number. In conclusion, please permit me to refer you to the Agents where you can examine "small bills" and ascertain particulars, and let me advise you to purchase a ticket at once as "delays are dangerous"

The present is the time to buy,
To-morrow may not come.

CHRISTIAN THEISM; the Testimony of Reason and Revelation to the Existence and Character of the Supreme Being. By Robert Anchor Thomson, M A. (The First Burnett Prize of $9000 was awarded to this Treatise.)

 Mr. Burnett, a merchant of Aberdeen, who died in 1784, left besides numerous munificent bequests to local charities, a fund to be expended at intervals of forty years in the shape of two premiums, inviting to the discussion of religious truth, and especially to the consideration and confirmation of the attributes of Divine Wisdom and Goodness.

The term of the second competition expired on January 1st, 1854. On that occasion two hundred and eight Treatises were delivered to the Trustees. The judges completed their labors in about a year, and awarded the First Premium of £1800 to the Rev R. A. Thompson, M. A., of Lincolnshire.
