Halton police are looking for a man following a break and enter at a residence on Elton Park Road Tuesday afternoon.

Police said the incident began at around 1 p.m. when the homeowners arrived at their Elton Park home just in time to see a man running out of their garage.

The residents chased the suspect, but the man was able to make an escape.

Police were called to the area and used canine units to try to locate the would-be thief, but were unsuccessful.

No signs of forced entry were found at the home and it is unknown if the suspect was able to make off with any property.

A similar break and enter took place in the area on Friday, Sept. 23.

Police said they believe the two incidents are connected.

The suspect is described as a white male, in his late 20s or early 30s, around 6-feet tall, neatly dressed with short, dark brown hair.

Halton police are continuing to investigate this incident and anyone with any information related to it are asked to call 905-825-4747, ext. 2284 or 2263.

Hospital will bring back jobs, taxes and business

When opened to the public in early December 2015, the new Oakville hospital will feature 25,000 square feet of retail space.

This was just one business opportunity Halton Healthcare Services (HHS) president and CEO John Oliver and vice president of redevelopment Bill Bailey spoke about during a presentation to the Oakville Chamber of Commerce Monday.

The prospect of money to be made from the $2.7-billion project drew a considerable crowd with more than 200 members of Oakville's business community packing the Oakville Conference and Banquet Centre to hear the presentation.

Regarding the retail space, Oliver said there has already been considerable interest from people wanting to know what type of retail will be established there and if they could open a shop in the hospital.

Oliver said these decisions will not be made until late 2013 or early 2014.

Other economic impacts from the hospital, however, will probably come sooner.

"It has been estimated that at the peak of construction
