CITY AND VICINITY.

MANIA.—Jack Frost has gone mad; he has bitten several persons in town.

THE HOUSE.—Messrs. Shibley and Plumb, M.Ps., have been added to the Railway Committee of the Commons.

THE CITY ASSESSORS are going around lively. Help them, and see that your assessment is properly made.

COLLECTORSHIP.—It is currently reported in Montreal that there will be a change in the Collectorship of Customs there.

THE STREET RAILWAY.—The iron rails are being bought for the tracks of the new railway. That looks like business.

ADDINGTON ELECTION.—Mr. D. J. Waggoner, the great defeated, advertises his declaration of expenses in the last contest. He spent $60 in hotel, telegraph and travelling expenses.

BALLOU'S MONTHLY.—The March number of Ballou's Magazine is as interesting, as instructive and useful as ever. For the price Ballou's Magazine is the best in the country, as it has something to suit every taste.

COME IN.—The Bath correspondent of the Beaver writes:—"Mr. Thos. Aishton, who was once a school-boy of this place, has entered into partnership with his brother-in-law. They intend opening up a dry goods business in Kingston, and are now on their way to Montreal to purchase their stock."

TOO BAD.—Alas, the day! This year St. Valentine's day falls on Sunday. The effect of many a fine sermon will be ruined by adulteration through maiden dreams of the blind boy, Cupid, and his bow and her beau too Send.

ORDAINED.—The ordination of Rev. Wm. Fox to the order of priesthood was performed on Sunday last in St Michael's Cathedral, Toronto, by His Grace the Archbishop. Rev. Mr. Fox celebrated his first Mass in the Cathedral on the following morning. He is to be shatoned in Kingston for the present.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.—The Lord Bishop of Ontario is to arrive in the city to-day, to hold confirmation at St. Paul's Church to-morrow morning, when doubtless more will be known of the appointment to be made to the vacancy in prospect in the incumbency. The Rev. Mr. Mockridge's name is mentioned with much favor.

BAD.—The Smith's Falls people were very lucky, they thought at first, in getting the use of the Drill-Shed there for a skating rink, but now they are not so sure about it. The village council and the military authorities are having a little cotillion over the right to the building, and it is closed pending repairs of the breach of good feeling.

SAD, SAD.—The Toronto Sun soliloquizes thusly: "The editor of a Kingston paper, says with a vein of sadness running all through him, that during the late election he "didn't meet with a single person who had money to spend improperly." What troubles us is to know what he wanted to meet them for." The *Sun*man reads the News, then. Humph.

PROTEST.—The Toronto organ of the Tories echoes the cry of "protest," "protest," and urges the Tories to "protest every election, whether they know of bribery or not." Acting on this advice, the Tories here went it blind yesterday, and sent a protest to Toronto against Mr. Robinson. It has been entered in the Court of Chancery.

THE WESLEYAN MISSIONS.—Attention is directed to the advertisement of services to be held in the Wesleyan Churches to morrow in connection with the missions of the conference. These services are to be made deeply interesting by the presence of clergymen of talent, in Revs. Messrs. Sutherland and Macdougall, who will be heard, we are sure, with much pleasure. The annual meetings in the same connection will be held on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

NEW TRACTS.—To-day we received copies of additional issues of tracts for laymen, published at Ottawa. The latest are entitled "The Real Presence," "The Ornaments," and "Our Defence," the last of which ought to have been omitted, as it must assuredly be weak. Our readers have been cautioned already against the pernicious tendency of these works, so that there is no occasion now to describe their character and designs. It is only left to be regretted that there should exist an organization which devotes its time and money to such a doubtful purpose as is the circulation of these documents.

THE TRAINS AND MAILS.—The one train from the East was all that arrived yesterday. Last night at 11:30 one left Toronto and arrived here at eight o'clock this morning with the delayed mails and passengers. One had arrived earlier from the East. This afternoon the running is nearly made on time. We received this morning 117 exchanges, and before we had read them all through felt several times like exclaiming, "How long, O Lord, how long!" They were long, each column looked like two at last. The American mails are four days behind hand now, but any one who says that this was not a good day for postal matter is a villain and a horse-thief.

A Hard Shell Sermon,

In the autumn of 1839, I attended a Methodist camp-meeting in the interior of Georgia, and heard a sermon which I have never, been able to forget or describe. I have attempted several times to write it, but it cannot be put on paper. The main force of it was in the snuffing and spitting and groaning and hound-after-a-fox sort of yelp and whine, to which no pen can do justice. It must be intoned to be appreciated. I have preached it a thousand times for the amusement of friends, and have been satisfied with my effort. I have used it as a remedial agent in exorcising the demons of hypocondria, and have never failed "to send them down a steep place in the sea, or somewhere else, to the great relief of the sufferer.

The speaker had just been licensed, and it was his first sermon. In person he was small, bullet-headed, of a fair, sandy complexion, and his countenance was indicative of sincerity and honesty. His remarks evinced great reverence for the works of God as manifested in zoology and natural history, and "was taking up the Bible in regular order for the first time in his life." He had gotten as far as the history of Noah, the ark, the flood, etc. Besides, "just before his conversion he had been reading Goldsmith's 'Animated Nater,' and the two together, by the aid and assistance of the spirit, had led him into a powerful train of thinking as he stood at his work bench day in and day out. But, whatever his sermon may have been, it was in the days of Noah, so shall the coming of the Son of Man be." After commenting upon that portion of Genesis descriptive of the flood, he "warmed up" suddenly, and broke out in the following strains:

"Yes, my brethren, the heavens of the windows was opened ah, and the floods of the g-r-e-a-t deep kivered the waters-ah, and there was Shem, and there was Ham, and there was Japheth-ah, a-l-l-a-gwine into the Ark-ah.

"And there was the elephant-ah, that g-r-e-a-t animal-ah, of which Goldsmith describes in his 'Animated Nater'-ah, what is as big as a hoss-ah, and his bones as big as a tree-ah, depending somewhat on the size of the tree-an, a-l-l-a-gwine into the Ark-ah. And the heavens of the windows was opened-ah, and the floods of the g-r-e-a-t deep kivered the waters-ah, and there was Japheth-ah, a-l-l-a-gwine into the Ark-ah.

"And there was the hippopotamus-ah, that g-r-e-a-t animal-ah, of which Goldsmith describes in his 'Animated Nater'-ah, what his a g-r-e-a-t horn-ah a-stickin' right straight up out of his forward-ah, six feet long, more or less-ah, depending somewhat on the length of it-ah, a-l-l-a-gwine into the Ark-ah.

"And there the giraffe-ah, my brethern that ill-compose reptile of which Goldsmith describes in his 'Animated Nater'-ah, whose forelegs is twenty-five feet long-ah, more or less-ah, depending somewhat on the length of 'em-ah, and a neck so long he can eat hay off the top of a barn-ah, depending somewhat on the hitt e of the barn-ah, a-l-l a-gwine into the Ark-ah. And the heavens of the windows was opened-ah, and the floods of the great deep kivered the waters-ah; and there was Japheth-ah, a-l-l-a-gwine into the Ark-ah.

"And there was the zebra, my brethereen-ah, that b-e-a-u-t-i-f-u-l animal of which Goldsmith describes in his 'Animated Nater'-ah, which has three hundred stripes a-runnin' right round his body-ah, more or less, depending somewhat on the number of stripes ah, and nary too stripes alike-ah, a-l-l-a-gwine into the Ark-ah.

"And there was the anaconder-ah, that g-r-e-a-t sarpint of which Goldsmith describes in his 'Animated Nater'-ah, what can swallow six oxens at a meal-ah, provided his appetite don't call for less-ah, a-l-l gwine into the Ark-ah. And the heavens of the windows was opened-ah, and the floods of the great deep kivered the waters-ah, and there was Snem, and there was Ham, and there was Japheth-ah, a-l-l-a-gwine into the Ark-ah.

"And there was the lion, my brethereen-ah, what is the king of beasts, according to Scripter-ah, and who, as St. Paul says-ah, prowls around of a night like a romain' devil-ah, a seekin' if he can't catch somebody ah, a-l-l a-gwine into the Ark-ah.

"And there was the antelope ah, my brethren, that frisky little critter-ah, of which Goldsmith describes in his 'Animated Nater'-ah, what jump seventy-five foot straight up-ah, and twice that distance down-ah, provided his legs will take him that fur rh, a-l-l a-gwine into the Ark-ah. And the heavens of the windows was opened-ah, and the floods of the great deep kivered are waters-ah, and there was Shem, and there was Ham, and there was Japheth-ah, a-l-l a-gwine into the Ark-ah.

Just at this point he stepped speaking a few moments, wiped his forehead, turned back his wristbands, run his fingers though his hair, spit at a drutbug his boot in it, drank a litt'e water, commenced on a lower key, and proceeded as follows:

"But time would fail me, my brethereen, to describe all the animals that went into the Ark-ah. Your patience and my strength would give out before I got half through-ah. We take, my brethereen, about the faith of Abraham and the patience of Job-ah; but it strikes me they didn't go much ahead of ole Noerah. It tuck a right smart chance of both to get her all that gopher wood and pitch and other truck for to build that craft-ah. I am a shot of carpenter myself, and have some idee of the Job-ah. But to hammer, and saw, and nail, and split awry on that one thing a hundred and twenty year ah, an' lookin' for his pay in another world-ah. I tell ye my brethereen, if the Lord hed a-sot Job at that, it's my opinion he would a-tuck his wife's advice inside of fifty year-ah. Besides, no doubt, his righteous soul was vexed every day, hand runnin', with the filthy communications of the blasphemious set that was always a loaferin' and a-saunterin, a-roundah, a-pickin' up his tools and a-n splacin' em, and a-callin' him an old fool or somethin' worse-ah; and, to cap the climax, he was a preacher, and had that ungodly generation in his hands every Sunday ah. But the Lord stood by him and seed him through the job-ah; and when everything was ready he didn't send Noer out to scrimmage, and scour and hunt all over the wild world for to git up the critters and varmints that he wanted saved ah. They all come to his hand of their own accord, and Noer only had to dead 'em in and fix 'em around in their places-ah. Then he gethered up his own family, and the Lord shut him in, and the heavens of the windows was opened-ah.

"But my bretherin, Noer-ah had use for patience after this-ah. Think what a time he must a had a-feedin' and a-waterin' and a-cleanin' out after sich a crowd-ah. Some of 'em, according to Goldsmith's 'Animated Nater'-ah, was carniverious and wanted fresh meat-ah; and some were wormiverious and swallowed live things whole-ah; and he had to feed everything accordin' to its nater. Hence, we view, my brethren-ah, as the nater of the animals wasn't altered by going into the ark-ah, some of 'em would roar, and howl, and bark, and bray, and squeal, and blate, the whole indurin' night-ah, a-daivin' sleep from his eyes and slumber from his eyelets-ah; and at the first streak of daylight the last hoof of 'em would set up a noise accordin' to its nater-ah. I've often wondered how their women stood it. Scripter is silent on this point-ah but I toink I know of some that would a been vapory and nervious under sich circumstances-ah and in ongarded moment might a said somethin' besides their prayers-ah.

Here the speaker stopped again, spit, took water, etc., and hastened on to a conclusion:

"My bretherin," said he, "one more word for old Noer-ah, and I will draw to a close-ah. After the outbeaten' time he had, first and last, for so many hundred year-ah, if he did, by accident or otherwise, take a little too much wine on one occasion-ah, I think less orter have been said about it-ah. Besides, I think he was entitled to one spree-ah, as he made the wine himself, and, accordin' to scripter, it makes glad the heart o' man ah. My bretheren, as it was in the days of Noerah, so shall the coming of the Son of Man be-ah. The world will never be drowned again-rh. It will be sot a-fire and burnt up, root and branch, with a fervint heat-ah. Oh! what will wretched undone sinners do on that orful day-ah? They won't feel fit for to live, nor for to die-ah. They will be put to their wit's end and knock and strandle around in every direction-ah. For all at onst, my bretherin-ah, they will behold the heavens a darkenin'-ah, the seas a-roarin'-ah, the tombs a bustin'-ah, the mountains a meltin'-ah; and everything, I think, will be in a confused and onsettled state. May the Lord add his blessing. Amen!"

Some Natural History.

FIRST CLASS IN HISTORY STAND UP.

Why have birds gizzards? Because, having no teeth, the tough and fibrous gizzards are employed to grind the food preparatory to digestion.

Why does a black down grow under the feathers of birds as winter approaches? Because the down is a non-conductor of heat, and black the warmest color.

Why have ostriches small wings? Because, having long legs, they do not require their wings for flight; they are merely used to steady their bodies while running.

Why cannot flesh-eating animals live on vegetables? Because the gastric juice of a flesh-eating animal, being adapted to the duty which it has to perform, will not dissolve vegetable matter.

Why are there so many bodily forms in the animal creation? Because the different creatures which God created have different modes of life, and the forms of their bodies will be found to present a perfect adaptation to the lives allotted to them.

Why have birds with long legs short tails? Because the tails of birds are used to guide them through the air by steerage. When birds with long legs take to flight, they throw their legs behind, and they serve the same purpose as a tail.

Why have fishes air bladders? Because, as the density of water varies greatly at differen depths, the enlargement or contraction of the bladder regulates the relation of the specific gravity of the body of the fish to that of the water in which it moves.

Why are woodpeckers' tongues about three times longer than their bills? Because, if their bills were long they would not bore the trees so efficiently; and when the trees are bored, and the insects alarmed, they endeavor to retreat into the wood; but the long thin tongue of the woodpecker fixes them on its sharp, heavy point, and draws them into the mouth of the bird.

Why has the elephant a short, unbending neck? Because the elephant's head is so heavy that it could not have been supported at the end of a long neck, of lever, without a provision of immense muscular power. Note—According to Cuvier the number of muscles in an elephant's trunk amounts to 40,000, all of which are under the will, as it is to these that the proboscis can be protracted or contracted at pleasure, raised up or turned to either side, coiled around on itself or twined around any object.

AUTHORIZED BEGGARY.—Abroad, beggars are recognized as inevitable hangers on to the skirts of civilization, and treated as such. In Peru, for instance, Saturday is set apart for them, and all the poor who are supported by charity are allowed to wander through the streets, seeking alms, and such an array of blind, crippled and infirm people it would be hard to gather in any other land. The grotesque forms and distressed garments would form a fitting theme for the genius of a Teniers to depict. They are of all nationalities and races, these mendicants, though by far the greater part are negroes, Cholos, or native Indians and Chinamen, and the money that they thus collect they are allowed to dispose of as they see fit.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many doctors bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk.—Sold by Grocers in packets only, labelled—"James Epps & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, 48, Threadneedle street, and 170, Piccadilly; Works, Euston Road and Camden Town, London."

MANUFACTURE OF COCOA.—We will now give an account of the process adopted by Messrs. James Epps & Co., manufacturers of dietic articles, at their works in the Euston Road, London.—See article in Cassell's Household Guide.
