CITY AND VICINITY.

A FORTUNE AHEAD.—It's a wonder some enterprising individual has not thought of printing valentines on the back of postal cards. That would be handy, indeed.

THERE is every prospect, an Ontario street man wishes us to say, for a little tar and feathering diversion some evening, if an able-bodied man persists in making the women of the family cut wood and shovel snow while he loafs indoors.

GOOD WORDS.—Mr Henderson has placed on the Editor's Table the February number of Good Words, which has, as usual, an interesting list of contents, prominent among which is a sermon by the Rev. Charles Kingsley.

ARRIVED AT LAST.—Three days' mails from Watertown arrived to-day per stage all the way. The R. W. & O. Railroad is still blocked between the Cape and Watertown and thence to Rome, so the New York and other mails south have now been nearly a week delayed.

MONTREAL MISSION.—The new mission of the P.M. Church at Montreal is supplied with two places of worship, and the Rev. Mr. Porter of Kingston preached in both of them yesterday, at Union Hall, Craig street, in the morning, and at Point St. Charles in the evening.

THE ESTIMATES.—In the Estimates for 1875-76, presented by the Hon. R. J. Cartwright to the House of Commons, contains a continuance of the following grants—to the Kingston Observatory, for scientific purposes, $500; for Kingston clock harbor light, $300; and for General Hospital, for the care of marine patients, $500.

CURLING DINNER.—At the annual dinner of the Ottawa Curling Club, which took place in the handsome rooms of the Rideau Club, the eight representatives of the Montreal "Thistle," the members of the Vice-Regal, and the president of the Kingston C. C., J. Carruthers, Esq., were invited guests. Mr. Carruthers was chosen to respond to the toast of "Sister Clubs."

—THE COLD SNAP.—The expression, "Did you ever see anything like it," grows in the strength and feeling. There never was anything like it. This is the tenth day of the intense cold, succeeding 42 days of steady moderate cold. The thermometer is still away below zero, where it has been for the ten days, with one trifling intermission during the big snow storm. Yesterday and to-day a bitter cold wind has blown from the west. We have exhausted all our expletives against such weather, and now must await the end in calm and patience.

POLICE COURT, Monday.—Before Mr. Strange. James Robb was charged with fighting dogs on the street; fined $1 or 15 days. John Nolan, charged with larceny in removing goods under seizure. Case dismissed, no prosecutor appearing. This according to report is a shameful case of persecution. H. J. Douglas, bailiff, gave the prisoner permission to remove the goods, and then had him arrested for doing it. The proof of the weakness of the case is shown in the non-appearance of the prosecutor. There should be a law to make the person who makes another stand a trial as a criminal on a trumpery charge take the dock as a criminal himself.

Y.M.C.A.—What a crowd there was at the Y.M.C. Association meeting in the Son's Hall last night, every available seat, even to the platform was occupied; many others standing, and yet there was not room for all who came; quite a number were disappointed and had to go away, not being able to gain admission. If this is the case again the Association will have to procure a larger hall to accommodate the people. It is encouraging to the young men to see the interest that is being taken in these meetings. No doubt good has resulted from them. They afford a good opportunity for people of all denominations to meet together under one standard, that of the Cross of Christ, and unite their prayers as Christians for the furtherance of his kingdom. At the close of the meeting the Secretary invited all the young men to the meeting to-night and also Saturday night at their rooms, and to the noon prayer meeting every day at 12:30 o'clock in the same place. The programme for to-night consists of readings and music. Young men would do well to attend.

SHORTS.—The Bishop of Ontario will make an address in Picton to-morrow evening.—The coal dealers in town must have got up a corner on the weather to produce all this cold.—The Bishop offers St. Paul's congregation its own choice of a clergyman to fill the Rev. Canon Muloch's place.—To preserve coal heaps insure them in the Royal Canadian against fire. Get their lives insured at the same time, for this long stretch of cold weather is very severe on them.—The snowed up ones are coming in slowly from the country, telling how it was the worst storm they ever saw, and that the roads are awful. For three days the county was at a complete stand still.—A man came into our office to-day and said that when the moon was so far north as it now is at night it was, he found by observation, a sure sign of the coldest weather, and that this spell would hang on till there was a change of moon. We rapped him on the head as soon as we could grasp the office poker. He too may "hang on" till the next lunar change, for some heads are very tough.—Remember the Missionary Meeting this evening in the Sydenham Street Wesleyan Methodist Church.

O.Y.B.

The Debate on the Amesly.

MR. RYANS SPEECH.

Mr. RYAN (Marquette) said one had only to listen to the debate for a few moments to see the great amount of interest there was in it. It had divided families, and had divided parties, and unfortunately for the young promise of Manitoba, it had been the main question of public conversation. However much difference there might be, as to what should be done with the matter, there was but one feeling that it should be buried forever. The Ministry, he was convinced, deserved well of the House for having dared to grapple with a question which for six years past had been allowed by the late Government to be as a sleeping dragon, although in the late Ministry there was a gentleman, one of the most talented and probably the most daring politician in Canada. He felt that his duty to his constituency, and to his Province, was that he should give their opinion upon the matter. He need not tell them what was the feeling of the French inhabitants. There had been a vacant chair here for the last five years, from which it might readily be gathered what were feelings of a people who, upon this account, had practically allowed themselves to be disfranchised. The member for Terrebonne had relieved him, as the only member from Manitoba, from the duty of representing the French people of that Province. He, upon the part of the English speaking people of the Province, entered his solemn protest against the granting of such an amnesty as was proposed in the in the resolutions. He characterized the execution of Scott as a murder, from whose barbarity even some of the firing party shrank, and to prevent themselves taking part in it had removed the caps from their guns. The only charge which could be brought against Scott was that he had been guilty of unshrinking and outspoken loyalty. If harmony could not be got without the couse proposed being followed; he thought it better that that harmony should perish. All that the late Government could do was to promise that so far as they were concerned they should use their influence to procure an amnesty. Perhaps the course they had pursued on this question had had a great deal to do with their overthrow and the question for the present administration was not whether or not an amnesty had been promised, but whether in the light of all the circumstances an amnesty should now be granted. He had come to the conclusion that every member of this House who was not fettered by his religious belief or bound by party ties should vote against the resolutions and that the only amnesty that should be granted was one which would not include the murderers of Scott. (Opposition cheers.)

The New Leader

The Marquis of Hartington, the new leader of the English Liberals, is the heir to the Dukedom of Devonshire and to the largest income of any individual in the kingdom. In addition to large estates in Ireland, the present Duke owns iron mines in Lancashire, is largely interested in the great steel works in Barrow in-Furness, and is owner of the greater part of the fashionable watering places in Buxton and Eastbourne, besides possessing shares in numerous manufacturing enterprises. A recent writer says of Lord Hartington that he is 'a young man whom nobody seems quite to understand. He is not an orator, and hardly even what may be called a good speaker. He is hard and dry in manner, hesitates frequently, and is equally destitute of enthusiasm and incapable of exciting it. His great quality is coolness and self-possession.

DEATH OF AN OLD PENSIONER.—"An old pensioner" has passed away in the person of Mr. David Luck, for a long time the care-taker of the old Government House and Vaults in Montreal. Mr. Luck, who was in his ninetieth year, having been born in England on the 28th August, 1784, had been in the service of the Canadian Government almost from time immemorial. His recollection carried him back to the day of Sir George Prevost, Sir Henry Craig, the Earl of Dalhousie, the Duke of Richmond and other early British Governors who held almost sovereign sway in Lower Canada. Many years ago, about the time of the Union of 1840, or perhaps later, Mr. Luck was placed on the Pension List, and given charge of the ancient historical building in Montreal, above mentioned.

POLITICAL NOTES.

—The Order of the Thistle, made vacant by the death of the Duke of Montrose, is to be conferred upon the Marquis of Bute.

—A member of the Imperial House of Commons is to be called to account for having described the Home Rulers as a "disreputable Irish band."

—The Quebec Legislature passed an item granting $40,000 towards building a jail for females in Montreal, provided the city paid a quarter of the expense.

—The Queen has offered to make Mrs. Gladstone a peeress in her own right, while Mr. Gladstone has again been offered, and has again declined, a seat in the Upper House.

—The rumor prevailing in Toronto and this city, to the effect that the Cabinet Ministers meditated proposing an increase of their official salaries, turns out in being entirely unfounded. The proposal was never for a moment entertained. Daily News please take notice.

—The Nation, independent in tone and edited by Prof. Goldwin Smith, but no friend of the Reform party, regards the amnesty resolutions as suited to the case, and "at the same time a vote of censure on the late Government and its dealings with the rebels," while Sir John is "thus put on his defence."

A GOOD SELL.

British Columbia has just, for the first time, used ballot boxes in municipal elections. The papers are fairly agape with surprise at the results. The candidate for the Mayoralty in New Westminster, who was confident of success because carefully worked up returns had furnished him the figures, was so badly beaten that the like of it had never been known before.

A BETTER ONE.

There was a good deal of fun at Ottawa among Ministerialists, arising out of the South Huron election. The Opposition went through the Houses triumphing in the return of Mr. Greenway as the result of the rejection by the Senate of what was called the Tuckersmith bill of last session. But their joking was badly retaliated upon them when it became known, in a very few minutes, that Mr. Greenway, whose politics have been Reform, had given his written assurance that, if he was returned, he would go to Parliament as a Ministerialist.

AROUND HOME.

PRINCE EDWARD.

An effort is being made to place a boat on the route between Picton and Cape Vincent, on the opening of navigation.

The Grand Trunk Railway Company have determined to do away with Tyendinaga Station, and establish one about a mile and a half from Mill Point. This would prove a great convenience to Prince Edward people desirous of going east.—Gazette.
