CITY AND VICINITY

DON'T fail to go to Richmond & Boyden's if you want umbrellas or carpets, they are selling them at such extraordinary prices that the stock is going rapidly, even though the times are dull.

RESTRICTED.—While the blasting is going on the Mayor and City Council have resolved to refrain from granting to distinguished strangers the honor of the the freedom of the city.

THERE are some men pretty poorly off in town who deem it to be infra dig. to work on the city drain. They would sooner hunt around printing offices for swell jobs at driving gentlemen's horses.

RECOVERING.—Mr. William Neilson, of the G.T.R., has so far recovered from the injuries he received, (reported to be fatal in character,) as to be able to walk about with slight aid. His friends here learn this with pleasure.

ENTERING THE FOLD.—At the recent preliminary examinations of candidates for the Methodist ministry, at Victoria College, Mr. Fred. Sanderson, late of this city, passed a successful examination.

ON CANVAS.—The Belleville Ontario calls the portrait of Mr. Mackenzie Bowell, M.P., now on exhibition there, a "nobby" picture of our Sawyer. It is lifelike, it says, and therefore must be a fine looking piece of canvas.

NEWBURGH.—The anniversary sermons in connection with the Methodist Church, Newburgh, will be preached on Sabbath next, in the C. M. Church, by the Rev. James Kinesy of Odessa. The anniversary meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, May 19th.

SAFE AT LAST.—It is like saving from the dead. Great relief is felt now that the missing steamer "Metropolis" has at last come into port. She was nearly a month in making the trip between Bermuda and New York, and was given up as among the lost.

SPELLING MATCHES.—The big boys of Wellington-street School two days ago challenged the Collegiate Institute hopeful to a spelling tussle. The duel is not yet fixed. The Good Templars and Workingmen's Temperance Association of Napanee are to have a match to-morrow, twelve on a side—no heel taps.

SALE OF TREES.—Mr. J. E. Hutcheson advertises a sale of trees, shrubs and plants for Saturday next, the 15th. The quantity to be offered is large and the descriptions are varied. The stock is from long established and indeed celebrated nurseries, the agent for which, Mr. Shanly, has been for several days in town. The gardeners and farmers should watch this sale.

POLICE COURT, Thursday.—(Before Mr. Strange, P.M.)—James McQuade, drunk, fined $2 or 15 days in gaol. John Equil, drunk and disorderly, fined $10 and costs or 30 days in gaol. The adjourned case for selling liquor without license against a shop-keeper of Ontario street, was at length dismissed. William Berry, summoned for allowing his horses to run at large, was fined $1 and costs.

LEGAL.—The Law examinations are being conducted at Osgoode Hall this week. Messrs. John Wright and J. H. Betts of this city with our late townsman, Mr. D. B. McTavish of Ottawa, passed creditably the rigid first intermediate examination, in which 23 out of 56 candidates failed. Mr. McTavish is here to-day on a visit to his many friends, who heartily congratulate him on an early success in his new profession.

A "GRAND OPERA" NIGHT.—On Monday evening Mrs. Charlotte Morrison returns here after many years' absence to entertain the citizens of Kingston. She brings a splendid support, all of her Toronto company, including Messrs. Barnes and Rogers, who have both an American and European fame and unbroken talents of a first class order to sustain that fame. The piece chosen for the evening devoted to Kingston (Monday next) is the popular "London Assurance."

THE GALE.—The May zephyrs continued to blow last night with any but the mild gentleness ascribed to them in fancy and spring poetry. The succession of gales and thunder storms in the past two weeks has led thoughtful people to consider where there was not something after all in that abominable prophecy of six weeks of t vs a on the most outlandish weather you ever saw early this summer. If there really is ground for the anticipation, we hope that prophet will be struck by lightning before the fandango is over.

IMPROVE YOUR EYESIGHT.—A card:—A German optician and aurist, whom the undersigned knows and can recommend, is at present visiting Kingston. Those who wish to be correctly fitted with spectacles or eye glasses can see him for a few days only at the store of the subscriber, 41 Princess street.—S. Oberndorffer.—The gentleman mentioned, we may add, is permanently in business in Toronto, and possesses at all times a large assortment of the German periscobic conservative glasses, not surpassed in their purity of material or strengthening properties, which throughout Germany has attained for them the name of eye preservers; as well as pebble, bifocle and half moon glasses, to correct near-sightedness, far-sightedness, weak-sightedness, and all manner of defects in vision.

CANADIAN ITEMS.

—The Orange Sentinel is dead. Two weeks old.

—Four cases of "baby farming" are reported in Toronto.

—The Wesleyan Methodists of Whitby intend erecting a $25,000 church.

—The assessed value of Ottawa for 1875 is $11,500,000, an increase of $2,000,000 over last year.

—The Marquis and the Marchioness of Bassano are at the Brewoort, New York, on their way from Paris to Canada.

—John Smith lives in Toronto now. He seconded Mr. Macdonald's nomination. Hamilton, Guelph and Chatham papers make a note of it.

—The main building for the Provincial Exhibition at Ottawa is now under way, and other buildings and sheds have been located.

—Rev. O. L. Matthew, of the diocese of Huron, has been appointed assistant minister at St James' Cathedral, Toronto, succeeding Rev H. H. Waters, who leaves for England.

—A telegram from Montreal states that Mr. Middlemiss has sued the late Provincial Government and Lieut. Governor Caron for $265,000, alleging that they guaranteed the legality of the "land swap" and that they must be responsible for all damage arising to him.

—Madame Rentz's Female minstrels, left Ottawa on Tuesday night, after giving a most immoral exhibition. Several of the girls were in a helpless state of intoxication, and had to be carried on board of the train.

—A report of the Commissioners in Dean Grasset's case is published. It says that while the language of the Dean was calculated to inflict serious injuries on the church, he did not violate any ecclesiastical law and consequently the charges against him should not be proceeded with.

—Toronto, which in this instance may be supposed to include the whole of Ontario, complains that her interests are not as well looked after as those of Montreal in the matters of mails by ocean steamships. The delay of the Polynesian's budget at Montreal has called renewed attention to the questions of getting the mails through to this city by special trains to obviate a delay.

The Buenos Ayres Jesuits.

Full reports of the anti Jesuit riot at Buenos Ayres state that the mob which attacked the Jesuit College numbered 50,000 persons. A public meeting was first held in the theatre when speeches in denunciation of the Jesuits were made. The crowd then rushed to the Archbishop's palace, which was sacked. The cry was then raised, 'To the college.' In two hours the College of San Salvador was entirely destroyed, excepting a portion of the facade. Several of the Jesuit Fathers were wounded; the others escaped with difficulty. The Minister of the Interior has since issued a proclamation announcing that the troubles are at an end, and that the Jesuits may return to their college without fear. The latter intend to re-build the college and to reopen their day school at once. The cause of the outbreak appears to have been the transfer of the parish priest of the Church of St. Ignatius to the cathedral, and the erection of that church into a Jesuit mission. The Liberal papers of Buenos Ayres all protested against the introduction of the Jesuits, and the parishes also presented a remonstrance to the Government. The Archbishop of Buenos Ayres published an explanatory pastoral, which only increased the excitement, and which seems to have been the immediate occasion of the outbreak. In this the petitioners are reminded that the change has been made with the consent of the civil authorities, and that the appointment of the Jesuits is confirmed. The majority of the Liberal papers have condemned the riot as lawless.

MAIL BAGS.—There were saved from the Schiller "only one woman, but fifty—"six mail bags." Does not this simple statement seem to show that if the help from the shore could have been sent to the ship by midnight instead of eight hours after midnight, it might have been possible to save at least as many women and children as "mail bags?" Mail bags certainly can neither swim nor float any better, to put the thing mildly, than women and children; and the boats which in the morning were able to take off so many mail bags might probably enough have taken off as many women and children. But no one on shore knew what was happening until the dawn revealed the spectral scene; and during the long, long night the women and the children had been all swept into the raging and raging ocean. Need this have been so?

IN THE DUMPS.—The Dublin Home Rulers, says a correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette, appears to be much discouraged by recent events. They have lost by death quite a number of their leading supporters in and out of Parliament, and in addition Rev. Thaddeus O'Malley, often called the "Father of Home Rule," has seceded from the society, on the ground that Mr. Butt's idea of a "Federal" Parliament in Ireland and an Imperial Parliament for other parts of the kingdom is a vain and foolish conception. The last effort of the Home Rule leaders was to make a public protest against the visit of the American rifle team to Ireland.

WRITING ON A POSTAL CARD.—Mr. E. D. O'Flynn having seen it announced in several papers that a lady out west had succeeded in placing 1530 words on a postal card, tried his hand. The card, which has been received by us, and can be seen at this office, contains 1940 words, and is as legibly written as the lady's referred to, of course. This is only the first attempt that this gentleman has made, and it has been done with a common-steel pen and the naked eye. The subject is one of Moody's sermons delivered in London, from the text, "Where art thou?"—Belleville Ontario.

ORANGEMEN AND THE CENTENNIAL.—The several States Grand Lodges of the United States are perfecting arrangements for a grand parade in Philadelphia on the 12th July, 1876. The Orangemen have also been invited to participate in the grand parade of Secret Societies by the Centennial Celebration Committee.—Intelligencer.

THE RAILWAY CONVENTION.—A meeting of gentlemen interested in railroad projects took place at Toronto on Tuesday to consider in what way the Government should be asked to assist railways to connect the railway system of Ontario with the Canada Pacific Railway. The meeting journed till the 2nd prox., to allow on the views of outside places being more ascertained.

STATISTICAL.—There are four hundred religious journals in the United States. The Methodists have forty-seven, the largest number; then come the Catholics, who number forty-one; the Baptists, thirty-five; the Presbyterians, twenty-nine; the Episcopalians, twenty one; the Lutherans, fourteen; German Reformed, fourteen; Jews, nine; and Congregationalists, eight.

THE NEW INSPECTORS.—The appointments under the new Inspection Act will probably be made this week. There are a large number of applications. Prince Edward Island, not having been a member of the Confederation at the time of the passage of the Act, is not subject to its provisions until further legislation is obtained.—Free Press.

Joh. Hoff's Malt Extract.

Is an article favorably known in the English and Continental School of Pharmacy. The uninitiated might, owing to the name of the preparation, associate it with the idea of beer or porter. No idea could be more erroneous, the words of the Lancet, (March 16, 1872,) one of the biggest and most reliable of medical authorities, are: "In outward appearance it resembles bottled stout, but, of course, differs from it in its mode of preparation and composition."

The English Observer, in acknowledging the excellence of the article, remarks most pertinently that the representatives of the two opposite schools, homœopathic and allopathic, agree in their opinion that this malt preparation is unrivalled as a strengthening and invigorating remedy. This uniting of opinion is a fact of rare occurrence.

There is no alchol in its composition. It strengthens by nourishing; it has no effect of stimulating the blood or irritating the nervous system; it does not nor cannot intoxicate. The pamphlet accompanying the preparation contains a vast amount of particulars referring to this article, which was introduced into Europe some fifteen years ago, and during that time has gradually but surely gained by its intrinsic merits a world-wide reputation. Exaggerated statements have not formed the cradle of its success. Its positive worth as a curative for suffering humanity has alone effected its progress. Royal favor has specially marked the career of Mr. Hoff. The crowned heads of Europe have, without exception, conferred on him those distinctive marks of honor which are accorded to men who are public benefactors and who contribute to the alleviation of suffering humanity. The personal experience of these imperial personages who have derived benefit and renewed health from the use of the extract are chronicled and duly attested.

During the wars of 1864-66-70 it was used in over three hundred hospitals and was proved of inestimable value.

At present the principal representatives of the Medical faculty throughout Great Britain, Europe and America not only countenance its use but prescribe it freely in their practice.

The article has lately been introduced to the medical trade of Canada; as can be seen by our advertising columns.—Mr. Henry Skinner is local agent here.
