AGENTS FOR THE

SANS PAREIL SHIRT!

82 Princess Street.

A NEW SHIRT and one that every Gentleman should buy and wear for the following reasons:

1st.—It is the best and only perfect fitting shirt made.

2nd.—It is economy for it will not soil as quick and will wear longer than any other shirt made, as the bosom is always smooth.

3rd.—The cotton running up under the bosom, to the neck, absorbs the perspiration from the breast and prevents the bosom from becoming damp.

4th.—The bosom being disconnected at the lower part allows it to slide up or down on the body, thereby preventing it from breaking or bunching up on the neck when in a sitting position.

5th.—This bosom is so constructed that it will adapt itself to the motion of the body of the wearer without losing wingless firmness.

6th.—Every gentleman wants a perfect fitting shirt, and we assure you this is the only one that can make you happy.

☞ Please call and examine this new SANS PAREIL SHIRT.

CITY AND VICINITY

POLICE COURT, Friday.—One drunkard was dismissed, being the only case before the Court this morning.

THE BAND did not play on the Queen's Wharf last evening, though a full quorum of boats was present. It had an engagement elsewhere.

JUST THE THING.—The Cape Vincent Eagle says that a moonlight excursion from the Cape to Kingston, then down the river and return, is talked of in that village.

CHEAP EXCURSION.—To-morrow afternoon the second of these popular affairs will come off. The Maud is to carry a jolly crowd to the Cape if the weather proves fine.

EXTENDING NEAR HOME.—The Montreal Telegraph Company have opened an office at Erinsville, county of Addington. Their lines have reached all the principal villages in Frontenac and Addington.

THE NOBLE GAME.—Kingston is bound to clean out all our opposite neighbors on base ball. On Saturday it was Watertown and to-morrow it will be the big boys of the Cape, the "Teasers." The boys of the Collegiate Institute are going over to play them.

REV. MR. AFBLECK.—Last evening the Rev. gentleman gave another of his clever lectures here, at the St. George's Hall. On account of the insufficient notice given the audience was very small, but it was appreciative and declared the address to be a masterpiece.

THE RETURN Spelling Wrestle between the Y.M.C.A. and the Collegiate Institute comes off this evening. It will probably be the last of these interesting affairs, and there will be a final opportunity given at the close of the pitched battle for a volunteer skirmish.

AHEM!—The Clerk of the Market has been seizing hams offered on the market by a feruler because they were unfit for use. The Clerk, of course, is the judge, and a field of thought is opened by the supposition that he is, perhaps, a Jew, and down on pork.

THE GREAT SALES.—One of the great rival sales, at least, prospered. We are informed by Mr. McMillan, the auctioneer, that his sale at the Victoria Music Hall was a perfect success, he having made a clean sweep of all the furniture and of the five pianos, one book case excepted, and at satisfactory prices.

PROMOTED.—The Cape Vincent citizen feels big to-day. His clothes are too tight for him. The place is, by order from Washington, designated a Port of Entry for the transit of merchandize in bond. Thus there will be no special entry for freight required at the Cape and it may pass there in bond. This will help to build up the freight business via the Kingston route.

RELIGIOUS CEREMONY.—The interesting ceremony of bestowing the Religious Habit was performed at the House of Providence this morning by His Lordship Bishop O'Brien. The young ladies who received the white veil at his hands were the Misses Sweeny and Cullen, of Springfield, Mass., Miss O'Neil, of Sheffield, and Miss O'Dea, of Camden.

DIOCESE OF ONTARIO.—The Bishop of Ontario has appointed the following visitations for confirmation: Sydenham, June 19th; Cathedral, Kingston, June 20th, A.M.; Cataraqui, June 20th, P.M.; Amherst Island, June 22nd. He received recently an invitation from the Bishop of Indiana to be present and preach the sermon at the consecration of the Cathedral at Indianapolis. The pressure of his official duties at this season obliged the Bishop reluctantly to decline.

THE CANADIAN METHODIST CHURCH.—The London Conference, which has been in session at London for a week past, has fixed the stations of its ministers for the year to come. The Rev. W. W. Carson is to be retained at the James St. Church, Hamilton, and the following locations are announced of other ministers well known here: Revs. C Lavell, at Mitchell; E. Chown, Beamsville; D. L. Brethour, Windsor; D. G. Sutherland, Galt; S. Brock, Clinton.

THE SUNNER.—We are in regular receipt of the new daily paper of Montreal, the Sun, published by Callaghan & Co. Its editor is the well known Mr. Stephen J. Meaney, a prominent member of the Young Ireland party. The paper is neat, typographically speaking, while the reading matter is such that it will no doubt commend itself to the public. The Sun is the first Irish Catholic daily on the continent, and its proprietors seem to have a thorough confidence that the venture will be successful, its advertising columns giving a promise that the hopes of its conductors will be realized. It has a large staff who seem to be capable of the best editorial work.

THE GENEVA.—This new steamer has been astonishing the public with her neat model, handsome saloon, and general outfittings, and to-day she surprised her owners. Last evening she made her first trip to Gananoque and this morning came back as if she was bent on it, doing the nineteen miles in 1. 32s., and making three stoppages. Her actual running time was 1:22. This is the best time on that course on record, and such annihilation of space will please travellers immensely. The Geneva is running all day to-day on the ferry routes, but will not be put into regular commission for ten days to come, as her cabin is not yet completely furnished, although it is to present a appearance the handsomest of any boat on inland waters. It is fitted up after the style of Pullman cars.

Lepine.

The New York World with reference to this person says:—So rarely does the political exile display common sense and fail to avail himself of an opportunity offered for martyrdom, that the example of Lepine, "Adjutant General of Manitoba" during the insurrection of 1870, deserves special notice and commendation. He was sentenced to death for participating in the "judicial" murder of an Orangeman who opposed the rebellion; but Earl Dufferin, for political reasons, commuted his sentence to imprisonment for two years. At its recent session the Dominion Parliament granted an amnesty to its North-western outlaws conditional on their exile, Lepine's term of banishment being set at five years. And lo! he prefers staying in jail till his sentence of two years has expired, when he will go free, justice having been satisfied. His line of reasoning is rather more practicable than romantic. A good part of his sentence has been served, so that by staying in prison he gains three years and a half. In jail he gets his meals regularly, can communicate freely with his friends, has not to work—advantages that would vanish were he banished. Altogether he prefers to stay where he is than to make an exile and a martyr of himself. So notable a departure from the ordinary course of things, especially as when a French-Canadian rebels, escapes the gallows and goes into exile he is pretty sure to be made a member of Parliament and Minister of the Crown as soon as he gets home, merits mention. If exiles generally, whether of Erin or France, had as much common sense, the public wouldn't be bothered by them as badly as it now is.

BEWARE, TAKE CARE.—Even bailiffs and sheriffs' officers may sometimes render themselves amenable to the law unwittingly. An Arthur village constable has just come through a somewhat singular case, which may be of interest to others occupying similar offices. He was instructed by the village solons to sell by public auction any goods, wares or merchandise, found obstructing the public streets. He made a raid accordingly, and conducted a sale of the goods, doing the knocking down business himself. A regularly licensed auctioneer, who considered that his preserve was being poached upon, laid complaint against the constable for selling without a license, thereby violating the County by-law. The evidence was taken, the sale was proven, and the constable was shown to have acted under instructions from the village council and in pursuance of the corporation by-laws. But there was no escape from the strict letter of the law. The constable was not a licensed auctioneer and was compelled to hand over $10 and costs. How many sheriffs' officers throughout the country are liable to a similar fine?—Toronto Leader.

THE ATHENÆUM.—At the recent election at the Athenæum Club in London, there were over 71,600 applicants, though there were only about fifty vacancies. At this rate of progress it would take more than thirty years to get admission to this club. Of course, the reason why it is so popular is that only the most distinguished in the literary, scientific and artistic words are admitted. Otherwise the club is not nearly so comfortable as many of the others. For instance, no member can invite a friend who is not a member to dine, and strangers are ruthlessly excluded. For all that, there always has been a great crowd of applicants for admission, and always will be. A gentleman who had recently passed with eclat the Indian Civil Service examination, and received an appointment which would probably keep him absent from this country for twenty years, had his name put up at the Athenæum before he left England, and hopes by the time he has finished his Asiatic career, he may be so fortunate as to get elected.

PRAYER FOR SOME OBJECT.—Moody and Sankey have been heard from in the West End clubs. The other day the steward of one of these serene and secular institutions was confounded to find one of his waiters on his knees in the pantry praying aloud with much fervor. It seems that this particular waiter had been repeatedly made miserable by the members of the club, one of whom never left the building till 3 or 4 a.m., and was continually demanding B. & S., or "brandy and soda," while the other never let a day pass without addressing a written complaint about his dinner to the committee. The pious victim of these despotic gentlemen was loudly invoking the Divine grace to soften their hearts, so that the one might be moved to go home at a Christian hour and the other to eat and be thankful whatever might be set before him.

WHAT HAS BECOME OF THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH.—This is what fashionable people are asking. Before his marriage His Royal Highness was to be seen everywhere; now he is hardly seen anywhere. He goes to few receptions, presides at few dinners, has few receptions of his own. When he goes out with the Duchess it is in a close carriage. This may be very proper, but it is so unlike other royal persons who have wives that the world cannot help talking of it, and wondering whether Marie Alexandrovna keeps her husband at home because she dislikes English society.—London Correspondent.

NOT DEAD YET.—A Fenian Demonstration took place in Dublin on the 18th May, the occasion being the burial of the known Irish American Fenian, Mullen, who held the rank of lieutenant in the American Army. About 4,000 tradesmen and others walked in procession, carrying banners, and accompanied by two bands. At the grave a Nationalist delivered a funeral oration.

CANADIAN ITEMS.

—The Bristol Hotel and stables at Mount Forest were burned on Tuesday night.

—In the future the Y.M.C.A. of Prescott are to hold their meetings in the Town Hall on the evening of each Sunday.

—It is rumoured that steps have been taken to amalgamate the Royal Canadian Bank with some other Banking Institutions.

—The annual spring meeting of the London Turf Club came off this week and proved to be a great success.

—Burglars carried off $3,000 worth of dry goods from the store of Mr. J. W. Peddie, at Windsor, on Tuesday night.

—A young lady of Montreal is threatened with an action of damages from an irate lover, who found she had promised marriage to another as well as himself.

—The forest fires now burning on the Upper Ottawa district are said to have already destroyed more pine than the lumbermen would cut in three years.

—Hon. Mr. Fournier's first act as Postmaster General will probably be the establishment of an additional weekly mail to Europe, by the Dominion line.

—A Yorkville Justice fined a couple of holiday makers $10 and costs each for setting off fire crackers in front of their residences on the Queen's birthday.

—Ampridge is in its glory. The Town Council have put up a lot of pumps throughout town, and some of the inhabitants even wash themselves now. We hope the novelty will wear off.

—Mr. Beaubien, member of the Local Parliament for Hochelaga County, stated at an election meeting amid derisive laughter, that Sir Hugh's $7,000, obtained in connection with the Pacific Scandal, had been received by his committee most unexpectedly. He has been nicknamed one of Allan's Parliamentary Brigade.

A LIVELY AFFAIR.—Serious disturbances have occurred at Plusnitz, in the Province of Western Prussia, on the occasion of the installation of a Roman Catholic clergyman, who has subscribed to the new ecclesiastical laws imposed by the Government. A crowd of Ultramontanes belonging to the parish besieged and eventually demolished the vicarage, carrying off the newly installed vicar by force beyond the parish boundary. The people also seized the keys of the church. Military assistance had to be summoned to quell the riot.

—During the reign of the Clarke Ministry $10,000 were expended in Manitoba for which not a single asset has been shown. The Nor-Wester says of him that while he was receiving a salary as Attorney-General he framed the indictments that were taken before Grand Juries, and that not unfrequently three, four, five, and even six separate ones were made out on a single charge of larceny, on which the juries were instructed to find true bills. For each of these he charged $25. In the foolish "Gordon Kidnapping" affair he incurred a bill of expense reaching $8,000, which the Province had to pay. In fact a recent return brought down shows that during the tenure of office he was paid for criminal prosecution alone no less than $25,000.
