CAMP CANTEENS.

Some weeks ago, in view of the proposed formation of a militia camp near this city, we expressed the hope that the authorities would prohibit the establishment of canteens with the camp limits, but that hope has been unfulfilled, and worse and swifter results than we anticipated have already been the fruit. Last evening a disgraceful row signalized the opening of the camp, and it perhaps is only by good luck we are not called on to chronicle a sadder ending of the fight. The disturbance, as most like disturbances, there is a very good reason for believing, had its origin in whisky and yet the authorities sanction the altogether unnecessary sale of the cause of disordliness which they afterwards punish. It is very unfair to the volunteer youths to thus officially put temptation under their very noses and thus encourage their demoralization, and the blame is not altogether theirs when such unhappy disturbances as last night's break out.

Is it not about time to consider whether the good achieved by these camps is commensurate with the expense? In many well informed quarters it is held that the money is little better than thrown away, but then, on the other hand, it is difficult to keep the regiments from crumbling to pieces unless by some such stimulus as a fortnight's camp excitement.

ABSTRACT PREACHING.

Mr. Froude says somewhere that he has listened to thousands of sermons but never yet heard one on any of the ten commandments. And there are doubtless many church goers like him. They can listen weekly to wire drawn discussions of points of theology which are utterly without consequence to a man here or hereafter, hear a text in scripture pounded at and beaten out as thin as gold leaf, be bored with lofty abstractions they cannot understand and deep divings that they are puzzled to guess the value of, but how seldom are they preached at in plain, common sense fashion and given practical instruction as men and women, living in a worldly world, as to how they should conduct themselves in their daily walk and conversation here so as to earn the perfect state hereafter? In nine cases out of ten the reasoning common sense man is wearied and disheartened by receiving from the pulpit the stone of empty declamation and meaningless cant for the bread of practical teaching he seeks. Doubtless the leading abstract principles of Christianity deserve frequent exposition, nor can objection be taken to the elucidation of doctrinal points, but this eternal grinding away at one or the other while the church-goer is yearning for the practical application of both to him, not as a spiritual abstraction, but as a man living in a wicked world, is not calculated to promote the growth of a healthy piety. Why do preachers prefer soaring in the clouds of theology to applying the leading principles of Christianity, which are about the same in all the churches, to the affairs of daily life? What difference does it make, say whether Christ is scripturally or otherwise greater as asking or priest, as learned controversialists will harass their hearers in proving from the pulpit, when the world is reeking with wickedness and looking up for the parson's instruction and reproof? Nine-tenths of these bolgrangian theological tight ropers are utterly uninstructive sights, and the spectator withdraws no wiser than when he came. Why will you not get down from these stilted heights, from which no one can understandingly hear, and preach to men and women moving in a world of men and women and subject to the trials and temptations of men and women? You may pelt Soandso with the most sublime religious abstractions which he cannot comprehend, and on Monday he puts on the world and his apron and will cheat and lie to you most conscientiously. The churches are filled on Sunday with worshippers who lie and cheat all the rest of the week, and who only go up to the Synagogue for a spiritual diversion and who are never rebuked. There sits the man who will fleece you on a suit of clothes, there the back biter defiling character, there the wine merchant who will attempt to palm off a $2 for a $1 wine if occasion but offer, there the man whose bond is as good as his word and a deal better, groaning with profuse piety, there the wife ruining her husband with her extravagances, and there the husband grinding down the wife with his misconduct. Why not preach at these people, and not shoot over their heads? Why not open the mouth wide and reprove their dishonesty and their rogueries, and raise a warning voice against the living deceit which is rotting the world and of which your pews are full every Sunday? What cares the grocer about this, that or the other theological subtlety so long as he is not held up as wicked for lying his customer into believing that he is getting a dollar for a fifty cent tea? What does Mrs. Smith care about the correct interpretation of a text when she surveys the blazing flower-garden of bonnets in search of a new combination to further run her sinking husband into debt? Lay men and lay women are not theologians taking a critical interest in polemical controversies; but they have a practical life to live here, and a further existence to prepare for, and if preachers do their duty by them they will cease their frequent soarings after the infinite and divings down towards the unfathomable, and endeavour by understandable application of the beautiful teachings of Christianity to lift them up and persuade them to lead better honester and purer lives. These practical applications of divine truth are more influential than the most learned discourses on abstruse subjects which few can understand, while all can take in the ten Commandments. Some preachers, it must be admitted, do preach in this pointed fruitful fashion, but what are they among so many, as Tenpyson calls them,

"Sabbath drawlers of old saws
Distilled from some worm eankered homily."

Montreal Conference.

EXCURSION.—The steamer Maud was chartered by some friends in Kingston to go to Wells Island yesterday, taking the members of Conference and their entertainers. A very large number availed themselves of the opportunity of seeing the Thousand Islands and visiting the site of the projected camp meeting. All were pleased, some so much so that they purchased lots on the camp ground, to which they expect to resort during the summer. The steamer returned to the wharf at about 6 p.m., all on board feeling that the day had been of great pleasure, and that the memory of it would remain fragrant through the years to come.

THE SABBATH SCHOOL ANNIVERSARY was announced at 8 o'clock last night by singing the 133rd hymn and the President offering prayer. The Hon. J. Ferrier of Montreal was called to the chair. He said he felt it an honor to be there. He had long felt a deep interest in Sabbath School work, and had derived much pleasure therefrom. He stated that he belonged to a Sabbath School in Montreal which was established in 1814 or 1817, the only one in the Wesleyan Society in the city; now there are eighteen branches, attended by over 2,000 children, and last year they collected $3,174 for the mission cause.

Rev. J. Wilson then read the report of the Sabbath School Committee.

The Rev. Mr. Fellick addressed the meeting on the advantages of Sabbath Schools, briefly pointing out the fact that they assisted greatly in checking Sabbath desecration, imparted scripture knowledge to the youth, and often brought the child to Christ and fitted him for future usefulness.

The Rev. Mr. Sparling said that this was an age of progress; we see it on all sides, and emphatically in connection with Sunday School work. It is not intended to relieve parents from their duties, but simply to aid them. There are great discouragements, which only an enthusiastic love of the work can overcome. It is a great work, nothing less than polishing brilliants for eternity. The teacher who does not aim at spiritual results aims below his mark. Oh, teacher, toil on! See the precious promise! Go forth weeping, bearing precious seed, and you shall come again rejoicing, bringing your sheaves with you!

The Rev. A. Sutherland, Missionary Secretary, said that this was a practical age of Sunday School work, and it would be well for us to know the nature of the element upon which we have to work. What is the moral state of our children, and their relations to the Church? There are three views, held, viz.: The view of Special Election, Baptismal Regeneration and Universal Redemption. We think the last of these views only is sustained by reason and Scripture. We hold that all are fallen in Adam, but redeemed in Christ; therefore our children are the Lord's saved by Christ's redemption, and therefore there is no necessity of their ever belonging to any other master.

The meeting closed with the benediction. It was the first meeting of the kind in this Conference, and this fair to be one of the most attractive and profitable of the Conference services.

TUESDAY, June 22—Morning session.—After singing and prayer, the minutes of the former session were read and approved.

The Rev. Mr. Davis read the report of the Committee on Evangelical Work, which was adopted. The ordination class then presented the Rev. J. Elliott the President, with a photographic group of the members of the class with the President as the central figure. An address was presented with it, to which the President replied in a few appropriate terms, and expressed his best wishes for the welfare of the young men.

The Rev. W. J. Hunter read the report of the Contingent Fund Committee: In apportionment it was decided to make the assessment of 35 cents per member for the ensuing year, and that the amount of each claimant be twenty-six dollars. Rev. Mr. Magill read the report of the Memorial Committee.

The question who are our supernumary ministers? John Scott, F. C. Ireland, H. Byers, L. Houghton, J. G. Brick. The question was not fully answered at the hour of twelve and the Conference adjourned.

The Conference met at 2 o'clock p.m. with closed doors on private business.

The question relating to the supernumaries was resumed and the following reported: Samuel Jackson, E. S. Ingalls, Wm. Peck, T. O. Atkins, R. Garry, N. J. Kimball, J. Gear.

The Rev. J. Borland then read a memorial in relation to Hanstead College, recommending the appointment of the Rev. A. Lee Holmes as Principal; and the appointment of a minister as canvassing agent as soon as an opportunity offers.

The Rev. J. Hagar was appointed as Governor of Hanstead College.

The Rev. J. Borland was granted a superannuation relation for the ensuing year.

The President then nominated the Examination Committees, which were cordially approved by the Conference; after which the report on Sabbath School work was read and adopted.

Resolved, that the heartfelt thanks of this Conference be presented to the friends of Kingston for their kind hospitality during the sessions.

Another resolution was passed presenting the thanks of the Conference to Bro. Easson for his excellent services in bellringing the members thereof.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Walter Pross, M. P., was in town to day.—His numerous friends will be glad to welcome home the Rev. Prof. Mackerras who has returned from his prolonged visit to Europe. He is greatly recruited in health and strength.

—The New York Sun thinks it would be a splendid thing if Queen Victoria could be induced to come over to the United States at the Centennial celebration of next year. It would have an immense effect upon the public sentiment of the American people towards Old England.

Camp of Instruction.

The Brigade Camp of the 7th Brigade of the 3rd Military District was formed yesterday at the location selected by Lt. Col. Jarvis, D.A.G., situated about four miles from Kingston, on the farm of Mr. Redden, and quite close to the shore of the lake in a beautiful bay.

A WOMAN IN THE PLACE OF A MASON.—Harper's Bazar says that it is a mistake to suppose that the lady who came she herself in a room where a "lodge" was about to be held, and who when discovered was obliged or allowed to be initiated is a myth. The "clock-case" may be a myth but the lady is not. She was the Hon. Mrs. Aluworth, and continued through life to take an active interest in the order into which in her youth she had so strangely gained admission. She founded the Dublin Benevolent Institution for Orphan Daughters of Masons. Her portrait still hangs in the principal lodge room in Cork, and under it in a glass case, the apron and jewel she used to wear when she attended lodge meetings.

SMALL-POX AND DIPTHERIA.—In New York both small-pox and diptheria have increased very alarmingly since the beginning of summer, there being last week 109 cases of the former and 44 of the latter reported to the Board of Health A curious feature of the malady is that the small-pox is not confined to the districts where it would be most likely looked for by reason of tenements thickly crowded with human beings, but is steadily moving up town into neighbourhoods not often visited by diseases of its virulent character.

PRIZE FIGHT.—The pugilistic world, led by the notorious Allen, is completely disgusted. Mr. Rooke, who was to fight Allen, has not come to time, his second demands the stakes from Allen's backers, and so the beautiful spectacle of two men smashing at each other's noses eyes, and trying with all the might of heroic souls to see which can draw the most blood and make the most bruises, will be unrealized. It is certainly a sad conclusion!

EARTHQUAKE SEA.—The ship Hamilton which arrived at New York on the 19th from Manilla, reports on June 4th, in latitude 19° 16' north, longitude 57° 52', felt the shock and heard the noise of an earthquake, which lasted about 10 minutes. It began in smooth water and the ship pitched bows under the water during the disturbance.

THE NEW HONORS.—The Ottawa Citizen says: "Capt. Wright, R.N., now residing in Kingston, has been created C. B." Doubtless Capt. Wilson, brother-in-law to Lt.-Col. Jarvis, D.A.G., is meant.

CHANGE.—By an act of the County Council of Renfrew, the Gaol Surgeon has been removed, and Dr. J. D. Lafferty has been appointed in his place.

THE CAMP GROUND.—The beautiful and airy location of the volunteer camp ground is spoken of by all who visit it.

Base Ball Match.

On Saturday afternoon a match at base ball was played on the ground at Sydenham between the Wide Awakes of Harowsmith and the Warriors of Sydenham, which resulted in favor of the latter. Excellent music was furnished by the Sydenham Brass Band, who spared no trouble to make the game as interesting as possible. Ottawa, June 22.—Seven batteries of the Ottawa Brigade Garrison Artillery numbering 345 non-commissioned officers and men, one company of the 56th Battalion of Rifles and the Ottawa Cavalry left this morning for the Brockville camp. The Field Battery of seventy-five men, sixty horses and four M.L.R., steel guns leave to-morrow morning for the same camp.

The grove in the rear of Rideau Hall was set on fire by boys last evening and four acres of fine shade trees burned. The Dominion police and New Edinburgh citizens turned out and with the assistance of the Government hose prevented the fire from spreading to the Rideau Hall.

Mr. George Mortimer, druggist of this city, has been appointed an inspector under the Adulteration Act.

The smoke in the city is not so dense this morning.

Despatches from Pembroke say that the fires stopped navigation on the Upper Ottawa.

This morning the people at St. Joseph's are burying their household furniture, &c., in the ground to protect it from the fire.

The Dominion Rifle Association meeting opens on the 7th of September; prizes amounting to $4,000 are already offered. The targets to be used are the improved Brunel.

THAT "SELL."—The Picton Nation is severe on that base ball match, Kingston vs. Guelph, which was to have come off (according to silver placements circulated by the Kingston club) but didn't:—Belleville Intelligencer.

 If the Intelligencer will find one advertisement of the Kingston club announcing a game with the Guelph club, or any such club, we will acknowledge an error in saying that it is untruthful characteristic of malice. The Belleville papers were a week ago informed by a letter from the Kingston club that it neither advertised a match with Guelph for that Monday in Picton, nor authorized any one else that they were expected to meet the Western champions there. The sight truth can be explained by the hotel keepers of Picton, who wanted to gather a crowd in that town.

TRAINED CANARIES.—To-morrow afternoon our school pupils will have an opportunity of seeing what perseverance will accomplish in the education of these pets. Signor Duvalli, the celebrated educator of the feathered tribes, will give one of his unique exhibitions at the City Hall. His credentials are such that the Chairman of our Public School Board accords himself the unusual privilege of announcing this exhibition in our public schools. This is an opportunity which every one of our school pupils should avail themselves of. Each pupil receives a card from their teacher entitling them to admission at 10 cents each; All others 25 cents. Doors open at 4 o'clock; performance at 4:30. No night show.
