CITY AND VICINITY

☞ GOLD in New York at 3 o'clock 117¼

POLICE COURT, Monday.—John McLeer, drunk, was fined $2 or 15 days. A citizen summoned for using abusive language, charge withdrawn by defendant paying costs.

TELEGRAPHING.—The Dominion Telegraph Company will shortly extend its lines through the Lower Provinces and connect with the United States direct Atlantic Cable at Tor Bay, N. S.

THE DRAIN.—Princess street is becoming clearer and the wheels of traffic upon it are no longer completely clogged. But it will be a rugged path for many a season to come. It is very much "cut up" over the way it has been used.

PROTEST.—The volunteers, in a body, protest against the racing committee of Dominion Day dedicating a running race to them. They say that that is not their style; leave running to the firemen—they will take something steadier.

BASE BALL MATCH.—The base ball match of Odessa vs. Frontenac Boys of Westbrook was played on the ground at Odessa on Saturday, and terminated in a victory for Odessa by 17 runs. The scores stood as follows: Odessa 37, Frontenac Boys 20.

THE CENTENARY.—His Lordship Bishop O'Brien has received an invitation from the Lord Mayor of Dublin to assist at a banquet to be given in Dublin on the 5th August, to commemorate the Centenary of Ireland's greatest patriot, orator and statesman, the Immortal O'Connell.

CARD OF THANKS.—Mr. Charles Fields, owner of the brick house at the head of Earl street, desires to return his sincere thanks to the firemen, neighbors and others who worked so energetically on Friday to save his property when threatened with destruction by the fire in the adjoining wooden building.

A QUESTION.—If you are not a believer in total depravity, and really think that a man cannot wholly destroy his conscience, just watch the face of that organ grinder who on Saturday and to-day has been grinding out waltzes in hornpipe time, and see with what indifference he views the suffering he inflicts upon his fellow men! Then step around and tell us what you think.

DROWNED.—On the Rideau Canal on Tuesday last, between the Locks on the Upper and Lower Brewers, two men who were out in a boat were capsized. One of them, named James Murphy, was drowned. He was an excellent swimmer, but it is said that the men were under the influence of liquor, and while one could not help himself, the other could do nothing. No inquest was held.

CRICKET.—The Picton New Nation says that the Quinte Cricket Club start on their tour about the first of August. They propose going to Kingston first, then to Napanee, Belleville, Trenton and Colborne, making a week's trip. It is expected they will have a match with the Kingston Club before starting, it being their intention to visit Picton soon.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE for June opens with an article entitled "Thoughts about British Workmen, Past and Present," which looks back to the beginning of the troubles between the employers and employees, and traces their gradual increase. Part II of the new story "The Dilemma," said to be by the author of the Battle of Dorking, continues its interest. "France and Germany," a letter from Paris, explains the late "scare," the small war cloud that has hovered over the continent, and among the articles is one on Banking and Mr. Goschen's Bill, explaining the English and Scotch systems of banking.

A FOG.—On Saturday and Sunday a heavy fog o'erspread the water. It is not far across to the Cape yet the Geneva was stuck from 12 o'clock till 3 o'clock on Saturday at the head of the Island, being fearful to move lest she should run ashore, a view further than sixty feet ahead being impossible. Some alarm was felt in the city by her non-arrival, but a considerable greater appetite was created on board, for the new steamer's culinary department is not yet organized. To be stuck in a fog without anything to eat and a hospitable shore lying within speaking distance would lend a spirit to the old song "Thou art so near and yet so far." Yesterday morning the Spartan had to lie here from five a.m. till 11 a.m. before she could venture down the river, and the propeller craft generally were mystified. These fogs have now lasted two weeks, and they are abominable.

SABBATH AFTERNOON TEMPERANCE MEETING.—Mr. Trenamin, Master of the G. T. Depot, addressed the meeting in pointed and forcible remarks on the importance of the subject in which the prohibitionists were engaged. The enemy that they assailed was strong and energetic; "we should not be discouraged if we met with troubles or discouragements from the enemy or the lukewarmness and apathy of supposed friends of temperance; our cause was just and must prevail; we have on our side all those who are true friends of humanity and more, we have the God of Truth and Justice with us." There were strong signs of the coming day, the star of temperance was rising high in the heaven of the moral world. To the friends of temperance we would say that there is no intention of discontinuing these meetings on account of the warm weather. The room is cool, airy and quite comfortable. The work of drinking and making drunkards goes on, always ready for all kinds of climate. Mr. Strong, of Hope Temple, very ably presided.—Com.

CURRENCY.

—The death of 'Philander Doesticks,' the well known journalist of New York, is announced.

—An important Carlist fortress on the Ebro with its garrison has surrendered to the Government troops.

—From telegrams received, the shooting of the American riflemen in practice appears to be superior to the Irish.

—Prescott is going to have a fat man's race on Dominion Day, and intends giving a pickle stand to the winner.

—A recent lecturer on temperance advises all men to "know themselves." That is advising a good many to form very low and disreputable acquaintances.

—Prince Bismark has a pistol worth over $5,000, the butt of which is studded with superb diamonds, and yet he can't hit a cat with it as well as with an old shot gun.

—A fire in the Aldine Publishing Company's buildings, New York, on the 25th inst., damaged from $5,000 to $6,000; dmage to stock, about $100,000. Insured in city companies.

—The water in the Mississippi is so low that lumber 'drives' which are late, will have great difficulty, if successful at all, in reaching the Ottawa this year.

—The Irish members in the Imperial House of Commons yesterday had an argument as to whether Her Majesty should have a permanent residence in Ireland.

—There is nothing mean about Mrs. Louis Belanger of Montreal. She presented her husband with three fine daughters last Tuesday, and still Belanger, is not happy.

—Nearly all the houses in Toulouse, France, have been destroyed by an inundation. They were probably built by contractors and put up somewhat 'Toulously.'—Sun.

—The Rev. L. T. Hardy, a Baptist pastor in Shelby county, Kentucky, has had a terrible fall from decency, and has fled, with a brother of one of his female parishioners in hot pursuit.

—The Cologne Gazette announces that Princess Julie of Ballenberg, consort of Prince Alexander of Hesse, has recently seceded from the Church of Rome and embraced the Protestant faith.

—An editor in a neighboring town is charged with grossly misrepresenting the condition of the streets. One would think an editor had better do almost anything than lie about the streets.—Sun.

—Jefferson Davis has accepted the position of president of the Taxas Agricultural College, which was recently tendered him at a salary of $4,000 a year. The ladies of Houston have been holding 'moonlight fetes' to buy a homestead for him.

—One of the best double puns was perpetrated by a clergyman. He had just united a couple whose Christian names were Benjamin and Ann. 'How did they act?' enquired a friend. 'They appeared both Annie-mated and Bennie-fitted,' was the reply.

—The Queen sent to each commander of the Arctic expedition a packet which was not to be opened till he got to sea. It would be a joke if it should turn out to be a recipe to make ice cream without any freezer, or—happy thought—a cake of Windsor soap.

—It is almost a certainty that a Canada First 'daily' will be started within a month on the ruins of the Liberal. Messrs. Howland, Foster and Goldwin Smith and others are in it, and are now negotiating for the Liberal plant. They have a large capital assured.

Great excitement in a rich family at the disappearance of a gold snuff-box, richly set with brilliants; and equal satisfaction when a young gentleman of six acknowleged that he had utilized it as a coffin and buried it with his pet canary in the garden.

—The prospects for a dress refrm, are not very encouraging, for ladies' toilets never were never more elaborate than at present. Still, there never was such a diversity in styles, and one has only to be shirred and plaited in a sufficiently elaborate manner to be properly dressed.

—It is suggested in view of the number of labourers idle at Quebec that the Government should at once proceed with the domolition of the Jesuits' Barracks and the construction of the new public buildings; and that the Corporation invite tenders for city improvements, including the erection of a market-hall

Colinsby.

ACCIDENT.—An accident occurred at this place yesterday by which Robert Fotherington, Captain of the schooner Jessie Scarth, was very severely injured. Four persons had got into a spring waggon at Marsh's hotel, to take a drive over to the militia encampment; the captain and mate sat upon the hind seat, which being loose, was tipped over backwards; the horse started and both men were precipitated to the ground. The mate was uninjured, but the captain striking upon the projecting part of the back of his neck just where it joins the neck bone, and being a very heavy man, received a blow that was nearly fatal. Dr. Dupuis of this city was immediately sent for. Whenever he came the captain was perfectly conscious, but unable to move the left leg in the least, or either hand. Both arms could be voluntarily raised up and bent at the elbow, but the wrists, hands and fingers could not be moved at all, and complaint was made of constant stringing sensations in the hands; the left foot seemed colder than the other and voluntary motion of the whole limb was entirely suspended. The Doctor did what he could under the circumstances, and to-day reports the patient as nearly the same—paralysis still continues though perhaps not so complete.

ARRIVALS.—Schooners Emerald and Shandon, from Pt. Huron; Canada, from Toledo; Jessie Scarth, from Hamilton; T. R. Merritt, from Pt Huron, timber.

Dominion Day.

(To the Editor of the BRITISH WHIG.)

DEAR SIR,—Noticing that the programme for the celebration of Dominion Day states that the "Flyaway" Base Ball Club of New York will play here on that day, permit me to say that such an announcement is rather premature, as it is not yet decided what club will play, though from the correspondence with the "Flyaways," the "St. Lawrence" have reason to believe that they will come to to Kingston. It only remains for the terms to be settled. If, however, a satisfactory arrangement cannot be made with the "Flyaways," some other good foreign club will be here, of which due notice will be given.

Yours truly, ST. LAWRENCE.

June 28th, 1875.

 This afternoon a telegram was received offering final terms on which the "Flyaways" would play here on Dominion Day. They were accepted, and therefore a splendid game will be played on that afternoon. The champion New York club is to take part in this week's base ball tournament at Watertown, which affords us the benefit of its visit to Kingston. The St. Lawrence club is going to fight hard for the victory.

ST. GEORGE'S CATHEDRAL.—Yesterday morning the Rev. Henry Mulkins preached, performing his first service since his return from England. In the evening the Rev. Dr. Whiting of Cape Vincent read the lessons, and the Rev. Hy. Wilson preached.

THE QUAKE.—Interesting details of the earthquake at Cucuta have been received by letters, but they not agree. One epistle states that every wall was levelled by the first shock, and 8,000 out of 10,000 people buried, while another gives the loss of life in the town at 300. The first agrees with the telegraphic accounts, and seems most probable, as it is stated that the surviving inhabitants of Cucuta proposed to build a temporary town, but were forced to give up the idea on account of the stench from the dead bodies, which was so great, that a pestilence was feared. Sixteen neighboring villages were destroyed, and thieves added to the horror of the situation by plundering and burning the ruins. They also murdered some of the survivors, and soldiers had to be sent to protect them. Two steamers with food and clothing were sent to the people from Maracaibo.

HEAVY FLOODS.—More and more disastrous are the results reported of the flood on the upper part of the Garonne river. Two hundred and fifteen dead bodies have been recovered from one part of the town of Toulouse alone. At Tembouilles, further up among the outlying mountains of the Pyrenees, only five houses out of four hundred remained standing, and two other villages were completely submerged. Many bodies have been found and the loss of life altogether is estimated at one thousand. Twenty thousand persons are without the means of subsistence in Toulouse, and the disasters elsewhere were of almost equal magnitude. Crops throughout the inundated district have been destroyed. Relief is being sent by municipal and private organizations.

A DISGUSTING SPECTACLE.—Says the Picton Gazette: "A soldier—half human, half reptile—belonging to the 15th Battalion, while the Rochester was lying at the wharf, catered to the curious on-lookers about the wharf and on the boat, by inserting a real living snake about 12 or 14 inches down his throat, where it was allowed to remain a short time and was then withdrawn. The reptile after this performance was safely deposited in the cartridge-box of the volunteer, to be again withdrawn when occasion required. A queer companion, surely!" Was the "snake" a genuine reptile, or was it one of those wooden imitations which require a close examination to determine their character? Perhaps some of our friends in camp may throw light on the subject. Since the above was in type, we learn that the snake is genuine, and that the 'charmer' captured an aditional reptile at camp and went through the same performance with it as that one he had previously.—Belleville Intelligencer.

PENSIONERS OF 1812.—We commend these remarks of a contemporary to the attention of the authorities:—We see that the Pensioners of 1812 will in a short time receive the moneys coming to them, most likely during next month. We have several of these old veterans in this section whose applications are before the government for pay. The grant is for too small and will be only a mere pittance to each. The government did not think that there were so many of them, which shows that our Canadian climate is well fitted for long life. None of the men are under 80 year whilst some of them are nearly 100. Increase the amount, as it is not long we will have the brave old boys amongst us, and as they have stood the pioneer hardships, it is only just that we should do something to show our appreciation of the service of those who kept Canada from the grasp of that powerful and rapacious neighbor across the lines in those early days.

BIG TIME.—Dublin, June 24.—The Grand Lodge of Freemasons of Ireland gave a banquet to-night to the visiting marksmen belonging to the Masonic Order. The assemblage was large and brilliant. Among the guests were gentlemen representing Nova Scotia, Portugal, Canada, New York, Virginia and Illinois. Complimentary toasts were drunk with great enthusiasm.
