CITY AND VICINITY

☞ GOLD in New York at 3 o'clock 117½.

THE STRAWBERRIES for the Evening Excursion to-morrow are to be received fresh from the field within two hours of starting.

THE HARBOR.—The arrivals at Swift's dock since yesterday were the prop. Acadia, from Montreal; str. Corinthian, from Hamilton; prop. Kincardine, for Oswego; prop. Lake Erie, from Montreal.

RAIN.—The genial is pouring down today with a beautiful and thorough devotion to the cause of agriculture and the blessing of immunity from dust in cities. The fogs as well as the dust nuisance are over.

COOL.—Last night was as cool as any April one. A warm night this summer has so far been wanting. The soda-water dealers wear the air of those who don't succeed in business. The thirst producing weather is not to be relied on, this year.

AN OFFER.—A young lady of good personal appearance and moderate fortune, with jet black eyes and hair and amiable disposition, or any body else, can buy summer dry goods to splendid advantage at A. Ross, who is bound to make a thorough clearance of his stock.

THE CAMP.—Another quiet night is reported from the camp ground. This morning again battalion drill was undergone. The health of the brigade is still, as it has been all along, splendid. The guard-rooms and hospitals have been alike almost empty all the time.

COMING DOWN.—To-day large quantities of strawberries arrived by express from Oswego, and more are coming tonight by the Kincardine. The complaint of scarcity, which kept up the prices so well, is now played out, and even to-day's twenty cents per box will to-morrow be a dear quotation.

PRAYERS.—The Brockville Enterprise says:—"One of the principal features of the 4th of July celebration at Watertown will be a baby show. The prayers of all good christians are requested for the unfortunate men who are to act as judges. As the judges are newspaper men we cordially add "amen."

CANADIAN SERIES.—Messrs. A. S. Irving & Co., of Toronto, have published in their five cent music, "Little Mollie Brown" and "The Mulligan Guards." The first is a song not very well known and it will now be popularly introduced. 'The Mulligan Guards' is veritably in every body's mouth and now it can be in every hand.

ACCIDENT.—Last evening Thos. O'Brien, a resident of Division Street, near All Saints' Church, had one of his legs badly crushed by a stick of timber "skewing" around and catching it against another log while he was unloading timber at the G.T.R. station. He afterwards fell between the cars. The injury is very painful.

BROCKVILLE CAMP.—On Sunday morning the Rev. Canon Muloch preached an excellent sermon to the volunteers on the grounds, who were most attentive. The camp is so delightfully situated that special trains can be run out for public convenience from the town, landing passengers at the encampment. Next Friday Col. Irvine, commanding the Kingston School of Gunnery, will inspect the various artillery corps in camp.

POLICE COURT, Tuesday.—There were no cases of drunkenness. In these hard times men cannot afford to invest enough to get tipsy on. There will be a poor aggregate business done in fines this year. Several boys, young hoodlums of Barrie Street, were charged with trespassing on Queen's College grounds, and were talked to pretty severely before being discharged. They had better give the grounds a wide berth in future, however.

Very singular to say the London Free Press expresses no regret at the re-election of Mr. Lachlin Macallum for Mohek. It will be remembered that when Mr. Macallum was unseated the London Tory organ hit him savagely on the head for his sinfulness, mistaking him for a "Grit." If the organ were consistent it would now lament the re-election of this "Grit." But consistency is an article of jewelry which the organ does not affect.

KINGSTON ENCAMPMENT.—A regular meeting of Kingston Encampment was held last evening at the Oddfellows Hall. The following officers were duly elected for the ensuing term:—

J. H. Werns, C.P.
W. Pe..y, (re-elected) H.P.
W. T. C. Bethel, S.W.
C. Mee, Scribe.
M. Herminston, F.S.
W. Dunn, Treasurer.
G. Kemp, J.W.

CHEAP TRIPS AND FESTIVAL.—The Maud is advertised for cheap trips to the Cape on Dominion Day. The excursions are pleasant at any time, but on Thursday there is an uncommon attraction in the holding of the Strawberry Festival in the depot building at the Cape, similar to the one last year, still so agreeably remembered by Kingston visitors. The steamer is to make an extra trip over at five o'clock and back again at ten o'clock, to accommodate the festival patrons.

SLIPPERY JACK.—Colonel Hance, the Chief of Police, has got his eye pretty closely fastened on the latest slippery Jack. He is pretty sure of his man, and would have no difficulty in convicting him for his little escapade on King Street on Saturday would the servant girl but give evidence. The best that can be hoped under these circumstances is that Mr. Slippery will take a hint and not attempt any more pranks. He will be spotted for the future.

CANADIAN AND GENERAL.

—There are no less than 40,766 lawyers in America.

—Gananoque will celebrate Dominion Day with yacht races, rowing races and athletic sports.

—The Tories and the Grits of Strathroy had a cricket match last week. The Tories won by two runs.

—The ship Pandora sailed on Saturday from Portsmouth, England, on an expedition to the North Pole.

—St. Louis girls carry cinnamon in their pockets to give to young men who have a right to kiss them.

—These are the times that try boys' souls—especially barefooted boys, when they step on a live firecracker.

—A large elm tree was struck by lightning in Adams Centre last Friday night for the second time within a year.

—On their arrival in England Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie proceeded to Sir J. Rose's new county seat very near Pangbourne.

—The County Council of Prince Edward is to be petitioned to submit the Dunkin Bill to the vote of the people of that County as a whole.

—Almost any cool evening five or six young hopefuls may be seen leaning over a picket fence gazing dreamily at a strawberry patch.

—Mr. Ham, of Whitby, writing from Fargo, Minnesota, says he 'wouldn't trade of a concession lot in Ontario, for the whole country.'

—The Boston Post very naturally suggests that the present fashion of pinning skirts is one of the many drawbacks in this world.

—When an earthquake gets away with 15,000 people and three thousand horses in one day, George Francis Train might as well chain up his windmill.

—Recent advices from the lumber districts on the Upper Ottawa state that the bush fires have destroyed fifteen hundred acres.

—Prepositions of marriage in Nevada are written on postal cards, and the answer comes by return mail; 'Come on with your preacher.'

—The heaviest item of American manufacture exported is that of refined petroleum. It foots up the enormous sum of $37,000,000 annually.

—The members of the Church of Scotland who refused to enter the Union are about issuing a monthly periodical to be entitled 'The Landmark.'

—Census returns indicate that the population of Watertown will reach about 11,000. The census of 1870 gave a population of 9,339.

—The United Empire Club building, at Toronto, the foundation stone of which will be laid on Dominion Day, is to cost $32,000, and the fitting $8,000.

—A story reaches us from Orillia, that some raftsmen captured a swordfish on Thursday which weighed 458 pounds. We would like to see that fish weighed.

—There was a large batch of cases of suicide in New York on Friday—there being no less than eight persons who, tired of life, succeeded in getting rid of it.

—A scientific writer says that scorpions commit sucide. We are glad to hear it. If mosquitoes would only get into the habit of doing so, how much more we would think of them.

—This is the latest version of a popular melody:

"Mother, may I go in a swimmin'?"
"Yes, my darling son,
But if you see Police or women,
Pick up your clothes and run."

—When a persistent hammerer at the front door rouses you from dreams at five o'clock in the morning, to enquire whether you want some fresh lettuce, you realize how meagre the English language is to express the deeper emotions of the soul.

—Protestants have built a church at Smithfield, London, to commemorate the martyrs burned there, and the Catholics intend to build one at the Tower to commemorate others. Builders and architects don't object to this sort of contention.

—In England the Methodists intend to appeal against the decision of Mr. Phillimore which forbids their preachers the use of the title of "Reverend." Their appeal must be to the Court of Arches, and will be decided by Sir R. Phillimore, father of the other.

—In one of the French Departments there is a "Society for the Protection of Birds Useful to the Farmer." All nests found are reported to the Society protected by it. In the past year the Society protected two hundred and fourteen nests, from which came nine hundred and four birds.

—"That carpet," said a dealer to an old farmer the other day, "that carpet is $1.35 per yard; but seeing it's you, you can have it for $1.20." While he was cutting it off the farmer proudly said to his wife 'I never met him before, but you see he takes me for some big man. Now, then, Mariar, see what 'tis to have a husband who looks smartish!'

Pic-Nic in Storrington.

A grand Pic-Nic will be held on the 5th day of July next, commencing at ten o'clock, a.m., in Mr. Burley's grove, which borders on Loughboro Lake, about a mile and a half from the village of Inverary, on the road leading west. The Committee have thought it advisable to hold such an entertainment, where all parties, both political and religious, might meet on a common basis and discuss those questions of a broad and liberal nature which will tend to unite all classes in one common interest. A base ball match will be played on the ground, and various other games of an interesting character will take place. The Sydenham Brass Band has been engaged to furnish music for the occasion. All parties are cordially invited to attend, and may expect a cheerful time, as the committee are determined to put forth every exertion to make it the Pic-Nic of the season. Several able speakers from Kingston have consented to be present.

A BIG INVESTMENT.—Mr. Burrows and a number of other prominent cheese buyers, did not put in an appearance to-day, consequently Mr. Morton, of Kingston, Canada, had the field to himself, and he offered a little better figures than our Watertown buyers could compete with. Mr. Morton occupied a position at a table on the Secretary's left, where he inspected samples of cheese from about 3 o'clock until within five minutes of six, when he was obliged to leave in order to take the cars. During the time he purchased of forty-eight factories 5,005 boxes of cheese, representing a cash value of about $37,500, which is quite a sum of money to pay for cheese in three hours. Fifty factories sold 5,109 boxes, Mr. Morton buying all but two factories offering 104 boxes.—Watertown Despatch.

AROUSED.—In consequence of the attempt of Mr. Gladstone to make political capital out of the Irish Sunday closing movement, the workingmen of Ireland have begun to bestir themselves in opposition to this proposal to restrict their liberties. Petitions signed by upwards of seventy thousand workingmen have already within the past few days been presented from Dublin, Belfast, Cork, Limerick and Londonderry, expressing strong condemnation of the measure.

A SPECIMEN.—A young Galena, Ill., wife left this note pinned up in the house, addressed to her husband:—"Precious: Have gone up to mother's to get something good to eat—be sure to take the medicine out of the right hand tumbler, and don't let the fire go down. Bring home my new bonnet for Sunday, or I'll quit your bed and board forever. Did the Scidlitz powders do you any good? Don't get any dirt on the floor, and save this big pin.—YOUR OWN CHUNK."

Henry Ward Beecher's Latest.

At the weekly meeting at the Plymouth Church in Brooklyn on Friday night last the audience cheered Mr. Beecher throughout his discourse. From first to last he spoke with great earnestness and feeling, and upon two or three occasions rose to his feet (he usually remains sitting while speaking) and pronounced his sentences with a depth of earnestness well calculated to carry conviction with every syllable. The Herald states that at these times the audience would remain as still as death, each hearer appearing to fairly hold his breath lest some word should escape his ears. At the conclusion of the meeting congratulations were in order, and every one expressed to his neighbor the unbounded satisfaction he felt at what all had listened to "God bless him!" was heard to escape the lips of more than one of that immense throng slowly filed through the aisles and doorways leading to the street, the following is a portion of the discourse delivered, Mr. Beecher said:—"For my part I believe God is nearer to me than my wife or my children. Indeed, I know it. I know I am the Lord's—that I am His child and He is my father. Every drop of blood in my veins tingles with this knowledge. I feel it every hour I live, and I know while God is with me no man, no combination of men, can pull me down. I know I am His child! Living or dying, I am His! Nothing can disturb me while I know this; nothing can throw me down. But this faith, this comforting, this sustaining religion is not for me alone. It is for all, if they will. When a man fully knows that God cares for him he is three times a man. O, how strong a man is when he has the Lord with him. I know that just as sure as you live and as I live I am going to live for ever. I am not now living in my house. This body is only a little shanty put up for me while I am travelling here below. None of those little eddies and whirlpools pools on the surface disturb me. For my part I care nothing for all these little things I won't cringe down in a corner, hang my head and say, every man's hand is against me; I am the most persecuted being that ever lived. I wonder if any one pities me. I guess I will go away by myself and pray. Were I such a sneak as that I should hate myself! I can say that, although I have had my dark days and have gone under the waves at times, I thank God that I have come out of it unsoured, and that I am not malignant. There is no human being the latchets of whose shoes I would not unloose, nor is there living to-day a man whom I would not rather help than strike. I have come out of this ordeal with a spirit of love and patience—a patience that carries me up, even though I go down, and now, through God, I can say there is something in religion. I bear witness to it. I speak from experience. I am going to work out my life. I will work till the coffin lid is screwed down upon me. So long as there is sorrow, so long as help is needed, so long as a tongue is needed for those who cannot speak, I will do God's work among the poor. I did not care for a big place; I went into the wilderness to do God's bidding. Nor did I come here—I was sent here. My future, I can say from my heart, shall be what Thou, O God, wilt have me to do. That will I do though ten thousand devils stand in my way. I will ask God what he wants, and I will, as heretofore, do His work. Hell and the devil cannot stop me. * * * * I wish I could have said these things to you with closed doors—privately. I could wish that the reporters would refrain from giving publicity to this through their papers; but I know human nature too well to ask this. As for you, my beloved flock, I honor, I cherish, I love you for your patience, your fidelity, your confidence. Yours is a just confidence. I am a Christian man, and at last you and I and all of us will rise to God purer than the dew before the morning sun. Be of good cheer, believe in God, work, wait and be at rest.'

BERRIES AND PIETY.—The New York Graphic gets off the following seasonable sarcasm: "Devout persons are now busily engaged in eating strawberries for the spread of the gospel at home and among the heathen. In other words, church strawberry festivals are in order. It is curious that so many excellent people insist upon complicating the heathen with strawberries, tableaux, and fairs. The old-fashioned charity that preferred its heathen 'straight' and ate its strawberries quietly at home has apparently been entirely superseded by the more complex system of combining benevolence and berries in the same dish."

MORE TROUBLE.—The introduction of the intonation the choral services into St. George's Church, will lead to some action by a section of the congregation. At the appointment of Rev. J. D. Caughley a protest was made on the ground that he was tainted with ritualistic ideas, and it was felt that the end of the wedge had been entered. A new church is talked of, to supply a part of the district from both St. Stephen's and St. George's. The site proposed is on Spadina Avenue, and its principal supporters are supposed to be Mr. R. A. Harrison and Colonel Gwozski.

NARROW ESCAPE.—A curious circumstance lately occurred to two volunteers of a country corps, who started to walk through the tunnel on the Brockville & Ottawa Railway between the camp and the town. When they were about midway in the tunnel, a train came rushing upon them. They flung themselves flat upon the ground inside the track, and the train passed on over them. The providential nature of their escape may be judged from the fact that both men had their clothes torn from their backs without injuring their bodies.

EPIDEMIC.—The N. Y. Herald tells us that tragedies seem to be now the order of the day and, as the law seems to be unusually lenient with the offenders, there is little hope at present of a cessation in crime. Murder is served up in the daily papers in a variety of form akin to romance or dime novel. The latest instance is that of a father taking an erring daughter out on the river to row and convincing her of the error of her ways by three shots from a revolver. As a logical sequence the paternal adviser killed himself.

SOMETHING NEW.—There is "nothing new under the sun." Even Boyton's method of defying the waves by encasing himself in an inflated dress of waterproof material and propelling himself with a paddle appears to be as old as the flood. Ancient mythology relates that Dardanus, who, at the time of the deluge of Deucalion, swam from Saus to the coast of Troy, had his body wrapped up in a dress which was inflated as a leathern bottle, and that he swam with the aid of one paddle.

RIEL AGAIN.—Le Nouveau Monde publishes a letter from Louis Riel, dated the 16th inst., from Worcester, Mass., addressed to the electors of Provencher County and to his countrymen in Manitoba. He thanks the electors of Provencher for re-electing him as their representative in the House of Commons three times within less than twelve months and protests against his banishment as an act of injustice.

YES, HOW.—How would you like to have your sugar whitened with the bones of men who died for their country! They are apparently having it that way in France. They have formed a factory for the manufacture of animal charcoal at Metz, which is supplied with bones from the battle over there. This product is used in refining sugar.
