New York, July 17.—A curious case, involving the constitutionality of the amended postage law, has been brought in the U. S. Circuit Court for this district. A gentleman offered a book for mail transmission to Philadelphia from this city, postage at the old rates being affixed. Being refused he applies for a mandamus to compel the postmaster to receive the package. The argument of the applicant is that the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill, into which the amendment increasing the rate on third class mail matter was inserted, was not a bill for raising revenue, that the amendment did provide ways and means for raising revenue, that the Senate has no constitutional authority to originate measures for that purpose, that being the sole prerogative of the House, and that the postal amendment having originated with the Senate and grafted on a bill which was not one for revenue purposes is unconstitutional.

London, July 17, 12:30 p.m.—The daily bullion return of the Bank of England yesterday showed that £69,000 went into the bank on balance instead of £11,000 being withdrawn.

St. John, N.B., June 17.—There was a very heavy rain here through the night and is still continuing.

On Monday the 62nd Battalion will go into camp for 12 days at Larrybuan.

Last evening it was arranged that a single scull race over a 3 mile course on the Kennebacasis for $200 a side takes place on the 12th between Alex. Braylay and Patrick McNulty.

GOOD TEMPLARS' Excursion to Picton on Monday per steamer Rochester.

CITY COUNCIL.—Regular meeting on Monday evening—8 o'clock.

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY.—Meeting of the general pic-nic committee on Monday evening at 7:30 sharp. Sub committees will please report.

THE Rev. Mr. Allen, Wesleyan Minister, will speak at the Sabbath Temperance Meeting, Sons of Temperance Hall, corner Brock and Wellington streets, to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

☞ Remember to pay your Gas Account by the 20th, and save the discount.

The crowded state of our market on Saturday, and occasionally on other days, suggests the consideration whether an additional market place is not necessary for the accommodation of our citizens and farm neighbors. The present market place is far too small for the accommodation of the public, and the time appears to have come when steps should be taken to inquire into the advisability of establishing another, in the upper part of the city. To the great bulk of the citizens the present one is most inconveniently situated. The boon of an upper wood market has been properly appreciated, and to a still greater degree would the convenience of a second farmer's market very probably.

The following disclaimer which appears in this week's Nation is as brazen a bit of writing as we have seen:

"We must beg leave, by the way, to inform the editor of the Watchman that he is wrong in supposing Mr. Goldwin Smith to be the editor of this journal. Mr. Goldwin Smith's name has been dragged forward only for the purpose of personal annoyance and to embarrass the editor of the Nation, by the Globe and Mail, whose editors we are sure the Watchman would be unwilling to abet in their violation of social courtesy and of our common profession."

The word "embarrass" is far from flattering to Mr. Goldwin Smith; but that aside, as we have sinned in the same direction as the above-named journals, we would state that the reason we associated Mr. Smith's name with the editorial writings of the Nation is that for months that paper informed the public through its columns that he had severed his connection with the Canadian Monthly and would thereafter be a contributor to the editorial columns of the Nation. When it saw fit to puff this out in a conspicuous announcement, in order to make money and prestige thereby, it is impudent nonsense to thus talk about violations of social courtesy and professional privileges. If the Nation people want nothing to be said about Mr. Smith's connection with it, why did they not set the example? They boast of it themselves in paper and ink; they cry like babes when any one else whispers it. We fear the tears are pumped up only after great difficulty and experience in the "waterworks bizness," as Jam Waffle would say.

AN IMAGINARY JOB.

The righteous soul of our esteemed contemporary, the Kingston Daily News, is vexed and alarmed at an action of ejectment brought by a certain gentleman to recover possession of a piece of property known as Mortonwood upon which the Government holds a mortgage. The action arises out of a confusion of boundaries which was never cleared up, owing to the fact that the late Mr. Thomas Kirkpatrick was the owner in fee on one side of the line and trustee of the land on the other side under a marriage settlement, in which latter capacity he was succeeded by Mr. now the Hon. R. J. Cartwright. The quantity of land in dispute is nearly a quarter of an acre and worth probably $100. And therein is smelt a "job!"

We are not disposed to enter into the merits of a case before the Courts, further than to observe that the action is necessitated by the neglect of the late Mr. Kirkpatrick to settle the boundary line between the properties held by him in those different capacities. We have enough confidence in our judges to believe that justice will be done between the parties to this suit involving as it does the enormous sum of $100 as afore said. But if they do not, Mr. George A. Kirkpatrick, M.P., must bear the blame, as he is the solicitor who advised the action and who in bringing is bringing it in his partner's name. Surely a Tory gentleman like Mr. Kirkpatrick would not be a promoter of a "Grit job."

The writer in the News tries to give the color of a political job to this private matter for two reasons. He honors the demandmant in the action with his personal hatred, and is only too eager to have a fling at Mr. Cartwright by confounding him as a private gentleman with him as a Minister. It is very singular that his puritanical soul was not outraged when the whole of this Morton property was jobbed away by Sir John Macdonald as a reward for supposed political support, not a dollar having to this day been paid upon it, while a bona fide sale for a larger amount (which was actually offered) could have been made to parties who had the misfortune to be Reformers. But the writer in the News, whose malevolence is only equalled by his stupidity, is clumsy enough to express a fear that there will be a political job in this $100 matter if, as he says, Mr. Cartwright as Minister of Finance does not order the action to be defended. The fact is, the proper party to defend it is the official assignee of the estate of the bankrupt owner. That official assignee is the writer in the News!! Poor witling; he is afraid that he will commit a job himself, and warns the public to watch him! It would be difficult to "charge one's memory" with a grosser exhibition of stupidity than this, unless it be that of Boards of Trade allowing official assignees to make political use of facts which come to them in that capacity.

We will now leave this unfortunate victim of chronic indiscretion to his regrets

Grand Gala Day for Kingston.

On Saturday, July 31st, the mammoth combination of menagerie, museum, hippodrome, circus, &c., of Adam Forepaugh's is to exhibit at Kingston, afternoon and evening. The entire press throughout the United States have teemed with complimentary allusions to this great show during the past 10 years, and there it is considered the ne plus ultra of tented exhibitions. During the past two months it has been making an extended tour throughout Ontario, and not a paper in any place this great show has visited but has spoken of as the largest, the finest, the most attractive and unobjectionable exhibition ever brought into this Province. There is no humbug about Forepaugh's gigantic combination—not a particle—and in proof of this statement we clip from the St. Catharines Times the following account of Forepaugh's first appearance on Canadian soil:—

FOREPAUGH.

HE TAKES THE CITY BY STORM—A MANAGERIAL TRIUMPH—HIS MENAGERIE, MUSEUM AND CIRCUS CROWDED.

HE HAS THE BIGGEST SHOW ON EARTH.

(From St. Catharines Times June 4th, 1875.)

The great Forepaugh Show made its first appearance in Canada to-day. It crossed Suspension Bridge during the night and early morning of yesterday, immense bonfires were lighted on either side, and as the immense train, with its thousand men and horses,

2,500 BEASTS AND BIRDS,

and all its extensive paraphernalia, filed on to the Bridge, a prolonged cheer went up from the crowd assembled on the American side. As the grand chariot, containing the Regimental band touched canadian soil the Band struck up and for the first time the Great Forepaugh Show appeared within our borders, and immediately commenced its march towards St. Catharines where it gave its initial performance this afternoon, before the largest and most respectable and refined audience ever assembled under canvas, in this city. When the establishment made its advent here this afternoon, unusual responsibility attached to it. Great promises had been made, the wonderful resources of the establishment had been proclaimed far and wide by means of superbly illuminated posters, and extensive newspaper advertisements, and as a consequence expectation ran high, and many were curious to learn whether the contract would be filled. Those who knew aught of the managerial career of Adam Forepaugh knew that he would "fill the bill," if it required the last dollar of his ample fortune, but of course there were those who never had been entertained under his auspices and who were moved not a little by curiosity to learn for themselves how far the glowing statements of the newspapers elsewhere and the announcements on his bill-boards were correct. They came, they saw, and—they joined in the universal verdict that the show was all that had been claimed for it. Long before the time announced for our streets presented a gala day appearance, and everybody was on the qui vive to see the Forepaugh pageant. About nine o'clock the procession commenced to move: and as it passed, it afforded enjoyment to thousand of people, not a few of whom represented the rural districts. Manager Forepaugh is too substantial a caracter to be afflicted with much vanity, but could he have been privileged to listen to the exclamations of delight which his street pageant provoke he would probably have yielded to a pardonable pride. It scarcely lies in human nature to listen to such enthusiastic praise of one's enterprise without feeling that it is an excellent and a profitable thing to cater successfully for the public. The long line of gaily decorated wagons, each of which was the depository of rare animals, birds or curiosities; the royal chariot from which excellent music was discoursed; the fine display of elephants, camels, dromedaries, and horses all brilliantly caparisoned; the tastefully and elegantly dressed drivers and riders—all went to make up a street exhibition which will not soon be forgotton and which is not likely to be eclipsed till Mr. Forepaugh again sees fit to vouchsafe us a visit; for be it remembered that Mr. Forepaugh's motto is 'progress,' and every year notes with him an immense improvement upon its predecessor. With the close of the procession, which we cannot stop to particularize, came the movement in the direction of the grounds on which the

"GOD SAVE THE QUEEN,"

were situated. We entered

THE MENAGERIE PAVILLION,

a magnificent canvas, new, symmetrical, airy and cheerful, and graced with a fountain of pure water, which played incessantly. Around this pavillion were the elegant cages with the zoological and ornithological treasures and the various features which constituted the Museum proper. The corner of nearly every cage was ornament with a gold-bronze statue, each figure standing for a character which the visitor could study out at his or her leisure. Along the centre line of the pavilion were ranged elephants, big and little; camels and dromedaries in various picturesque attitudes, and these, of course received their full share of attention. It would involve considerable labor, and is scarcely necessary, to enumerate the animals going to make up

THE ZOOLOGICAL EXHIBITION.

It was universally agreed so far as it was possible to ascertain the verdict of the multitudes, that this department was the most complete ever seen in this city, making no exception in faver of any manager.

The animals were all in splendid condition, healthy and clean, and this fact very materially enhanced the pleasure of the spectators. Assuredly the student of Natural History had never before so good an opportunity to make the acquaintance of the rare animals of the remote parts of the world, and such specimens withal. Among those which command the most admiring attention, we may mention the several lions, both old and young by far the finest we have ever seen; the Rhinoceros, the Tartain Yak, the White Wolf the Silver Lion, the Brazilian Tiger, the black tiger, the South American Panther the Gold spotted Leopard, the young Asiatic lions, two Bengal Tigers, the Australian Kangaroo, the Jaguar, the Horned Horse, the Zebu or Sacred Bull the Japannic Hog, the Mexican Wild Boar the India Sloth Bear, the Russian Reindeer, the african Hartbeeste, the beautiful African Zebra, the Polar Bear, the Abyssinian Ibex; and, if we had the pen of a Naturalist, we should certainly devote a full chapter to the Giraffe, an animal which is sadly libeled by those who associated him only with the idea of an enormously long neck, but without any credit for the grace, beauty and gentleness which distinguish him. But we shall not assume to catalogue the exhibition; and as for the

which embraces a great variety of rare birds, the reader can learn as much of it by a half hour's inspection as we could tell him after two hours of labour.

THE MUSEUM

is particularly attractive to the young people, although it may be observed, en passant, that whatever delights the little ones is pretty sure to afford pleasure to those who have not parted company entirely with their youth. When one can find no gratification in a menagerie or in such curiosities as Forepaugh exhibits in great variety, it is a sign of serious decay. But philosophising aside, one must have young eyes to see some thing for, what they are intrinsically worth, and a youthful ardor to appreciate them thoroughly; and looking through young eyes what wonderful things are not revealed in where men, animals, elves, fays, undines, gnomes, and birds disport themselves in an automatic way. A steam engine supplies the motive power.

A RURAL SCENE

is also made alive by the same motor, and in the distance may be seen Forepaugh's caravan on the road, with all its trappings and paraphernalia. Among the may be mentioned the Female Bell Ringers, the Smoking Organ Grinder and the Chime Bells, all of which are kept in musical motion during the exhibition.

THE STATUARY

representations of little Charlie Ross and his family, the Siamese Twins, the Sleeping Beauty, the Dying Zouaves, the groups which make up, respectively, the temperance household and that of the drunkard, and the other figures and groups might be dwelt upon at length, but we must content ourselves with advising the young people to see all these things.

THE CIRCUS

was scarcely needed to make Manager Forepaugh's exhibition a complete one; but this department is in no respect behind the others. The equestrianism of M'lle Elvira and M'lle Virginia; the riding of Mr. William Dutton in his various acts; the gymnastic and pantomimic performances of the Walhalla Brothers, are all fine. The trapeze performance of Mr. David R. Hawley is not very elaborate, but the feat which he entitles the 'Niagara Leap' is a daring one, and one of the most thrilling we have ever witnessed. The cannon ball feats of Mr. Geo. Cutler show prodigious strength and dexterity, and Mr. Richard Hemmings' Blondinian feats rank him as the best in his line now in this country. Our space will not permit us to speak at length of the numerous other features of the arena, but we would be unpardonably neglectful did we omit the humorous and vocal efforts of the man who sports the motley, a clown of the first water and a favorite with the American people of many years standing. He is as fresh and irresistible as ever, and is a decided feature of any arenic exhibition in which he may take part.

MR. SAM LONG,

were crowded both afternoon and evening—all that the manager could wish for, so far as pecuniary results are concerned. We need scarcely remind our readers that those who are conscientiously opposed to performances in the ring can enjoy the attractions of the Menagerie and Museum without any reference to the circus.

We commend Mr. Forepaugh, his assistants and his exhibition to the good graces of the public and the press everywhere.

KINGSTON CLUB.—The London Advertiser and on Ottawa base baller writing to the Times say that only two Kingston men were in the St. Lawrence nine which defeated Guelph. Well, we can count three who have lived there all their lives. Carson, Hermiston and McCammon. Five others have been residents of Kingston and players in the matches all season, and one has played with the club for five weeks past. This is making a better local show than Guelph, with its hired professionals from Little Falls, N. Y., and Chicago for this tour and the Watertown Tournament. The London and Ottawa base ballers, however, cannot bear the Kingston, success over the Maple Leafs, when they were so badly beaten by the latter themselves. When the Ottawa Base Ball correspondant states that the umpire favored Kingston, he asserts what we defy him to find one of the Guelph nine to endorse, and when he asserts that the Kingston players were imported for the occasion he is simply uttering a bold falsehood. The Ottawa Club is better at boasting and slandering than at playing, or it would be more frequently heard from outside of the correspondence column of a newspaper.

ARRIVALS AT THE ANGLO AMERICAN HOTEL.—Thos Buck, Norwood; John Hawks, Portland, Me; C W Taylor, Gananoque; D F Hains, New York; Mrs Fox, Cape Vincent; Mrs Cook, Syracuse; Mrs Andrews, Napanee; Miss M M Wales, St Andrews; H M Babcock, Syracuse; A M Ford and wife, New York; Joseph King, New York; Geo G Dunn, Indiana; E D Peaison, Indiana; D McKillop, Toronto; Mrs J L Biggar, Murray; Miss Emma Biggar, do; R A Pudune, Rochester; R G C Avery, New York; J D Case, Vernon, N Y; E Wilson, Oneida, N Y; S M Osborn, Pawling; F F Osborn, do; Miss A Breckem, Cape Vincent; D Cooper, do; J Flynn and wife, Coburg; G E Detwiler, Albany; J H Kennedy, Winnipeg; Frank Munis, Peterboro; John Comer, Oswego; Mrs C R Thomson, do; W B White, Pittsburg, Pa

BLOW, BROTHERS, BLOW.—Mr. Smith, the Clerk of the Market, had his argus eye set this morning and swept down on two quarters of mutton found in a blown up state in a farmer's waggon. It was confiscated, and will be relished by the inmates of one of the charitable institutes, who will not care if it does not weigh as heavy as it looks.

POLICE COURT, Saturday—Before Mr. Strange, P.M.—James Jorden, Robert Dineen and Robert Gregory, charged with being drunk, were fined $2 or 15 days. Martin Manham was summonsed for killing a dog, the property of Mr. Geo. Thompson; case adjourned until Monday.

WARNING TO STEAMSHIP COMPANIES.—A verdict has recently been obtained in the Court of Queen's Bench, Guildhall, against the Oceanic Steam Navigation Company, the plaintiff being Mrs. Kruger, a widow whose husband was drowned by the sinking of the "Atlantic" off the Coast of Nova Scotia in the Spring of 1873. The jury brought in a verdict of £2000 for the widow and £1000 for each of the three children.

ALPHABETICAL MATCH.—Mr. Duane thought it would be a good joke to have his only son learn the alphabet early, and so named him Aaron Burr Concord Duane, making his initials A. B. C. D. When the boy married Ellen Francis Garroway Hurd (E. F. G. H), he began to think how the balance of the alphabet would come in as applied to the children.

ESCAPE.—Hugh Crippen, a lunatic patient of Rockwood Asylum, who was allowed exceptional liberties because of the trust placed in him, last evening made his escape from the grounds. He is being searched after.

FRIDAY must be a good day for pic-nics and excursions. Quite a number of bedraggled and unhappy parties returned home last evening in all that heavy rain. Colds will be plentiful for a few days.

The Black Veil.

SOLEMN RELIGIOUS CEREMONY.—RECEPTION OF CARDINAL M'CLOSKEY.

N. Y. Herald.

On entering the chapel of the Convent of Mercy yesterday morning the visitor could not fail to admire the tasteful decorations of scarlet and gold that draped the high altar, wreathed the pillars and fell in graceful festoons from the gallery and sides of the chapel. Numerous wax tapers shed their radiance over the golden leaves amid the folds of scarlet cloth; tiny gas jets formed the name of Jesus high above the tabernacle, and a few pyramids of the choicest flowers stood modestly at either side the pillars of the sanctuary.

Promptly at nine o'clock the religious entered the chapel, each bearing a lighted taper and wearing the white choir mantle. The Superioress entered last, conducting by the hand the novice who was to make her profession. The choir meantime sang an appropriate hymn. When the religious had taken their places the Cardinal Archbishop, clad in his scarlet robes and attended by a large number of clergymen and acolytes, also entered the chapel and proceeded directly to the altar, where he intoned the "Veni Creator." The choir took up the strain, while every knee was bent and every head bowed in silent invocation of the Holy Spirit. At the close of this hymn the Cardinal blessed the veil and ring, one of the chaplains read the gospel of St. Matthew xvi., 24-28, and the venerable Cardinal, seating himself before the assembly, delivered an impressive discourse, after which he interrogated the novice as to her demand and her knowledge of

by the holy profession. The answer being satisfactory, the Cardinal offered a prayer, and then the Rev. Father Clowry began to celebrate the mass, offering special prayers for the novice. After the celebrant's communion, the Cardinal held the blessed sacrament before the novice, while she pronounced her vows in a clear, distinct voice. Then he gave her the holy communion, saying, "What God has commenced in thee may He Himself perfect; and the body of our Lord Jesus Christ preserve thy soul unto everlasting life. Amen." The mass was then finished and the Cardinal offered special prayers for the newly professed religious, and she responded, "Thou hast held me by Thy right hand; and by Thy will Thou hast conducted me; and with glory Thou has received me." The other religious responded; and she replied, "For Thee my flesh and my heart hath fainted away. Thou art the God of my heart and the God that is my portion for ever." The choir then sang receive the crown which the Lord hath prepared for thee forever.' She then repeated three times in a loud voice, "Uphold me according to Thy Word and I shall live, and let me not be confounded in my expectation. Amen." The Cardinal then placed the black veil—the emblem of chastity and modesty—upon her head, she saying, "He has placed his seat upon my forehead that I should admit no other lover than Him. The choir then sang 'to thee my beloved, I come to be espoused; the winter is past; the voice of the turtle is heard, and the flowering vines yield their sweet perfume. The Cardinal then placed the ring upon the third finger of the left hand, saying, "I espouse thee to Jesus Christ, the Son of the Father most high who shall preserve thee inviolate. Receive, therefore, this ring.

"COME SPOUSE OF CHRIST,

THE SEAL OF FAITH

and of the Holy Ghost, that thou mayest be called the spouse of God. And if thou shalt serve him faithfully thou shalt be crowned forever. In the name of the Father, and of the Son; and of the Holy Ghost, amen." The newly professed replied, "I am espoused to Him whom the angels serve, whose beauty the sun and moon admire." The Cardinal then invoked the blessing of the Trinity; the newly professed sang "My heart hath uttered a good word; I speak my words to the King,' and other antiphons and responses, when she prostrated herself before the altar and the choir sang the "Te Deum," at the close of which the Cardinal and his chaplains offered other prayers for the newly professed; the assistant raised and conducted her to the Superioress who gave her the "kiss of peace," the choir sang the "Ecce quam bonum," and the Cardinal and clergymen retired to the parlors. When sister M. Gertrude, the newly professed, had given the "kiss of peace" to her companions in the chapel, they again formed in procession and retired as they had entered. Miss Margaret Bennett is the family name of Sister Gertrude, but her family and friends seemed very happy at her choice of a religious vocation and name, and united in the warmest congratulations.

When the guests who had been bidden to the ceremony had dispersed the Superioress and her community invited the cardinal and clergy to remain, and they repaired to the private parlors, which had been deporated with scarlet and gold, where a pleasant reunion took place, the religious tendering their homage and the Cardinal responding in his usual happy manner.

ON THE BEACH AT LONG BRANCH.—The Watertown papers tell a tale that, it seems, to us, should cause a sensation in the usually quiet county of Jefferson. They give to the public the announcement that Geo. F. Paddock and family, 'with the two Frosts,' are now luxuriating in elegant suites of rooms at the West End Hotel at the summer capital of the State and Nation—Long Branch. In Geo. F. Paddock & Co.'s bank, which failed last spring, were deposited $100,000 of the people's money, every dollar of which is lost to them. Hundreds of poor working men and women, widows and orphans, had the savings of years of toil deposited in this bank, the failure of which left them destitute. And while those poor creatures are beggared, the men who robbed them are luxuriating in elegant apartments at the most costly hotel on the beach at Long Branch. Verily Mr. Geo. F. Paddock and the two Frosts' are entitled to a reception at the hands of the people of Jefferson county if they ever return to that locality.—Palladium.

LOSS OF THE "CHAMPLAIN."—St. John's P.Q., July 16.—The magnificent steamer Champlain, of the Champlain Transportation Company ran on the rocks at Saw Mill Point, two miles and a half north of Westport this morning and sank in fifteen minutes. It is supposed she broke in two. The steamer Adirondack, on her up trip, was signalled, and the passengers, about eighty in number, the crew and freight, were all removed; not a life lost. Eldridge, the oldest pilot on the lake, was steering at the time, but owing to rain and the intense darkness, it supposed the accident arose from some miscalculation.

ONTARIO MEDICAL COUNCIL.—A long discussion took place concerning the best mode of securing the conviction of persons violating the provisions of the Medical Act. It was finally resolved that the Executive Committee should appoint public prosecutors in every county, the whole fine to go to the person securing conviction. The fees of examiners were increased for the spring examinations; those for the autumn ones to remain as at present.

MORE OF IT.—Ottawa, July 16.—A clerical scandal is at present exciting religious circles in this city. It appears that a priest named Pourcile has been silenced by Bishop Duhamel for immoral conduct and has absconded to the States, conveying with him the funds of an educational institution entrusted to his care.

AROUND HOME.

—The visit of the Belleville Oddfellows to Picton on Wednesday night was a very pleasant one.

—A Board of militia officers will be appointed to investigate the facts connected with, and report upon, the death of two volunteers at the Brockville brigade camp held recently.

SOME HORSE FLESH.—Last Saturday James Nimmo, Esq., of Camden, had in town a colt twenty-three months old, which at the market weigh house turned the beam at 1440 pounds. He is of the Clyde breed—a stock of horses particularly adapted to the wants of farmers. Who has a better colt?—Napanee Beaver.

OUTRAGE.—Particulars have reached us of a brutal outrage. In the forenoon a young man named James Perry met Mary Ann Morgan, aged twelve years, about three-quarters of a mile from Roblin village and enticed her into the woods, there violating her person. A warrant was issued for his arrest, but he has not yet been captured.—Beaver.

NEW GRANGE.—The officers of the Bay of Quinte Grange, organized at Link's Mills, are:—William Hogle, Master; G. N. Amey, Overseer; Isaac Fraser, Lecturer; Isaac Brown, Steward; George Daly, Asst. Stewart; Jessie Amey, Treasurer; W.M. Fraser, Secretary; Allen M. Fraser, Chaplain; Nicholas Amey, Gatekeeper; Mrs. Isaac Fraser, Ceres; Mrs. George Daly, Pomona; Mrs. Jesse Amey, Flora; Mrs. Nial P. Wood, Stewardess.

THE MISSISSIPPI EMBROGLIO.—Matters in connection with the "unpleasantness" between Messrs. Buck & Stewart and Mr. Peter McLaren, have come to a stand-still for the present. All the timber of Buck & Stewart has been got over the High Falls, the firm having received the voluntary assistance of fully a hundred men from Sherbrooke and Dalhousie to affect this; and the drive is now well on its way down the lower Mississippi to the Ottawa. Mr. Buck left town for Belleville on Saturday, feeling confident of coming out "all right" in the many law-suits he has on hand or is interested in. Mr. S. M. Britton, Q.C., of Kingston, appeared for him on Thursday and Friday last, at his examination before C. Rice, J.P., on the perjury charge.—Perth Courier.

The Storms.

FATAL SHOCK AT CAPE VINCENT.

Yesterday afternoon's thunder storm was far exceeded in violence and startling effects by the visitation of the evening, which lasted two hours, during which the rain fell in torrents. These storms are very frequent this month and a host of accidents is reported of damages during the past week. The furious disturbance of last evening must have done the greatest damage of all, and already a report comes from Cape Vincent of a fatality. The telegram states that Miss Jane McMulligan, 19 years of age, was struck by lightning about 8:30 o'clock, while standing near the bakery oven of her brother-in-law, John McHenry. The lightning fluid did slight damage to the building, tearing out a piece here and there without setting it on fire.

The city has this time escaped better than it did on Tuesday last, when the freaks of the lightning were, however, more comical than damaging.

During yesterday afternoon's storm, says the Intelligencer, Mr. Andrew Lawrence, a young farmer resident near Ferry Point, in Ameliasburg, and a boy named Scott, who was with him, were struck by lightning, while crossing a fence in hurrying home from a hay field. Lawrence was instantly killed, and Scott prostrated so as to be in a serious state.

The Perth Courier reports of Tuesday's storm that a horse belonging to Mr. Edward Tovey, Bathurst, was killed by a bolt; the Presbyterian Church in Lanark and the late James Dobbie's house suffered from the same cause; and the residence of Mr. William Graham, Wolford, was also injured. Trees in all directions were shattered or scorched by the same powerful agency.
