New York, Aug. 24.—A Constantinople special says the Insurgents in Herzegovina are attempting to attack Trelignе in large force. The Turkish troops are concentrating in the direction of Nissa. The Grand Vizier has addressed a note to the Governments of Austria, Germany and Russia thanking them for their friendly intercession in the interests of peace.

London, Aug. 24.—Capawebb started again to-day from Dover on a second attempt to swim across the channel.

Aug. 25.—La Universe announces the engagement King Alfonso of Spain to marry the daughter of Duke De Montpensier.

London, Aug. 25.—A special from Vienna says that the eldest son of the Sultan of Turkey is going to Crete with a squadron to prevent a threatened insurrection.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy RR. have declared a semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent.

St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 25.—R. Harold, one of the injured by the late accident on the St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern RR., died last evening. Several others are in a critical condition.

New York, Aug. 25.—Wm. A. Perry, clothier, of Newark, is announced as having failed; liabilities $140,000.

Messrs. Dunham, of this city, who failed last week, has made an assignment to Quigley for their creditors. The liabilities are over $100,000.

The National Board of Steam Navigation meets here next week. The object is to arrange measures to secure the passage by Congress of the amendatory shipping law of 1872. Representatives of lake, river and ocean steamers from all parts of the country will be present, representing $300,000,000 worth of property.

It appears that Mr. Rae, one of the parties arrested for complicity in the California and Oregon RR. bonds, had in his possession $30,000 worth of notes on a heavy dry goods importing house of this city, which he claimed were genuine. On presenting them to the firm they were instantly pronounced forgeries. A motion to discharge Rae yesterday brought out these facts. The Judge declined to grant the motion.

The police have not found the burglar shot by Dr. Hammond, nor the burglar who nearly murdered Mr. Noe. The latter gentleman is very low. Another arrest of a noted burglar, named Corbett, has been made, who answers more nearly the description of the man who beat Mr. Noe, but the latter is too low and delirious to recognize any one.

Ned O'Baldwin is very sick in this city.

Robert H. Johnson, a small cotton dealer, has failed.

A man confined in Draymond street, Brooklyn gaol, for drunkenness, died a week ago from the pestilential vapors of that prison, and the authorities of the gaol sent the body to the morgue to have it buried secretly. Two-thirds of the prisoners in the gaol are reported sick and suffering.

Detroit, Aug. 25.—The greenback mass meeting is considered a failure. Ten thousand people were expected, and [illegible] hundred were present. Of the speakers announced only Wm. D Kelly, of Pennsylvania, and Mr. H. Horton, of Illinois, are here.

Concord, N.H., Aug. 25.—The stomach of Mrs. Magoon, of Raymond, N.H., who, it was suspected, came to her death by poisoning, has been analysed and found to contain a quantity of strychnine sufficient to produce death. Mr. Magoon and a female accomplice will be arrested to-day.

London, Aug. 25.—Capt. Webb has succeeded in swimming the British Channel from Dover to Calais without the aid of the float or life preserver apparatus. A despatch from Calaissays Capt. Webb arrived there at eleven this morning in good health and spirits although fatigued. The passage from Dover occupied 21 hrs. 40 minutes.

Whitehall, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Mr. Ross drove from Plattsburgh to Schuyler Falls early this morning to see the child in possession of the French family. It was not Charley Ross.

London, Aug. 25.—The Times says: The general depression continues here and on the continent partly owing to apprehensions of political complications, but in great measure due to mere absence of business.

New York, Aug. 25.—Baldwin, the Irish Giant, says he never was in better health.

Schenectady, Aug. 25.—The repairs of the canal break west of this city were completed yesterday, and the boats resumed running this morning.

REMINDERS.

Y.M.S.B.A. Excursion and Pic Nic to Brockville on Thursday.

MEETING of L.O.L. No 527 to-morrow.

ORANGE Excursion and Pic-Nic on Friday.

THE Maud's trip to the Bay on Saturday.

"The question of convenience never weighed with the Ministry for a moment; if it had the election in South Victoria would not have been hurried on in the midst of the farmer's busiest season." The Mail.

There it is, you see. In the cases where the writs were delayed a howl was raised that the public interest suffered by the delay. And, in South Victoria, where there was no delay, a howl is raised that there should have been delay, as the election these was inconvenient to the farmer. How under heaven can you satisfy such professional grumblers? If the Government do a certain thing it is wrong; if they do the reverse it is equally wrong, according to Tory account. When a writ is hurried it is to embarass the Tory candidate; when it is withheld it is for the same purpose. "Heads I win, tails you lose," seems to be the Tory motto.

As a specimen of Ultramontane pretension the following extract from a Lower Canadian paper may be read with some interest:—

"We believe that the Church is a perfect society, that it has rights which belong to it exclusively, and there is no civil power which can define what those rights are, or within what limits the Church may exercise them; otherwise God would contradict himself by delivering the Church to the civil power. It is this Church that He has directed to teach the nations, and instruction has become the first duty of prelates. In consequence she must exercise her authority over all who are under her. It is her mission to dictate to sovereigns as well as to subjects their respective rights and mutual duties, altogether irrespective of any temporal Government."

We shall perhaps shortly see in the Guibord matter whether the Church will deem it best to follow "her mission to dictate to sovereigns" and toss Queen Victoria's writ in her Majesty's face, or not.

MINISTERS AND EX-MINISTERS IN THE ELECTION COURTS.

Some of our friends of the Tory Press bore with very small augers. They are at Mr. Blake again because he appeared in an election court as counsel for an unseated member of the Local House, such conduct being denounced as improper in that he was Minister of Justice at the time, and, consequently, in a position to exercise an undue influence on the Judges, whose promotion he has in his hands. This is a very unkind reflection on the Judges who, by the way, are for the most part Tory appointees; but even if the Judges stand in the way of a thrust at Mr. Blake, they apparently must suffer the consequences. By a parity of reasoning, a Minister of Justice on assuming office should be compelled to relinquish the practice of the law, for by practicing it he is, according to this argument, exposing the Bench to the suspicion of being improperly influenced by the legal Head of the Government. The nonsense of such an argument is apparent. The English Attorney-General and Solicitor-General are not debarred from practising privately in the courts, and though not members of the Cabinet they doubtless have considerable influence in judicial appointments, generally taking the best vacancies for themselves. Nor would they be debarred from practising in a provincial election court were the Federal system in vogue in England as it is with us, for a Federal law officer of the Crown has no more influence over a Judge in an election case than in a suit on a promissory note—unless the Judge be corrupt, which contingency will scarcely be entertained. But, it has been retorted, Sir John Macdonald, an ex-Minister of Justice and one who hopes to regain his portfolio is equally to blame, in appearing as counsel in a Dominion election case. As far as we can see there is no blame in either case. At first it was the law that no legal member of either House could appear as counsel in an election suit contesting a fellow member's seat, but that law has been changed, we believe, and Sir John has a right if he choose to argue in both election courts. We fancy, however, that he will not cultivate the practice to any alarming extent, as with all his great legal abilities he would be weak beside younger and inferior men who have been boring into law books, storing up cases and sharpening their legal wits during the long years he has been engaged in politics and constitutional questions. His right however, is unquestionable. And so is Mr. Blake's right to argue in the Local Election Court.

THE IRISH AGENT GENERAL.

The London Canadian News, which is certainly very attractive to Mr. Agent-General Jenkins, and industriously resents any reflections upon that indefatigable gentleman, thus replies to the complaint of some Canadian journals that Mr. Jenkins is overpaid:—

"We take this opportunity of pointing out, as much in the interest of future Agents-General as the present, that the Agent-General for Canada is the worst paid Agent-General in London. Besides the Crown-Agents for the Colonies there some ten or a dozen gentlemen representing as many colonies resident in London, and one of these days we shall make it our business to compare the work done by each of these and the remuneration he receives for it. In the meantime we beg to observe that the agents of the small colonies of Australasia, with much less work to do, representing less wealthy communities, and required to keep up a less important position in London, receive from £1,200 to £2,000 a year. The salary of the Agent-General for Canada is, we believe, only £1,000 a year. We do not make this comparison with the object of reflecting on the Dominion Government. No Government can long command the sympathy and support of the people which does not exact economy in all its its departments, and especially in the matter of official salaries. But in reference to this particular salary we may say that it would be simply impossible for any one to sustain the honor and dignity of the Government represented by Mr. Jenkins as he sustains them without drawing largely on his private resources."

And, further on in its remarks, our Anglo-Canadian contemporary denies the report that Mr. Jenkins is about to resign or to be removed:

"The Halifax 'Citizen' of the 20th ultimo says that a telegram from England has appeared in the Ottawa Citizen to the effect that Mr. Edward Jenkins, the Canadian Agent-General in London, has been relieved from his duties. We beg to assure both Citizens that there is not the worth or weight of a tinker's malediction in the accuracy of this statement and most heartily do we wish that the Canadian press would find us something better to do than correct unwarrantable fibs and inventions sought out with cunning."

As a euphemism a "tinker's malediction" is very good. There is a girlish delicacy in this covering of the supposed coarseness of a "tinker's dam," which after all is a harmless something used in the operation of soldering. However, we are glad to hear that Mr. Jenkins is not to be removed for notwithstanding occasional indiscretions and a tendency to bumptiousness Mr. Jenkins makes a very excellent Agent-General, being industrious, fond of the work and in many respects peculiarly adapted to it. No doubt, too, as a M. P. Mr. Jenkins, if he remain in Parliament, will wear down his youthful angularities and humps. Mr. Disraeli, when he entered the House, though he now in his old age takes such wicked pleasure in sitting heavily upon our Mr. Jenkins, was himself an insufferable bore and a foppish prig, a nuisance to the House which cat-called him into his seat and an offensive Jewish dandy out of it, essenced and oiled and tricked out like a pawnbroker's apprentice in rings and chains and flowered vest. Looking back to the time when he himself was young and curly, Mr. Disraeli should not be so lofty towards any young member, for it would be difficult to make a worse start than he himself set out with.

No telegram from Toronto as to result of base ball match up to 5 p.m. A report says that our club returns to Guelph to-morrow to play for the championship. No word from the team to that effect, however.

FROM QUEBEC.

Mr. Tremblay is to run again for Charlevoix.

Hon. T. Fournier has returned from Ottawa.

The reports circulated with reference to escapes from the Beauport Asylum and a disturbance there are officially contradicted.

By the breaking of a derrick for hoisting stone two men named Chalifour and Dafere were injured, the latter fatally.

The German bark "Ocean," ashore at Cariboo Point, has been condemned.

FROM ST. JOHN.

St. John, N.B., Aug. 25.—The Hon. Mr. Queen and Hon. Mr. Perly, members of the Local Government, leave here to-day for the United States and Ontario for the purchase of agricultural stock for the Government.

Yesterday the laborers on the ships raised another difficulty, demanding to go to work at six instead of seven, and to have from seven to eight for breakfast hour, claiming two dollars per day. Work has been suspended on a number of vessels, but there is a probability of these places being quickly filled.

The Provincial Rifle Association competition opened in Frederickton yesterday under favorable circumstances.

FROM TORONTO.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—It is stated in town that a strong local man is to be brought out in South Oxford as an Independence candidate, in opposition to both Crooks and Hopkins. The name of a prominent cheese manufacturer is mentioned.

A Fall race meeting is to be held at Carleton the first week in October. It will last two days, and premiums of from $2,000 to $3,000 will be offered.

The trial of James Amor, charged with being implicated in the Hamilton abortion case, will take place to-morrow at the Police Court.

A raid upon houses of ill-fame was made last night by the police, and this morning fifteen of the inmates and keepers were before the magistrates. Fines were imposed in each case.

Last Night's News.

A CHALLENGE TO KEELEY—INSULT TO UNCLE SAM—WORD FROM DONALDSON—THAT LAST DAVIS CASE.

—A Hamilton machinist named Killey brings out a new hydro-carbon motor, with which he challenges Keeley, of Philadelphia.

—Mr. Thomas White, jr., has been nominated as the Conservative candidate to contest Montreal West for the House of Commons.

—Twelve thousand cattle are attacked with the foot and mouth disease in Dorsetshire. The epidemic is spreading rapidly to other parts of England.

—The barques Ecuador and Sabra Moses went ashore on the coast of the Bay of Fundy. The former has been got off, but the latter is a wreck.

—Johnson, the champion swimmer, has again defeated Coyle at Philadelphia yesterday. Coyle was taken out of the water before the race was finished in an exhausted condition.

PROPHETIC.—The Belfast Whig of August 7th, concludes an able article on the O'Connell Centennial with the following prophetic words:

—The two United States vessels at Tripoli have not yet received satisfaction for the insults offered their Consul in that country. The officers of the vessels were hooted by the mob when they landed.

—The death of the Right Hon. Sir Edward Ryan, Vice-Chancellor of the University of London, is announced. He was eighty-two years of age. While in India he was Chief-Justice, and one of the comptrollers of the Exchequer.

—A bottle has been found washed ashore at Port Hope, Mich., containing what purports to be a memoranda signed by Prof. Donaldson, and dropped into the lake when the late balloonist found themselves in imminent danger.

LOST BROOCH.—About a week since a lady lost a handsome brooch in the streets. It is of more value to the owner from association than to any one else, and she will pay a liberal reward for it.

TO-DAY'S GLEANINGS.

—Frogs are being introduced into the Hamilton market.

—Sir Garnet Wolseley is to arrive soon in England from South Africa.

—The peppermint crop in Wayne County, N.Y., will reach $500,000 this year.

—The Duke of Connaught has been raised from the rank of captain in the 7th Hussars to that of major.

—"Ambled away on his auricular" is the latest way of saying "walked off on his ear."

—When a man slips in front of a fruit store and sits down on a ripe tomatoe, laugh at the tomatoe. It ain't safe to laugh at the man

—New Zealand stretches out her hand with an invitation to Moody and Sankey to come out there.

—About £800 has been subscribed by the Greeks towards the erection of a statue of Lord Byron.

—The latest proposition in France is to give to every one drowned out by the inundations a farm in Algeria.

—The death is announced, at the age of seventy three years, of Mr. Churchill, the eminent medical publisher, of London.

—Colonel Baker was one of the favored few selected to accompany the Prince of Wales to India, and it is whispered that he was about to be made a General.

—Mr. Horace Merrill, Superintendent of the Government Works on the Upper Ottawa, has accepted superannuation.

—The Indians inhabiting the Black Hills country will meet in grand council on September 1st, to consider the question of ceding their territory to the United States.

—By an ingenious machine, and at the cost of eight shillings a ton, the English farmer will hereafter be enabled to make hay when the sun doesn't shine.

—Dr. Kenealy is said by Wayland Hoyt to be the best speaker he heard in the House of Commons, his voice being clear and strong, his words aptly chosen, and his manner commanding.

—The London Standard thinks that "history will say that Andrew Jackson was the one great man who appeared upon the Northern side during the progress of the war of separation."

—Rumors of an impending crash in Montreal among several large French Canadian firms are very thick. The suspension of the Jacques-Cartier Bank has crippled many houses which transacted a large business.

—There is a man in Galena who must have plenty of leisure. He must have a fine hand, too, for he has written 3,000 words from the book of Isaiah on the back of a postal card and there is room enough left on it, he says, for all the testimony given in the late trial.

—A telegram from Berlin says that Victoria Anderson, a rope-dancer from Sheffield, aged twenty three, fell on Monday from a velocipede on a rope eighty feet high, on which she was performing there. She was fearfully injured and died shortly afterwards.

—Mr. Tom Taylor, play writer, and the art critic of the Times, has married his daughter to Sir Charles Edward Frederick, Captain of Hussars. This gentleman succeeded in proving his claim to the baronetcy after a memorable trial, whereat Admiral Frederick was the other claimant.

—The last number of the Mark Lane Express, in its review of the crop prospects, says that there has been a general though small decline in prices owing to the favourable turn in the weather experienced in Europe. The Continental harvest is better than was expected.

—It is too frequently the case for papers of a low order of intelligence to ridicule the college graduate as a helpless and useless individual. Mr. Avery, of Yale, however, graduated only a month ago, and already he has secured a position of trust at a salary of $3,000 a year. It is as pitcher of a professional base ball club.

—The banks are understood to be pretty well supplied with money, but they are pursuing a very conservative policy, and discounting little except for regular customers. Rates are from eight to nine per cent., the inside figure being to purchasers of exchange. Exchange is very quiet; sterling sixty days bank bills are nominal, at from 109 5-8ths to 109¾ for round amounts.

THE CITY DOGS.

ALDERMAN METCALFE'S BY-LAW NO GOOD—HERE IS A BETTER ONE.

The new dog law, considering that the dog days are within six days of their end, is still exciting a great deal of interest and controversy. It is splendid in theory, everyone admits, but it is quite weak in practical points. It will take a special dog police force to see that it is carried out—that every dog has paid his taxes and has earned his collar. Since a force is necessary let it be a clever, efficient one, and then the dogs could have every care and attention which their dumb state appeals for. The following by-law we submit with a humane and liberal intention, in this connection, to the Mayor and Corporation of Kingston, joining hands with the Milwaukee Wisconsin in its noble efforts on behalf of the canine. Take it, dear Mayor, its yours. Don't scruple, you are very welcome to it, and we don't ask for pay or even thanks. We are working for glory:—

Section 1. All dogs owned in the city of Kingston shall be furnished by the city with carriages and drivers, in order to obviate the necessity of their running along sidewalks and biting people who obstruct the passage. A uniform shall be provided for said dogs; for the male dog, a light-colored, well-fitting suit; for the female dog, a pull-back dress and fan en chatelaine. (Striped stockings may, or may not be included—or otherwise.)

Sec. 2. Any dog or dogs found walking along the streets shall be taken by special police appointed for the purpose, to one of the leading hotels, including the new Harwood, and there detained until called for by the owner, who shall be entitled to $2 for each and every dog, for such detention, the money to be paid from the general city fund, and to be hereafter deducted from the amount raised for frontage for opening into the new Princess street drain, particularly that reserved from Victoria Ward.

Sec. 3. It shall be lawful for said dogs to hold conventions at the City Hall on the second Tuesday in April and October of each year, to see whether they get all they want; if they don't, they can raise a howl about it.

Sec. 4. Little bits of dogs don't count

Sec. 5. Men, who have lived in Brockville, Belleville, and other villages, and who come snarling around finding fault with these provisions, shall be compelled to procure a license and wear a muzzle for fourteen months in each year.

Sec 6. It shall be understood that the above is all right.

Mr. James Mooney, a wine and spirit merchant, in Dublin, has been arrested on a charge of indecently assaulting a lady named Mrs. Milton, while travelling in a first-class carriage between Dublin and Drogheda. He was remanded, bail being accepted.

JOSH BILLINGS wants $150 a night to lecture in Canada, and then he thinks he is doing it for "plun." Well, we guess Kingston will stick to Mr. Charley Counter.

THE GUELPH MATCH.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

The Guelph Mercury furnishes us with a full description of the match of Monday. Of the field it says:—

"Those of our readers who visited the Maple Leaf grounds yesterday afternoon witnessed a decided treat in the way of base ball. Arriving there a little after two o'clock, and seeing the assembled crowd, one would almost have thought that a general holiday had been set apart for the game, as all the seats were taken up and very little standing room left. The appearance of the St. Lawrence nine on the field raised the excitement almost to fever heat, and many a spectator sat quivering on his seat as he eagerly waited for the game to commence. The King stonians on the field, in the absence of that sunburnt color on most baseballists, presented an appearance of cleanliness and neatness, which added much sympathy and feeling for their success, although at the same time the Guelphites had every confidence in their boys. In town times were so dull during the game that one man was heard to remark, 'he didn't think there was a dollar taken during the play.'"

THE GAME.

At 2:20 we see the visitors take their positions on the field, and the home club at the bat. Tommy Smith takes his first base on a muff at that position, and gets away round to third, and home on a passed ball. The three following strikers retire. For the visitors Ledwith and Carson are put out easily, and Hermiston gets his base. Denin makes a splendid hit to right field, and Hermiston gets out on home plate by a throw. This run would undoubtedly have counted, with a little better judgment on the part of the runner. In the 2nd innings Spence hit a hard liner to 3rd, and retired. The ball well held. Emery hit to s.s., and by a high throw of that player got his 1st, 2nd and 3rd on a steal and passed ball, and home on a hit from Keerl, who retired at 1st. Maddock next reaches the home plate, and the two Smiths retire. Denin gets his 2nd on a hard hit to r.f., and gets round to 3rd, and in his eagerness to get home is put out near the plate. Henley gets his 2nd and home on a bad throw to 1st—first run for Kingston. In the 3rd, Spence retires on a fly to l.f., and Colson gets his 1st, 2nd and 3rd on passed balls, and finally home on a wild throw. Emery is out on home plate, and Keerl on hit to s.s., who sends in a fine throw to 1st. Two outs on foul, and one 1st is the order for the visitors. In the 4th, Keerl got his base on a muff, 2nd on passed ball. Maddock retires on a high foul, which is taken by Lawlor on the bound among the clubs, after a risk of breaking his neck and his friends paying funeral expenses. For the visitors, Henley tallies his 2nd run. Foley, after a series of foul hits, gets nabbed on 1st, and Denin and McCammon are out. In the 5th and 6th innings neither sides score anything, although Lapham makes a brilliant hit to c.f., which Carson captures in truly good style. The 7th and 8th innings were well batted for by both nines, and twelve runs were tallied. The 8th proved decidedly "the innings" for the visitors, who made half of their score. Considerable muffing was done, and the scorers' record of errors had now gone up pretty high. The 9th innings for both clubs very near approached a one, two, three order, with no runs for either, and an unusually interesting game ends. The cheering throughout the game was most vociferous, the visitors at times on making good plays were applauded again and again. Mr. McGuinness of the Ætnas, Toronto, acted as umpire, and did so very fairly. The utmost good feeling prevailed all through the game, and as far as the cheering was concerned, it was hard to say who were the favorites. Only one double play was made during the game, and that by the visitors. For the home club Spence distinguished himself again and Maddock did equally well behind the bat. The play in other parts of the field at times was rather loose. The visitors took the evening train for London. The following is the total score:

CHEESE.

Utica, Aug. 23.—Eight thousand boxes of cheese were offered to-day and 5,000 sold at 10c to 10⅞; average price 10¾. At Little's Falls 7,203 boxes sold at from 10c to 11c. Offerings 14,000; average price 10¾.

VOTERS' LISTS.—Will each Reform voter take the trouble to examine the Voters' Lists and see that his name is accurately placed thereon. By doing so now much disappointment may be prevented in future. Lists of all the Wards are to be seen at the City Clerk's office. The Secretary of the Reform Association will attend to any irregularity that is pointed out. It is getting customary to give this notice of warning. Reformers should profit by it.

A MISTAKE.—Prof. Tice, who predicted violent meteorological phenomena to-day, has surely made a mistake. Whatever may be the look of things elsewhere the weather here to-day is the most bracing and salubrious we have enjoyed for the season. This failure of to-day's prediction will spoil the prophecy for next Tuesday a week in advance.

FALSE CHARGE.—Several papers are reporting that two young ladies took the veil in Kingston yesterday. This is not so. On the eve of devotion to a strictly religious life they would not do such a thing. The veil was given to them.

FROM HAMILTON.—Barney O'Reilly and William Munn in charge of the Sheriff's officers, arrived to day with the intention of remaining here until August 24th, 1877, unless they behave pretty well and get a reduction of time at the Penitentiary on good conduct marks.

CURRENCY.

—Peru is paying off her debt with guano—seventy per cent.

—Two men, jailed for indecent assault in Pensacola, were taken out and lynched.

—The investigation into the scandal at the Halifax hospital will occupy several days.

—If they draw them much tighter they will have to step outside of them in order to walk.

—Mr McMillan, barrister of Guelph, has received a numerously signed requisition to become a candidate for West Wellington.

—The Mail says "let our friends throughout the country combine as one man." One man's vote will hardly elect all the Mail's candidates.

—The Agricultural and Arts Association of Ottawa refuses to furnish music at the opening of the Provincial Exhibition there on the 20th September.

—Colonel Baker's pecuniary loss is estimated at $12,000, viz., value of his commission £9,000 fine £1,000.

—Little Minnie Warren and her sister, Mrs. Tom Thumb, have both been as sick as they could be for their size, but both are now convalescing in Middlebrouch, Mass.

—Some thirty English and Irish gentlemen have settled in Amelia county, Va., on estates aggregating 10,000 acres, during the last three years, and have invested nearly half a million dollars there.

—A fashionably dressed young woman, putting on the finishing touches, was heard singing 'Backward, pin backward, oh, skirts in your flight; make me look small again, just for to-night.'

—Hans Bulow is coming over this season to play the piano for us. He is the son-in-law of Listz. He got possession of the old gentleman's daughter, but not of his knack of striking the keys.

—At a Kentucky watering place the waiters glide over the dining room floor on parlor skates, thus obviating the noise of tramping feet which so often disturb the summer guests at meal times.

—A despatch from Quebec announces the escape of several inmates of Beauport Asylum, and incidentally alludes to Brutal conduct on the part of one of the keepers a martter for investigation on the part of the proper authorities.

—A strange case of disappearance has occurred at London. The 22-year-old daughter of an English Earl left her home over a month ago, and has not been heard of since. Her friends do not think she has eloped, and she took nothing of any value with her.

—An enraged woman, with a knife in her hand, pursued her lover, of whom she was jealous, through the Paris streets. People jeered at his flight, and ashamed, he turned and waited for her to come up, when she plunged the knife in his throat and he died in three minutes.

—The playful young man in Ohio, who snapped a pair of scissors the other day too close to a young lady's face, and who now sees that he is bound in honour to make amends with a wedding ring, consoles himself with the reflection that she can never turn her nose at him, any way.

Franklin.

The memorial erected by the late Lady Franklin to the memory of the gallant explorer who died in the Northern Seas in 1847 was unveiled recently in Westminster Abbey. It is placed in the chapel formerly called St. Michael's, but from the fact of the interment therein of Joseph Gascoigne Nightingale and Lady Elizabeth Nightingale, it has been lately known as the Nightingale chapel. The chapel is at the eastern aisle of the north transept. The memorial consists of a bust of Sir John Franklin in Carrara marble. A Gothic canopy in Alabaster surmounts the bust. Beneath the bust is a marble representation of a ship, frozen. Underneath are lines from the Canticle:

"O ye frost and cold, O ye ice and snow,
Bless ye the Lord; praise Him and magnify Him for ever."

Then follow the lines by the Laureate—

"Not here; the white North has thy bones; and thou,
Heroic Sailor soul,
Art passing on thine happier voyage now,
Towards no earthly pole."

On either side of the monument are the following inscriptions:—

"To the memory of Sir John Franklin, born April 16, 1785, at Spilsby, Lincolnshire, died June 11th, 1848, off Point Victory, in the Frozen Ocean, the beloved chief of the crews who perished with him in the completing the discovery of the North West Passage. This monument was erected by Jane, his widow, who after a long waiting and sending many in search of him, herself departed to find him in the Realms of Life, July 18th 1875, aged 83 years.

These are from the pen of Dean of Westminster, who has taken considerable interest in the progress of the work. At the ceremony were several friends of the deceased, amongst them being Miss Craceroft, a niece of Sir John Franklin. The bust is said to be an admirable likeness.

Pepper's Oration.

On the 6th inst., during the O'Connell celebration at Toronto, an "oration" was delivered by a man styling himself a Methodist minister and rejoicing in the cognomen of Pepper. His speech was one no loyal Protestant or Roman Catholic could listen to without disgust. As a means of giving our readers some idea of the man we append the following letter written concerning him to the London Herald:

"Dear Sir: I saw an article in your paper lately respecting one Pepper, who delivered an incendiary address at Toronto on the occasion of the O'Connell centennial. I know the fellow well. He has been prominently connected with the Fenian organization ever since its inception, and has obtained a considerable notoriety among the 'circles' for his blood and thunder speeches. He was chaplain of the 60th Ohio regiment during the war, and I believe he still preaches whenever he can yet a congregation to listen to him. I heard him address a Fenian meeting at Mozart Hall, in Cincinnati, in September, 1865. The speech was a villainous one throughout, and when he asserted that he 'would regard the privilege of plunging his sword into the heart's blood of Queen Victoria as the greatest honor that could be conferred upon him,' even a number of the Fenians present became disgusted and left the hall. I am very much astonished that such a man should have been invited to address a Canadian audience. It would be interesting to know who invited him. It must have been men who were acquainted with his peculiar talent of abuse of everything British.

"Yours truly,
"JOHN CAMPBELL,
"Late of the Government Detective Force, under 'Gilbert McMicken; now Crown Land Commissioner, Manitoba.'"

City vs. County.

The special committee of the County Council met this morning at 10 o'clock in the office of the County Solicitor to discuss the question of jury expenses, regarding which there was a difference of opinion as to the proportion the respective municipalities should pay.

There were present, as members of the County Committe, Messrs. Spoor, Chairman, Graham, Toland, McRorey and Godfrey.

We copy the following remarks from the papers of the County Solicitor:

Mr. Britton stated that the City Committee had authorized him to settle, and that whatever he agreed upon they would adopt. Mr. Britton proposed to take 1857, 1858 and 1859, which often reading, he thought the County had good reason to claim the amount of such years, and that such amount should be divided; and that the acccount of 1874 as rendered should be paid.

After some discussion Mr Spoor submitted his proposition, which was modified somewhat and adopted as follows:—

That whereas a Committee having this day (the second time) met on behalf of the County of Frontenac, and B.M. Britton, Esq., on behalf of the City of Kingston, for the purpose of devising such means as will most amicably settle all matters in dispute between the said Corporations relating to all former and present amounts of Jury expenses claimed by the said County of Frontenac, and payable by the City of Kingston: Be it therefore resolved, that the Corporation of the County of Frontenac receive in full and quit all former claims for Jury expenses from the City up to the year 1874, by the Corporation of the City paying into the hands of the County Treasurer the sum of Fifteen Hundred Dollars, including costs; And be it further resolved, that the amount of Jury expenses claimed by the County and payable by the City for the year 1874, and for five years thereafter, be borne equally by the said City of Kingston and the County of Frontenac aforesaid.

THE GUELPH MATCH.—This game was not played for the championship, though it was generally so reported outside of Kingston. The Guelph Club, by rules which it got adopted at some convention or other as those of a Canadian Base Ball Association which has no existence, holds the championship pretty fast, as clubs have got to play for it on Guelph ground for one fourth of the gate money. The game just played was a return match, the Maple Leafs having been twice here, and the St. Lawrence Club once up there, and one half of the gate money was allowed to the visitors. The interests in the games was however all the same, for had the St. Ls. won Guelph could no longer have laid claim to the championship, with a record of 3 to one against it. The clubs are now even, 2 to 2, both clubs having won on their own grounds each time. The Kingston boys do not seem to have played as well in Guelph as they do generally at home.

VALUABLE PATENT.—The box car, to which is attached Horsey & Cook's self-adjusting rollers, for the better protection of life and property, reached here to-day. The car was left on the track at the City Depot, where the patent was examined minutely by all interested in such apparatus and appliances. The car to which the invention is connected is of the ordinary build, and weighs, unloaded, ten tons. With and without a cargo, it has been tested some eleven times, under different circumstances, and found infallible or nearly so in the prevention of accidents, of which it is claimed from 75 to 90 per cent will be saved by its use.

THE HASTINGS MATCHES.—The Kingston sharp shooters did some fine scoring at the Hastings matches in Belleville yesterday. In the Association Match (200, 500 and 600 yards) six of those in attendance took prizes, the names and scores being: Capt. Strachan, 47th, 46 points; Sergt. Baillie, 44; Capt. Baillie, 44; Sergt. Strachan, 43; Sergt. Miller, 43 and Pt. Hume, 40 points. With the exception of Pt. Hume all the above winners are members of the 47th Battalion. In the Ontario Match Sergt. Kincaid made 26 points (500 yards) Capt. Baillie 26; Pt. Hume 25 and Sergt. Baillie 25 points.

AN OUTSIDE OPINION.—The Belleville Ontario rises and remarks:—"If the B.B.B.C. can do as well in the match here as the St. Lawrence boys did at Guelph we will begin to think that our town can boast a champion nine." Thank you, old boy. But let's see, there is no B.B.B.C. according to its captain's account. Will the Ontario and the captain please settle the point for public satisfaction here?

APPOINTMENT.—We are glad to learn from a private and reliable source that Cornelius Vallance Price, Esq., has been appointed Official Assignee for this City and County, under the new Insolvency Act passed at the last session of the Dominion Parliament. The appointment is one which will give general satisfaction. A better selection could not be made.
