All the other prisoners who have not been sent to the counties where they live have been discharged, and the military companies have been dismissed. The negroes have called a meeting to arrange for emigration to some other State.

FRIDAY EVENG, SEPT. 3, 1875.

REMINDERS.

LIFE SAVING and Swimming Exhibitions again on Saturday.

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY.—Regular Monthly Meeting on Friday evening.

Mr. Macdougall, at the Markham Conservative Demonstration, was coarsely and personally abusive of Mr. Cartwright. We venture the assertion with safety that had Mr. Cartwright been present Mr. Macdougall would have kept a civil tongue in his head, for the Finance Minister has only to raise a finger at the erstwhile suppliant of public alms to strike him dumb. Some of these days Mr. Macdougall's unruly member may get him into exceedingly hot water, for there is a limit to human patience with such abusive mendicants, who curse all who choose to refuse them charity. Mr. Macdougall, the beggar at the door of the public crib, is the last man in Canada that should, by coarse abuse, invite exposure of his history as a public beggar, and if he have any little sense left, he will not again provoke an exposure.

A CONSERVATIVE FIASCO.

A meeting of merchants of Toronto was called on Wednesday evening, to consider the present commercial depression, it being hoped by the wire-pullers that an opinion would be given expression to that the Government was responsible for the hard times, and that some Tory capital be raised therefrom. The meeting turned out to be a miserable fiasco, very few merchants being in attendance, and those who were present almost unanimously denouncing the pretension that the Government was responsible as foolishly absurd. As a specimen of the resolutions that were put to the meeting (which broke up without adopting any) the following may be read with amusement, if not instruction:—

"That in the event of our large expenditure for public works, demanding an increased revenue, this meeting petition the Government to amend the tariff so as to give increased incidental protection to our manufacturing interests."

This amendment was moved by gentlemen who presumably know better, and who may have been having a lark at the expense of the foolish meeting. There is a certain limit to a revenue tariff which if overstepped defeats its defeat. If it be desired to absolutely protect, the revenues must suffer, because Canada will consume the local manufacture, and pay no taxes on the imported article. If more money be required by Government taxes must be so regulated as to stimulate importation, and a corresponding curtailment of consumption of local manufacture. The two ends are very diverse. Protection deserving the name, means that local goods are cheaper than imported, and that taxes will not be paid upon importations. Revenue requirements necessitate a tariff that will promote importation—the more importation the more revenue. But, after all, the resolution was worthy of the meeting, which was in itself worthy of the baffled meanness which inspired those who called it. Instead of uttering condemnation it substantially affirmed that the Government were blameless in the matter, and that the attempt to fasten on it the responsibility of the hard times prevalent the world over, and under all tariffs, was as wicked as it was shabby.

A NUT FOR THE "MAIL" TO CRACK.

The Toronto Mail, now that it is in Opposition and can compromise nobody, is violently Protectionist. It knows that its Party leaders are opposed to Protection, but yet it struggles to make its soft-headed readers believe that were the present Administration out of office the country would have Protection from the Tories. How dishonest that pretence is we have often shown. A fresh illustration of its dishonesty was given by Dr. Tupper, the financial leader of the Opposition, at the Markham Conservative demonstration the other day. That distinguished gentleman is reported in the Mail to have said that the fifteen per cent. tariff of Sir John Macdonald's Government was "the wisest tariff that had "been known in Canada for many years." There is a direct rebuff to those writers in the Tory Press who advocate Protection out of the mouth of their financial chief. Nor is this a surprising utterance for Dr. Tupper to make. When Mr. Cartwright raised the tariff from 15 to 17½ per cent., Dr. Tupper protested against the increase as "the entering of the thin edge of the "Protectionist wedge which would ruin "the Maritime Provinces." And yet in the face of these decisive pronouncements by the gentleman who on the accession of the Conservatives to office would probably be Finance Minister, there are people who fancy that Dr. Tupper would give them Protection if only in office, and the Mail panders to and plays upon their ignorance to make a point against the Government out of the hard times, though it knows, too, that Protection did not save the United States from harder times than we have suffered. We make no doubt, however, that the Mail with Dr. Tupper's declared preference for a moderate revenue tariff before it in its own columns, will go on preaching Protection, though it knows that its own Party is opposed to it, not in honest advocacy of it, but simply to create disaffection against the Government. And that is its idea of a journalist's duty! It is almost a dishonest as selling one's pen to the G. T. Railway.

ALL ABOUT A WOMAN.—Scranton, Pa., Sept. 1.—A duelistic encounter took place last night at Taylorville, four miles from this city, between two young men named Schurch and Callaway, on the public street, in the course of which several shots were exchanged. Schurch was mortally wounded by a ball which entered below the right breast. Callaway received two slight flesh wounds. The tragic event originated in a quarrel about a certain young woman. The streets were crowded when the shooting commenced, and an exciting scene ensued. Schurch was the attacking party. He drew his revolver deliberately when Callaway's back was turned, and exclaiming sharply, "Callaway, look out for number one!" he fired upon him. The latter turned promptly around and fired back, discharging two shots, one of which took fatal effect. He then went and gave himself up to a justice of the peace. Schurch is delirious and cannot live many hours.

Funeral of Lt.-Colonel Phillips.

This afternoon the remains of late Brigade-Major Phillips were carried to the grave with a large public mark of respect. The funeral left the house at three o'clock for Cataraqui Cemetery. It was headed by a firing party of 100 men of the 14th P.W.O. Rifles, (the deceased's old corps), under command of Captain Gordon and Subalterns Sands and Hinds. They were followed by the Band of Battery "A," playing the dead marches very impressively. The members of the Masonic Order then followed, being in immediate charge of the body of their late Worshipful brother, the brethren of St. John's Lodge being joined in the last offices by the members of the other lodges in the city and vicinity. The body was conveyed on one of the garrison gun carriages, drawn by six horses, the coffin being enveloped in the Union Jack. The deceased's horse, fully caparisoned, followed. The family mourners, who were many in number, and the citizens generally followed in a long concourse. Besides Lt.-Col. Jarvis, D.A.G., there were present Lieuts Peters and Wilson of Battery A.; Capt. King, District Quartermaster; Major Matthews, Capt. Bagus, Lieuts. Selleck and Spriggs, of the 14th P.W.Os., and a squad of men of the Battery. The pall-bearers were W. Bros. McMillan, Horsey, Greenfield, Gordon, and Bros. Drennan and Swales. The solemn services of the Wesleyan Church were performed by the Rev. Mr. Elliott, and at the grave at Cataraqui the impressive ceremony of the masonic burial was performed, and the body left to its final rest.

SUMMER RECESS.

It is sometimes observed that persons who have the full advantage of a long summer vacation, return to their usual mode of life, without those signs of increased strength and freshness of spirits which those who have had to stay at home expect to see in them. This may be accounted for, perhaps, on the one hand, by the fashionable style of living which is in vogue at some watering-places and other resorts to which people betake themselves in the summer months. Instead of the rest they so much need, they are forced to share in a round of gay dissipation which, to those unaccusted to it, is really more wearying than steady employment. Others, again, to make the most of the time at their disposal, devote it to violent physical exercise with such eagerness as to exhaust instead of fortifying their constitution. Muscles and nerves are overtaxed, and the system, not being able to bear the strain, breaks down, and they return from their "pleasure-trip," less fit for their daily work than they were before they left it. What busy people chiefly need in the hot season is rest, with just enough moderate exercise to keep them in good condition.—Montreal Gazette.

 People are beginning to see the folly of the old style of summer recreati n the serious light in which the Gazette puts it, and each year is drawing more away from the sea-side resorts to the Island below Kingston, for a season of camping out, resting and fishing instead.

FROM OTTAWA.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—A branch association of the Dominion Editors' and Reporters' Association was organized here last night.

A man named Eugene was drowned at the head of the slides last night. He took cramps while bathing.

Rowdyism is very prevalent here. It is dangerous to venture out after 10 o'clock p.m. Reports of men being attacked by roughs and seriously beaten are very common.

Clothes line robbers stripped three lines on Sandy Hill last night. Loss about $500.

PLAYING WITH FIRE ARMS.—Last evening some boys at Williamsville of an age that should carry with it some sensibility of recklessness, indulged in the pleasant sensation of putting caps on an old muzzle-loading pistol and setting them off in each others faces to feel "how the wind blew." Young Bell, one of the party thinking that that sport was rather tame took the pistol around the corner and loaded it with powder and shot unknown to his companions. With a pleasurable anticipation of the surprise that would follow he handed the weapon to Master Snook, son of Mr. T. L. Snook, barrister. He was in the act of capping it, preparatory to setting it off as before in his own or some other lad's face, when a mitigation of a horror took place in the accidental snapping of the pistol in his hand. The barrel was pointing downwards and the charge passed into young Snook's thigh. He was carried to his home at once, and received prompt medical aid. He may, perhaps, save his leg; and if so, he will feel grateful for an escape from the mad folly or wicked temperament of a companion more careless than himself.

LOOK AT HOME.—Before our christian contemporary found fault with its neighbors for dealing gently with offenders for the first time charged with misdemeanor, it should remember its own course not very long since in a case of felony and blush—we stop, it's past that now. There is some difference between a man twice seized on within six months for smuggling and a receiver caught but once.

NO FALL EXHIBITION.—The Electoral Division Society have decided to abandon their usual fall exhibition and contribute $250 towards the funds of the Central Fair, which will thus receive the concentrated energies of the two local societies, and receive no home opposition whatever. The action of the Electoral Division Society like that of the Frontenac Agricultural Society is to be commended.

SIGN YOUR NAMES.—Nearly every day we receive letters on pertinent general and local subjects—pertinent letters, too—which we would be glad to print, because they are interesting and often expose abuses or make useful suggestions; but we can't print them because they don't come from anybody nor from anywhere. This community seems to have a mania for writing anonymous letters. Sign your names for our information, and we'll print your letters.—Oswego Palladium.

A CLOSE GAME.—The New Havens and Guelph Maple Leafs are playing this afternoon at St. Catharines. End of 4th innings, 3,30 p.m., Maple Leafs 2; New Havens 5.

MONTREAL.

THE ROW OVER GUIBORD'S REMAINS.

AN ARMED MOB—A SECOND ATTEMPT TO BE MADE TO CARRY OUT THE LAW.—

RIOT FEARED.

Montreal, Sept. 2.—This afternoon the friends of Guibord assembled to the number of two hundred in the Protestant cemetery, where the body has lain since Nov. 1869. The procession started for the Catholic cemetery, where a crowd of about 1,000 French Canadians had congregated. Arrived at Cote des Neiges, it was found that the cemetery was in the hands of the mob, who greeted the funeral procession with discordant cries and yells. They clustered behind the gate yelling "Il n' entre pas," (it shan't come in), brandishing sticks and occasionally cheering. The hearse halted at the gate, and members of the Institute dismounted and conferred, while the crowd behind the gate yelled and kept up hostile manifestations. There was a crowd upon the hill, which kept up a shower of stones, and as the hearse was kept waiting there were frequent attempts to lead it away. Women among the crowd attempted to add their voice to the general din, and some were seen as stone throwers, while the crowd soon increased Mr. Doutre, decided, after consulting with his friends, that it would be impossible to gain admission into the graveyard, as the bailiff had come back and reported that it would take some time to get the Volunteers to quell the disturbance. The hearse moved away amidst the derisive cheers of the multitude. William Scale, the driver, was cool and collected, and walked his horses at a slow pace down the road, followed by carriages containing Mr. Doutre and friends. The mob for a moment made as if to follow and attack the receding procession, but when they saw the friends of Guibord and a number of Protestants close in behind they desisted, and remained on the ground. In the meantime the body of Guibord has been carried back to the Protestant cemetery, there to await further and more decisive action. Several persons were struck with stones thrown by the mob, but no one was seriously injured. Bishop Bourget notified the Mayor this morning that he feared a disturbance at the cemetery, and the Mayor consulted with the Chief of the Police, who did not think, however, that any trouble need be apprehended. A good deal of excitement prevails in the city this evening, and the next attempt to bury Guibord will not result as that of to-day did.

Montreal Sept. 3.—After the departure of Guibord's remains from the Catholic cemetery gates yesterday afternoon, the mob remained in force on the ground, until the Mayor and fifty police arrived, when they abandoned the gates and rapidly dispersed. Before this, however, some persons had filled up the empty grave and torn down the cross over it. The Prince of Wales Regiment rendezvoused last evening, and is held in readiness for any outbreak. The mob was well armed, and several hundred are up at the cemetery this morning again. No one knows when the funeral will be attempted again, as Mr. Doutre wishes to make full and final preparations, including the arrest of fifteen of the ringleaders whose names are secured. The Priests deny that they instigated the riot. Feeling runs very high between Catholics and Protestants, and Doutre is threatened. The Orangemen talk of turning out at the funeral, and, in fact, it will be the greatest demonstration ever seen in Montreal.

Fifteen large and small firms have failed in Montreal between the 1st and 31st of August last. The course of trade during the past week has on the whole been disappointing, but in some lines symptoms of improvement if not a decided recovery is noticeable.

A young and rising lawyer, J. P. Kelly, was drowned at Longueuil Pier, opposite the lower end of the city last evening, while attempting to get on board a departing ferry boat.

The Harbor Commissioners have withdrawn from the agreement with the Quebec Harbor Commission relative to the building of a graving dock, allowing that they were not accorded proper representation on the Board.

POLICE COURT, Friday.—Thos. Fanning, vagrant, was not cribbed, cabined or confined; fanning is altogether too nice to dispense with in public these warm days. He was released. John Adams, who was not sober even by Adam's sight, was fined $2. John Bram, a boy who would not take the WHIG's warning to leave other peoples' fruit alone, was overtaken by the police last night, who thus got ahead of the cholera morbus. He was fined $1 or 30 days in gaol in default. That everlasting nuisance case was again adjourned.

BASE BALL CONDEMNED.—Cricketers, heads of public schools, of athletic clubs, and of the universities in England, have been long deliberating over the merits of base ball. Their decision is at last arrived at, and it is a unanimous one. It is to the effect that base ball is more fit for boys under twelve or fourteen than for men, and that it is never likely to find favor with English adults. It is acknowledged to be an improvement upon the old game of "rounders," but another objection is thus stated: "The authoritative and dictatorial powers wielded in the game by the umpires are sufficient to militate against the possibility of its ever becoming popular in England."

CALIFORNIA DEMOCRATIC.—The State election in California, on Wednesday, resulted in a triumph for the Democracy. She has gone back to a Democratic basis. A Democratic Governor, Democratic State officers, and three Democratic Congressmen—out of four—have been elected; and besides these a majority of the members of the legislature and a majority of the local officers chosen are Democratic. There were no less than four tickets in the field—democrats, republicans, independents and prohibitionists. The Independents have been the most successful organization of late years.

CALL ME IF SHE BLOWS UP.—It was the same old lady who was seen walking up and down Levee street yesterday while the boat was taking on freight. She was ticketed for New Orleans, and the first night aboard boat she opened her stateroom door just before retiring, stuck her nose out and yelled:

"Capting! Capting!"

"What's wanted, madam?" inquired that official, as he approached the door.

"I'm a lone woman, capting, as you well know," she squeaked, "and if this boat blows up I depend on you to call me!"

He agreed, and she slept soundly and peacefully.

LIKELY.—The weather man appears to have entered into a little arrangement with the summer hotel keepers, and granted 'em an extension of time.

FROM MANITOBA.

THE INDIAN ANNUITIES—NEGLECT OF DUTY—CHIEF JUSTICE WOOD—PRESENTATION—AT LOGGERHEADS.

Winnipeg, Sept. 1.—There is some indignation here in consequence of the delay of the Indian Commissioner, Provencher, and Acting Commissioner Governor Morris attending to the Indian annuities. The Hudson Bay Company people at Fort Alexander had to supply the Indians with provisions, as they were in a starving condition. A similar state of things is reported at Fort Francis, Brakenhead and other posts. The blame is said to rest entirely with Provencher and Morris, both of whom are travelling in great pomp slowly with a large retinue of friends who are feasted at the public expense. It will be well for the Ottawa Government to look out after these Tory officials.

The conduct of Chief Justice Wood has become scandalous. The manuscript of certain articles written by him reflecting on the Ottawa Government is now in possession of parties here, and threats are made of circulating petitions for his removal.

Hon. Letellier de St. Just left for Moorhead by special conveyance. He has visited the principal settlements in Province, and is loud in his praise of the Province, and the courage and independence of its people, under almost crushing misfortunes.

Mr. Oglive, M.P.P. for Montreal West, who has been prospecting in the Province for some time, was the recipient of an address from the prisoners of 1869 on Friday last, thanking him for his efforts to arouse public indignation against the Provisional Government of that time.—Ottawa Free Press.

APPLETON'S

American Cyclopædia,

NEW REVISED EDITION!

ENTIRELY REWRITTEN BY THE ABLEST WRITERS ON EVERY SUBJECT.

Printed from New Type, and Illustrated with several Thousand Engravings and Maps.

The work originally published under the title of THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA was completed in 1863, since which time the wide circulation which it has attained in all parts of the United States, and the single developements which have taken place in every branch of science, literature, and art, have induced the editors and publishers to submit it to an exact and thorough revision, and to issue a new edition entitled

THE AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA.

Within the last ten years the progress of discovery in every department of knowledge has made a new work of reference an imperative want.

The movement of political affairs has kept pace with the discoveries of science, and their fruitful application to the industrial and useful arts and the convenience and refinement of social life. Great wars and consequent revolutions have occurred, involving national changes of peculiar moment. The civil war of our own country, which was at its height when the last volume of the old work appeared, has happily been ended, and a new course of commercial and industrial activity has been commenced.

Large accessions to our

Graphical Knowledge

Have been made by the indefatigable explorers of Africa.

The great political revolutions of the last decade, with the natural result of the lapse of time, have brought into public view a multitude of new men, whose names are in every one's mouth, and of whose lives every one is curious to know the particulars. Great battles have been fought and and important sieges maintained, of which the details are as yet preserved only in the newspapers or in the transient publications of the day, but which ought now to take their place in Permanent and Authentic History.

In preparing the present edition for the press it has been accordingly been the aim of the editors to bring down the information to the latest possible dates, and to furnish accurate account of the most recent discoveries in science, of every fresh production in literature, and of the newest inventions in the practical arts, as well as to give a succinct and original record of the progress of Political and Historical Events.

The work has been begun after long and careful preliminary labor, and with the most ample resources for carrying it on to a successful termination.

None of the original stereotype plates have been used, but every page has been

Printed on New Type,

Forming in fact a new Cyclopædia, with the same plan and compass as its predecessor, but with a far greater pecuniary expenditure, and with such improvements in its composition as have been suggested by longer experience and enlarged knowledge.

The Illustrations

Which are introduced for the first time in the present edition have been added not for the sake of pictorial effect, but to give greater lucidity and force to the explanations in the text. They embrace all branches of science and of natural history, and depict the most famous and remarkable features of scenery, architecture, and art, as well as the various processes of mechanics and manufactures. Although intended for instruction rather than embellishment, no pains have been spared to insure their Artistic Excellence.

The cost of their execution is enormous, and it is believed they will find a welcome reception as an admirable feature of the Cyclopædia, and worthy of its high character.

This work is sold to subscribers only, payable on delivery of each volume. It will be complete in SIXTEEN LARGE OCTAVO VOLUMES, each containing about 800 pages fully illustrated with several thousand Wood Engravings, and with numerous colored Lithographic Maps.
