BRITISH EMPIRE LEAGUE.

THE GREAT IMPERIAL QUESTIONS DISCUSSED.

Sir Sandford Fleming's Telegraph Nationalization Approved Of—Naval Reserve in Canada Favored.

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—Col. Denison, of Toronto, presided at the annual meeting of the British empire league, in the house of commons to-day. The first resolution passed was one of sorrow at the death of the queen, and loyalty to the king.

The chairman read a letter from premier Ross, expressing regret that he could not attend. In his letter Mr. Ross said that the most important question in imperial politics was preferential trade within the empire. In his opinion the time was near at hand for extending the area of preferential trade and including within its scope the whole empire. He could not speak with any positiveness of a small tariff within the empire against the world. He believed that a nation should be always ready to defend itself, as he saw no hope of disarmament without civilization.

Col. Denison moved the adoption of the annual report of the executive. It expressed gratification that the Pacific cable was in progress of construction, and hoped that war would be finished in a few months. The report recommended the establishment of an imperial consultative council, and trusted that a branch of the naval reserve would soon be organized in Canada. The committee also approved of the suggestion of Sir Sandford Fleming to nationalize our telegraph system by land and sea throughout the whole empire. Col. Denison spoke along the lines of his report, and said that big gun practice should be provided for, and guns placed at Vancouver, Charlottetown and along the St. Lawrence.

Resolutions were passed in favor of the early calling of an imperial consultative council to consider the establishment of such a council, imperial defence, imperial trade, uniform solvency laws, imperial cable and other imperial questions.

Another resolution adopted favored the establishment of a naval reserve in Canada, and one in support of Sir Sandford Fleming's scheme for a pan-Britannic system of telegraph cables, and to nationalize the telegraph system by land and sea through all the empire. Col. Denison was elected president, George Evans, Toronto, secretary, J. F. Snell, Toronto, treasurer.

Lieut.-Gov. Jones, of Nova Scotia, and Lieut.-Gov. Sir Henri Joly were elected vice-presidents. The executive was re-elected, and a large number of additions made to the council.

On motion of H. M. Mowat, seconded by Sir C. H. Tupper, it was moved and carried that representations be made to the parent league, urging that the present is a fitting time for the name of Canada to be associated with the other dominions already mentioned in the title of his majesty, the king, and asking the endeavors of the parent league to bring about these results.

The Officers Chosen.

The weekly entertainment evening of the garrison club, at St. George's, was a great success. The hall was filled. Rev. Dr. Jordan gave an interesting lecture on Kipling, the soldier, poet and novelist. Songs were given by Lieut.-Col. Fages, surgeon-major Massie, bombardier Birlack. Kipling's "Recessional" was given by the choir boys. Messrs. McGachan and Kelso singing the solo parts. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mackenzie, Miss Clements and Mrs. Fowler. The after meeting for organization was quite enthusiastic. These officers were chosen:

Patrons—Lieut.-Col. Montizambert, Lieut.-Col. Drury, Lieut.-Col. Hudon, Lieut.-Col. Fages.

President, Rev. G. L. Starr; secretary, Sergt.-Maj. Long; treasurer, Sergt. Turner; musical director, R. R. F. Harvey. On the executive committee were elected: Prof. Jordan, Edw. J. B. Pense, W. Bruce Carruthers, F. McGachan, Malcolm Sutherland, Sergt.-Maj. Pearson, Sergt. Fowler, Sergt. Taylor, Corpl. Brown, Bomb. Birlack, Bomb. McCullough, gunner Turner, gunner Everson. The reading room is open every evening.

Valentining In England.

A pretty way of celebrating St. Valentine's day, which is still observed in some English villages, is called valentining. The children gather in a little band early in the morning, and go from house to house singing some little doggerel, like

"Good-morrow to you, Valentine
Cock your locks as I do mine,
Two before and three behind,
Good-morrow to you, Valentine."

The youngsters receive the little notions, pennies or candies which are tossed to them from the windows, with dancing glee. Children of Norfolk "catch" their valentines by being first to say "Good morning, Valentine," to any person appearing eligible. But this they must succeed in doing before the sun rises, or they are "sunburnt" and entitled to no reward. At one time even grown ups indulged in this custom.

Preachers To Play Hockey.

There will be a great game of hockey on the King's rink to-morrow afternoon at half past one o'clock. The contesting teams are from the honor philosophy and history classes at Queen's. On the latter team are three preachers, Rev. James Elliott, Rev. G. L. Starr and Rev. C. L. Bates. The other players will "fight a good fight."

The Alumni Conference.

The alumni conference sessions at Queen's to-day were: 10 a.m.—"The Chancellor's Lectureship," by Dr. Watson, Hamilton. "The Book of Ecclesiastes," Rev. Dr. Milligan and Rev. J. A. Grant. 3 p.m. "Interpretation of Modern Life by Tennyson," paper by Rev. Dr. Black; 4 p.m., "Book of Jonah," Rev. N. McPherson and Rev. J. Young.

Has A Complaint.

Patrick O'Reilly, a corporation laborer, entered a complaint with city engineer Kirkpatrick this morning. He claims that John Wright, foreman of streets, put every laborer to work this morning except complainant, who says he is longer in the employment of the corporation than many of the men put to work to-day.

KING EDWARD'S ROBES.

Worn For The First Time At To-morrow's Ceremony.

London, Feb. 13.—Peeresses have secured the seats in the house of lords for the next royal function, and smart society is struggling to get in. Bishops, judges and diplomats are accorded limited representation, and peers are excluded from seats in their own chamber. Space before the bar is reserved for perhaps sixty commoners. An anomalous feature of the state function is the power exercised by two officials whose privileges are hereditary. These are the marquis of Cholmondeley, who as hereditary great chamberlain is responsible for all the arrangements at Westminster, and the duke of Norfolk, who as earl marshal supervises the parade outside, with assistance from the duke of Portland, master of the horse. In consequence of hereditary rights these two officials and the peeresses will hear the king's speech, the commons will be crowded out, and the masses outside, under the strenuous discipline of the military and police, will be lucky if they catch a glimpse of the chariot of George III. with the eight Flemish horses. The pressure from the smart set for entrance into the house of lords is tremendous, but peeresses are safe, though the heavens fall. The commons, who will vote the civil list for the new reign, are represented by the speaker and mace bearer.

There are two curious points in connection with the ceremonies that will be observed at Westminster to-morrow. The sword of state will be carried by the postmaster general, and lords Salisbury will walk in the procession as lord privy seal, not as prime minister, which is an office as yet unrecognized by court etiquette.

In the department of the palace of Westminster known as the queen's robing room, the king will for the first time assume his regal robes of crimson silk velvet, edged with rows of gold lace, and powdered ermine. The richness is from a design which is the work only of royal personages. The robe is lined throughout with ermine, and is surmounted with a deep cape of the same fur. The cape and lining are composed of hundreds of carefully selected skins adorned by several thousand spots of black fur. The train is some yards in length, and fastened at the neck by a gold cord finished with bullion tassels. Queen Alexandra's robes are of similar material, but not of identical design.

The state coach was delivered at the Royal Mews last evening, after having been thoroughly renovated. The huge chariot has been in a large measure regilded and presents a most imposing appearance.

STOLE A NEWSPAPER.

New Bedford Justice Will Not Tolerate Theft.

New Bedford, Mass., Feb. 13.—The theft of a newspaper from the doorstep of a business man has cost B. A. Vance, another business man, $10 in the police court. Accused admitted having picked up the paper for the purpose of reading it, stating at the same time that he was himself a subscriber to the same paper, and argued that he had no idea of committing theft. The magistrate, however, held that while only a few cents were involved, the serious nature of the act was the annoyance it caused to the subscriber, who was deprived of his daily paper.

Langley Back Again.

The police this afternoon arrested a lad named Joseph Langley, charging him with disorderly conduct. Complaints were made by residents of Montreal street that Langley was running at large, and causing citizens no end of annoyance. It will be remembered that about ten days ago, Langley and another lad named Bates were arrested for stealing two hides from Carrington's tannery. Bates secured his discharge by his friends paying for the hides. Langley, a Barnado immigrant boy, was sent back to the home in Toronto, an officer from that home taking him back one day. Langley, however, would not remain in the home, and ran away again, coming back to Kingston next day. He is a vicious youth, uses most loathsome language and is steeped in crime far beyond his years.

Dr. Landerkin Will Succeed.

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—Dr. Landerkin will be appointed to the vacancy created by senator McKindsey's death. Dr. Landerkin represented South Grey in the dominion house for twenty-four years. He was first returned at the general election of 1872, but failed to secure re-election at the general elections of November last. The doctor is an experienced parliamentarian.

To Preach Anniversary Sermons.

At a meeting last evening of the joint board of Sydenham street Methodist church, Samuel Anglin was elected treasurer and E. P. Jenkins secretary. It was decided to hold the anniversary services on the second Sunday in March, when Rev. Dr. Chown, president of the Toronto conference, will preach. The congregational tea will be held on the following Monday night.

Fire This Morning.

Fire broke out before eleven o'clock this morning in a room over the grocery store of Patrick Tierney, corner of Division and Main streets. The blaze originated from the stove, and spread between the plaster and the sheeting outside. The brigade put out the fire before much damage was done. The loss will amount to $100.

To Pay Off The Debt.

George Murray has been temporarily appointed as assistant secretary of the Y.M.C.A. The secretary, assisted by one or two directors, will be engaged during the next couple of months in making a canvas to raise money for the paying off of the debt caused by running expenses, which sum amounts to over $1,000.

FOUND AN ASPHALT LAKE.

LIES ON THE DIVIDE, NEAR JAMES BAY.

First Discovered by an Indian—Was Able to Walk on the Surface — Chopped a Hole Through.

Sault Ste. Marie, Feb. 13.—Thomas F. Drew, a well known prospector and western mining man, who is prospecting in the wilds of Canada known as Tupper county, in an interview in the Sault Daily News tells of an asphalt lake which lies over the divide, towards James Bay. This lake is said to be an exceedingly rich deposit.

Mr. Drew tells the following entertaining story regarding the discovery of the lake: It seems that one day a party of prospectors and an Indian guide were in a section of the country beyond the great divide. The party had camped for a rest, and the Indian started out in quest of game. He started up a fox and at the same moment he was on the rock rim of a good sized lake. The fox ran across the top of the lake, splashing the water as he went. The Indian rubbed his eyes, and sat down to ponder on things in general. Then he went down to the lake himself, and what reynard could do he could do.

It was an asphalt lake and being in the spring had about an inch of water on it. He took out his hand axe and chopped a hole, then took a birch pole and pushed it down as far as he could. When it came up the pole was all covered with "black paint," as he expressed it. He told no one anything about it except his benefactor some years afterwards. Efforts are now being made to definitely locate the lake.

The current issue of the War Cry contains a letter from Gen. Booth to the soldiers and friends of the army, upon the death of queen Victoria, speaking in strong terms of her personal character as well as her administrative ability.

The extent of the accident to Henry Folger, on account of his horse falling, was not as serious as reported. There were no bones broken. His face is bruised, but he is out to-day, and attending to business. There is some doubt, however, as to when had the most color at one time, the effects of the bruised face or the alcohol.

H. W. Richardson is again visiting the feldspar mine of the Richardson brothers, near Verona. They have been mining it vigorously and sold 3,000 tons. They expect orders for 7,000 tons more. Last week they paid the farmers of that section $1,400 for team work done, in January in transporting the ore. Frontenac thus has a valuable new industry, a boon to the farmers.

Passed Police Bill.

Albany, N.Y., Feb. 13.—The assembly to-day passed the single headed police bill for Buffalo, by a vote of ninety-four to thirty-eight, after an amendment to strike out the clause affecting veterans had been defeated. The bill is similar to the New York city police bill, and legislates out of office the present board of police commissioners, the superintendent of police and his deputy.

Decrees Not Docketed.

Milwaukee, Feb. 13.—Over 200 people, in this city, who supposed themselves divorced are married. This discovery was made yesterday, when it was found that in over 100 cases where divorces had been granted they had been docketed. The lawyers blame their clients for not paying to have their decrees entered. The judges blame the lawyers.

Mass Meeting Of Union Men.

All union men in the city are requested to attend a meeting in the labor hall to-morrow (Thursday) evening, to hear a discussion on technical schools.

A FINE BUILDING

To Be Erected For the Clarified Milk Company.

The Clarified milk company, of Kingston, has leased the building and site of the Temperance hotel, corner of Brock and Bagot streets. The hotel and adjacent buildings will be razed to the ground to give way to a modern and attractive building. Architect Henry P. Smith is preparing plans for the new structure which will be seventy by forty feet in size, and three stories in height. The basement wall be built out of Credit Valley stone, and the remainder of buff pressed brick and when completed it will be a very imposing structure, and an adornment to that portion of the city.

A cold storage system will be included in the work to be done. A plant for the manufacture of butter, as a by-product, will also be put in. All the milk passing through the company's hands will be treated in the building, i.e., clarified, sterlized, etc., rendering it more wholesome. About March 1st the work of tearing down the present buildings will begin. The lease is for twenty-one years.

Not Caused By A Wire.

I. H. Breck, electrician, declares that the late fire in Starr & Sutcliffe's dry goods store did not originate from an electric wire, but from some other cause, at present unexplainable. One proof in support of this contention is the fact that Mr. Starr turned the electric current off, except on the neutral wire, before leaving the store shortly after six o'clock. If the fire had originated from this cause the fuses would have burned out first, which was not the case. The canopy on the fixtures of the chandelier would also have been melted, which was not done. The wire did not throw forth sparks until the water touched it, as one of Mr. Breck's employees, who was on the scene, will testify. If the wires of the chandelier had a short circuit above, and had started a fire, there would have been no current in the chandelier. Another fact remains. If the wire had thrown sparks they could have done no harm against the metallic ceiling, unless the first melted it, which was not done.

Wait On Government.

A deputation from Frontenac and Lennox and Addington waited upon the Ontario government to-day in reference to grants to colonization roads. Delegation consists of Messrs. R. W. Woods, Palmerston; W. T. Hunt, Kennebec; M. Avery, Oso; Howard Reynolds, Portland; R. J. Spoor, Wolfe Island; W. W. Pringle, Kennebec; George Wright, Kingston; and W. A. Martin, Lennox and Addington. The deputation will also interview the government in reference to the drowned lands of Portland and Camden townships, which are at present held by the Napanee river improvement company.

Good News To Kingstonians.

We wish to have a little cutter talk with you. Drop in and see R. J. Spoor, next to the American hotel, Kingston, or Marysville, Wolfe Island. You are welcome to come in and look, whether you buy or not. See McLaughlin's, Oshawa, young men's cutter, and the "Premier." One grade only, and that "the best," prices right.

My Valentine.

Outside and in leafless trees and frozen ground,
Not a flower to be found,
Not a song bird anywhere,
Snowy silence in the air.
That's outside.

But you love me? Then indeed
That is all the spring I need.
Life is sec to love's best rhyme
And my heart sings all the time,
That's inside.
