OVER THE TEA CUPS.

This is one of the stories told by Miss Sara Carson at The King's Daughters' meeting on Tuesday afternoon in Sydenham street school room:

A lady took her little boy to the seaside, and as the doctor had advised that the child should not go down to the seashore until he had been in the neighborhood for a day or two, she gave her boy orders to that effect. She told him that he might play on the lawn, but that he must not go outside the gate. The boy played on the lawn for a little while, and then his mother, sitting in her room upstairs, saw him walk towards the gate, stand deliberating for a second or two, open the gate, and walk straight down towards the seashore in direct disobedience to her command. She watched it all, she saw the hesitation, and the final resolution, and she determined to punish him when he returned. Some little time afterwards he came into her room, and she said "Willie, I am going to punish you for disobeying me?"

"What did I do?" he asked.

"You went down to the seashore when I had forbidden you to go outside the gate."

"Why, mother, how did you know?"

"I saw it all, Willie. I was sitting by the window; I saw you pondering over whether you would disobey or not, I watched you open the gate slowly, and then walk quickly away. You knew perfectly well you were disobeying me, and now I am going to punish you."

He looked in a troubled way straight into her eyes and said:

"O, I say, mother, when you saw a fellow starting off to go, why didn't you tap on the window and stop a fellow from going?"

It is left to the reader to draw his own moral. "The helping hand when a little one is tempted, seems to be the lesson." Willie undoubtedly, knew he ought not to have gone, but the temptation was too strong. How truly his very human cry applies to other cases than his. The temptation to one is no temptation to another. "O, I say, when you saw a fellow starting off to go, why didn't you tap on the window and stop a fellow from going!"

An Ottawa girl studying art in New York has written one of her friends a letter that is full of interesting points concerning life in the studios. She also mentions this pathetic incident, which in its simple telling gives us a glimpse into the life of a professional model:

"Yesterday when I went over to school I found very few working, so as the model had nearly fainted, we decided to stop work and let her go home. Before she left, however, I went to speak to her, and imagine my horror to find, that the poor creature was starving! She had a sick husband and all they have to live on is what she earns by posing. And she is so thin, that very few people want her. She told me that she had no work in view, until the end of the month, so she had been posing all week without anything to eat between breakfast and supper, in the hope of making her money last until she could get more. I took her down to the lunch room and got her something to eat, and she ate ravenously. Then I gave her the address of a sculptor, whom I thought might need her, and told them in the office how needy she was and they engaged her for next week, for another class, and promised to try to find more work for the poor thing.

"She was so humble and pathetic, and she almost cried when I took her to lunch. Still she was no nearer crying than I was."

A traveller says: Skiing is enjoyed by the women of Norway as much as by the men. I have seen these remarkable women shoot off a mound and catch their balance below with the airy grace of the danseuse. In pace competitions they have not been matched in time yet, but in jumping they hold the highest record. This is due to the fact that in their ankles the women have the strength of men, while they are lighter in weight.

For competitions the women dress both becomingly and cleverly. Their skirts are short, and warm harmonizing colors are used. One of the prettiest combinations of girl and dress was seen recently. She was a leading athlete, in height about five feet eight inches, in form most symmetrical. Her costume was of an olive green woollen material, daintily embroidered in silver at collar and girdle. She wore a fur hat ornamented with blue and silver arrangement, a model of happiness and health, to my thinking. Dressed like this the Norwegian girl is ready for any kind of wholesome sport.

The most terrifying outdoor amusement I have ever seen is called kjaelking. It is thrilling to be even a spectator of the sport. The woman who indulges in kjaelking sits on the sledge in front, straight and immobile. Behind her is the man, with his feet firmly planted on the runners, but ready to jump out quickly at a sign of danger. Tucked under his right arm is a long pole, pointing out behind. With this for a rudder he laughs at the risks ahead.

I have seen tobogganing in America, but it is child's sport to this. It is like comparing a sail on a rapidly flowing river to the descent of Niagara. Some of the hills down which the kjaelkers sweep are so steep that the movement is swifter than that of an express train. Surely the passengers must be dashed to pieces, for a little further nothing but a low snowbank intervenes between the track and a sheer descent of thousand of feet. But without such a risk as this the Norwegians would think the sport a tame one.

There is a quaint old rhyme that speaks of every month in the year as having a birthstone, peculiar to the month. The bloodstone is dedicated to March; of its lines run thus: "Who on this world of ours, their eyes in March first open, shall be wise; in days of peril firm and brave, and wear a bloodstone to the grave." This stone in olden times was worn as an amulet, as a preventive of evil. The gem sculpture is a species of heliotrope, dotted with spots of jasper, and is considered a very lucky stone.

Pink, from the palest pastel to deep geranium, is the shade that leads in the millinery this season, while roses are the flowers par excellence, particularly the June roses, and the Victorian bow is a notable feature in many of the hats. Persian effects, light blues of all shades, and black, with white, are all seen. Some pretty browns are shown, but not in abundance, and there seems to be a penchant for yellows. The Persian effect was seen in a handsome wheaten straw round hat that turned up from the face and had the flaring brim draped with straw, gorgeous lace, in Oriental effect, and trimmed with masses of foliage in the same tones as the drape.

Few People Escape Piles

And Dr. Chase's Ointment is the Only Positive and Guaranteed Cure For This Torturing Disease.

There is usually very little satisfaction in consulting a physician regarding a case of piles. In nine cases out of ten he will recommend a surgical operation, forgetting, it may be, the risk, suffering and physical as well as financial expense which this treatment entails. For this reason very many people are going about in misery with piles, believing that they cannot be cured, except by means of the surgeon's knife.

It is to such persons that this advertisement will bring good news of great value. Dr. Chase's Ointment has grown in popularity until to-day it is recognized the world over as the standard ointment for the cure of itching, burning skin diseases, and as absolutely the only preparation that can be relied upon to cure every form of piles.

It seems strange that anyone should suffer the wretched uneasiness and acute torture of burning, itching piles when it is so easy to procure Dr. Chase's Ointment. Nearly every dealer in medicine keeps Dr. Chase's Ointment, and you can apply it at home without any inconvenience. The first application is usually sufficient to put an end to the itching, and it is rarely that more than one box is required to make a thorough cure.

Hosts of cases in which Dr. Chase's Ointment has actually cured serious and long-standing cases of piles have been reported in the Canadian press. Should you want to know more about it ask your druggist or your neighbor. There are few people in Canada who are not familiar with the record of this famous preparation. If your dealer does not have Dr. Chase's Ointment in stock it will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, 60c. a box, by Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MUNYON'S RHEUMATISM CURE

When Prof. Munyon says his Rheumatism Cure will cure rheumatism there, isn't any guesswork about it—there isn't any false statement about it. It cures without leaving any ill effects. It is a splendid stomach and nerve tonic, as well as a positive cure for rheumatism.

All the Munyon remedies are just as reliable, special. The Guide to Health is free. Munyon, New York and Philadelphia.

KEPLER AFFAIRS.

Two Octogenarians Dead — Maple Sugar Promises Well.

Kepler, March 18.—The recent storm has made the roads exceptionally good for this late season of the year. Farmers are preparing for the making of maple sugar, which promises to be good this spring. The phonograph concert, given by Mr. May, on the 11th, was much appreciated. While attending a sale at Mr. Grant's, Glenvale, W. Horning was relieved of a very valuable robe.

Two octogenarians, in the persons of J. Powley and M. Healy, have passed to their reward during the last two weeks. The former, a life-long resident, was born, lived and died on the same farm. He was a general favorite among the young, as he was always relating his past experiences. The funeral of M. Healy left his son-in-law's residence (W. Patterson) on Sunday for the Roman Catholic church, Railton. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Buck spent Sunday in the city, also Miss Carrie Reese is spending a few days in Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. H. Johnston are visiting friends at Enterprise. Visitors: F. Aykroyd, Queen's, spent Sunday with his parents; Mrs. Whitty, Kingston, at Mrs. S. C. Powley's; Mrs. Campsell, Hartington, at H. J. Johnston's; Miss Lottie Counter, Pleasant View, at A. Townsend's; Miss E. Whaley at Mr. Laidlaw's; Mr. Parks and sister at Stanwood Guess'; Mr. Switzer and Miss D. Cranston at C. Cranston's.

Russia's Powerful Army.

Russia has the largest army in the world. With a population of 129,000,000, its army on a peace footing totals to 860,000, which in war time could be raised to 3,500,000. Germany with a population of 52,250,000, supports 585,000 soldiers in times of peace, and these could if necessary, be brought up to 3,000,000. On a peace footing, the French army is 615,000 strong, the second largest in the world, and could be raised to 3,000,000. Austria-Hungary have 385,000 men always ready, and could put in the field nearly 2,000,000, while Italy's armed peace includes 231,000 soldiers, which would multiply into 1,250,000 in war time. Great Britain's army totals only to 165,500 men, or rather more than 500,000 if war broke out, while that of the United States is about 25,000 men, and 140,000 in war time. These figures mean in France that every soldier fights for fifteen civilians, in Germany every soldier fights for 17, Russia finds one soldier for every 37 persons, Great Britain one for every 72, and the United States one in every 445 people, the navy of course tells a different story.

Made A Happy Choice.

Sunbury, March 18.—The Salvation army has once again changed officers. A number of farmers are drawing hay from the city. The school concert in the hall on Thursday evening was quite well attended. The receipts were fairly well, considering the inclement weather. In the selection of the Rev. Mr. Davy as pastor of the village church and the other adjoining appointments, the Presbyterians have without a doubt made an excellent choice. We have in him a gentleman well calculated in every way to profitably minister unto a congregation. A concert has been announced for Tuesday evening, in the hall. Grippe is apparently trying to be fashionable again. Some who have all winter escaped its ravages are now ill. The Presbyterian young people will have a social at the manse, on Friday evening. It is said that a young couple will shortly join hands and hearts in wedlock.

Recovering From Small Pox.

Collins Bay, March 18.—A number attended the sale at Mr. Grant's, Glenvale, on Wednesday. Frank Leonard, who has the smallpox, is progressing favorably under the care of Dr. Mabee. Mrs. William Bell is ill. Master Harry Clement, while crossing a creek, got in the ice and just escaped from being drowned. Farmers are drawing straw from Amherst Island. Feed is very scarce in our neighborhood. A number of butchers passed through our village on Monday morning, buying up all the fat cattle and calves. Woodcock's; Webster Clement and sister, and Miss Laura Clement, at John Clement's, Millhaven; Mrs. Joseph Purdy at John Purdy's, before taking up her residence at Mill Haven; Mr. Lasher and sister, Empey Hill; Mr. and Mrs. William Clement at Mrs. S. Smith's, Parrott's Bay; Robert Henderson and wife, Stella, at Miss Mackay's; Miss Mabel Howard, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Howard.

Busy Burridge.

Burridge, March 16.—The continued storms of the past week have left the roads in a bad condition. Sawing machines are familiar objects in this vicinity. Messrs. Cook and Bygrove have employed their services for a quantity of wood. We regret that again we must report a large number on the sick list. Mrs. J. Campsell is not expected to recover. W. Hutchings has purchased a beautiful organ. It is probably one of the best found in Bedford. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thompson paid a flying visit to Tichborne and returned on Sunday, accompanied by their nephew, Hiram Barker. Several van loads from Parham and Tichborne passed through here en route to Westport to attend an oyster supper held under the auspices of the I.O.O.F. The ladies of Ferney and Burridge have lately organized a ladies' aid society in connection with St. George's church, Ferney. Mrs. (Rev.) Metzler has been appointed president and Mrs. C. Thompson, secretary-treasurer. W. Adrain is visiting at J. McGowan's; Messrs. N. and W. Kerr, at W. Hutching's; Miss Maggie Jackson has returned to her home in Elginburg.

Died Aged 115 Years.

Cedar Valley, March 14.—Many farmers are taking advantage of the good roads by hauling wood and filling their ice houses. Mrs. Julia Downey, Philipsville, is in attendance at the bedside of Mrs. A. J. Rogers, who was seriously ill of pneumonia, but is now on the road to recovery. Miss H. Rogers has returned to Ottawa. James Ralph and R. Willis made a business trip to Perth last week. W. J. Newton, who recently purchased the farm owned by F. Healey, gave a social house-warming on 15th. Miss Lena Ripley, Perth, visited friends here recently. D. R. Rogers is on the sick list, owing to a bad case of heart failure. One of the oldest residents of this place, in the person of Mrs. Mary Ralph, passed away at the advanced age of 115 years; also another old and respected resident, James Rea. Mrs. K. Newton is on the sick list. Visitors: Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Fleming and George Fleming, Elgin; T. H. Pelow, Kingston; M. Ronen, Jasper; W. Dwyre, Elgin; Mrs. Rape and Mike, Toledo; Messrs. M. O'Hara and S. Ralfe and Eddie O'Mara, Lombardy.

Lost Sight Of One Eye.

Wolfe Island, March 18.—The concert under the auspices of the Methodist church was a success, John Cleary treated the audience to a fine solo. A lecture will be given on "Jerusalem, the Holy Land," illustrated, under the auspices of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, in the Masonic hall on 20th inst. We regret to learn that George Bolton, who lately removed to Carleton Island, N.Y., had the misfortune to lose the sight of one of his eyes. It was feared for a time that it would be hard to save the other. The above accident was caused by a cow hooking him. Mr. Campbell has disposed of his village property to Samuel Grier, cheese maker. Mr. Campbell will shortly remove to Kingston, whence he came. Richard Charles is moving his household goods and family to Muskegan, Mich. Scarlet fever and measles are prevalent. Edward Braceland, unwell for some time, has found it necessary to go to the Hotel Dieu to undergo an operation. Mrs. Dennis Mahoney is seriously ill. Mrs. William Henderson is also indisposed. Miss Minnie Keys, trained nurse, Rochester, N.Y., is still in a critical condition. Robert Pagne is improving. Miss Lilly Bell, after a visit among friends, has returned to her home accompanied by Miss Gertie Boyd and Herbert Leakey. Samuel Grier has purchased from Richard McReady eight milch cows for factory purposes.

The Enduring.

James Whitcomb Riley.

A misty memory—faint, far away
And vague and dim as childhood's long-lost day—
Forever haunts and holds me with a spell
Of awe and wonder indefinable;
A grimy old engraving tacked upon
A shopshop wall: An ancient temple, drawn
Of crumbling granite, sagging portico,
And grey, forbidding gateway, grim as woe;
And o'er the portal, cut in antique line
The words—cut likewise in this brain of mine—
"Wouldst have a friend?—wouldst know what friend is best?
Have God thy friend: He passeth all the rest."

Again the old shoemaker pounds and pounds
Resentfully as the loud laugh resounds
And the coarse jest is bandied round the throng
That smokes about the smoldering stove; and long,
Tempestuous disputes arise, and then—
Even as all like discords—die again;
The whole a barefoot boy more gravely heeds
The quaint old picture, and tiptoeing reads
There, in the rainy gloom the legend o'er,
The lowering portals of the old church door—
"Wouldst have a friend—wouldst know what friend is best?
Have God thy friend: He passeth all the rest."

So older—older—older, year by year,
The boy has grown, that now, an old man here,
He seems a part of Allegory, where
He stands before life as the old print there—
Still awed, and marvelling what light must be
Hid by the door that bars futurity,
Though, ever clearer than with eyes of youth,
He reads with his old eyes—and tears forsooth—
"Wouldst have a friend—wouldst know what friend is best?
Have God thy friend: He passeth all the rest."
