FOR THE GRIP.

You have Heard of Many Remedies —Did You Ever try This One.

Everybody you meet on the streets nowadays either has just had the grip, is coming down with or has a sure cure for it.

The disease has been a puzzle to physicians since its appearance several years ago, and it is as much of a puzzle to-day as it was then. It exhibits such a variety of symptoms in different individuals and leaves such disastrous results after apparent recovery, that as yet its prevention and cure has baffled medical science.

However, there is no doubt, but that the grip is catarrhal in character and the leading symptom in nearly every case is increased secretion in the head and throat, in fact the first indications of la grippe are those of a cold in the head which extends to the throat and lungs.

Dr. Johnson Ames advises as the safest course to pursue on the first appearance of grip symptoms to keep to the house for a day or two and take Stuart's Catarrh Tablets every hour the first day and every two hours the following day and states that this will break up the trouble before it becomes deep seated.

These catarrh tablets are antiseptic and harmless and prevent fever and the further development of grip germs and ward off the ever-present danger of pneumonia.

Dr. Gerald Simpson, says: "I have found Stuart's Catarrh Tablets a pleasant and thoroughly reliable remedy for grip, especially with elderly people with whom this prevailing disease is always dangerous; the tablets can be found at any drug store and if used freely during the first few days of the attack will break it up.

La grippe is a catarrhal affection, the germs are in the air and no one is proof against it, but the timely use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets will prevent any serious results.

ONLY ONE CHANGE MADE

THE BUDGET ADOPTED AFTER DEBATE.

The Victorian Order of Nurses to Get $50, the Money to be Taken From the Sum set Apart for Deputations—The Board of Works Received Too Small a Grant.

Although the city council adopted the budget almost holus bolus, at the same time it took the city fathers nearly three hours to discuss the different items and finally accept the report. The only change made was effected by Alds. Walkem and Graham, who moved that $50 be taken from the $175 set apart for deputations, and granted to the Victorian order of nurses.

These members answered the roll call: Mayor Kent, Alds. Armstrong, Behan, Carson, Craig, Duff, Dunlop, Farrell, Graham, King, Knapp, McCammon, McParlane, McLeod, McMahon, O'Brien, Shaw, Toye, Walkem, White.

A communication was read from J. B. Walkom, secretary, asking for a small grant in behalf of the Victorian order of nurses. The work is carried on voluntarily; patients are not supposed to, and are not asked to contribute. The communication was referred to the finance committee.

Ald. Farrell presented the budget, and handled it admirably. He moved, seconded by Ald. Shaw, that the council go into committee of the whole, with the mayor in the chair, to consider the provisions of the budget.

Ald. Farrell stated that it was with considerable regret that the finance committee found it necessary to add one mill on the dollar to the rate. It was found that to carry the Queen's college grant of $50,000, the city would have to provide $2,600 annually; also $890 to carry the cost of the smelter site, which, added to the deficit of $4,325, brought the current additional outlay up to over $7,000, using up one mill on the dollar. Then also, the city had to provide $850 additional towards the maintenance of the court house, through repairs, etc. The water works department took care of itself, although certain interest and retiring debentures appeared in the budget. The amount of liabilities was $107,426.12, against assets of $103,099.23. The total estimated revenue was placed at $181,918.49, and estimated expenditure, $181,901.72, leaving an estimated surplus of $16.77.

Alds. Behan and McLeod moved that that portion of the budget, down to uncontrollable expenditure, be confirmed, as well as the rate of taxation.

Ald. Knapp asked what was meant by uncollectable taxes.

Ald. Farrell replied that it was found from year to year that it was impossible to collect certain taxes, on account of poverty, etc.

Ald. Knapp further asked if the city owned $1,157.99 worth of broken stone?

Ald. Farrell replied in the affirmative.

Ald. Walkem pointed out that there was a resolution of council to the effect that no stone should be purchased except that which was absolutely necessary. But of course, the present stone on hand was not due to the acts of this year's council.

Ald. Behan's resolution was adopted.

Ald. Shaw asked if the finance committee had cancelled and of the city's insurance.

Ald. Farrell replied that certain triennial insurance falling due had been cancelled.

Considering Parks.

The clauses down to the expenditure on parks, was adopted, on motion of Alds. Behan and McLeod.

Regarding the clause appropriating $1,500 to parks, Ald. Graham pointed out that last year the parks committee spent $100 more than was appropriated. The city park needed a new grand stand badly; the present stand was a disgrace. The items in the appropriation for the board of works contained a clause of $600 for a clerk, though the office had been done away with. The council could easily take $400 from salary of the former clerk and give it to the parks committee for a band stand. He moved that this be done.

Ald. Shaw, while feeling that a grand stand was needed, was not sure that it should cost $400.

Ald. Behan pointed out that while the chief clerk of the board of works had resigned, the council, had not decided not to fill his place. Besides, the council would have to make the retiring clerk a gratuity.

Ald. Graham announced that he would make his resolution read $300 instead of $400.

Ald. McLeod, while admitting that a stand was necessary in the city park, at the same time stated that the finances of the city would not allow of such a luxury.

Ald. Graham pointed out that if a new stand was not erected, the old one would have to be entirely removed. If the retiring clerk was paid three months' salary, it would still leave the council with a balance of over $300.

Ald. Craig stated that the council would, in all probability, have to pay the retiring clerk a salary of three months in addition to a retiring allowance. Besides, it had not yet been decided not to replace the clerk. There was a good stand in Macdonald park which could be utilized for the time being. Perhaps the city's income would warrant the erection of a new stand.

Ald. Behan did not favor putting off necessary expenditure for another year, because next year the income would not meet expenses any more than it would this year, without an increase in taxation. It was a mistake not to spend more money in necessary work this year, even though the taxes were slightly increased.

Ald. Walkem thought a grand stand very necessary, and, besides, the walk running through the centre of the park was badly in need of repair; if it were not repaired, the place would soon become an eyesore. The committee might appropriate the $200 set apart to the breakwater towards building a new grand stand. He would like to support Ald. Graham's resolution, but could not very well do so.

Ald. Graham stated that if his resolution was considered useless, he would withdraw it, and the city would, for another year at least, have to tolerate the eyesore in the city park, but at the first meeting of the parks committee the unsightly grand stand would likely be removed. The committee this year, must protect the work done on the breakwater by last year's committee.

The appropriation for parks was confirmed.

Small Amount For Works.

Ald. Toye found fault with the smallness of the appropriation set apart for the board of works. Taking out salaries the board would have only $11,800 for general purposes. How the streets could be cared for such a small sum he could not understand. He gave an exact table of expenditure of the board of works under the administration of ex-Ald. Donnelly, and drew a comparison with the money available this year. If ex-Ald. Donnelly had been unable to care for the streets with nearly $17,000, it was unreasonable to suppose that this year's committee could accomplish the work with $11,800. The streets were admitted worse off now, than they had ever been. He was a large taxpayer, but was willing to stand his share of increased taxation in order to provide better walks and streets.

Ald. McLeod thought that Ald. Toye was undertaking an unnecessary task in giving the council a detailed statement of the expenditure of his department.

Ald. Toye.—"I am undertaking a bigger contract, Mr. mayor, to take care of the streets department on $11,800."

Ald. Farrell replied that the finance committee, in making an appropriation for the board of works, cut down all the other departments, and gave the board of works the balance. The finance committee understood and appreciated the fact that the chairman of the board of works was shouldering a heavy task in trying to get along on $11,800. It would be necessary for him to cut down every possible unnecessary expenditure, patching up old walks, instead of building new ones. The board of works did not intend to over-draw its appropriation, and when its finances were used up, the chairman would have to come back to council and ask for a further appropriation.

Ald. Toye did not see the use of coming back to council for further funds, when the budget used up all the available cash. The opinion of the city solicitor was that if more funds were necessary, the council would have to appeal to the rate payers by by-law to raise the same.

Ald. McLeod stated that the members of the finance committee were actuated by the best possible motives in preparing the budget, so as to prevent an overly large increase in the rate of taxation. He defended the action of ex-Ald. Donnelly in overreaching the appropriation of the board of works; he did so in the best interests of the city. He stated that in past years the board of works had almost yearly overdrawn its appropriation for new streets, new sewers, etc. The citizens to-day have to pay about $11,000 in interest for road improvement, which burden the citizens in the past did not have to bear.

Ald. Behan understood Ald. Toye to have paid a compliment to ex-Ald. Donnelly in his remarks. Ald. McLeod had strengthened Ald. Toye's stand, by stating that ex-Ald. Donnelly had found it necessary to use up over $16,000. If the stone and sidewalk items were cut out of the appropriation for the board of works the board would have little left for general purposes. The result of the action of the finance committee in giving the board of works only $11,800 to do $17,000 worth of work, would result in the irrepair and neglect of the streets; it was not fair to the board of works to treat it that way. The responsibility of providing money for the board of works rested with the finance committee. The different committees in the past had been starved, though the citizens had, by their votes on bonus by-laws, compelled the council to raise the rate of taxation. It was false economy to starve the committees, and the onus of increasing the rate of taxation rested with the people. It was an utter impossibility for the board of works to carry out the necessary work with a meagre appropriation of $11,800.

Ald. Graham backed up Ald. Toye's claim for more money. There were many walks, in the city which were dangerous and needed replacing. The committee had $1,500 worth of stone on hand without any means of drawing it from the quarries. The interest on the Queen's college debentures would not have to be paid until next fall, at the earliest. Why not give the board of works $2,000 additional at once? Each year the board of works goes behind $4,000 or $5,000, and the council might just as well, first as last, provide the necessary money for the board of works.

Ald. McLeod was surprised at the stand taken by Ald. Behan in the matter of the appropriation for the board of works. It was of more importance to keep down the rate of taxation than to give the board of works $2,000 or $3,000 more. The council should go slowly; to-day twenty-five per cent. of the city's revenue is bonded, because the city's indebtedness was over one million dollars. The speaker scored Ald. Behan for not opposing the provisions of the budget in committee. He was opposed to any changes in the budget now, as he did not want to see the taxes raised.

Ald. Behan stated that he objected in committee to the manner of dealing with the board of works. As a matter of fact he opposed a further increase in the rate of taxation; if he had not, where would the additional $3,800 go to but to the board of works.

To Keep Down Taxes.

Ald. Craig stated that while the finance committee felt that the board of works did not have a sufficient appropriation, at the same time the object of the committee was to keep down the taxes and allow the city to pay its debts. If more money was required for the board of works, no doubt it would be provided when necessary.

Ald. Toye wondered where all the money was to come from in the autumn, as expected by a number of the aldermen; was somebody about to depart and leave the council a legacy?

Ald. Carson—Andrew Carnegie will leave us a pot."

Ald. Walkem—"Just trust to luck."

Ald. Toye—"Yes, I think there is considerable luck about this. I intended paying a compliment to ex-Ald. Donnelly when I referred to him. I think he spent the money advantageously, and I do not think he wasted one cent of it. Ex-Ald. Donnelly made one of the ablest chairmen that ever handled the affairs of the board of works. I sat under him one year and I know what I am talking about."

Ald. McLeod still maintained that for years past the board of works had carried over a deficit, and Ald. Toye retorted that it was not on record that the board of works had ever got along on $11,800.

Ald. King did not know where the fairy godmother was to come from who was going to provide the additional money desired by the board of works and half promised by the council. He thought that perhaps $100 could be cut off from the sum set apart for the fair association, and give it to the board of works.

Ald. Walkem pointed out that according to resolution of council, this could not be done. He did not anticipate a deficit resulting from the year's work of the board of works. He could not find fault with the provisions of the budget; it was arrived at after careful consideration by the finance committee.

The appropriation to the board of works was adopted on motion of Alds. Farrell and McLrod.

Aid For Victorian Order.

Ald. Walkem moved that $50 be included, under the head of "contingencies," for the Victorian order of nurses. He had intended asking for $100, but as the council was cutting down every item of expenditure, he had thought it wise to cut his request down to $50. During the year Miss Baker had made 1,177 calls on poor patients, had treated 133 patients and had attended 200 doctors' calls. The order did not receive anything from patients and the nurse was paid from private subscriptions.

Ald. Graham seconded the resolution as Ald. Farrell demurred, and suggested that the sum be provided by taking it from the $175 set apart for deputations.

Ald. McLeod, while willing to aid the order, did not like to have the money taken from the sum set apart for the expenses of deputations. He asked Ald. Walkem for an explanation of the order, its origin, etc. Ald. Walkem replied extensively, setting forth the good work being accomplished by the order.

Mayor Kent considered that there were too many small charitable institutions in the city drawing grants; if they were all united under one head, the council could give the amalgamated charities a liberal sum.

Alds. Duff and King spoke strongly in behalf of the grant; Ald. Duff stated that the nurse brought much comfort to the poor and afflicted.

The resolution of Alds. Walkem and Graham, re the grant of $50, was unanimously adopted.

The committee arose and reported progress, on motion of Ald. Farrell, who moved, seconded by Ald. Shaw, that the budget, as amended, be received and adopted, which was carried.

'Twould Be Appreciated.

Once more the need of paving the space of street reposing between the street railway tracks at the Union street junction is very apparent. Yesterday several inches of mud and water occupied the space, and through this passengers and conductors were obliged to wade. At night the difficulty is worse. The paving of this part of the street would be a great boon to the patronizers of the street railway.

IT CAME BACK.

The Doctor's Wife Found her Complexion Again.

Coffee is no respecter of persons when it comes to the poisonous effects thereof. A prominent physician's wife, of Monticello, Ind., says that coffee treated her very badly indeed, giving her a serious and painful stomach trouble, and a wretched, muddy complexion.

Her husband is a physician of the regular school and opposed to both tea and coffee, so he induced her to leave them off and take on Postum Food Coffee.

The stomach trouble disappeared almost like magic, and gradually her complexion cleared up, now she is in excellent condition throughout.

There are thousands of highly organized people who are made sick in a variety of different ways by the use of coffee, and most of these people do not suspect the cause of their trouble. They think that others can drink coffee and are well, and they can, but about one person out of every three is more or less poisoned by coffee, and this can be proved by leaving off coffee and taking Postum Food Coffee. In nearly every case the disorder will be greatly relieved or entirely disappear. It is easy enough to make a trial and see whether coffee is a poison to you or not.

The name of the doctor's wife can be given upon application to the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., at Battle Creek, Mich.

GRADUATION OF NURSES.

INTERESTING CEREMONY IN CONVOCATION HALL.

Eight Nurses Graduate From Kingston General Hospital—Addresses Delivered—Presentation to Miss Affleck.

The annual commencement exercises in connection with the general hospital training school for nurses took place last night in convocation hall, which was filled to overflowing with an audience interested in hospital work. Dr. E. H. Smythe, K.C., president of the board of governors, occupied the chair. The front of the hall was festooned with red and white and a large white circle affixed to the wall contained the Geneva cross and the letters K.G.H. On the platform, which was beautifully arranged with flowers and plants, were: Principal Grant, bishop Mills, archdeacon Carey, Rev. John Mackie, Lieut.-Col. Montizambert, H. A. Calvin, M.P., Felix Shaw, B. W. Robertson, John McIntyre, K.C., Dr. Herald, Dr. Connell, Dr. Haig, D. M. McIntyre, Dr. Garratt, Mrs. (mayor) Kent, Mrs. Haig, Mrs. Herald, Miss Herald, Mrs. W. B. Skinner, Miss Affleck, Mrs. Drury, Mrs. Walkem, Mrs. Calvin, Mrs. McIver, Mrs. McIntyre, Mrs. Anglin, Miss Flaws, Mrs. Connell, Mrs. E. H. Smythe. The nurses, in hospital attire, occupied the front seats of the hall.

After the invocation prayer by bishop Mills, the president delivered his address. He referred to his having received from Mrs. Malcolm Sutherland some very valuable archives in connection with the general hospital. Among these was the first subscription list passed around in 1833 in aid of the hospital, and which totalled £1,015. Referring to the training school for nurses, Dr. Smythe stated that it had been established by the late Dr. K. N. Fenwick in 1893 with half a dozen nurses. Now there were thirty. The governors could justly claim for it a true distinction. It was a great pleasure to welcome back to the ranks of the nurses, Miss Affleck whose courage and devotion to duty was known all over Canada. Dr. Smythe also referred to the outdoor hospital treatment under the direction of Miss Baker, and which was not fully appreciated. This was a great boon to suffering humanity.

Then followed several musical selections, consisting of songs by Charles Harvey and Mrs. Striewing, and a violin solo by Miss Armstrong. The accompanists were R. F. F. Harvey, B. Arthurs and Miss Shaw.

Miss Flaws, superintendent of nurses, gave a very interesting report. She spoke about the prevailing idea a few years ago, that mothers were the best nurses. This idea, however, is antiquated and people now realize that the real nurse requires a different intelligence. The nurse must have a knowledge of bacteriology, hygiene, physiology, etc. The public, Miss Flaws said, are woefully ignorant as to the training of the modern nurse. Sympathetic reference was made to the death, during the past year of two faithful nurses—Miss Scott and Miss Stephen. During the year past, there were 135 applications for admission to the school. Seventeen were taken on probation, and fifteen were retained. The total number of graduates since the school was established is ninety-seven, and the success of these graduates is the best guarantee of the principles they have been taught. Attention was directed by Miss Flaws to the urgent need of a nurses' home. At present the nurses are huddled together in a space really large enough for only half their number.

After Miss Flaws had administered the Florence Nightingale pledge, the graduate nurses were addressed by John McIntyre, K.C., who caused a sensation when he said that he was more accustomed to address twelve jurymen than eight ladies, and that he would prefer a separate tete a tete with each of the girls. He had received careful nursing during a late illness, and he could bear testimony to the skill and knowledge of his young attendant. The speaker showed how it would not do to rely entirely on able physicians and surgeons; with all their ability they could not attend to every care, want and necessity. The devotion of women is wanted; their tenderness and the patience to alleviate suffering and pain. Mr. McIntyre hoped that the path of the graduates would be strewn with comfort and consolation, that they would alleviate human suffering and wipe away tears; and that "the wilderness and the solitary place shall be glad for them, and the desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose."

Dr. Herald presented the diplomas, first making a short address. He advocated a three years' course instead of two as at present. This could not be done just now, but he would like to see some of the nurses remain for post-graduate work, and take charge of various departments of the hospital. He reminded the graduates that as they went out into the world, they would no longer have the advice and assistance they had in the hospital. They would have to rely on their own knowledge and skill. Nursing in hospital and in private homes are very different. The speaker gave some good advice to the nurses. He told them not to forget their self-respect and the respect due to them as trained nurses; to attend strictly to their duty; to keep all secrets which might come to them; to never express a preference for one doctor and an adverseness to another, and if they could not act harmoniously with the doctor, not to complain to patient or relatives, but to retire from the case.

After the diplomas had been presented, medals were pinned on the nurses by Mrs. (mayor) Kent and Mrs. Smythe.

A pleasing feature of the ceremonies then took place, the presentation to Miss Affleck, Middleville, one of the Kingston general hospital graduate nurses, of a handsome surgical case and instruments. The presentation was made by Lieut.-Col. Montizambert, D.O.C., on behalf of the Kingston soldiers' wives' league. The gallant colonel told of Miss Affleck having been one of the foremost of that noble band of women who braved sufferings, and at the risk of their lives went to South Africa to minister to the sick and wounded soldiers. Hearty applause greeted Miss Affleck, who was dressed in khaki, and wore on her arm the white band with the Geneva cross. Dr. Garrett acknowledged the gift on behalf of the young nurse.

Bishop Mills was the last speaker. He was glad to see the great interest manifested by the people of Kingston in the training school for nurses. He could speak from experience as to the great value of trained nurses, who were a blessing to society. His lordship trusted that as the graduates went forth to their work they would see the fruits of their labors in the alleviation of the ills of suffering humanity.

The national anthem was heartily sung, and the successful and pleasing ceremony was concluded.

The graduate nurses are: Miss Cameron, Perth; Miss Webster, Miss Leach, Miss Bates, Brockville; Miss Turnbull, Orangeville; Miss Macdiarmid, Fenelon Falls; Miss Reid, Kingston; Miss Robertson, Nithburg.
