LETTER TO THE EDITOR

THE OPINIONS OF CORRESPONDENTS OF THE WHIG.

What Has Rev. E. B. Lanceley To Say of Andrew Carnegie's Cruelty?—Another Trustee on the Vaccination Question—Equal Rights For All.

Kingston, April 8.—(To the Editor.) I was surprised to see in a Toronto paper an item to the effect that it was proposed in the Kingston city council to put a tax of $50 on our fellow citizens, the Chinese laundrymen. I do not know when or by whom this has been proposed, or whether the proposal was a serious one, but for the credit of our city I am sorry this report should have gone abroad. On what principle of justice or common sense can we find fault with Chinese or Boers for refusing to foreigners "equal rights" if we do precisely the same thing ourselves? How can we possibly justify and assist a bloody and costly war in South Africa for the purpose of securing to all classes of citizens equal rights and privileges, if, in our own country, we impose on our "Uitlanders" the very grievances which we protested against in the Transvaal? The Chinese laundrymen are quiet, industrious, agreeable citizens (with some patiently borne grievances of their own in the past). They pay the ordinary taxes like other citizens, they give good value for all they get and one of them has recently given to our university, what is for the donor's circumstances, a munificent gift. Why then, should we, after taxing their entrance into the country, go on to tax their good citizenship, thrift and industry, the very qualities we ought to encourage? I hope for the good name of Kingston there is no truth in a report which would reflect little credit on our christian profession or our good old flag. A TAXPAYER.

Another Trustee Speaks.

Kingston, April 8. (To the Editor.) I read a curious paragraph in the Whig of Saturday evening. A trustee was represented as saying that he did not believe in the board standing on its dignity in regard to vaccination, and that nothing had affected him so much for a long time as the carrying out of its resolution. Now let me say that a trustee has nothing to do with the enforcement of the board's resolution, and I have my grave suspicion that it was not a trustee who spoke and advertised his lack of stamina in this and on many other things. It is a well known fact that the board suffers occasionally because its will, as expressed in motions and by-laws, is not strictly obeyed, and it is enough that this should be the case without the added reflection upon the trustees because they have the moral courage to do their duty. The planet you publish, and credit to a trustee, I heard at a committee meeting a few days ago, from one who should require no thing but the resolution of the board for his guidance. The chairman of the board, on that occasion, made himself understood. He said that the resolution re vaccination should be carried out without fear, favor or impartiality, and that should be an end of the matters so far as the officers and teachers are concerned.—ANOTHER TRUSTEE.

The Carnegie Gifts.

Kingston, April 1.—(To the Editor.) The Rev. E. B. Lanceley is reported to have spoken on what he calls the beneficent gifts of Andrew Carnegie, who never gave money for nothing. What does he get or expect to get for his offered gifts to the Canadian people? The smiles, flattery and approval of the ministers of the gospel—are these his price? If so it is dirt cheap. A gift to Queen's college would now be in order, as there appears to be a little financial embarrassment there just now. Will Mr. Lanceley tell us in his next sermon whether he also approves of the methods used by Mr. Carnegie in acquiring his wealth? Also what part he played in the Homestead riots a few years ago? That tragedy is still vivid in the minds of working men all over America. If Mr. Carnegie has any money to spare why not spend it on the widows and orphans whose natural guardians he had his man Frick helped to destroy? A good field there for his philanthropy. His victims would probably forgive him and he would be consoled in his dying moments knowing that he has endeavored to make restitution.—A READER.

Live And Let Live.

Kingston, April 8.—(To the Editor.) Some time ago I made a mild protest against what seems to me the very inconsiderate policy of insisting on the payment of the dog tax in bad winter, a time when work is most scarce, and so many of our working people have enough to do to procure for their families the bare necessaries of life and when consequently the demand that he should pay his dollar or lose his dog is particularly hard on the poor man who values the latter much as the man who has greater possessions. The other day a respectable and industrious artizan told me that, on this account, he had been obliged to give away his favorite dog, to the sorrow of himself and his family, whereas had the tax been payable in summer, when work was plenty, he would cheerfully have paid it. The dog tax is hard enough on the poor man at best. Let our city fathers consider him more next year.—GOLDEN RULE.

To Start Out To-Morrow.

The steamer Pierrepont, known as the guardian gunboat of the Kingston harbor, will start out from the ferry wharf to-morrow morning and make her way through the ice to Garden Island. It was on April 9th last year that the Pierrepont got through to the island. Capt. Allen will again be at the helm.

OUR MINISTER INSULTED.

Rough German Soldiers Attack His Bearers.

Pekin, April 8.—Several ministers have been insulted by troops of other nationalities. Mr. Rockhill and Sir Ernest Mason Satow (the British minister) were returning from Divver in sedan chairs, when the chairs were stopped by German soldiers, who proceeded to beat the bearers. The ladies were greatly frightened. The ministers generally fear that the presence in Pekin of a considerable force of troops of various nationalities might be a source of international friction.

The meeting of the generals of the allied troops and count Von Waldersee was of great interest and importance. The only dissentients from the plan adopted were Gen. Chaffee, the American commander, and Gen. Wogack, commander of the Russian forces, who both thought that the number of points to be occupied was excessive and also that the number of troops was too great.

The views of the majority will be presented to the ministers for action, as the generals feel that the acceptance by the Chinese of these terms, including the total destruction of the forts, will mean complete submission, when arrangements ought to be made for the withdrawal of a majority of the forces from China.

Church Services.

Earnest and helpful discourses and appropriate singing marked the celebration of Easter at Bethel church yesterday. At the morning service the pastor, Rev. A. M. Lennox, preached from the text, "He is Risen." At the evening service the theme was, "The Two Resurrections." During the evening service an anthem, "The Heavenly Message," was rendered by the choir, the solo part being taken by Miss Gertrude Mills.

Special Easter services were held in St. George's cathedral yesterday. Holy communion was celebrated at 6:30, 8 and 11 a.m., and morning prayer at 10:45 a.m. The dean preached in the morning. At three o'clock in the afternoon there was a children's service and an address by Rev. G. L. Starr, who also preached in the evening, instead of the bishop, who was ill. The cathedral was beautifully decorated in honor of Eastertide, while music of a special character marked the day. The number of communicants was slightly in excess of last year.

Died At Rochester, N.Y.

Much sympathy is felt for Thomas Keys and family, Wolfe Island, in the death of Miss Minnie Florence, their second daughter, which occurred at Rochester, N.Y., on Saturday. Miss Keys was a professional nurse, having graduated from Rochester city hospital in 1898, and lived with her uncle, Dr. Bullis, of that city. On Sunday, March 24th, she was seized suddenly with appendicitis. The operation performed seemed to be successful, and her mother returned home. Complications set in and on Monday a second operation was performed. In spite of the best surgical skill, the patient gradually failed, until her life went out. Miss Keys was a great favorite and greatly beloved by every family where her professional services had been rendered, and by a host of friends in the flower city. She was just in the prime of life, and filled with love for her work. The remains will be brought to Wolfe Island today, and the funeral will leave her father's residence Tuesday afternoon.

Recipe For Kingstonians.

Jay Bee in Success.

Don't kick and whine,
Just get in line
With the fellows who've got grit and pluck.
Don't frown and scowl,
Look glum and growl,
Stop prating about ill luck.

Lift up your head,
Don't seem half dead.
Stop wearing a wrinkled face;
Give smiling hope
Sufficient scope,
And joys will come apace.

Out on the man
Whose little span
Is full of grief and gloom,
Always dreary
Never cheery,
From Trundle-bed to tomb.

Give me the chap
Who, whate'er may hap,
Looks up, and is cheerful still,
Who meets a brunt
With a smiling front,
And nerve, and vim, and will.

A Store Broken Open.

This morning when W. A. Mitchell, hardware merchant, Princess street, reached his place of business, he found that it had been broken into during the night. The thief had smashed one of the large plate glasses in the front entrance door, broken the lock and thus opened the doors. Goods were scattered about promiscuously. Nothing has so far been missed, except two revolvers of thirty two calibre.

On Sunday evening some person broke into the apartments of Miss Smith, milliner, over Chown's drug store, while she was at church, and stole six dollars. Entry was effected by removing a screw from a door. The same parties are suspected of both robberies.

Police Court News.

At the police court this morning, J. Thompson, for drunkenness, was remanded till to-morrow.

Omar Scors, a youth, was caught by the police on Sunday, playing baseball near the Grand Union hotel. He was also remanded till to-morrow until his associates are found.

William Macdonald, liberated from the penitentiary on Saturday, has been drunk since getting his liberty. He was arrested this morning, but was too intoxicated to appear before the magistrate. Macdonald has just served a two years' sentence for larceny. He has a previous prison record.

A Serious Stabbing.

St. Catharines, Ont., April 8.—A serious and probably fatal stabbing affray took place here yesterday morning. Frank Whitten and John Auburn fought in the rear of the opera house. Whitten drew a knife and stabbed Auburn twice in the breast and the abdomen. The ambulance removed Auburn to the hospital. He is still alive, but his chances are very slight. Whitten was arrested and locked up. Bad blood has existed between these two men for some time.

TEMPERANCE UNION.

Want Women's Suffrage—Power of The Newspapers.

The monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held Thursday afternoon in the old collegiate building. The attendance was very good. The vice-president, Mrs. (Rev.) Macallum, occupied the chair in the absence of the president, Mrs. (Dr.) Sparks, who, although her health is much improved, is not yet well enough to resume her duties. After the singing of a hymn, Mrs. J. Gardiner, led in prayer. Mrs. Snelling read the scripture lesson from Luke 21, 2, on, which Mrs. Macallum briefly commented.

A letter from Mrs. Sparks was read thanking the union for their kind remembrance of her during her recent illness. A letter was also read from J. S. Gallagher, M.P.P. for Frontenac, saying that he had received a petition signed by a number of the men and women of the county asking that the franchise be extended to women, and that he had presented the same to the legislative assembly and had asked them to give said petition their consideration. A large deputation of members and friends of the W.C.T.U. waited on the Hon. Mr. Ross on March 29th, in favor of the extension of the provincial suffrage to women. Premier Ross said in reply that the difficulty seemed to be where to draw the line short of a universal suffrage. The question was a large one and he would advise the ladies to keep up the agitation, to educate public sentiment in favor of the adoption of their views.

The usual educational half hour was devoted to the press department, a very instructive circular letter with programme having been received from the superintendent of that department, Mrs. Emma Waterson. She begins by saying: "We all unite in believing that since the days of force were superceded by the days of peaceful progress no agent has been mightier in righting wrongs than well-applied printer's ink. Unfortunately our theory is often better than our practice. Unrivalled opportunities are allowed to slip through our fingers. The temperance cause and the reforms that cluster about it are not advanced through the columns of the six hundred periodicals published in this province, as they should be." Many useful suggestions as to the best mode of conducting a temperance newspaper column were given; also many important hints as to most useful matter to be introduced. We can only give a few examples:

Queen Victoria.—"The widespread regret for queen Victoria is a conclusive answer to the common objections against women in politics." Every argument that can be urged against letting a woman be a voter applies with ten fold force against letting her be a queen. Is it claimed that the ballot would take too much of her time from domestic duties? Victoria has always had to give a far larger amount of time to public business than the average voter. Is it urged that suffrage for women would bring too much publicity? What is the publicity involved in casting a ballot, compared with "the fierce light that beats upon a throne?" Is it said that women would lose their social influence if they could hold political office? During the whole of her long reign Victoria has had more social influence than any other person in England, precisely because she held the highest political office in the kingdom. Is it prophesied that if women take an interest in politics the human race will die out? Victoria leaves seventy-one descendants. Is it said that contact with public affairs must be demoralizing to women? Victoria has been in contact with public affairs during a time covering the terms of seventeen presidents of the United States, yet she was neither demoralized nor made less womanly."—Woman's Column, Boston.

The Canteen.—The Americans have beaten us. Here is the text of the Littlefield amendment to section 4 of the army bill: "The sale of or dealing in beer, wine or any intoxicating liquors by any person in any post exchange or canteen or army transport, or upon any premises used for military purposes by the United States, is hereby prohibited. The secretary of war is hereby directed to carry the provisions of this section into full force and effect." This was carried by the house of representatives, by a vote of 159 to 51, and a little later by the senate with nearly as good a majority. Shall Canadians longer allow the sale of beer and other fermented drinks at military schools and the barracks of the mounted police?

Maine Heard From.—Here is what prohibition, with an honest, fearless official behind it, can do: In prohibition Maine the liquor sellers of about four of the principal cities have defied the law and runs bars more or less openly. One of the cities—Portland—has elected a prohibition sheriff, Pearson by name, who went into office January 1st. Since then the saloonists have been cleared out, and Mr. Pearson has been turning his attention to the druggists.

A Nashville drinking man one morning told his family of a wonderful dream he had the night previous, in which he saw three cats, one fat, one lean, and one blind, and he wondered what it meant.

"I know," promptly responded his little son, "the man that sells you the whiskey is the fat cat, mother is the lean cat, and you are the blind cat."

The meeting closed with the singing of the temperance doxology and prayer.—COM.

LIFE WAS A MISERY FOR FOUR OR FIVE YEARS.

The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont. Montreal, Oct. 17th, 1900.

Dear Sirs,—For the last four or five years life was a misery to me.

The pains in my back have been terrible. For some time I could not stoop over to tie my shoes. At last I got so bad that I could not go up stairs and had to sleep on a lounge in the dining room. I had to raise myself by a cord attached to the end of the lounge.

I used to swell up terribly, my urine was scanty and highly colored and had a very offensive odor.

If I ate a hearty meal I would suffer agony for hours after. The several physicians whom I consulted advised me to go to the hospital and have an operation performed, as they said I was suffering from womb trouble.

I was told about Doan's Pills, so procured a box, and I thank God every day for the good they have done me.

After the third dose I began to feel the benefit of them, and eight days after starting I could urinate freely and without the scalding sensation, the swelling has all disappeared, and I do not know what a backache is since I took the first box of Doan's Pills.

I can now attend to my household duties without any trouble, and can enjoy a good night's sleep, things I have not been able to do for five years.

I am now 57 years old, but feel like 30, and never felt better in my life, thanks to Doan's Pills. I cannot praise them too highly and trust this will meet the eyes of some poor suffering woman.

Yours gratefully,
MRS. J. WILSON.

Society People.

A society woman—and a man for that matter—do a great many things imprudent for their health. Take the matter of dress, for instance, or rather the lack of dress, right over the most vital organ of the body—the lungs. A little cold results. The throat and bronchial tubes become congested and inflamed, and then the bacilli of consumption can start right away. Pneumonia or consumption results and that is another story if you don't take Powley's Liquified Ozone.

If society people would only take a good hot dose of Powley's Liquified Ozone before retiring they would have no cold. If they have pneumonia or consumption they should take this preparation, because its antiseptic properties will almost invariably cure these diseases. Then the condensed oxygen builds up the system. Can you afford to be without Powley's Liquified Ozone?
