In 1864 he became mayor of St. Jean Baptiste and held office for thirty-two years. He was alderman of Montreal in 1886, represented Montreal for eight years, when he was called to the senate. He was a conservative. He was interested in many benevolent concerns. Four children and a widow survive.

An Unhappy End

London, June 28.—The Hon. Eric Lascelles, half brother of the earl of Harewood and brother of the countess of Desart and Hon. Francis J. Lascelles, now in custody in British Columbia charged with killing a Chinese employee on his ranch, has been found dead in a show waggon at Cheltenham. This unfortunate young man has for years been exhibiting automatic pictures at country fairs under the name of Eric Leith. When he heard of his brother's trouble Eric began drinking and died from the effects. Letters from the countess of Desart and a London lawyer were found in his pocket, enclosing a remittance and referring to Francis' trouble.

P. H. Stewart, Barrie, Ont., late county treasurer, died yesterday, aged sixty-three. He was formerly editor of the Cookstown Advocate.

CAPTURED RICHMOND.

Gallant Defence By The British Garrison.

THEY FINALLY WON OUT.

THE BOERS CAPTURED MANY GOOD POINTS.

The Demands of Surrender Were All Refused—Eight Men at One Spot Had to Quit and Surrendered to the Boers—The Boers Had to Retire.

Cape Town, June 27.—Boer invaders under Malan and Smit, about 3,000 strong, attacked Richmond early Tuesday morning. The town was defended by a detachment of the North Staffordshire militia, under Capt. Hawkeshaw, and the town guard. Three sangars, outside the town, were captured by the Boers, the garrison being distributed principally at jail fort and flagstaff hill fort. Owing to the capture of the sangar, flagstaff hillfort was exposed to a heavy fire. Three times during the day commandant Malan sent messengers demanding the surrender of the town and each time the demand was refused. The Boers took advantage of the opportunity during the cessation of hostilities to better their positions, and on the last occasion when the messenger was sent in a party of burghers entered the town and effected the capture of a sangar in the market square. Not a shot was fired on account of the white flag carried by the messenger. The Boers, who were now only 200 yards from jail fort, were securely covered and directed a continuous fire for two hours upon the defenders who stoutly held the position. Finding it impossible to capture jail fort or flagstaff hill fort, the Boers turned their attention to another sangar in the town which was held by eight men. These eight men, after having held the position for eleven hours, surrendered at five o'clock in the afternoon.

After dark the British garrison strengthened the fortifications, as they anticipated a renewal of attack in the morning. During the night, however, the Boers learned that relief was approaching and withdrew. They captured twelve horses and looted the stores. The engagement lasted twelve hours. The Boer loss is reported as five men killed and seven wounded. The British casualties are not given. On Wednesday morning, Col. Lunds, with a relieving column, entered the town.

A patrol of six Cape police and twelve Dordrecht volunteers unexpectedly encountered a portion of Fouches' commando, north of Jamestown. The Boers endeavored to outflank the British who retreated, fighting from kopje to kopje for nine hours, finally reaching Aliwal North unscathed. The corporal commanding has been promoted.

Treatment Of Prisoners.

New York, June 28.—The London correspondent of the New York Tribune, says: Lord Milner tells me that the Boer refugees have received medical attendance when they required it, regular rations have been served out to them good, and in many instances the best; their children are sent regularly to school. There have been some exceptional instances, but the processes by which the districts have been cleared have been essentially different from those employed by Spanish generals in extirpating the Cuban population. If London journals had more enterprise they would send out special correspondents to let the people know at home how the country is settling down and what is really going on. Considerable progress has been made toward the pacification of the Dutch colonies. Many mines at Johannesburg are in operation and farmers around the leading railway towns are resuming their usual occupations and sending supplies into market. Lord Milner has improved in health since his return to England in spite of the constant pressure of business with the colonial office. He takes a broad view of the situation in South Africa, and is hopeful that the end of the war will soon be reached and reconstruction measures be adopted.

A Fear Of Boxers.

Pekin, June 27.—Rev. Arthur Smith, the missionary and author, preaching at Tien Tsin, on the anniversary of the relief of that city, said he thoroughly agreed with Sir Robert Hart in the statement that unless there was a complete regeneration of China in a few years the country would be menaced by 20,000,000 Boxers. The Chinese would never forget that the Boxer movement was fully approved by the court.

HID IN THE COALHOLE.

Dragged From Darkened Church by Citizens.

Bridgeton, N.J., June 28.—For some time back there have been evil rumors afloat regarding a clergyman and his attention to some of the young women of the flock. The climax of all this latent scandal was reached on Tuesday, when at a late hour a girl of sixteen, was seen coming from the darkened church by a party of men who had been watching the clergyman's movements during the evening.

As soon as the girl had gone the watchers swept down on the church and surrounded it. After a search the clergyman was found in the cellar of the building and concealed in the coal hole. He was dragged out in a very much blackened and begrimed condition and at first expressed surprise at the intrusion. A few stern words silenced him and he was escorted to his home by one of the members of his church who feared that if he set out alone he might be roughly handled by some of the indignant citizens who were present at the time he was pulled out of his place of concealment.

The clergyman is married and there was a painful scene when he was brought in such a humiliating plight into the bosom of his family. He left town a few hours later and his family expects to follow him. His wife stands by him loyally and expresses herself as convinced of his innocence.

DIED WITH A SECRET.

$1,000,000 Offered for a Discovery He Had.

Denver, Col., June 28.—Larkin M. Ford, a pioneer miner, last night died in poverty, and before his death was unable to reveal a secret for which he was promised $1,000,000. He died at the county hospital, where he was removed a week ago after closing negotiations for selling the process of extracting gold from ore without the intervention of smelter for $1,000,000, which was to be paid as soon as the experiment was successfully demonstrated.

Two experts came from the east to apply the test. The day they reached Denver and before they found the humble quarters of Ford the latter was stricken with hemorrhage of the brain. From that time the visitors alternated at the bedside, hopeful that an interval might yield the secret of the dying man.

SPENCER ON WAR SPIRIT.

Militarism Tends to Barbarism, Says the Great Writer.

London, June 28.—Herbert Spencer has written a letter pleading for mitigation of the war spirit, in which he says:

"Whatever fosters militarism makes for barbarism; whatever fosters peace makes for civilization. There are two fundamentally opposed principles on which social life may be organized—compulsory co-operation and voluntary co-operation, the one implying coercive institutions, the other free institutions.

"Just in proportion as militant activity is great does the coercive regime more pervade the whole society. Hence, to oppose militancy is to oppose return toward despotism.

"My fear is that the retrograde movement will become too strong to be checked by argument or exhortation."

A Drowning At Renfrew.

Renfrew, Ont., June 25.—A drowning accident occurred in the Bonne chere river here yesterday. John Moulton, working in the street, drove into the river to water his horses, when both he and team were swept beyond their depth. Mr. Moulton reached a pier but in a second attempt to rescue the horses, he, too, was swept over the falls. The body has not yet been recovered. Deceased was a young man, unmarried, and his mother and brother reside in Almonte.

Causes Much Regret.

Hong Kong, June 27.—An impressive farewell order from admiral Seymour was read to the British fleet in China after the church services on Sunday, 16th. The order stated that efficacy must be maintained in order to meet any duty the squadron may unexpectedly be called upon to undertake. Vice-admiral Bridge was expected at Wei-Hai-Wei on June 24th. The fact that admiral Seymour is leaving has caused general regret.

A DISASTROUS STORM.

Did Much Injury to Quebec Central Railway.

Sherbrooke, Que., June 28.—A rainstorm of unexampled severity set in Thursday afternoon on the northern end of the Quebec Central railway, and for a wide district on both sides of it. It continued until about 11 p.m. The water in the rivers rose with such speed that culverts in many sections of the road and on the main Central were quickly washed out. Within a distance of ten miles on the latter road not less than six culverts have gone. Trains on roads are entirely blocked and many passengers are stalled in the vicinity of Stanstead, bound for Quebec, and last night's south-bound trains from Quebec are held up. The service will likely be blocked for four or five days, as the amount of repairing to be done is great. The Canadian Pacific railway east of here is also a sufferer.

At East Angus the boom of the Royal paper mills' company gave away and their logs, to the number of several thousands, got away and are now passing this town. Efforts are being made at several points to stop them.

FIRE COSTS ONE LIFE.

Lehigh Valley Freight Yards at Tifft Farm Damaged.

Buffalo, June 28.—One life was lost, several men were more or less seriously burned and property valued at $100,000 was destroyed by fire which totally consumed the west bound freighthouse of the Lehigh Valley freight yard at Tifft farm yesterday. Some of the 270 laborers who were at work tarried in the building too long and were forced to jump from windows into the Blackwell canal. All were rescued from the water except Pietro Zaizo, an Italian laborer. His body has not been recovered.

The steamer Hennepin caught fire and was badly damaged. Lawrence Cassin, her second engineer, was severely burned about the hands, face and head. He was forced to jump into the canal. He was taken out by the firemen and taken to the hospital. The damage to the Hennepin will amount to $25,000. The Lehigh Valley freight sheds and contents were valued at about $75,000. The loss is total.

LIVED A DUAL LIFE.

Held Two Positions and Supported Two Wives.

Chicago, June 28.—Two wives and two homes proved an apparent source of happiness to John P. Klein, alias John P. Kent, sentenced to the penitentiary for bigamy, Wednesday, until it came to the financial problem of how to support them. With two wives and two homes on his hands Klein decided he must have two positions. He led a more truly dual life than Mr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. His strength was not equal to the situation. Now he is a physical wreck.

Even with two positions and two salaries to draw, Klein found he had not solved the financial problem. He earned $25 a week workings days, and that satisfied his first wife, who lived on Mohawk street. But the $10 a week he earned working evenings and took to his second wife on School street did not satisfy her demands. She thought her husband ought to earn more. It was her investigation of the matter led to his arrest.
