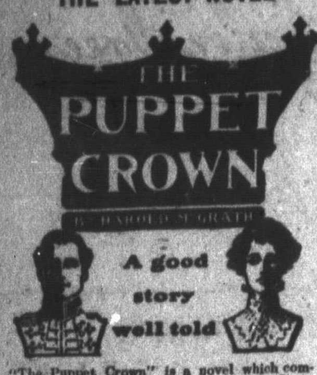
THE LATEST NOVEL



"The Puppet Crown" is a novel which combines the elements of romantic and realistic fiction to a remarkable degree. It was evidently written to entertain. It has no ethical purpose and yet to read it is to long for keener sympathies and for higher courage. The story is one of action and incident and adventure. It is keen in its character development.

The latest crop reports from the Kharkoff district are very bad. There is little grain or hay, and potatoes and other vegetables are backward. The heat is intense, and it is feared that Southern Russia will suffer severely.

The latest estimate, based on the statistics of the last 10 years, gives the wealth of the United kingdom as $60,000,000,000. The estimated national wealth of the United States for 1901 is $100,000,000,000.

The London Statist makes Europe's wheat crop at least 80,000,000 bushels less than last year, and fully 64,000,000 below the average of ten years. Only twice in that time has the crop of Europe been smaller than it promises this year—in 1891 and 1897; total, 170,000,000 quarters.

It is expected by Twin City interests that there will be a gradual improvement in Twin City stock and that by the time the machinery in the new hydraulic plant is ready to move it will be selling at about 125 to 130. The revenue from the new power plant will increase the surplus available for dividends on the common stock about $500,000.

Duquette Will Stay Here.

Duquette, the brilliant pitcher for the Ponies, has decided not to accept manager Barrow's offer of a trial with Toronto eastern league team, principally on account of the lateness in the baseball season, only five weeks remaining before the curtain will be rung down over the diamond. "Duke" is in love with Kingston, its people, its sons and its daughters, with the accent on the daughters; and he found it impossible to tear himself away. Next spring Duquette will likely accept an invitation from Toronto, and there is no doubt but what it will be forthcoming.

PRAYER ON RACE TRACK.

INNOVATION BY METHODIST PASTOR AT WINDSOR.

An Attentive Congregation—Gathering Composed Of All Conditions, From Owners to Broken-Down Speculators And Tourists.

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 8.—Rev. James Livingstone, pastor of the Windsor avenue Methodist church of this city, believes that the gospel should be carried to the uttermost parts of the earth, even into the race tracks which abound therein. The reverend gentleman does not lack the courage of his convictions, either, and Tuesday night conducted a prayer meeting at the Windsor race track, which was, to say the least, an innovation. The race track authorities gave the necessary permission for the meeting to be held, and although the meeting was not advertised, there was a congregation of perhaps 500 persons in the betting shed to greet Mr. Livingstone when he arrived.

The crowd was a curiously heterogeneous one. Owners, jockeys, broken-down speculators of the turf, touts, and stable boys, all were there, and to their credit be it said all through the service no congregation of habitual church goers ever gave better attention than they. The "services" were more in the nature of a talk than anything else, and Mr. Livingstone says he will hold another meeting next Sunday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Livingstone, who is president of the London conference, is one of the most magnetic speakers in the Methodist church in Canada.

Mrs. Dezouche is plaintiff in a suit against Alexander Fraser, the millionaire lumberman, to recover as beneficiary under the will of her first husband, who was at one time in partnership with Mr. Fraser in the lumber business.

Union Men Oppose Acceptance Of Carnegie's Gift.

Montreal, Aug. 8.—The iron moulders' union has adopted a strongly worded resolution opposing the acceptance of $150,000 from Andrew Carnegie for a free library and condemning the mayor for having asked for it. Labor men claim that Carnegie was an oppressor of labor. The brass workers will take similar action.

POLICE TO CARRY GUNS.

Garroting And Highway Assaults Are Common In London.

London, Aug. 8.—Assaults on policemen have become so numerous in certain districts of London that the authorities have been petitioned to permit the police to carry revolvers.

London policemen carry only clubs, in deference to the wishes of the people, who some years ago agitated against the revolver as being too dangerous to entrust with them. The result is that in attacking burglars or highwaymen they have only their clubs to protect themselves against assaults with knife, revolver, and knuckle-duster. London is becoming worse than Chicago. At nights there is a reign of terror on all roads leading to and from the suburbs. Garrotting has become a common form of crime.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Memorial Fountain.

Kingston, Aug. 8.—(To the Editor): Will you permit me space to answer an editorial which appeared in you issue of yesterday under the title "Public Interference," which, in my opinion, is most unfair to the county council. So far as the proposed fountain is concerned the county council has shown from first to last a generosity and public-spiritedness, which is deserving of the highest commendation and which the city would do well to copy.

I maintain that not only the organizer but every member of the committee is under a pledge to the county council to place the fountain in front of the court house. True, I cannot produce a document duly signed and sealed to that effect, but that certainly was the site agreed upon when the county council unanimously granted the first amount asked and no other site was proposed when they were approached a second time and magnanimously doubled the original appropriation. The resolution passed by the county council in January of last year distinctly provides that the proposed memorial shall be erected on the court house grounds and it would be a flagrant breach of faith on the part of the committee to place it in the city park on elsewhere without first obtaining the consent of the county council. It is extremely unjust to say that the county council have been threatening trouble when they have acted most generously from first to last and have shown a disposition to meet the wishes of the organizer and other members of the committee on every occasion. I was present last Tuesday evening when warden Campbell and councillors Wood and Reynolds met the organizer in front of the court house and seemed desirous of furthering the project in every way suggested even to the extent of having some of the trees removed if necessary. It may be true that the city parks committee would, as your editorial states, be delighted to pay the $500 back, to the county in order to have the fountain erected in the city park, but if so they are evidently made of different material than the water works department which, while giving away to men well able to pay enough water to supply fifty fountains, tell you they cannot spare enough for one. It may also be true that there will be no fountain this year, but, with all due respect, I protest against the unfairness of implying as your editorial does that the cause of its non-erection is to be found in any act of the county council who have acted most generously from the beginning.—Yours sincerely, J. W. EDWARDS, County Clerk.

There has been no desire or intention of the committee to place the memorial anywhere than on the court house grounds, and much time has been devoted, as Mr Edwards will attest, to making arrangements for adapting a naturally expensive and difficult, even if imposing, site. To every complaint that the city park was a more public and suitable place the committee has said they would be loyal to their first or county idea. There was a doubt as to the best location for public view and the ground west of the court house was considered, especially as a drain and water pipe was close at hand, and a saving of funds was necessary. The desire has been to honor the county in its member, and the city subscribers have been unselfish and kindly disposed in this idea. Therefore, when it was publicly proclaimed that members of the county council would move to rescind the grant if expediency should dictate a change of site from one part of the county ground to another, it was threatening humiliation to those who have acted throughout in the fairest spirit, with the best of intentions, in a purely public service. The Whig merely answered this public threat and did not criticize the county council in any way. Mr. Edwards is himself very unfair. No one would suggest that the site would be changed without paying the county back its grant. County councillors were the first to break very cordial good feeling by threatening trouble undeserved, or what has appeared in print is not true. No consultation has taken place as to site that has not been with county officials, and they were markedly divided in opinion as to the west or front side.

BALLOON ACCIDENTS.

French Balloonist Dumont Had Narrow Escape.

Paris, Aug. 8.—Santos Dumont, the aeronaut, started from the Pare De St. Cloud at 6:10 a.m., amid cheers. The balloon turned around Eiffel tower nine minutes and thirty-four seconds after starting, and re-headed for St. Cloud, just over the avenue Henri Marceau, However, a strong gust of wind disarranged things and the balloon began to descend. Unfortunately the cover of the aerostat struck the corner of a six-storey building, and the balloon collapsed and fell rapidly. Luckily the frame caught on the coping of the building and the balloon remained suspended. Otherwise, Santos Dumont would have been killed. He was finally rescued unharmed.
