SEALED TENDERS ADDRESSED TO the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for renewal of part of Burlington Channel south pier," will be received at this office until THURSDAY, 29th MARCH, 1900, for the re-construction of the superstructure on the Burlington Channel south pier, in Hamilton Bay, County of Wentworth, Ontario, according to a plan and a specification to be seen at the office of H. A. Gray, Esq., Engineer in charge of harbor works, Ontario, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, on application to the Postmaster at Hamilton, Ont., and at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

An accepted bank cheque, payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works for fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500), must accompany each tender. The cheque will be forfeited if the party decline the contract or fail to complete the work contracted for, and will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
JOS. R. ROY,
Acting Secretary.

Department of Public Works, Ottawa, March 3rd, 1900.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

The Crane's Story

The colonial wife concocted grand dishes under the crane, in her great kettle; but who shall say that the little granite pans and kettles to-day do not yield delicious fare? Provide your kitchen with a quantity of our granite Stew Pans, Kettles and Roasters as you provide your larder with food.

FEVER BURNS GIRL'S FEET.

For Two Years She Suffered—Can Get No Relief.

Morrisville, Pa., March 6.—For two years, night and day, Isabella Kane has been suffering from a peculiar ailment that has baffled the physicians, and for the greater part of the time the girl has sat with her feet immersed in cold water.

In 1898 Isabella was attacked with fever in her feet, which became so intense that she could get little rest, either at night or during the day. Dr. Woodman says during the coldest day in winter the girl gets much relief from walking in the snow and on the ice barefooted. She has never suffered ill effects from such exposure. The girl's feet are red and swollen to an abnormal size.

Social Democracy's Convention.

Indianapolis, March 6.—Social democracy, the party formed by Eugene V. Debs, the ex-withdrawal president of the American railway union, are holding a national convention in this city to-day, at which time a platform of principles will be adopted and candidates for president and vice-president nominated. The formal call invited those in sympathy with the organization in the several states to send delegates to the convention. Debs is to be nominated for the presidency and Jesse Cox for second place on the ticket. There is to be no fusion with either of the old parties.

Nicaragua Canal Bill.

Washington, March 6.—Chairman Hepburn of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, and who has the Nicaragua canal bill in charge moved, on February 20th, to have to-day set aside for the consideration of the bill which he wanted voted on at five o'clock to-morrow. It is to-day believed the bill will be taken up forewith. The democrats favor the Hepburn bill.

The street railway employees had a trying time in keeping the line open to-day. The vehicles crossing the tracks drag down the snow upon the rails and the cars can make no progress. The freezing rain that fell coated the rails and made them slippery.

If there had been two tracks instead of one on Princess street, the street railway sweepers would have piled the snow upon the pavements or into the store entrances. Or else all the snow would have had to be carted away before the cars resumed running.

A GREAT SPECTACLE

Was Gen. Buller's Entry Into Ladysmith.

HOW THE FORCES LOOKED.

TWO BATTALIONS MEET AFTER FIVE YEARS.

All Branches of the Service Were Most Enthusiastically Received—The Undaunted Spirit of the Garrison Evidenced — Strong Guard Covered the Retreat of the Boers.

London, March 6.—Several correspondents describe the entry of Gen. Buller's column into Ladysmith on March 3rd. The streets were lined with the garrison, and all the civilians who were well enough to stand the sun gathered to cheer their deliverers. Gen. White and his staff, on horseback, were in front of the town hall, the shattered tower and broken walls of which furnished a fitting background of the impressive scene.

Gen. Buller and his staff headed the troops, escorted by the irregular horse, and the Dublin Fusiliers, owing to their distinguished gallantry and losses, led the van. They were greeted with a storm of appreciative cheers. Gen. Warren followed, leading the fifth division. All branches of the service were most enthusiastically acclaimed.

One correspondent describes it as one of the most splendid and most moving spectacle he ever witnessed, it being as affecting as the queen's jubilee procession, as magnificent as the czar's entry into Moscow, and as enthusiastic as admiral Dewey's welcome in New York.

Twenty-two thousand men of all arms, blistered and tanned, caked with mud and bloodstains, and as ragged as sweeps, passed for three hours before Gen. White, cheering, laughing, shouting and tossing their helmets into the air. The emaciated, yellow-faced garrison whose loose uniforms spoke of weeks of starvation the men had undergone, cheered in return. The pipers of the Gordon Highlanders played their pipes. The women and children waved their handkerchiefs and cheered. Gen. Buller was hailed tumultuously. Two battalions of the Devonshire regiment, who had separated in India five years ago, broke ranks, and the old comrades rushed into one another's arms.

The nature of Gen. White's attempt to intercept the retreating Boers on March 1st shows the undaunted spirit of the garrison. Despite physical weakness, Col. Knox, in command of a little column, consisting of two batteries, a thousand infantry and three squadrons of cavalry, marched towards Pepworth Station, but the men were so exhausted that they colld scarcely drag themselves along. Nevertheless they were determined to reach their late besiegers. The Boers detailed a strong rear guard to cover their movements. A skirmish followed, in which a Highlander was killed and Col. Pickford was wounded. The column occupied several positions, but Col. Knox, finding that the men and horses were utterly exhausted, ordered his force to return. Two artillery horses died in the traces from weakness. Contrary to some accounts of the Boer withdrawal, the Standard's correspondent at Ladysmith declares that they retreated in masterly fashion, not losing a single waggon or ox. Only a few small camps fell into British hands. The reported capture of the Boers' "Long Tom" is not confirmed, and it is apparently untrue.

The Times correspondent at Colenso says that only about 400 men remain of the regiment of Dublin fusiliers.

Will See It Through.

London, March 6.—The government is delighted with the manner in which the house received proposals for the payment of the huge war bill, which is being run up in South Africa. Even the opposition congratulated the minister on his, business-like scheme, and although Sir William Harcourt tried hard to find flaws, which resulted in failure, and several Irish members lodged their usual protest, the proposals were adopted by a large majority—an evidence to the to the world that Britain means to see this thing through. The revenue will be increased £12,317,000 by additional taxes on income stamps, beer, spirits, tobacco, imported cigars and tea. A saving of £1,640,000 will be made by suspending the sinking fund in relation to certain terminable annuities; and the balance amounting to £13,000,000 will be raised by bond or stock, payable in a term not exceeding ten years, so arranged that people generally may participate in this war loan.

War Tidings.

The South African News accuses Rudyard Kipling of leading a mob of invaders into the parliament house at Cape Town.

The Boers consume large quantities of diluted vinegar in order to overcome the lassitude caused by the fumes from the lyddite shells.

Eleven hundred of Cronje's men have been placed temporarily on board the British steamers Mongolian and Manila in Table bay.

Cecil Rhodes expects to sail for England on Wednesday.

The telegraph lines between Mafeking and Mazru were cut on Wednesday night, a whole section being removed. It is believed that this was the work of natives, prompted or bribed by the Boers.

In the chamber of deputies, Rome, the marquis Emilio Visconti-Venosta, minister of foreign affairs, stated that the present time was not favorable for an offer from Italy to mediate between the British and the Boers.

The manager of the bank of South Africa, who left Johannesburg on Feb. 23rd, and has arrived at Cape Town, reports that there has been very little looting in that district. None of the mines have been destroyed.

The members of the Afrikander bund are organizing a conciliation committee, and are advancing views in favor of maintaining the Boer republics. The English in the colony are unanimously in favor of the absorption by Great Britain. The question is likely to cause a split in the Cape ministry.

British officials say the rebellion in the Carnavon district of Cape Colony is of no importance. The trouble has been caused by the poorer classes of Boers who have no fixed habitation, and who reached that point during one of their nomadic treks.

Gen. Roberts has not yet commenced any important operations. His latest despatch dated Osfontein, March 4th, reports that Gen. French had another successful skirmish with the Boers that morning.

A BROTHER DISCOVERED.

The Wounded General's Picture Disclosed a Brother's Face.

Avondale, Pa., March 6.—The brilliant feats of Major-Gen. Hector Macdonald, of the British Highland brigade in South Africa, and the wide publication of his picture, have revealed to assistant supervisor Patrick Macdonald, of the Baltimore Central railroad that the general is his brother, whom he has not seen for forty years.

When Gen. Macdonald was recently wounded his picture in print fell into the hands of Patrick, who quickly recognized the family resemblance. The railroader hunted up some facts in the general's history which established the relationship beyond a doubt.

Patrick Macdonald was born in the city of Dublin, as was also his brother, Hector. It was during the uprising of the Fenians that young Patrick was induced to take up arms against his queen, and after the Fenians had been put down he was cast into jail, where he languished for a period of two years, he says.

At the conclusion of his sentence he straightway came to this country, where he has resided ever since. For a number of years he was a section boss on the central division, but for the last eleven years he has filled the position of assistant supervisor of the entire system.

Hector, a boy when Patrick left Ireland, later entered the army as a private and rose from the ranks.

Ontario's Finances.

Toronto, March 6.—The public accounts of the province for 1899 will be presented to the house to-day or to-morrow. The total receipts last year were $4,096,494, and the expenditure $3,710,420, leaving a balance on the credit side of $386,074. At the end of the year there was a cash balance of $374,796 in the bank. The receipts show an increase of $449,941, as compared with 1898, while the expenditure was $92,661 less than in the year previous.

Catholics in The Soudan.

Cairo, March 6.—Mgr. Roveggio is quitting Khartoum soon for Fashoda. He declares that he has no intention of carrying on a propaganda, and intends founding an establishment for the already christian residents at Omdurman and Khartoum, and a depot for missionary expeditions to the negro countries in the south. Father Weller is leaving the Soudan altogether.

An Offer Accepted.

Toronto, March 6.—The creditors of William Grant & Sons, dry goods merchants, Brantford, at a meeting held here yesterday, accepted an offer of fifty-five cents on the dollar, made for the stock on behalf of the insolvent firm. The firm's liabilities are placed at $85,000, with nominal assets of $75,000. The creditors were principally eastern firms.

Pictures of Kingston's Soldiers.

Saturday's Utica Globe contained two splendid pictures of Kingston's soldiers on the second contingent, taken on Tete du Pont barracks square, on the afternoon when mayor Minnes presented each of them, on behalf of the corporation of the city of Kingston, with a $10 gold piece, and bade them farewell. The pictures are particularly good ones.

South African Volunteer Sued.

St. Louis, March 6.—Mrs. Annie Madeline Thomas, Toronto, Canada, is an applicant for a divorce. The defendant, Wolferstan Thomas, belongs to Montreal, and is a member of the Canadian regiment which took part in the attack on Gen. Cronje's laager. The application for a decree was made on charges of non-support.

Degree Will Be Conferred.

Edinburgh, March 6.—The authorities of Edinburgh university have decided to confer the degree of doctor of laws upon Mr. Choate, American ambassador, Sir Richard Webster, attorney general, and Miss Eleanor A. Ormerod, the celebrated entomologist. Miss Ormerod is the first woman to receive a degree from this university.

Queen And Prince.

London, March 6.—The queen has decided to abandon her projected visit to the Italian Riviera in the present state of public affairs, and the prince of Wales will not, it is said, be present at the official opening of the Paris exposition.

A Position For Bostock.

Vancouver, B. C., March 6.—Hewitt Bostock, M.P. for Cariboo, may be appointed lieutenant-governor of British Columbia if lieutenant-governor McInnes is re-called. He is not very sure of carrying his seat at the next election.

Shaw Goes South.

Chicago, March 6.—Commander-in-chief Shaw of the grand army of the republic went south to-day, where he expects to hold a peace symposium in thirteen of the southern states.

Sent to Prison.

Berlin, March 6.—The editor Keller of The Berlin Tageblatt, was sentenced to four months' imprisonment for having criminally libelled Dr. Werner and captain Rudiger of the German north pole expedition.

Great loss of life and property have been caused by recent earthquakes and tidal waves in Southern Mexico. Several cities, towns and villages have disappeared. The estimated damage is placed at $18,000,000.

Texas Heroes' Day.

Dallas, March 6.—Texas heroes' day is being celebrated to-day, this being the celebration of the battle of Alamo. The graves of the brave fellows who died in service of the state are being decorated. There are many whose graves are disfigured and all but obliterated, but none are forgotten, as the graves of these unknown heroes are strewn with flowers as well as those that are marked and better preserved.

To Fill the Vacancies.

Ottawa, March 6.—It is said the government has decided to fill the vacancies in the first Canadian contingent, which number something over twelve per cent. of the force, the parties to go forward on the transport Monterey, to sail with the Strathcona contingent on March 15th. The men will, as far as possible, be taken from the same districts as their colleagues killed or disabled.

DEFENCE OF LONDON.

Measures For Its Protection Against Military Attack.

London, March 7.—To many readers the information that serious steps have been and are being taken to defend London against attack will doubtless come as a surprise. Those who are responsible for the national defences have based their action on the theory that if we were unhappily involved in war with a powerful European coalition, and if, still more unhappily, a disaster to our navy deprived us for a while of the command of the sea, an attempt would be made to invade England and seize London.

The bold chalk ridge at the North Downs is thus the southern wall of London. The line of selected positions extends for thirty-six miles from the Hog's Back on the right to Halstead, in Kent, on the left. On the other side of the river there is another series of positions selected, running from Tilbury on the Thames, by Brentwood, to Epping, to protect London against an attck coming through Essex. On the north-west, positions have been chosen about Berkhamstead, in the Chilterns. Between the left of the southern line and the right of the Essex positions lies the great waterway of the Thames.

There are two groups of forts to guard the river. First, on the broad estuary that forms the actual mouth of the river, there are the forts of Sheerness, with the defences of Chatham behind them. Further up there is another group of forts, to bar the narrow passage of the river at the sharp bend just below Gravesend. Several of these forts are, it must be admitted somewhat antiquated and unsatisfactory structures, armed with what a sporting man would call "rather a scratch lot" of guns. The old muzzle-loader is far too prominent among them. But they are now being rearmed with heavy modern guns and quick-firers. One good modern battery has been constructed lately on a spot that need not be noted here, and preparations have been made for mounting powerful guns at other points where the enemy might least expect them, the actual mounting being left till the eve of war in order to complete his surprise. A few good pieces of modern artillery, well mounted, can do more work than scores of old-fashioned guns.

A GRADUATE'S DEATH.

Capt. A. E. Wise Passed Away in London on February 13th.

Henry Ellison Wise, captain in the Derbyshire regiment, eldest son of the late Frederick Ayshford Wise, C. E., of Ottawa, died on the 13th February, in London, Eng., at the age of forty years. Of the late Capt. Wise, Morgan's Canadian Men and Women says: "Henry Ellison Wise was born at Kingston, Ont., Sept. 29th, 1859. Educated at Trinity college school, Port Hope, Ont., he graduated from the Royal military college, Kingston, with the class of 1880. He was gazetted second lieutenant, 26th Cameronians, August, 1880, and promoted captain in the Derbyshire regiment, November, 1890. Capt. Wise was aide-de-camp to Gen. Sir Frederick Middleton, commanding the Canadian militia, 1884-89, and served during the north-west rebellion in Canada, 1885, (wounded at Fish Creek, mentioned in despatches and medal). He was subsequently an extra A.D.C. to the marquis of Lansdowne, vice roy of India. Capt. Wise stood high in the graduating class at the staff college, Camberley, England, in 1897, and was spoken of in the Canadian Militia Gazette as 'One of the most distinguished graduates of the Royal military college, Kingston, whence have issued so many young sons of Canada who have served the queen in all parts of her widely scattered dominions, not less noticeably than are Canada's sons now serving her in South Africa, with marked distinction and credit to themselves, to this dominion and to the advantage of the empire." Death was due to tuberculosis.

Vote Themselves Salaries.

Toronto, March 6.—Notwithstanding that the electors of Toronto, at the elections in January last, strongly declared themselves in favor of the abolition of the salaries of mayor and aldermen, the members of the city council yesterday voted to retain their salaries. The vote took place on the second reading of a by-law to carry into effect the popular vote to abolish salaries of mayor, controllers and aldermen. Eight members voted in favor of the by-law and eleven, among them the mayor, against. Six members were absent when the vote was taken.

A Terrible Famine.

Toronto, March 6.—According to letters received here from missionaries of the christian unity association, stationed in British East Africa, a famine there is causing distress equal to the terrible sufferings in India. Natives are dying by the hundreds, and no attempt is being made to bury their remains, which are left to the hyenas and jackals. The natives have even ceased to beg from the missionaries and white settlers, and are evidently resigned to their fate.
