WANT THEIR PHOTOS BACK

OVER 1,400 YOUNG LADIES MADE PLATT PRESENTS.

The Picton Man is Now in Custody—Fifty Girls Sent Along a $50 Fee—Inspector Merrick Swears Out a Warrant For the Deceiver's Arrest.

Picton, April 1.—George W. Platt, "manager of the co-operative employment association of Canada," was committed for trial by the police magistrate yesterday on a charge of using the mails with intent to defraud. He was subsequently released on $2,000 bail to appear for trial at the assizes next month.

The facts in connection with the arrest furnish an interesting story. About a fortnight ago this advertisement appeared:

WANTED—REFINED, EDUCATED young lady of good appearance as companion to lady going to Paris, France, Exhibition; salary fifty dollars per month for six months, and all expenses paid; send photo and references. Address GEO. W. PLATT, Picton, Ont.

Numerous complaints from parties answering the advertisement reached the attorney-general's department, and inspector Rogers was detailed to inquire into the case. It was ascertained that no less than 1,400 applications had been sent in for the position, 700 of the applicants forwarding their photographs as requested. Several score of these were from young ladies of good family in Toronto. A few days after their forwarding their names, the applicants for the position received a circular from the "Co-operative Employment Association of Canada," which, among other things, said:

"Your recent communication in answer to my advertisement for a lady's companion is received, and after duly considering the same I beg to say that if you are willing to comply with the requirements of our association in remitting us the sum of $2 to cover the expense of advertising, postage, etc., and agree to send us twenty per cent. commission of your first month's salary, I shall be pleased to recommend you for this position.....I do not have the final selection of the applicant, but I would consider it my duty to endorse your application with a personal letter of recommendation to my client."

Of the 800 persons to whom this circular—which, by the way, looks to the uninitiated like a dictated typewritten letter—was forwarded, about fifty had sent the necessary $2 when the law stepped in.

On March 24th inspector Rogers visited Picton, and had a talk with Platt. The latter explained that the man for whom he was acting was Albert De la Chapelle, of Forester's Falls, Ont., a small village in Renfrew county, on the Ottawa line, and he turned over to the inspector the letter he had received from La Chapelle. He had received the commission in the ordinary course of business as an employment agent from La Chapelle, whom he had never seen and did not know. On the strength of this application he had inserted the advertisement.

Inspector Merrick, of Kingston, who was also engaged upon the case, visited Forester's Falls, and located the "general agent for council of Paris, France," in a French-Canadian farm hand, about sixty years of age, of weak intellect, who had lived in the locality for thirty years, had never married, and who was in receipt of a salary of $5 per month and his board. La Chapelle admitted writing the letter. Merrick, in talking to Chapelle, drew his attention to the fact that he was liable to five years in the penitentiary. The "general agent for the council at Paris" suggested that he go into the next room and secure some correspondence he had received from Platt. Not returning, Merrick instituted inquiries, and learned that La Chapelle had gone up the road at full speed. Merrick started in pursuit in a buggy, but the "general agent" took to the woods, and is still running.

Merrick returned to Picton and swore out an information against Platt, and his arrest by chief Jamieson followed. A sack full of circulars and the photos forwarded by the applicants were impounded, and inspector Rogers will doubtless now be the object of much epistolatory wooing on the part of young ladies anxious to secure the return of their photos.

Platt has retained barrister Allison to defend him, and claims that he was within his rights in charging a commission for recommending an applicant for the position, which there was nothing to show was not as represented in Chapelle's letter.

The crown is proceeding against the accused on this clause in the circular:

The party for whom we are acting in this instance is general agent for the consul at Paris, France, and bankers for the guarantee of the high social standing and respectability of the people with whom you will be associated.

This representation over Platt's signature is what the authorities will ask the jury to say constitutes "a scheme devised to defraud the public."

HEALTH IN APRIL

Use the World's Greatest Spring Medicine

Paine's Celery Compound

It Is The One Remedy Gladly and Universally Recommended by the Ablest Doctors.

It is well known that almost every condition of winter life has been detrimental to the health of thousands of men and women.

The blood has become clogged and impure; the skin is unhealthy and muddy, showing eruptions and pimples; the eyes are dull and sunken; the nerves are unsteady; there is loss of weight, and stomach troubles, rheumatism and neuralgia make life a misery by day and night.

Paine's Celery Compound is the only spring medicine that the best physicians are now recommending, because no other remedy can so quickly bring new and vigorous health to the ailing, half-dead and brokendown.

Paine's Clery Compound cures disease by first purifying the blood and enriching and strengthening the nerves. It makes the weak strong; it regulates and invigorates the entire nervous system from the brain to the minutest nerve filament.

Seeing that the experience of tens of thousands has proven that Paine's Celery Compound is the greatest of all spring medicines—the one remedy that the world could not lose to-day at any price—it is foolish and suicidal to defer its use. One or two bottles used at this season will surely banish all symptoms of disease and fit you for the work and duties of spring and summer.

When you are buying Paine's Celery Compound see that you get the genuine "of Celery" on the label; and the "Stalk of Clery" on the label; other compounds are frauds and deceptions.

Starving in Porto Rico.

New York, April 3.—Delegate James P. Archibald read a letter at the meeting of the central federated union yesterday which he had received from delegate Iglesias, the Porto Rican workingmen's delegate, who had visited in the United States lately. Signor Iglesias said that it made his heart bleed in contrasting the conditions of workingmen in this country and in the island. The condition of the toilers there was very wretched, and in one town in the interior of the island he said he found as many as 150 women and children who were half clad and were starving.

The sporting editor of the Whig acknowledges the receipt of a copy of "Reach's Official Baseball Guide for 1900," published by A. J. Reach & Co., Philadelphia, Pa. The guide is full of interesting lore dear to baseballists and should form a part of the outfit of every man who plays the game. It sells at ten cents a copy.

A writer in the Hamilton Times intimates that London is a red-hot hockey town. Its clever young players are pure amateurs and pulled out the O.H.A. intermediate championship, but there is a strong feeling of dissatisfaction there with the O.H.A. executive: "Whether rightly or wrongly they have the idea in London that the O.H.A. executive runs things to suit Toronto clubs, and that the outside clubs get no consideration. The London people mention specific instances of what they consider discrimination in favor of Toronto. Hamilton complained of the same sort of treatment when it was in the O.H.A. and it is the same story in other branches of sport. If the outside clubs could feel that they would get the same consideration as the Toronto clubs, there would be fewer 'minor' organizations. Perhaps the real reason for the existence of so many small leagues is the 'beaten and out' system of playing championship games. A club that is beaten in the first game is out for the season." All of which goes to show that other places are beginning to "get wise" to facts which Kingston knew years ago.

A GREAT BATTLESHIP.

United Statesers Say it is the Best in the World.

Newport News, Va., April 3.—The final sea trial trip of the new battleship Kearsarge will take place to-day, Wednesday and Thursday. All naval officers who have examined the work put in the Kearsarge by the shipyard declare that they have never seen its equal; she is a veritable floating palace compared with other battleships. Even those who are not so sure about the success of the superimposed turret as the latest and most serviceable battery arrangement, admit that nothing like the Kearsarge exists to-day in the navies of the world and, if the superimposed turrets prove what is claimed for them, that the Kearsarge will be easily the most powerful ship in the world. The special sea trial board for the Kearsarge is made up as follows: Rear admiral Frederick Rodgers, Capt. Robley D. Evans, commander Joseph Hamphill, commander Charles B. Roelker, Lieut. commander Richard Henderson, naval constructor Washington Capps. These officers met on the Kearsarge this morning, and took the vessel to sea for forty-eight hours. The ship is running at full speed, and all of her guns will be fired, including those in the superimposed turrets, and the capabilities of the ship as a fighter will be generally tested. As this will be the first time guns in superimposed turrets will be tested, the eyes of the officers in our navy and the navies of the world will await with interest the result of the tests.

GENERAL DEBILITY.

From the Advertiser, Hartland, N.B.

Ralph Gilberson, postmaster at Monquart, N.B., is also known as a prosperous agriculturist. Now stalwart and rugged, he scarce would be recognized as the man who six months ago was the picture of one suffering the terrible symptoms of general debility. He was run down in health, suffered much from dizziness, almost blindness, general dullness and depression of spirits. He had a poor appetite and such food as he ate gave him great distress. He was incapacitated for the work that fell upon him and was well nigh utterly discouraged. The symptoms bordered on to those by which hypochondria is manifested. Through reading the Advertiser he learned of the benefit that several of his friends in this vicinity had received by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and by the hope held out by their testimonials he secured a supply and took them according to directions. The result was almost magical; immediately his symptoms became less disagreeable, and he steadily gained until now he is perfectly free from his old troubles. He gladly gives his testimonial, that all who read it may know the remedy if ever they are troubled with general debility.
