IN INTEREST OF LABOR.

Mr. Preston's Resolution Passes the Ontario Legislature.

Toronto, April 5. Mr. Preston, South Brant, rapidly developing into one of the most useful members of the legislature, had the honor and satisfaction yesterday of securing the consent of the house to a resolution in favor of attaching such conditions to all government contracts as would prevent abuses arising from sub-letting, and would secure the payment of the current rate of wages. In other words, Mr. Preston asked for the recognition in connection with all works or contracts with which the government had to do of the principle of a fair day's wage for a fair day's work. After the resolution had been moved, and endorsed by members on both sides, the premier expressed his hearty approval of the principle enunciated, and assured the house that the government would give effect to the resolution. Mr. Whitney then moved an amendment declaring that the opinion of the house be embodied in an act of the legislature. After the assurance of the premier as to the government's willingness to carry out the policy advocated by Mr. Preston, the amendment was manifestly an expression of non-confidence, which the majority could not accept. The attorney-general therefore moved an amendment to the amendment that the house's opinion was that the legislation should be in harmony with the resolution. The resolution as amended by the attorney-general carried by a majority of nine. The majority was obtained by Mr. Tucker, a conservative member voting with the government.

Hon. Mr. Dryden, in answer to Mr. Boyd (North Grey), said that the beet sugar association of Ontario had voluntarily presented verbal statements with a view to obtaining aid from the government, and subsequently a statement by letter asking for a bounty of one cent per pound for five years and naming the conditions under which they would operate. The government would before the end of the session lay before the house such documents relating to the beet sugar industry as were in its possession.

Acknowledged His Guilt.

Paris, April 5.—M. d'Arville des Essarts, a former advocate of the court of appeals, and a former member of the city council, has been arrested on a charge of embezzling 1,800,000 francs of the patrimony of Corpl. Gelinard, of the recruiting bureau at Versailles. He has confessed to the embezzlement.

BLOEMFONTEIN PROTECTED.

ILL TREATING AND EVEN SHOOTING DESERTERS.

Dutch Sympathizers With Enemy Put Under Arrest — Pretoria May be Attacked From the North—It Is Said Powell Told to Hold Out Until May 24th.

London, April 5.—There is very little news from South Africa and no actual achievement on either side is reported. The correspondents at Bloemfontein in the brief despatches to which the increasedly rigorous censor limits them, concur in stating that the Boers, emboldened by Gen. Roberts' inactivity and their recent successes, seem inclined to take the offensive with the idea of carrying out president Kruger's reported boast that he would re-capture Bloemfontein. Their efforts seem to be directed to cutting the British communications south, and considerable precautions have been taken to prevent them from doing this.

Gen. Gatacre is at Springfontein co-operating with Gen. Roberts to protect the railway. The measures taken for the protection of Bloemfontein include the mounting of four 4.7 inch naval guns and four naval twelve-pounders on kopjes commanding the surrounding plain. There is a leakage of information regarding the British movements and many Dutch sympathizers in Bloemfontein have been arrested in consequence, much to their apparent surprise.

The Times' correspondent, in a despatch, dated April 3rd, says that the Boers across the Modder river are in some strength. East of Bloemfontein the mounted infantry have been in touch with them all day at Bushman's kop, twelve miles distant.

The Times prints a despatch from Wepener, saying that the British picket near there was heavily fusiladed by the enemy on Tuesday night. It adds that the Boers in the neighborhood are ill-treating and sometimes shooting men who surrendered their arms.

Gen. Carrington's men, going by the Biera route to Salisbury in Rhodesia, will probably march to Bulawayo, where the railway will be at their command. The advent of this force of good size will make the Transvaalers fear a raid on their capital from the north.

If Col. Baden-Powell has been warned that he must hold out until May 24th, it may be that Gen. Carrington and not Kitchener, Methuen or Plumer, will lead the relief column to Mafeking.

The Times prints a despatch from Bloemfontein saying that Col. Porter with ninety cavalrymen and two guns charged a large body of Boers on Sunday, and captured ninety-one British prisoners, including eleven officers, who were captured at Korn spruit on March 31st. The British suffered no casualties.

The latest news concerning Mafeking comes from Ladysmith, where a message sent by Col. Baden-Powell on March 27th, was received Tuesday, congratulating the people and garrison of Ladysmith on their relief. The message concludes: "We are still besieged but hope for speedy relief." The papers have despatches that were sent from Mafeking on March 24th, and March 26th, declaring that the pressure on the town was then less than ever since the beginning of the siege. The investing force is less than 2,000 men, and these are well removed from the town.

On the night of March 23rd the Boers evacuated the brickfield trenches where there was much severe fighting during the siege and the British occupied them. They found 250 pounds of nitro-glycerine connected with a wire, which the British cut before it could be exploded.

The war office publishes the following additional list of casualties at Mafeking up to Feb. 28th: Killed, three; wounded, seventeen; missing, four; deaths from enteric fever, five.

Very Heroic.

Bloemfontein, April 3, (4 p.m.)—Those who partook in the fighting Saturday speak highly of the heroism displayed by the officers and non-commissioned officers of the artillery. The infantry, mounted on Burmese ponies, were active helpers. Roberts' Horse charged through the Boers, doing considerable execution.

On Sunday Gen. Smith-Dorrien's brigade, (including the Canadians), rescued the wounded and moved them to the hospitals under fire. They also buried the dead. Gen. Smith-Dorrien was foremost in assisting.

The Total Deaths.

Cape Town, April 4.—The Gazette prints the following table of deaths at Kimberley during the siege: Under five years of age, whites, 144; natives, 433; over five years of age, whites, 161; natives, 866; total, 1,574.

Both Attacks Repulsed.

London, April 5, (1.55 p. m.).—A special despatch from Lorenzo Marques says sharp fighting occurred April 2nd, in the neighborhood of Mafeking. The garrison made a sortie while Col. Plumer's cavalry attacked the Boers at Ramathlabama. Both attacks were repulsed.

Dominion Parliament.

Ottawa, April 4.—In the house to-day Mr. Bennett's transportation resolution was further discussed, and finally withdrawn. Dr. Montague's motion for papers in reference to the beet root sugar question, after a discussion of a couple of hours, was passed.

At five o'clock his excellency attended the senate and gave the royal assent to the bill to provide for the payment of the Canadian contingents in South Africa and amending the San Jose scale bill. The senate adjourned till Tuesday, 24th, at 8 p.m.

A Youth of Sixteen Wanted to Kill The Prince of Wales.

Brussels, April 4.—A desperate attempt was made to assassinate the prince of Wales at the station here this afternoon at 3:35 o'clock. The prince and the princess were on their way to Copenhagen to attend the celebration of king Christian's birthday. As the train was leaving the station the assassin jumped upon the footboard of the prince's saloon car and fired two shots at his royal highness. Both shots missed, and although the princess and others were in the car none of them were hurt. Hearing the shots, the station master rushed to the scene and knocked down the would-be assassin's arm as he prepared to fire a third shot and a number of persons threw themselves on the prince's assailant. Intense excitement prevailed for the moment as it was feared the prince had been hit, the shots having being fired almost point blank. The railway carriage door was hastily thrown open, and great relief was felt when the prince himself appeared at the window unhurt. The assassin is a tinsmith named Sipido, a resident of Brussels, sixteen years of age. When examined by the railroad station officials Sipido declared he intended to kill the prince of Wales, that he did not regret his action, "because he caused thousands of men to be slaughtered in South Africa."

Brussels, April 5.—The attempt at the assassination of the prince of Wales was the sole topic of conversation on the streets and in the cafes and theatres last evening. Everywhere regret and deep indignation were manifested and satisfaction at the failure of the criminal attempt was unanimously expressed. One version of Sipido's statement is that he declared that he committed the act because he was an anarchist and that he did not allude to South Africa.

The Patriote says: "Investigation proves pre-meditation. The interrogation of the prisoner lasted four hours, and it shows that he was instigated by an unknown person, who persuaded him to buy a pistol on Sunday in the old market for three francs. Accompanied by this person, Sipido went on Tuesday to a meeting in the Flemish theatre and then to the Maison du Peuple, where they had drinks. Then they went to a wine shop, where Sipido wrote a letter saying he had obtained employment. He then went to the railway station and asked the hour of arrival of the train. Later he entered a neighboring cafe and loaded his revolver in the lavatory. Sipido refused to give the name to his companion, who, he said, was a young man some years older than himself."

The commitment charges the prisoner with an attempt at assassination.

Sipido's parents were deeply moved at the act of their son. His mother exclaimed, "What a disgrace for us, who always worked hard and have sacrificed so much to bring up our nine children."

Lieut. Wilkie Improving.

Toronto, April 5.—D. R. Wilkie, manager of the Imperial bank, has received a cablegram from his son, Lieut. Wilkie, with the first Canadian contingent in South Africa, reported seriously ill at Cape Town, to the effect that he was improving. The message read: "Much better. Still in bed."

There were no casualties to the Canadian troops in the fighting at Bushman's Kop, although they were in the thick of the shelling, which was continued between the British and Boer batteries after the ambuscade.

QUEEN CAUGHT THE SPIRIT

GREATER ANIMATION THAN SHOWN IN YEARS.

She Was Cheered From Kingstown Quay to Dublin Castle — Irish Hearts Were Warm—The Queen Has Aged in Recent Years — No Serious Re-Action Likely to Follow Excitement.

Dublin, April 4.—The queen has come to Ireland. The Irish people, in apparently one united voice, have hailed her sovereign. We shall be told to-morrow that the seeming unanimity is due to the absence or silence of disaffected classes, but it is impossible to believe that the vast multitude now assembled in Dublin is not representative of Ireland at large and it would be a simple untruth to say that any throats were significantly silent to-day.

When the carriage swept by, containing the aged woman who has presided for two generations over the destinies of three kingdoms, some may have cheered who intended to keep silent. Disappointment perhaps exists among certain of the Irish people over her majesty's alleged neglect of their interests, which her absence for nearly forty years is interpreted to signify. But to-day all this is forgotten. Irish hearts are warm and forgiving. They preferred to accept the visit as a fitting tribute so the heroism and sacrifices which the Irish soldiers, perhaps more than all others, have been making in behalf of the queen and the empire in South Africa. They forgot even this in the presence of queen Victoria herself. They saw only the pathetic figure of an aged woman bowed with the weight of years and responsibilities. They saw a face benignant and sad even when smiling, and in whose lines the austerity of power has left no trace. Resentment against that small, almost forlorn, figure in black—and resentment from an Irishman—is inconceivable, and so they cheered, every man, woman and child from Kingstown quay to Dublin castle.

What can compare, after all, with an Irish welcome? More spontaneous than the German, more enthusiastic than the English, more sincere than the French, it becomes a greeting that tugs at the heart-strings and almost intoxicates with its fervor. Its object to-day found it irresistible and her majesty's pleasure was manifest.

Long before she reached the castle she had caught the spirit of the occasion and she responded to the ovation with greater animation than she has shown in many years in acknowledgment of public greetings. It is believed that no serious reaction will follow the excitement. The queen has aged very rapidly during the past three or four years and her present visit was undertaken with many misgivings. Indeed, it was only in response to what was represented as an urgent public duty that her medical advisers were willing to consent to the trip. It was partly for this reason and partly because it was desired to test Irish public sentiment, that no programme was announced beyond to-day. There is no longer doubt in any one's mind on the latter point. The queen will be treated with as great respect and loyalty in Ireland as in England or Scotland.

As for the political effects of the visit, that is another matter, and it is too soon to judge intelligently. There will probably be strong language from the irreconcilables, with the view to minimizing as far as possible the tendency to pacification which the event is likely to exert. Much depends on the attitude of the ultra loyalists. Any exultation of other indiscretions on their part will quickly undo all the queen and her advisers have endeavored to accomplish.

"Cead Mile Failte" is the Irish inscription figuring largely in to-day's decorations, and in the lord mayor's welcome it was rendered in English as "A hundred thousand welcomes." These, and more the queen received to-day. In return she has given a tacit assurance to Ireland of a kindlier interest and more tolerant sympathy by the other members of the great family of the empire.

DOOR IS WIDE OPEN.

So Frenchmen Think—See Chance For Intervention.

Paris, April 5.—The news about British troops being allowed to land at Beira, Portuguese East Africa, has caused a profound sensation here. M. Delcasse will certainly be questioned on the subject to-morrow. It is thought that his reply will be that it is undoubtedly true that Portugal has departed from the strict lines of neutrality, but that the matter affects only England, the Transvaal and Portugal. The feeling here is that the door has been thrown wide open to intervention, though it is doubtful which power will take the first step. A diplomatist who has seen the Anglo-Portuguese treaty told the correspondent that the statement of the foreign minister at Lisbon in defence of Portugal's action was misleading. In his speech the Portuguese minister made no reference to the transportation of British troops or ammunition. He simply referred to the sending of merchandise through Portuguese territory.

The senate ordered the placarding throughout France of the speech made by M. Delcasse, the minister of foreign affairs, on Tuesday night. This is an unusual honor for the senate to accord to a minister other than the premier.

HIS WIFE TOO GAY.

Parson's Singing Wife's Pace Was Fast to Ruin.

Omaha, Neb., April 5.—Divorce has just ended the romance of the Rev. O. F. Davis, of this city, which began in Vermont, when he was studying theology.

The couple were married in 1885, and Davis borrowed money to furnish a home much handsomer than the ordinary young minister can afford. His wife sang in the church choir at Albion, Vt., and after a few months became ambitious to study music abroad. Davis found the funds to send her to Heidelberg.

Mrs. Davis became an accomplished singer, and gained a host of friends in society in the larger cities. She insisted that it was necessary to open a fashionable studio in Boston, but this project met with a flat refusal from the husband. Then the young woman frankly told him that the $1,000 a year he earned was not sufficient to gratify her tastes, that she had outgrown her old love, and intended to leave him. The preacher came here and commenced suit for divorce, which the court granted yesterday.

At the Canada Club Dinner.

London, April 5.—There was a very large attendance at a most successful dinner of the Canada club, held at the Albion tavern last night. Lord Strathcona presided, and among those who responded to the toasts were the marquis of Hertford, who has just returned from Canada, and who has a son serving in Strathcona's Horse; lord Norton, who conducted the dominion bill through the house of commons thirty-three years ago; Austin Chamberlain, son of the colonial secretary; major-Gen. Henderson; Edmund Burton, the Australian federation delegate; Sir Walter Peace, agent general for Natal. In all, one hundred and fifty persons were present.

In the discussion in the house of commons on Tuesday night on Mr. Hederewick's resolution, suggesting direct representation by the colonies, Hon. Joseph Chamberlain gave a final quietus to the story that he had offered preferential trade to Canada. He said: "I have never done anything of the sort. It is one of those mistakes of which I am so largely the victim, and which, perhaps, it would hardly be worth while to contradict until the occasion becomes urgent."

Won't Throw It Overboard.

Toronto, April 5.—"An attempt," says the Mail, "will be made, it is said, to expel the Toronto lacrosse club from the Canadian lacrosse association at the association's annual meeting in this city on Good Friday. In that event the C.A.A.U. will be asked to take similar action, and it will then be up to the N.A.L.U., to deal with the club, a possibility so remote that it need not be given a moment's consideration. The Mail has learned, on unquestioned authority, that under no circumstances will the N.A.L.U. throw the Toronto lacrosse club overboard."

A Woman Asked to Quit.

Brandon, Man., April 5.—Miss Hall, for a number of years matron of Brandon asylum, has been dismissed by the Macdonald government. She was a most capable official and her dismissal cannot be understood. Governor Noxon, of the Brandon jail, has also been dismissed, and Arthur Acton, a farmer, appointed in his stead. Mr. Noxon is at present in Ontario.

His Trophies in National Museum.

Washington, April 5.—Admiral Dewey has decided to deposit his entire collection of trophies in the National museum, including the sword presented to him by congress, and the great loving cup procured by popular subscription. His object in so doing is to give the public opportunity to view the collection which is one of great value and interest.

Convent Burned Down.

St. Jacques, Lachigan, Que., April 5.—St. Ann's convent was burned to the ground last evening. Loss estimated at about $100,000. Insurance, $15,000. No lives were lost, but many persons are suffering from burns and injuries. No other buildings were destroyed. Real cause of the fire is not yet known.

Don't Want Meet Labor Day.

Toronto, April 5.—At the Good Friday meeting of the C.W.A., A.E. Walton will bring in a motion to do away with the association meet on labor day. The proposed change would not prevent clubs so desiring from holding meets on labor day.

Report to Be Submitted.

Winnipeg, Man., April 5.—The report of the royal commission on provincial finances will probably be laid before the legislature on Monday afternoon, and Mr. Davidson will deliver his budget speech on the same afternoon.

The residence of P. Daly, the newly-appointed inspector of the Rideau canal, will be either Kingston or Ottawa. Mr. Daley would prefer to live in Kingston.
