Medical Faculty Dine.

At the British-American hotel last night, the medical faculty of Queen's held a dinner at which about twenty-five were present. Besides the medical professors, there were also in attendance, Sir Sandford Fleming, principal Grant, mayor Mines, Dr. Forin, Nelson, B.C., R. R. F. Harvey, Charles Harvey and J. B. McKay. Principal Grant occupied the chair at the head of the table. After the gathering had eaten of the good things prepared, a pleasant time was spent, an informal programme of speeches, recitations and songs being given. R. R. F. Harvey presided at the piano. Charles Harvey gave a couple of solos, and J. B. McKay entertained the company with some clever word sketches.

VIOLATED WHITE FLAG

TELL OF METHUEN'S WORK

DEFENDING THE RICHEST OF THE TERRITORY.

A Vigorous Blow Must be Delivered or Else The Boers Will be Troublesome—Gen. Hutton Has Command of a Mounted Corps—A Dead General's Message to Old Comrades.

London, April 7.—Very little can be added to Gen. Roberts' despatches reporting respectively disaster and success on April 5th.

A telegram from Norval's Pont states that the British troops captured at Reddersburg were hemmed in by some thousand Boers who are believed to belong to commandant Olivier's commando, but there is nothing further concerning the affair. Another despatch from Norval's Pont dated April 6th, says: The activity of the Boers in various directions in the neighborhood of Bloemfontein is evidently going to cause the British a great deal of trouble until, or unless, Gen. Roberts is able to deliver some telling blow.

There are two or three reports regarding Gen. Methuen's successful little action about nine miles south-east of Boshof, in which the volunteer mounted troops won military approbation.

A Central News correspondent telegraphs from Boshof, under date of Friday, that the Boer force numbering seventy men, and commanded by Col. De Villebois Mareuil were moving along the Jacobsdal road, threatening the British flank. They were discovered Thursday, but before they could be attacked they had taken a strong position on a kopje.

Gen. Methuen sent a flying column, under Col. Peakman, to attempt to capture the position. The Kimberley light horse outflanked the Boers, who were soon surrounded. Then the Kimberley troops, covered by shell fire of the British artillery, advanced upon the kopje under a heavy fire from the Boers, which compelled a slow advance. The yeomanry supported the attack. After three hours and a half of heavy fighting, the Boers raised a white flag. The British moved forward to receive their surrender, when a number of Boers fired a volley at the Kimberley troops. A few others fired independently. They all eventually yielded. They used soft-nosed and slit-nosed bullets. A majority of prisoners are Boers, but there are Frenchmen, Germans and Hollanders among them.

The Daily Telegraph's correspondent gives a different version of the violation of the white flag. He says that during the action a Boer hoisted a white flag and immediately after killed a British officer, and adds that "the murderer was immediately shot."

A despatch to the Daily News from Boshof says that the Boer position was carried at the point of the bayonet.

The Casualty List.

London, April 7.—Lord Roberts reports to the war office as follows:

"Bloemfontein, April 6.—The casualties at Reddersberg were:

"Officers killed—Capt. F. G. Casson and Lieut. C. B. Barclay, both of the Northumberlands.

"Wounded—Two; captured, eight; non-commissioned officers and men killed, eight; wounded, thirty three; the rest were captured. Our strength was 167 mounted infantry, and 424 infantry. The enemy was said to be 3,200 strong with five guns."

Must Hit Them Hard.

Bloemfontein, April 5., (11.35 a.m.)—Gen. Clements and his command has arrived here after a successful march. His horses and men are in fit condition despite the rains and the fact that the men had no tents. He received the submission of four thousand residents in the Fauresmith, Phillippolis and Petrusberg districts. The Boers are inactive to the southwest, but they are present in great strength to the south-east. It is apparent that they are staking all upon the retention of Ladybrand and Thaba N'Chu. These are the richest grain districts in the republic and their retention is essential to the Boers, without them they would be in a bad way to obtain forage for their horses. It is stated that the main Boer force has moved south to concentrate there. There was a slight attack by the Boers at Bushman's kop Monday. The British hold a strong position there. The railway is working smoothly to the south.

A considerable force of Boers were reported Thursday moving southward through Thaba N'Chu. Probably they were the victors at Reddersburg. Others are reported on various sides of the city, which, it is supposed, they are aiming to recapture. Meanwhile, Gen. Roberts is re-organizing parts of his army and accumulating supplies, but, says the correspondent of the Morning Post, remounts for the cavalry are anxiously awaited, and herein apparently is the main cause of the British immobility. The general activity of preparations may however, be gauged by the statement that the troops are having a somewhat uneasy time, owing to repeated movements and the noise of transports going through almost every night.

Mareuil's Message.

Kroonstadt, Orange Free State, April 2, via Lorenzo Marques, April 4, (3 p.m.)—Gen. De Villebois Mareuil, the former chief of staff to Gen. Joubert's army in Natal, has addressed the following manifesto to his old comrades of the foreign legion:

To the Legionares who knew me as a comrade.

Officers, non-commissioned officers and soldiers, I know that you have not forgotten me, and that we understand each other. That is why I come to you. There is here in front of the Vaal river a people whom it is wished to deprive of their rights, of their property, and of their liberties to satisfy capitalists who are in trouble. Half of the blood in these peoples' veins is French, and France owes them a marked manifestation of aid. Well, it is you whom your soldiers' temperament, going beyond any obligation of nationality, has united under her flag, who must best give it. You are, indeed, to me a complete type of attacking troops with no after thought."

Hutton in Command.

Bloemfontein, April 4.—There has been a re-organization of the mounted infantry corps of the army under lord Roberts at this point, the new division as thus constituted being placed under the command of Gen. Hamilton. The division is composed of two brigades, one being formed of the Canadians, Australians, New Zealanders, and the other colonial units here. This brigade has been placed under the command of Lieut.-Col. Hutton, the late commanding general of the militia forces in Canada, who has just arrived at the front.

MEDICAL BILL.

Dr. McKay Moves The Second Reading on Friday.

Toronto, April 7.—Before a very slim house yesterday Dr. McKay moved the second reading of his bill involving such important consequences as have been explained to the medical faculty of Toronto university. He supported the bill in a concise and, from his standpoint, well reasoned speech. The bill was opposed by the minister of education, who gave a number of strong reasons against any such serious changes as were contemplated in the absence of any general demand. The debate was adjourned. Mr. Russell's bill enabling municipalities to adopt a system of proportionate representation was withdrawn, it being deemed too late in the session to discuss a measure of such importance.

Mr. Joynt (Grenville) asked was it the intention of the government to place a sum in the supplementary estimates for the purpose of erecting a monument in front of the legislative buildings in memory of the Canadian volunteers who have fallen, or may fall, on the field of battle in South Africa in the defence of the empire?

Premier Ross replied: "This is an important question. It may be premature for us to put something in our estimates this year. It would perhaps be a proper thing to do when the war is over and our volunteers have returned. I think that, having regard to what we have already done, such a proposition would be favorably considered later."

Mr. Russell (East Hastings) moved the second reading of his bill allowing municipalities to adopt proportionate representation. He declared that the principle was growing in favor and had been adopted with success in certain parts of Australia and New Zealand. A great many of the statesmen in England were also in favor of it. He thought such a principle would render futile the efforts of men to corrupt a constituency.

Hon. Mr. Ross said there had been no practical demonstration of the principle of proportionate representation on this side of the water, although the system had been tried in Australia. At this late stage of the session to undertake to discuss the effect of the application of the bill to the municipal institutions of Ontario would be a rather serious task. Mr. Russell had spoken with his usual persuasiveness and clearness, and had conferred a benefit upon the house by bringing forward the bill. Minorities were not so well represented perhaps as they might be, but he knew of no minority of any description that was suffering any particular hardship under the present system of representation. Next session or a later period if the bill were introduced early the house might consider to what extent minorities might be benefited by proportionate representation, and the effect it might have upon our representative bodies.

Mr. Whitney, without intending any disrespect to the mover of the bill, referred to the measure as one of the fantastic pieces of legislation which were designed with the best possible intentions for the purpose of amelioration the condition of the people.

Mr. Russell expressed regret that Mr. Whitney could not discuss questions of interest to the people as a whole without displaying evidences of partisanship.

The bill was withdrawn.

THEY HAVE TROUBLES.

The Liberals Not Joyous Over Martin.

Vancouver, B.C., April 7.—The provincial liberal convention continued in session yesterday, but when it adjourned there was no sign of any practical conclusion to its labors. The disorderly scenes which marked the previous day's session were continued yesterday and at one time something very like a riot occurred, which was quicted only by the calling in of the police. Hon. Fred. Peters was elected the chairman of the convention on Thursday, after a stiff fight, over Ald. McQueen president of the Vancouver association. Premier Martin opposed the appointment of a chairman until the committee had passed on credentials, but was over ruled. The premier is said to have made the declaration that if the assembled delegates of his own party reject him as leader he will abandon the task of forming and carrying on a liberal government for the province.

At yesterday's sessions of the provincial liberal convention, Fred. Peters, who, on Thursday, was appointed temporary chairman, was, on motion of Smith Curtis, Mr. Martin's provincial secretary, elected permanent chairman, but owing to the unseemly character of the debate he left the chair during the evening meeting in disgust.

ENTERED A PROTEST.

President Schreiner Defends His Proclamation.

MILITARY COURT TO DECIDE

IF ALLEGED DUTCH REBELS SHOULD BE LIBERATED.

Deputation to Schreiner Claimed That Mafeking Had Not Been Annexed by Boers—A Boer Going to Europe to Establish Facts.

Cape Town, April 7.—A correspondent of the Ons Land, an Afrikander organ, and a deputation of Afrikander bond, visited prime minister Schreiner Thursday and protested against the proclamation making the day on which Mafeking shall be relieved a holiday. Mr. Schreiner defended the proclamation on the ground that Mafeking was a colonial town which had been annexed by the Boers, and declared that the annexation was of no effect. The deputation denied that the Boers had annexed the place, but Mr. Schreiner re-affirmed that they had, whereupon the deputation further protested and withdrew.

With a view to preventing the detention of innocent persons, it has been arranged that wherever martial law has been proclaimed throughout the colony the magistrate shall hold an examination in regard to alleged Dutch rebels and shall make reports to the military authorities. These will decide whether to liberate or detain the prisoners, pending a decision regarding the final tribunal before which the rebels shall be tried.

Coming to Establish Facts.

London, April 7.—A despatch to the Morning Leader from Cairo says that an interview at Port Said with Mr. Fischer, a member of the Boer peace delegation now en route for Europe, elicited little of consequence. Mr. Fischer declared that the Dutch had never conspired to acquire dominion in South Africa. He was much pained by the lies that appeared in the English press. If the English people only knew exactly how Mr. Chamberlain had acted they would be heartily ashamed. He thanked all Englishmen who were not blinded by prejudice. He hoped to be helped to establish facts.

Boer Prisoners Escaped.

Cape Town, April 6.—A determined attempt to escape was made to-day by the Boer prisoners at Simonstown and fourteen of them succeeded in getting away. In the confusion one of the prisoners was killed and another was wounded. One man was re-captured, but about fourteen are missing. Sentries have been placed at different parts of the town and the station is under military supervision.

DELEGATES DISAPPOINTED.

Brandon, Man., Citizens Wait Upon Manager of N.P. RR.

Winnipeg, April 7.—A large number of influential delegates from the country around Brandon and some distance west waited upon president Mellen, of the N. P. railway, in that city yesterday, and petitioned him to run the road through their respective districts, promising him all the patronage they could possibly procure. Mr. Mellen, in reply, said the Northern Pacific had been induced to come into Manitoba. The Souris branches and Portage extensions were solicited, as other parts had been by Mr. Greenway. They had agreed to build 150 miles of the Portage extension, but when the government had asked for concessions in rates they declined to go on. Mr. Mellen said he had learned since leaving St. Paul, that the Ottawa government had just granted charters to the C. P. R., paralleling every mile of its line in Manitoba, and every mile projected. This, he said, had been done with a view of driving the Northern Pacific out of the country. They could not get capital to put into lines where such competition was threatened. He advised the people to build roads themselves under the charter of the N. P. They would have running power over it and would, he assured them, have the company's good will and co-operation. He would build a line to the Brandon fair grounds at all events. The reply was a great disappointment to the delegates.

Sale of Opera Houses.

Detroit, Mich., April 7.—Rothwell & Co., real estate dealers, this city, have sold for B. H. Rothwell to L. A. Marshon, of 15 Wall street, New York city, the Grand opera house block, located on the main business street in Chatham, Ont., with all scenery, furniture, etc., for $50,000. The block contains five large stores and opera house above. The firm has also sold to the same gentleman the new Grand opera house block, with two stores and opera house in rear, on the main business street of St. Thomas, Ont., with all furniture, scenery, etc., for $25,000. This opera house was re-modelled a year ago at a cost of over $19,000.

To Get Succession Duties.

Toronto, April 7.—James Austin, late president of the Dominion bank, died three years ago, leaving an estate, according to the will, amounting to about $70,000. From such an amount no succession duties could be deducted, but the crown entered suit to set aside certain conveyances to relatives of property worth about $550,000 on the ground that these were part of a scheme to defeat the claim of the crown to succession duties. It is now announced that a settlement of the dispute has been arrived at, by which the value of the estate is fixed at $310,000, and the amount of succession duties to be paid will be over $15,000.

British Tars Ill-Treated in China.

Vancouver, B.C., April 7.—The China Mail publishes the news of another Chinese outrage upon British subjects, the victims in this case being three bluejackets. The three men belong to H.M.S. Woodcock, at present crusing on the Yangtse. They had gone for a stroll ashore among the villages of Shashi and lost their way. They were set upon by the villagers, taken prisoners, and chained to the ground. The Chinese then bamboozed them badly and they were only rescued with difficulty.

Asking For a Receiver.

Toronto, April 7.—A motion was made yesterday at Osgoode hall on behalf of the Bowslaugh estate for an order to appoint a receiver for Grimsby park. The liabilities of the company are about $60,000 and the assets are valued at $75,000 to $80,000. The estate is the heaviest creditor, the amount of its claim being $13,000. The motion was adjourned for two weeks and an arrangement was made that the former manager, H. B. Andrews, shall continue to act in the same capacity during the summer.

Mark Hanna Retires.

New York, April 7.—The story that senator Mark Hanna is to retire as chairman of the republican national committee, was received to-day from Washington. Two reasons are assigned, failing health, and the senator believes the change in the chairmanship will be good for politics. It is asserted that the choice of the republican politicians falls on Henry C. Payne, of Wisconsin, as the man to fill Hanna's shoes.

Hunting The Indians.
