FROM BRUCE CARRUTHERS.

AN INTERESTING LETTER TO KINGSTONIANS.

Sergt. Carruthers Did Noble Work in Aiding The Wounded — Exhausted After The Terrible Struggle.

Paarde Berg Drift, March 4.—My first chance to write to you a few lines. My health is good. I am in the best of spirits. We have had for the last three or four weeks hard work and hard fought battles. Our regiment has suffered heavy loss. Many of my dear comrades were killed and many wounded. Every man did his duty and did it well. We have all had hair-breadth escapes, and I can assure you that I, who have escaped uninjured from the hailstorm of bullets and quick-firing guns feel indeed (with the other lucky ones) thankful to be alive and still able to fight for queen and empire. Canada's sons have done their share, and I feel sure that the people of Canada will rest content that their representatives in South Africa have done their duty and are still prepared to help to uphold the honor of the empire in this part of the world.

Our forced march from Belmont via Jacobsdal to Paarde Berg Drift of seventy-six miles was most exhausting. The last two days we marched all night and arrived (twelve and a-half hours' march) at the Drift, had a cup of coffee, forded the river from our waists to our necks in water, under fire, and immediately advanced with Gordons, Cornwalls and Shropshires (our brigade) on the Boer position. The first wounded man was within a few feet of me. As we gradually advanced many were the poor fellows who fell killed or wounded. Still we moved on, seeking cover behind ant hills, etc., and any bits of broken ground. The Boers are crafty fighters. Their positions swept everything in front, and since the battle I discovered the right flank of their position completely enfiladed our left, bringing a converging and cross fire upon the whole regiment. Now and then a lull in the firing would cause our men to recklessly expose themselves, when the pinging of Mausers and the bursting of quick-firing shell was answered by a terrible cannonade from our artillery. This sort of thing lasted all day. Suddenly our men sprang up, supported by Cornwalls and others, and charged the Boer position. Such folly! Men dropped on all sides, Gordons, Canadians, Shropshires and Cornwalls. Just in time the folly of the charge was discovered and the men were ordered to lie down and continue firing. The colonel of the Cornwalls was shot dead. We were just in time and had done the right thing, or had we advanced beyond the Boer entrenchments on this side of the river thousands would have been massacred, for the Boers occupied entrenchments on the far banks of the river that commanded the near bank. Our charge would have been into a river with strong current. Who gave the order to charge I cannot say. I only know he was killed.

Our men held their ground and kept up a furious fire on the Boers from dawn of day till darkness, which was a great relief for we have many wounded, dying and missing. I volunteered to help to look for wounded and late into the night helped many a poor soul into the field hospital in rear. At last I lay down exhausted, and slept. Next day we found the Boers had left their position, which we occupied, and I went out on duty to identify our dead. What a sight! in pools of blood, black and disfigured. Let me forget it and the horrors of war! We rested a bit, if you could call it rest, and on the 20th (Tuesday) advanced again on the Boers' second position. We were under fire all day and I was slightly hit by a piece of broken shell. We were signalling messages under fire, but fortunately no one was killed, yet many had narrow escapes, and only four wounded all day. Lord Roberts had by this time surrounded Cronje and was trying to make him surrender by use of heavy artillery fire, and so on day after day we fought, existing on half rations since February 16th. Tuesday was a very trying day for us as the whole regiment was under a galling fire. The Boers got the exact range on us with the Vickers Maxim one-pound explosion shell gun. A perfect brute it was. It was one of the splinters that touched me. We were very fortunate, only four being wounded. Holland, of Toronto, was hit along side of me. He is all right again. On the 26th we marched into our entrenchments and you know what happened early on the morning of the 27th, the anniversary of Majuba Hill, Cronje surrendered to us, and to our regiment is due his capitulation. We lost ten or fifteen killed; the Gordons, Cornwalls or Shropshires did not lose a man. Thousands of Boers surrendered their arms, and when we marched through their lines found wonderful entrenchments and immense stores of ammunition. In the afternoon lord Roberts addressed the regiment and paid us a great compliment. We naturally felt proud, for he said that our gallantry had very much to do with Cronje's surrender. Kingston's contingent were fortunate—no killed and all well, yet all had close shaves.

PTE. D. M. EBY WRITES.

Was in Three Battles — Rumored Return of The Canadians.

Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Eby, Union street west, received two letters from their son, Pte. D. M. Eby, member of the first Canadian contingent on service in South Africa. The first is dated "Hoof Laager, Orange Free State, Feb. 20th," the day following that on which Cronje and his army surrendered. The writer does not give much information, chiefly, he intimates, because of lack of writing paper.

"After participating in three battles I am still in the ring. We had another scrap with the enemy yesterday morning at two o'clock when in their position in the bed of Modder river. The fight did not last long, but it was by far the hottest we have yet taken part in and resulted in Cronje and his army surrendering. I was on the firing line in each of the three battles, but was fortunate enough to escape, though, as you have doubtless heard, our regiment lost heavily. Three of our boys died in hospital to-day of wounds received. We have not seen a tent for three weeks and reduced to half rations of hard tack and coffee, with an occasional mess of soup and meat. I hear that "C" field battery has landed at Cape Town, but know nothing about where the corps is going. We have not received any mail for three weeks. We expect to go back to Kimberley for a rest, but are not sure. I forgot to mention that in our charge yesterday we had thirteen killed and thirty-three wounded."

The second letter is dated from Paardeberg, March 3rd, and Pte. Eby remarks that after the recent big battle the boys are resting themselves and thinking over events. He is of opinion that the Canadians will not do much more fighting for a time, as the regiment is pretty well cut up. "There is not much use in my attempting to tell you about our last big fight, as you doubtless have heard more about it than I actually know. I have passed through the very thickest of the three severest fights the British have had here, and am satisfied: they can take me home just as soon as it pleases them; not that I am sick or tired of fighting, but let me tell you that war is not pleasure by any means. I am in the very best of health. We have not seen a tent, except those used for hospital purposes, since Feb. 11th, and on account of so much cannonading considerable rain has fallen, so you can imagine our condition. But, fortunately, I have not suffered much from the hardship, though a great many of the boys are suffering from the effects of rheumatism. I have not yet had an opportunity of seeing Frank this brother, member of "C" field battery). I am not sure where he is but believe the battery is in Kimberley.

"The Canadians are in the main British camp, with 40,000 men, and there is not a tent in sight, except, as I have already stated, those used as hospitals. The last mail we received was distributed some time before we left Belmont, so we are anxious for news from home. Vandewater, who used to live in Kingston, is wounded, but not severely, and Bradshaw, who used to be a clerk in the Standard bank, has a bullet wound in his neck; his injury is serious."

The writer closes by stating that there is a camp rumor that the first Canadian contingent is to sail for home within six weeks.

TWO YEARS ABED.

Eight Years of Rheumatic Torment — South American Rheumatic Cure Drives Out the Torment in a Day.

Mrs. John Cook, of 287 Clinton street, Toronto, says: "For eight years I suffered as no one ever did with rheumatism. For two years I lay on my bed and could not so much as feed myself—I was so helpless. The torture was indescribable. I doctored and tried every remedy I could hear of but received no lasting benefit. I am grateful for the day when a lady friend recommended South American Rheumatic Cure. After three doses I was able to sit up in bed. I continued its use and to-day look at me—I am as strong and active as ever in my life." Sold by E. C. Mitchell.

Getting Into Working Order.

At a meeting of patrons of E. J. Agnew's Maple leaf cheese factory, Pittsburg, W. A. Macfarland, was appointed chairman and W. H. Bartels secretary. The attendance of patrons was large and much enthusiasm was manifested. Mr. Agnew agreed to make cheese of first-class quality for one cent a pound, paying all expenses incurred in connection with factory, excepting payment of inspector's fee and book making. His terms were accepted. Thomas Bell was appointed a salesman, receiving seventy-five cents per $100 received by each patron. A managing committee composed of M. S. Macfarland, W. Gray and P. Keyes to conduct affairs between cheese-maker, buyer and patrons. The factory will open on April 16th, and will continue in operation until November 15th. Mr. Agnew has obtained the services of Mr. Orr, who has a splendid reputation as a cheese maker. Everything points to this factory surpassing all previous records.

OVER THE TEA CUPS.

A practical correspondent tells us that furs will be much improved if before being put away for the season, they are cleaned with bran. The bran should be placed in an earthen receptacle and heated in the oven. When hot it should be rubbed well into the fur. After it has remained in the garment for about an hour shake it thoroughly to remove all particles, and brush until the article is perfectly clean.

Mr. Garton, the Manitoban missionary, who was in town last week, told us of a little boy who applied to a merchant for a situation in his store. "What is your motto?" asked the merchant. "Same as yours sir." "Same as mine?" "Yes sir; the one you have on the door, 'Push.'"

Mrs. K. N. Fenwick is giving a tea for married people this afternoon, when Miss Effie Fenwick will be introduced to society.

Mrs. Iva E. Martin has offered to place her pretty home at the disposal of the Red Cross society for a tea on Wednesday, April 25th. Preparations for the affair are now being made by the executive, and it is hoped that the general public will attend in large numbers that afternoon. Badges of the society—Red Cross pins or buttons will be on sale and every one who buys a badge will be enrolled as a member of the Red Cross society.

The local union of The King's Daughters will also hold a tea in Easter week, at Hotel Frontenac. The members of all the circles will take an active part, and, although the primary reason for giving the tea is that funds may be raised for the convention expenses, it is also expected that the circles will be more closely drawn together, as is suggested by the name local union.

ASTHMA FOR 35 YEARS

Doctors Said They Could Only Give Him Temporary Relief—Clarke's Kola Compound Cured Permanently.

R. D. Pitt, Esq., Kamloops, B.C., writes: "For thirty-five years I have almost constantly suffered with asthma and difficult breathing. I spent a fortune on remedies and doctors. At last my doctor said I might get temporary relief, but would always be troubled. When first hearing of Clarke's Kola Compound I tried it. The first bottle did not relieve me much, but after taking four bottles I was completely cured. I can now breathe as naturally as ever and asthma does not trouble me in the least." Clarke's Kola Compound not only relieves, but permanently cures asthma. Sold by J. B. McLeod, druggist, Kingston, or the Griffiths & Macpherson Co., limited, Toronto.

In Loving Remembrance.

Globe, Boissevain, Man.

On Friday, March 9th, Miss Lillian Holden, formerly of Frontenac county, Ont., after a lingering illness, passed peacefully away in her twenty-eighth year to the bosom of her Father, in whose promises she had implicit faith. She was well and favorably known for her bright countenance, her pleasant manner and ever ready sympathy, as well as for her earnestness in the performance of duties of a public character, especially in connection with the Methodist church, of which she was a member. The funeral took place from the home of her father to the Methodist church. Rev. J. M. Harrison, assisted by Rev. G. C. Hill, conducted the service and impressed upon those present the satisfaction one may have when hovering twixt life and death, after a life well spent in the Lord's service. The pailing in front of the choir, also the organ, were draped in white, caught up with black silk ribbon, the deceased having been organist for the congregation for about two years. A number of beautiful wreaths were lying upon the bier. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Sutherland, Carter, George Rogers, Cooke, J. Oke and S. Oke. At the cemetery the last sad rites were performed.

Free to the Ruptured

Dr. W. S. Rice, the Well Known Authority, Sends a Trial of His Famous Method Free to All.

Out of the chaos of old-time failure comes a new and startling cure for rupture. Dr. W. S. Rice, Box E, 9½ Adelaide St., East, Toronto, has invented a method that cures without pain, danger, operation, or an hour's loss of time from the day's work. To avoid all questions of doubt he sends free to every sufferer a free trial of his method and there can be no earthly reason why anyone, rich or poor, should not avail themselves of this generous offer. As an instance of this remarkable method the cure of William Bigford, a well-known and highly esteemed citizen of Bishop's Mills, Ont., will be a welcome piece of intelligence.

WM. BIGFORD.

Mr. Bigford says: I am pleased to say that I have been permanently cured of rupture by Dr. Rice's remarkable method. I suffered eight years, tried all kinds of trusses without help, and now I cannot be too thankful in expressing my appreciation of Dr. Rice's wonderful system of curing rupture and will gladly recommend it to all sufferers, as I know it will cure them.

Send for this free trial. Don't be backward. It will surprise you with its wonderful power to heal. And if you know of other ruptured people ask them to write or write for them. Do not fail to write at once; do so to-day.

Elizabeth Hurley, wife of the late Rev. John Hill, formerly of Wilton, died in Elsie, Michigan, on March 3rd, 1900, in the eighty-fifth year of her age. Twelve children were born to them, seven of them still living: Mrs. P. I. Rose and John Hill, of Picton; Mrs. William B. Allison, of Demorestville, and four in Michigan.

That tired, languid feeling and dull headache is very disagreeable. Take two of Carter's Little Liver Pills before retiring, and you will find relief. They never fail to do good.

TIDINGS FROM NAPANEE.

ARRIVED HOME FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

A Successful Sugar Social — An Employee of The G.T.R. For Twenty-Three Years — Visitors in The Town.

Napanee, April 7.—John F. Walsh and wife arrived home on Thursday afternoon. They left South Africa on the outbreak of the war and have been visiting England, Ireland and the United States since that time. Mr. and Mrs. D. C. MacNaughton arrived home on Friday morning from Montreal. Mr. MacNaughton is quite recovered from his recent illness. Miss Maggie Milling expected to leave next week for California, where, with her brother Robert, she will visit relatives for the next six months. The bread and butter "At Home" at Mrs. Wilkison's on Thursday afternoon, was a bright affair, and well attended by the ladies of the congregation.

The sugar social in the Eastern Methodist church on Thursday evening was well patronized. The sugar being the first for the season, was relished by the company. A very nice programme was also furnished to while away a couple of hours. Mrs. Campbell, mother of Mrs. A. MacDonald has been ill for two weeks. The lecture advertised to take place in the collegiate institute for Friday evening had to be cancelled on account of Dr. Montague's inability to be present.

W. R. Pruyn has purchased John A. Fraser's brick house on Dundas street. Roger Richardson has been in the employment of the G.T.R. for twenty-three years. Two years of that time was spent in Kingston, the other twenty-one years at Napanee station. Mrs. Witham will leave about the 1st of May to join her husband, who has a good position with a paper firm at Ypsilanti, Mich. The roads are fast drying up.

Margaret E. Jaynes, an aged resident of Adolphustown, passed away on Wednesday in her eighty-second year. Blake Scott, Slash road, left this week for Dakota, where he expects to remain for some time. Zina Ham is paying a visit to his brother John, at Albany, N.Y. N. B. McKim is removing into the residence on Bridge street, lately occupied by A. T. Rose. The river is free of ice as far as the big bend. It will not be long before the boats will make a start now.

The First in The World.

Merrill's System Tonic is the first medicine to combine the tonic with the reconstructive treatment in the care of disease. The blood is purified, new blood is made, the nerves, muscles and tissues of the heart, stomach, liver and kidney is toned and strengthened, and then nature is enabled to throw off the disease, which has been ravishing the body. For constipation, catarrh and chronic rheumatism, System Tonic is a positive cure. Sold at 50c. per bottle, at J. B. McLeod's drug store.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, Deseronto, was before the magistrate charged with selling liquor during prohibited hours. A plea of guilty was entered, and she was fined $20 and costs.

Laxa-Cara Tablets cure constipation—cure bad blood—cure indigestion. We don't know of any malady caused by impurities in the system that they cannot cure. Their gentle action makes them invaluable for children. Druggists, 25c. per box.

W. McDonald, B.A., will have charge of the Presbyterian mission at Calabogie during the coming summer.

Kingston Trades Council.

At a regular meeting of the Kingston trades' council, held Thursday evening, the thanks of the council were voted to Hon. Mr. Mulock, postmaster-general, for the resolution he brought before the commons in regard to the "sweating" system in connection with certain dominion departmental contracts, and also in the direction of securing the payment of "fair wages" on all future contracts. The council is also thankful to Mr. Preston, in the Ontario legislature, for the interest he has shown in the cause of the labor party.

Every one is surprised at the rapidity and efficacy with which Nerviline—nerve pain cure—relieves neuralgia and rheumatism. Nerviline is a specific for all nerve pains and should be kept on hand by every family.

In his farewell sermon at Dundee the Rev. Dr. Patrick, the new principal of Manitoba college, concluded thus: "Oh! tender, true, just, and devoted hearts of Free St. Paul's, farewell, and the love of God be with you."

THE WORD

Rheumatism

Is Used to Cover A Multitude of Diseases.

[NEW YORK JOURNAL, MARCH 11, 1900.]

"Nowadays the word 'Rheumatism' is used to cover a multitude of diseases. They are all allied by the common bond of what the physicians call 'uric acid poisoning' — an excess of uric acid in the blood, and are, generally speaking, 'kidney troubles'—with the real cause of danger not so much in the aches and pains—the signals of distress given out by the muscles and joints—as in the gradual vitiation of the blood by the failure of the kidneys to eliminate the deadly poison, called 'uric acid,' from the 'physical economy.' This vitiation of the blood results in 'rheumatism' (although it is a vague word), and a variety of symptoms which not infrequently end in what is called Bright's disease—the disease of which James G. Blaine, Mr. Cleveland's great political rival, died. It is the disease which medical authorities say is becoming more and more alarmingly prevalent in the United States of America, especially among the thinking, planning and writing classes—the classes made up of the kind of men that it is the fashion to call distinctively 'brainy men.'"

From the reading of intelligently edited papers, and from examinations for life insurance, the great public is rapidly learning the fact that the human system becomes thoroughly poisoned when the kidneys fail to do the work nature intended them to do, and that if not speedily cured, rheumatism, heart-disease, Bright's disease, and death, surely follow. The kidneys, and they alone, purify the blood. Tonics and so-called spring medicines prove costly and miserable failures. There is one scientific, vegetable specific for all kidney troubles—Warner's Safe Cure—a preparation with 21 years of success behind it. A positive cure for sick and tired-out kidneys. Not an experiment nor a goad, but a soothing, harmless, yet conquering friend. Give it a chance to-day to do you lasting good.
