What is Going on in the Business World—The Market News.

Dealers in Toronto quote choice Canada hops, '99's, at 14c. to 15c.

Sugars are 5c. per 100 lbs. higher for all Canadian refined. The price of granulated is now $4.73, Toronto and yellow, $3.91 to $4.58.

The Cincinnati Price-Current says: Crop conditions generally continue favorable. Wheat outlook maintained. Spring wheat heavy, good start; possibly reduced acreage.

The first broom corn ever imported to this country has arrived in Chicago. The shipment comprises 500 tons and comes from Hungary. It is reported on apparently good authority that the trust has 12,000 tons on hand, but will not sell for less than $200 per ton, while the imported costs $120 per ton laid down in this country.

Contrary to their usual custom, the cheese factorymen of St. Lawrence county, N.Y., begun operations just three weeks to a month earlier than usual and the result is relatively large make of April cheese. Approximatley 6,000 boxes have been manufactured and sold, averaging 10½c. a pound. Last year, at this time, practically no new cheese had been marketed, because the factorymen had made it a rule not to begin work until the 1st of May.

Referring to the situation in currants the Hills Bros. company say: "The inquiry from the west has subsided and very little business has been done during the week, and that only for small parcels to nearby buyers. Market in Greece, after having advanced to 11s., 6d. is quoted by cable a shade easier, with sellers at 11s., 3d. to 11s., 1½d. The new crop, according to last advices, is going on favorably. Prices on spot are firmly maintained, but to arrive per brand holders are more inclined to sell in view of the easy tendency in Greece."

The Cheese Markets.

Brockville, May 3.—The offerings were 1,380 colored and 464 white. Everything was sold, colored bringing 10¾c. and white 11 1-16c.

BRYAN HAS FAIR CHANCE.

Goldwin Smith So Says in Reviewing Presidential Situation.

Toronto, May 4.—Goldwin Smith, in discussing the coming presidential election, says there are good judges who hold, if the election were to take place at once Bryan would win, and that he will have a fair chance in November. Bryan's chance of success in effect depends on his being able to draw the votes of the old school democrats and anti-imperalist republicans to himself, as the opponent of imperialism. This depends on his making opposition to imperialism his prominent plank. The silver question has become a mere milestone around his neck, and that of his party, but he has a decent excuse for discarding it; in fact, that for six years it will be obviously impossible to get it through the senate.

Victims Number More Than 225.

Scofield, Utah, May 4.—Two hundred and twenty-five bodies have been removed from the mines. Of the new bodies thirteen came from tunnel No. 1 yesterday. Nearly all are in a frightful condition. Six more bodies were taken from No. 4 mine, two of them mangled beyond recognition. State coal mine inspector Thomas, acquainted with all the workings in the mine, says to the best of his belief there are twelve more bodies in the mine buried under caves and broken timber.

Sarnia Dock Again Wrecked.

Port Huron, Mich., May 4.—Some unknown steamer bound down ran into Clark's dock, Sarnia, completely wrecking the dock and warehouse and inflicting damage to the amount of $10,000. This is the fourth time this dock has met with the same kind of mishap. The steamer Roumania struck the dock last fall, but was seized on the spot, and made to give bonds for repairs. The colliding steamer last night was fortunate in getting away without revealing her identity.

Funeral Services.

Montreal, Que., May 4.—Bishop Healy, of Portland, Me., a former pupil, officiated at the funeral services this morning of the late Rev. Jules Delavigne, superior of the faculty of philosophy of the St. Sulpice seminary. Besides some four hundred priests from this city and vicinity, archbishop Bruchesi, assisted at the service and bishop Beaven, of Springfield, Mass., was in attendance.

THREE CANADIANS DEAD.

TWO FROM ENTERIC FEVER; THIRD UNKNOWN.

Three of the Men Are Missing For About Eleven Days—Supplies to the Sufferers Given Out Hereafter at Rideau Rink.

Ottawa, May 4.—The following deaths are reported from South Africa to-day: Pte. H. Barr, Royal Canadian regiment, enteric fever; Gr. Epicot, "D" battery, Canadian artillery, enteric fever; and Pte. B. Liston, 90th rifles, Winnipeg, no cause of death given.

The following militia order was issued to-day: Wounded, (slightly) in action on the 25th April, No. 7,833, Pte. J. W. Culver, or (Raymond) 62nd St. John Fusiliers, Canadian mounted rifles 1st battalion. The following non-commissioned officers and men have been reported as missing since the 23rd April: No. 410, Sergt. R. H. Ryan, reserve of officers; No. 263, Corpl. T. E. Linden, Royal Canadian Dragoons; No. 2?0, Pte. P. Hyry, Royal Canadian Dragoons.

This is the last day for giving out supplies at the drill hall. Hereafter everything will be given at the Rideau rink. Those applying for aid will require to get a letter from a clergyman in the burned district, and not from any clergyman, as one who had been living within the fire area is supposed to know better those who are requiring support.

There was no contest for offices at the annual meeting of the liberal association last evening. Robert Stewart was re-elected president. C. A. Butterworth, J. O. Leblanc, D'Arcy Scott, and N. A. Charlebois were re-elected vice-presidents.

Came As A Shock.

Windsor, Ont., May 4.—Unofficial despatches state that private H. B. Barr, Windsor, with the first Canadian contingent in South Africa, died of enteric fever at Naauwport, Cape Colony. Young Barr was not known to have been ill, and his reported death comes as a shock to his friends. His mother, Mrs. Eliza Barr, who lives here, believes the report of her son's death is probably an error. Barr was a third-year student at the Detroit college of medicine but gave up his studies last fall to go to Africa. He was twenty-three years of age.

A BEE IN HIS EAR.

Quit Buzzing Soon—Carried it For Nearly Three Decades.

Chicago, May 4.—John Geisler, of this city, is probably the only man in the world who ever let a real live bee get into actual touch with the inside of his head. Until a few days ago a bee had been imbedded in his left ear for more than twenty-eight years, and when it was removed by Dr. C. Hubbard Lovewell the insect was found to be perfectly preserved.

While Mr. Geisler was working on a farm near Baldwin City, Kan., he accidentally disturbed a nest of bees. They swarmed around him and one bee got into his ear. Hurrying to a doctor, he explained what had happened.

The physician worked at the ear for some time, and after several days the pain left Geisler and he concluded the bee had dropped out.

Mr. Geisler began to have trouble with his left ear several weeks ago. He called on Dr. Lovewell, who washed the ear and probed it for an hour or more, when, suddenly, he pulled out the bee that had been there twenty-eight years.

DIED OF SMALLPOX.

He Contracted the Disease on a Recent Trip.

Arnprior, Ont., May 4.—James W. Tierney, the small-pox victim, died this morning. There are no other cases in owing to the precautions taken by the board of health. Mr. Tierney was the C.P.R. agent here and also filled many other positions, including the district court clerkship, and acted as a license commissioner. He contracted the disease on a recent trip to the coast. Mr. Tierney was thirty-five years of age and leaves a widow and six children.

France Begins Anti-Liquor War.

Paris, May 4.—Recently a number of the military chiefs prohibited the sale of brandy, absinthe and vermuth in the barracks and camps under their command, and Gen. De Gallifet now comes out with a decree making this prohibition general throughout the French army. No brandy or other spirits and no so-called "aperitif" may henceforth be sold, although wine, beer and cider are still allowed. Gen. De Gallifet says this decision is taken not only for the sake of uniformity in army regulations, but in order to extend to the entire army a beneficial measure which should not be confined to certain corps.

THE ACTION DISMISSED.

TOOK OUT INSURANCE WITHOUT GIVING NOTICE.

The Case of Great Importance to Mercantile Firms—French-Canadians Put to Work in Toronto—Asking That Qualification Tests be Applied.

Toronto, May 4.—Justice Rose has dismissed, with costs, the action brought by Alfred A. Thibaudeau, of Montreal, and W. J. Lindsay, of St. Thomas, against the British American assurance company, to recover $2,500 fire insurance on the premises of Lindsay, Robertson and company, St. Thomas. The store and stock were burned and all the companies paid their share of the $60,000 loss except the British American, which claimed that additional insurance had been obtained without the knowledge of its officers. From this aspect the case is one of greatest importance to mercantile firms.

The striking railway teamsters played their last card this morning, when they waited on the mayor and pointed out that French-Canadians are being brought in from Montreal, who were entirely ignorant of the streets, and layout of the city, and therefore a danger to travellers and other teams on the streets and asked that all teamsters be required to pass an examination as to their qualifications and take out a license. The board of control will consult the corporation counsel as to whether the city can legally do this.

The child had received a bunch of fire crackers and some matches this morning with which to celebrate his fifth birthday.

GET IDEAS WITHOUT MONEY.

How a Writer Secures Sequels and Does Not Pay For Them.

"There's a man who has twenty clever fellows working for him; they give him their best brain power, and yet none of them have ever secured a dollar for it!"

It was two o'clock in a down-town restaurant and the speaker nodded toward a small, dark man who sat at a table a few feet away. The little man is a writer of short stories of a thrilling and dramatic character. He is as prolific a writer as "Old Sleuth," and makes a big income yearly by his pen. He lives at an hotel down town, and while he has no regular connection with newspapers, his hours are those of a reporter on a morning journal. Twelve o'clock at night finds him in some of the newspaper offices or at the rooms of the Press club in friendly chat with a bunch of "all nighters."

He writes his melodramatic stories up to a crisis, lays down his pen and walks over to a city room, where a dozen reporters are throwing the last of a day's writing into the copy basket. Everybody soon begins to spin yarns.

"Curious thing came under my notice a few days ago," begins the writer of melodramatic tales. He sketches the plot of his unfinished story up to the difficult point, which has stopped him. "Now, what do you suppose happened next?" he philosophizes, flicking the ashes from the end of his cigar.

"I'll bet so and so," shouts one of the boys.

"Pshaw, that's not likely," interposes a second. "People under such circumstances would have——" and he finishes the story.

In fifteen minutes the romancer has half a dozen plausable sequels suggested to him. He makes mental note of them, strolls out and over to his hotel with the rest of his materials ready-made without effort on his part.

"Is that man a vampire or a genius?"

"Neither one; a clever, lazy man."

A Story Of Dean Egan.

Toronto Star.

Here is a story that the late archbishop Walsh, of Toronto, used to tell on himself. On one occasion his grace was being driven to the railway station at Barrie by Rev. Dean Egan, who is famous for his wit. They were driving at a handsome clip and the dean observed with just pride: "There is a fine bit of horseflesh, your grace!" The archbishop ventured the opinion that a priest should guard against a tendency to take too much pride and interest in horses. After driving a couple of blocks they met two young ladies to whom the dean raised his hat, and as they drove on, the archbishop remarked: "Two very comely young women," he said, "and lady-like too." "Everyone to his taste," replied the dean solemnly, "mine's horses." It is said that no visitor ever got away from Barrie with the joke on dean Egan.

New Mystery In New York.

One of the warrants is said to be for the arrest of a prominent Chicago politician. The others are for a midwife and a physician.
