DYNAMITE PLOT.

It is Now Laid at the Door of the Clan-na-Gael.

Buffalo, May 18.—The Express says: Inspector John W. Murray, the famous detective of the dominion, has run down the past of John Nolin and John Walsh, two of the three alleged Thorold dynamiters, and has woven a web of evidence so that it seems to bind Karl Dullman, the third prisoner, tightly to the other two. On the evidence as related by inspector Murray the blowing up of lock 24 on the Welland canal was a Fenian plot carried out through members of a lodge of the Clan-Na-Gael. Dullman is regarded as the chief of the three prisoners. The government declares he gave the dynamite, the fuses and the telescopes to the other two. The most interesting features of the long story told by the inspector while in Buffalo on his return trip to Toronto are as follows:

About April 10th Nolin received a communication from a lodge known as the Napper Tandy club, a Clan-Na-Gael organization to the executive or inner council of the Fenians. The inspector says it met at Tom Moore's hall, corner of Third avenue and Sixteenth street, New York. Walsh and Nolin, he says, both were members of the Napper Tandy.

Nolin's instructions, sent him in Richmond, were for him to go to Washington, get John Walsh and go to Philadelphia, where the two were to meet a third man, who would give them further instructions what to do.

Nolin and Walsh went to Philadelphia as directed, where they met a stranger, who handed Nolin $100 and gave him two railroad tickets to Buffalo. The stranger arranged with Nolin and Walsh that they should leave the same night and on arrival at Buffalo go to the Stafford house, where they were to register as John Smith of New York and Thomas Moore of Washington and be met by a man who would prove his indentity.

The men did as directed, reaching Buffalo on Sunday, April 15th, and shortly after reaching their room were joined by the third man, who introduced himself as Dullman and afterwards registered at the same hotel as Karl Dullman.

After breakfast the following morning Dullman gave to Nolin and Walsh two canvas grips or telescopes. In each of these was about eighty pounds of dynamite, mixed to about the consistency of dough. Fuses were with each, but not connected at the time. Nolin, Walsh and Dullman left Buffalo together, taking a trolley to Niagara falls. In the afternoon they took a Grand Trunk train across Suspension bridge, leaving it at Merritton, Canada, and thence to Thorold. Inspector Murray says Dullman showed Nolin and Walsh the spot to place the dynamite.

The interval up to the 20th of April is filled in with a detailed account of the changes of abode made by the trio and continues:

Walsh took the dynamite into Canada. At 3:15 o'clock on Friday afternoon, April 20th, he carried one of the bags of dynamite over and, at one o'clock on Saturday afternoon he carried the other bag over. On Saturday night, after the explosion, Nolin and Walsh were to take the train for Buffalo and were given money by Dullman.

Asked where Dullman comes from, inspector Murray said: "For the present all I care to say is we have been credibly informed, but have no positive proof, that he comes from Massachusetts."

WAITING FOR NEWS.

Crowds Anxious To Hear From Mafeking.

HOPE THE TOWN IS SAFE.

THE BOERS ARE NOT SHOUTING A VICTORY.

And This Fact Buoys Up the Hope of the British—Hunter is Back at Fourteen Streams, But For What Reason the Despatches Are Silent.

London, May 18.—Until nearly midnight a crowd waited outside the war office expecting news from Mafeking. Then it was officially announced that nothing had been received, whereupon the people returned, disappointed, to their homes. The incident is typical of the attitude of the nation. The hope that the town is still safe is chiefly built on the fact that the officials at Pretoria maintain silence regarding it and the statements from Boer sources that the attack made Saturday failed.

There is still nothing later than the regular despatches regarding the movements of the relief column. Practically all the news of importance is contained in the official despatches. A correspondent at Fourteen Streams, however, asserts that Gen. Hunter returned there yesterday from Christiana, marching at night. Why he withdrew, and why he made the night marches are not explained. The correspondent adds that the town was quiet and that the Boers were out of sight. He further says that a force under Gen. Barton was left within the Transvaal border, but he does not indicate where.

A despatch from Upington, Cape Colony, reports that district as being still unsettled. Small bodies of rebels are roaming about the country. One party looted a store at Gootdrink in the neighborhood of Upington, on Tuesday. There has been a skirmish at Koegas, in which it is stated that thirty of Orpens' horse brought 300 Boers to bay and killed fifteen and wounded fifteen of them.

It is not known whether Gen. Roberts has again started on his northward march from Kroonstadt. Correspondents at that place, in despatches dated Tuesday, report that Gen. French has located the Boers in strong force at Rhenosterspruit, about thirty miles north. Gen. Delarey's, Botha's and Olivier's commandoes, with several guns, are holding an entrenched position there. The impression is that they will fight at this place, and that this will be the last stand the Boers will make south of the Vaal.

Surrendering On All Sides.

London, May 18.—President Steyn, according to one despatch, has gone to Pretoria. Another says he is a fugitive at Lindley. The Free Staters are surrendering on all sides. A despatch from Cape Town says that proclamations are being printed there, to be published for the queen's birthday, May 24th, annexing the Free State.

One of president Steyn's brothers, who is a prisoner of Gen. Brabant, says that the Free Staters will accept annexation. Those who took up arms the second time, he explains, had to do so under threats of instant death if they refused.

Five hundred rifles have been surrendered at Kroonstadt in excess of the number of Boers who have taken the oath of allegiance. Lord Roberts has directed the British commanders to receive all comers in a good spirit, and to issue to them passes to go to their farms.

Gen. Buller is pushing straight ahead without opposition. He has lost only five wounded during the movement. Apparently he is aiming at Laing's Nek, which is the direct road to the Transvaal, although he may diverge to Botha's pass.

Lord Methuen is said to be advancing along the south bank of the Vaal. Col. Kekewich is with him. The loop railway line across the Vaal is fast nearing completion. The probability is that Gen. Hunter took back a brigade to Fourteen Streams owing to the scarcity of transport.

Gen. Rundle has captured 10,000 bags of corn. He is marching slowly through a district which is described as "literally teeming with cattle, sheep and horses."

Dr. Archer, who was at Dundee during the Boer occupation, asserts that there are several hundred Englismen serving in the Boer forces, who would desert if assured of pardon from the British. The Pretoria official list of foreigners shows 160 Englishmen who are not fighting, but hold their residence in the Transvaal by special permission. They are bank clerks, engineers and shop-keepers.

President Steyn saw the fight at the Zand river. The impression he got there was that his burghers could not face lord Roberts in a pitched battle, and this resulted, according to advices from Lorenzo Marques, in his decision to evacuate the Kroonstadt works without a battle.

Intentions Of The Boers.

London, May 18.—The Standard says: "From pro-Boer sources we learn that the first great stand by the federals will be on the ridges near Johannesburg. This position has been strongly entrenched, and the burghers believe they can hold it for some time. If driven from that position part of the force will be thrown into Pretoria, to withstand a siege, while the main body will retreat to the Lydenburg district, with the intention of keeping up a guerilla warfare from that mountainous region. They believe they can indefinitely postpone a pacification of the country."

May Be With Relief Column.

London, May 18.—The Canadian artillery contingent of the Rhodesia force is now reported to have reached Bulawayo May 2nd. The distance from Bylawayo to Mafeking is 490 miles. As the railway is open all the way to Pitsani, twenty-eight miles from Mafeking, where Col. Plumer is, the Canadians may have taken part in the relief.

Powell's Strategem.

London, May 18.—Skeleton messages from Lorenzo Marques, based upon information that leaked out at the Pretoria war office, show that the Boer stormers, Saturday, fell into a trap. Col. Baden-Powell permitted them to seize one fort, and he then surrounded and overbore them before the large forces near at hand perceived the strategem. It was thus that Sarel Eloff, president Kruger's grandson, and part of his commando, were taken and fifty Boers killed.

Spoil Chance Of Being Received.

Washington, May 18.—What chance the Boer commissioners had of being received officially by the president and secretary Hay is lessening in consequence of their conduct in New York.

Administration officials have been following with close interest the statements the delegates have made. It is unusual, according to the officials, for the diplomatic representatives of foreign governments to come to the United States and immediately upon arrival publicly announce the purport of their mission before they obtain recognition, and some of the authorities do not hesitate to call such conduct highly improper.

From the administration point of view the action of the delegates and their friends is calculated to stir up a sentiment designed to force the government to receive them and carry out any suggestions they make.

It is still the purpose of the state department to receive the delegates as "distinguished strangers" and after they have presented such papers as they may have, the question of recognition as representatives of the Transvaal will be determined.

It is becoming apparent to the officials, however, that the mission of the commissioners is more a political than a diplomatic character, and whatever propositions they make looking to the intervention of the United States in South Africa, it is altogether likely that the president will decline to act.

A GREAT CAPTURE.

Boer Generals Have Been Captured.

London, May 18.—It is announced that Gens. Dupry and Daniels have surrendered with forty-six men to Gen. Methuen, also that Gen. Hutton's mounted infantry with the Canadian contingent has captured commandant Botha and twenty-three others thirty miles north-west of Kroonstadt.

The Ottawa Fire Fund.

Ottawa, May 18.—The following announcement has been handed out by G. H. Perley, chairman of the fire relief committee: "The attention of the relief committee has been called to articles in certain newspapers claiming that the fire relief fund is now so large that notice should be given to the public that no more money is required. The committee is no longer making any appeal for further assistance as the liberality on all sides has been so great. At the same time the committee does not feel warranted in asking the public to cease sending further subscriptions, as there will be use for all that may be received."

Pope's Blessing For Two Pence.

London, May 18.—According to the Vienna correspondent of the Daily News, the latest development of modern enterprise is the pope's blessing for twopence. This is obtained by means of a little crank-turned biograph machine, which is in a shop in the centre of the city of Vienna. A picture of the pontiff blessing a kneeling multitude is visible, on the payment of two pence. Over the machine is a printed announcement, attributed to cardinal Martinelli, the apostolic delegate, of the following: "It is the express wish of his holiness that all who see his blessing in this picture and receive it with a believing heart shall participate in the happiness, beatitude and welfare which would be theirs if the blessing had been personally given."

The Duke On His High Horse.

London, May 18.—The duke of Orleans, who recently associated himself with the Anglophobe outbreak in Paris by congratulating a draughtsman upon some caricatures that were offensive to the British, was requested to resign his membership in the London bachelor's club. He has written from Venice refusing to resign because he was asked to do so, although he had intended to withdraw from the club of his own volition. In the course of his letter he says: "You have forgotten that you are addressing the heir of kings who made France, and are exacting from him as the price of England's hospitality the abdication of his French sentiments."

WORSE THAN GATACRE.

Was Offered a Military Governorship, But Declined.

London, May 18. — Writing from Bloemfontein Bennett Burleigh says: "There have been several surprises, particularly in the selection of certain divisional leaders. There is far more satisfaction expressed at the departure for England of Gen. Gatacre than regret for his leaving. But there are those who think that he has been hardly dealt with and that other generals could have been, with more advantage to the public service, earlier, and better, dispensed with than he. Most people seeing the war from close proximity have a list of worse than Gatacre. Sir William was offered a military governorship over part of the state, but refused to accept such an offer, preferring to be 'Stettenbosched' direct to Victoria station."

REFUSED TO WORK.

Runs Up Swedish Flag—Workmen Strike.

Poughkeepsie, May 18.—There was a patriotic incident at the De Laval separator works yesterday. When the manager, Oscar Bernstrom, had the Swedish flag raised over the factory in honor of a visit from his brother, Sir John Bernstrom, of Sweden, the 300 men employed in the factory took umbrage at the absence of the American flag and refused to work under the foreign colors.

Bernstrom explained the matter, but the men were obdurate. Finally he had the American flag run up with the Swedish emblem, whereupon the hands gave three cheers for the stars and stripes and went back to work.
