A correspondent of a London paper, speaking of Ireland, says: "The church of Rome just now seems in a marked way losing sympathy with the great mass of the people. Her clergy are clamoring for power and position on every hand,—largely on political lines—seeking place on boards and societies likely to furnish their ends. You cannot fail to observe how solidly the priesthood work together, considering very little the interests of the people. The people are feeling it keenly, realizing that their shepherds are working for the establishment of the iron rule of Rome, and have little to say in the way of help and encouragement for those over whom they are placed."

WOMAN'S PLUCK WINS.

A Lady Who Cured Her Husband of the Liquor Habit Writes a Pathetic Letter.

She writes: "I had for a long time been thinking of trying the Samaria Prescription treatment on my husband for his drinking habits, but I was afraid he would discover that I was giving him medicine, and the thought unnerved me. I hesitated for nearly a week, but one day when he came home very much intoxicated and his week's salary nearly all spent, I threw off all fear and determined to make an effort to save our home from the ruin I saw coming, at all hazards. I sent for your Samaria Prescription and put it in his coffee as directed next morning, and watched and prayed for the result. At noon I gave him more, and also at supper. He never suspected a thing, and I then boldly kept right on giving it regularly, as I had discovered something that set every nerve in my body tingling with hope and happiness, and I could see a bright future spread out before me—a peaceful, happy home, a share in the good things of life, an attentive, loving husband, comforts, and everything else dear to a woman's heart, for my husband had told me that whiskey was vile stuff, and he was taking a dislike to it. It was only too true, for before I had given him the full course he had stopped drinking altogether, but I kept giving the medicine till it was gone, and then sent for another lot to have on hand if he should relapse, as he had done from his promises before. He never has, and I am writing you this letter to tell you how thankful I am. I honestly believe it will cure the worst cases."

A pamphlet in plain, sealed envelope sent free, giving testimonials and full information, with directions how to take or administer Samaria Prescription. Correspondence considered sacredly confidential. Address The Samaria Remedy Co., 98 Jordan street, Toronto, Ont.

Also for sale at Wade's Drug Store, corner of King and Brock Streets, Kingston.

CUBAN ELECTIONS.

Three Parties Are Racing For the Ascendancy.

Havana, June 2.—The municipal elections are being held here to-day, the date fixed by governor-general Wood. There are three parties in the field and they have candidates in the majority of the cities, towns and country districts. The three parties are the republican, national and conservative democrats. The first is led by Juan Gualberto Gomez, the head of the negro element and Julio Sanguilly's agitators.

The national party is under the leadership of Gen. Maximo Gomez and Perfecto Lacoste, Havana's former mayor. The conservative democrats have no recognized leader. The party is composed of former Spanish autonomists, Cuban property holders and others who gave moral and material support to the late revolution, but never bore arms.

All three parties declare for independence. The republicans are willing to wait for it until McKinley shall be reelected; the nationalists insist on immediate withdrawal of the Americans from the island, and the conservative democrats would accept an American protectorate, with insular sovereignty, surrendering to Washington the virtual direction of Cuban foreign relations in exchange for the removal of duties from Cuban products, assuring them a full market in the United States.

The latter party expects no solution of the Cuban problem soon unless McKinley should be defeated, but claims that Cuba's eventual salvation lies in the encouragement of white immigration from the industrial provinces of Spain and the Canary islands, which people should be easily assimilated. The results of the balloting are not yet known. The contest is a close one.

Fraser vs. Fraser. Clute, Q.C., and G. F. Ruttan, Napanee, for plaintiff, appealed from order of a divisional court reversing order of Boyd, C., dismissing petition to set aside the judgment in the action. No defence was entered, and judgment was obtained for default of appearance. The petitioners are the son and son-in-law of deceased, and allege that at the time of service of the writ the defendant was a person of unsound mind and incapable of understanding the nature of the writ, which on receipt he handed to the plaintiff, his wife, and that a guardian ad litem not having been appointed, the judgment was void. Vennachar Views.

Vennachar, May 31.—Rev. J. E. Chapman will preach his farewell sermon next Sunday; his many friends will miss him. While Daniel Jackson was driving to the cheese factory one of the bolts came out, so that the waggon came apart. The horses became frightened and ran away.
