ForWedd ings.

June is the month for weddings. Poets rave over women—lovely woman! Musicians sing and write of her, and all agree that really beautiful women and really beautiful flowers are the loveliest things in the world. Our flowers and the loveliest women are always seen together. If you are leading a bride to the altar you will need some of our lovely flowers. We have still a few hundred Bedding Plants to dispose of which we will sell cheap to close out the balance of out Bedding Stock for this season. At the Floratum, Market Square.

ADVERTISING ONE'S LOYALTY.

The conservative press has been at some pains to point out that during Mr. Bourassa's speech, in the house of commons, and subsequently, the premier behaved like a gentleman,

Mr. Bourassa had just passed through a trying experience and had sat down when Dr. Montague proposed three cheers for the queen. The purpose of it was well understood. It was to humiliate Mr. Bourassa. Her majesty and the adoration of the party was a secondary consideration. The cheers were given. Sir Wilfrid Laurier thoughtfully held his seat, and presently, when Montague and his friends had shouted themselves tired, proceeded to answer Mr. Bourassa in language which was both courteous and convincing.

It would be simply idiotic to infer for a moment that he was disloyal or disrespectful because he did not imitate Dr. Montague, and, out of season and out of place, go into hysterical cheers, when calm, sensible talk was called for. Yet that is the apparent conclusion of the Ottawa Citizen, which, in view of the incident of last week, is astonished to learn that her majesty the queen has written a letter to Sir Wilfred Laurier in which she acknowledges the patriotic attitude of the Canadians, and adds her appreciation of the premier's sympathy and service.

"What must her majesty think," says our contemporary, "when she learns of Mr. Bourassa's speech and Sir Wilfred's silence during the singing of the song." That it is not necessary for Sir Wilfred Laurier to advertise his loyalty like Dr. Montague and men of his stripe. Her majesty has probably heard of this same Montague before in a different role, as the issuer of a proclamation in which the Indians were commanded to vote for him in the name of the queen.

HERE'S A REVELATION.

During his trial George McWilson, the bank-teller who admitted that he abstracted $2,000 to meet his private debts and is charged with stealing $10,000, which mysteriously disappeared a little while ago from the Merchants bank in Toronto, made a revelation. It is given in the following extract from the Toronto Mail's report:

"Wilson admitted having defaulted to the extent of $2,000, to which charge he previously pleaded guilty, in order to meet his debts, which were close upon $4,000, on which he was obliged to pay a ruinously high rate of interest, being two to five per cent. per month. He had not taken the $10,000. If he had desired to take it he could have done it in the same manner as he had the $2,000, and they would not be able to find it out until he had time to get safely across the boundary of Mexico. Although it offered the paying teller every facility for stealing, the manager insisted on his opening the mail. This was strictly against the rule. If he wished he could have extracted a cheque for $50,000 or so, and before the loss were discovered he would have sufficient time to get out of the reach of the law."

Is it surprising that defalcations occur under such circumstances? Bank officials are not as well paid as they should be, they are expected to live as becomes their station, and they are submitted to rare and strong temptations. Moreover, they are allowed to break the rules established by the banks for the safety of all concerned. The paying teller is not expected to open the bank's mail, but Wilson did it, was required to do it, and could have, he said, stolen $50,000 as easily as he stole the $2,000. What have the banks inspectors for, and what do these men inspect? The losers may have sympathisers in their misfortune, but it is doubtful.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Toronto News announces that the inspector is very well satisfied with the experiment of doing away with all written promotion examinations. Our contemporary has it that the old bugbear will never be revived.

Among the fallen in British Columbia is the Hon. Charles McIntosh. He was in the east not long ago, and he gave it out that he was all right, that his policy and party were rising high in view. Both largely disappeared in a day.

Birmingham has not yet got his money and he has not "peached" on his party. Sir Charles Tupper is still on his dignity, but he will get off it as the election approaches. When the fight is on our Bobs will be in command again.

The Dowager Empress of China is acting like the women. She defies the world and tells the "Boxers" to go on with their infamies, and when the powers take hold of things she looks for a place of hiding. It is time Li Hung Chang was heard from.

It is announced that Joe Martin will stick,—that he will face the legislature and only surrender his office when an adverse vote has been registered against him. Well, that's his way of showing his bravery. If he can stand a new crushing no one need complain.

Dr. Jameson, of Transvaal raid fame, has now an ambition to become a member of parliament. He was in South Africa, and wanted to be with the forces as they entered Pretoria, but sickness put an end to his plans. He is more impulsive than useful anywhere.

The Brockville Times is at last bent upon a little independent criticism. So it tackles Montague and Haggert, the party disturbers, and refers to them as the "low-down element" in public life. That will do. The next step is to call them bad names, and they deserve it.

DISTRICT DASHES.

News of the District Condensed From the Whig's Exchanges.

At Chattanooga, Tenn., on Wednesday, Eston L. DeLong, a former resident of Belleville, was married to Miss Laura L. Rohn.

Miss Susan Wiltsie, of Lyn, died Monday in her seventy-third year. She had lived for some years with her sister, Mrs. M. Hunt.

The death of Mrs. Chalmers, Morrisburg, is reported. Deceased was the mother of F. R. Chalmers, well known in hockey circles.

William Johnson, Belleville, goes to ecumenical conference in London, Eng., as a representative of the Bay of Quinte Methodist conference.

Mrs. Wilson, aged eighty-two years, residing with her son, John Wilson, two miles below Maitland, died on Tuesday. She leaves a large, grown-up family.

John Bolin, for over sixty years a resident of Bastard township, died on Saturday. He was born in Ireland in 1820. A widow, five sons and two daughters survive him.

Miss Frances Rosetta, youngest daughter of the late R. Newbery, Belleville, was married in Estherville, Iowa, on June 4th to B. Johnstone, a popular druggist of Huntington, Iowa.

William Finlayson, Lanark township, received a telegram from Chelmsford saying his son John had been drowned on the drive, on Thursday. He went up to Chelmsford early last fall.

W. H. Watt, Belleville, son of Mrs. Thomas Watt, Lanark, was married on Tuesday to Miss Florence Weekes, Belleville, only daughter of Dan Weekes, traveller for W. J. Crothers, Kingston.

Mrs. David B. Cornell died on Monday at her residence near Lyn. She is survived by her husband and four sons and three daughters. She was a woman much devoted to her home and family circle.

Not A Hero.

The Hamilton Spectator does not think that corporal Courtney, "A" battery, who refused to parade men for drink need be made a hero of, and makes a point worth noting: "The fact is, that on occasion of that sort, every man is permitted to choose his own drink. He may take beer if he will, or may take pop or ginger ale, or a cigar, or nothing, just as he pleases. There is no compulsion. There is no outrage. It is simply an invitation to drink, and the corporal is appointed to march the men, not to see that they drink, but to see that they do not join the procession twice or more, and get more than one drink."

A New System.

The board of works has put into effect a new scheme in the construction of Victoria street sewer. It was ascertained from contractors and others what amount of trench digging it was calculated a man was capable of doing in a day. Then each man was given a section where he worked alone and was expected to turn out so many square yards of earth per diem. Those who could not come up to the standard were laid off. While many laborers were affected, at the same time the test is made in the interest of the general public, who have to pay for the work.

They Are Well Treated.

There is a vast amount of wire pulling being done these days by the five candidates for the surgeoncy of the county jail and their friends. The members of the county council are profiting as a result. As one put it last night: "We are well treated these days; we would not mind if there was an appointment to be made every day; we get more cigars than we can smoke and are treated to the very best." The "job" is worth $150 a year.

Had A Picnic.

Miss Barney's class of Victoria school pupils, when returning home from the park last evening, enlivened the streets through which the street car passed with many songs. Going up Princess street they were singing: "The Red, White and Blue," "There'll be a Hot Time," "We Won't Get Home Till Morning," etc.

Thirty-Two Succeeded.

Of sixty-eight candidates who wrote on the recent examinations for entrance to the Royal military college, thirty-two were successful. A son of Ald. J. B. Walkem and of John Mudie succeeded in getting through, the first mentioned being among the first seven.

Surrendered Himself.

David Granger, the township of Kingston farmer who made his escape from a county constable yesterday afternoon, this morning surrendered himself to the authorities and was safely lodged in the county jail to await trial.

A plan for the proposed vestry for the Roman Catholic church at Cushendall was found on the railway track this morning, and returned to the office of H. P. Smith, the architect. It had been lost out of the pocket of some one.

The firemen at the Breck street station were yesterday presented with a large number of magazines and periodicals, a gift from the W.C.T.U. The fire laddies desire to return thanks for the kind remembrance.

The latest thing in patriotic post cards is the one having five cuts of Canadian officers in the upper left hand corner, Col. Otter, Col. Drury, Col. Steele, etc., are represented, and their likenesses are splendid.

Dancing commences at the yacht club house to-night and will continue on each Wednesday night during the summer. There is likely to be a large attendance to-night.

The semi-annual district meeting of the Orangemen takes place in the city on Thursday night next.

OPENING SUMMER RESORTS.

Fine Weather Draws Many to Lake and River.

Watertown N. Y., Times.

The season on the St. Lawrence has opened fully two weeks earlier than usual. The Crossmon has already between forty and fifty guests, the other hotels will be open this week and landlords report an unusual number of advance applications from people who will come early and stay late.

The Folgers have their steamboat service in full operation and had the first excursion of the season yesterday from Syracuse and intervening points. The crowd was not large, but most encouraging for such an early date.

The owners of the summer palaces are arriving, the servants have opened the most of them the past week. The grounds are all in order for the season, the lawns are fresh and green after the first cutting and the flowers and foliage beds begin to show color.

The railroad station at Clayton is fresh painted without and within, the dock and railway property is all clean and ready to accommodate the season's business, as are the boats of the Folger line. Everybody expects a long and profitable season. There was some fear that the Paris exposition might draw off some of the patrons of the river, but accounts of its unsatisfactory condition and exorbitant Paris prices are reported to have checked the flow of summer travel in that direction.

The islands never looked so fair as at this season. Nature is in its freshest garb of green, the beautiful grounds that surround the summer homes are at their best, and during the interval from last season improvements have been added everywhere. The hotels rejoice in new paint and perfect cleanliness, new additions and provision for the comfort of guests, and the whole river interests are striving to make it the most popular resort of the world. All have pleasant anticipations of the results of the season which opens so well.

A Great Boon 'Twill Be.

Canadian Freeman.

For a quarter of a century an agitation has been going on for a blast furnace here, because Kingston, above all other cities in Ontario, is favorably situated for such an industry, the surrounding country containg vast and inexhaustible quantities of iron ore. The trouble, heretofore, arose in getting sufficient money. There is no use in any company taking hold of such an enterprise unless it has plenty of money behind it. Gold is as necessary as iron at the outset, but once the manufactory is in full swing the prosperity given the place in which it is located is not equalled by that brought about by any other industry, because it provides the raw material needed by various other industries, all of which, sooner or later, settle down near where the pig iron is made. The smelter alone, then, is not the only establishment that we may expect in Kingston as a result of the passage of the by-law. Under these circumstances, it would almost appear superfluous for us to urge our readers to vote for the by-law. We feel assured that very few, if any indeed, will mark their ballots against it. The plant will cost some $300,000 alone— quite an item for any city to have expended in it. To be on the safe side, everbody should turn out and vote.

Two Cases Of Piles.

That Defied Every Treatment and Caused Intense Misery Until Permanently Cured By

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

A worse case of piles than the one recorded here would be difficult to imagine. In vain was the search for a cure, and the victim endured intense misery from the terrible itching and burning.

Mrs. James Brown, of Hintonburgh, a suburb of Ottawa, states: "I have been a constant sufferer from nearly every form of piles for the last 20 years, and during that time both here and in the old country have tried almost every remedy.

"I am only doing justice to Dr. Chase's Ointment, when I say, I believe it to be the best remedy obtainable for bleeding, protruding piles.

"I strongly recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to mothers or, indeed, to any person suffering that dread torment—piles."

Besides absolutely curing any form of piles, Dr. Chase's Ointment is a quick and lasting relief for the itching to which women are subject and positively cures eczema, salt rheum, and all kinds of itching skin diseases. It is of incalculable worth in every home.

Another interesting case was that of Mr. Joseph Jackson, of the Laurie Spool Co., St. Alexis des Monts, Que. Here is a copy of the letter received the other day from Mr. Jackson, wherein he gratefully acknowledges the unusual merit of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Mr. Jackson says:

"You can put my name to any praise you can give to Dr. Chase's Ointment for it has done me the most good of any medicine I ever used. I have been troubled for two years with bleeding piles, and after using Dr. Chase's Ointment I can say that I am entirely rid of this miserable disease. I must say that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a treasure for all persons suffering with piles."

False modesty prevents many from seeking advice or submitting to a local examination by a physician. Then, besides, there is the dread of the surgeon's knife, the only means which many doctors use to cure piles.

Before the discovery of Dr. Chase's Ointment there was no reliable cure for piles, no cure that would absolutely cure any case of piles, whether itching or protruding piles.

To-day nearly everybody in Canada and the United States, and very many in Europe, know of Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for piles.

It is a wonder of medical science, which has been frequently imitated, but never successfully. 60 cts. a box at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
