CHEESE UP IN PRICE.

The Top Bid the Best Ever Made For June Cheese.

Kingston, June 14.—Frontenac cheese board in session to-day led the world in the price of cheese. For the first time in the history of the board the price reached and went over the ten cent mark, closing at ten and one-eighth cents for colored and ten and one-sixteenth for white. The salesmen were jubilant, though many whose offerings of white brought forth a bid of ten and one-sixteenth cents refused to accept. There were 1,518 boxes registered, of which 521 were white and 997 colored. The factories having cheese on sale were:

White—Cornflower, 31; Battersea, 35; Cataraqui, 31; Duff's, Inverary, 400; Maple Leaf, 40; Rose Hill, 35; Sydenham 80; Elginburg, 130; Wolfe Island, 35.

Colored—Collins' Bay, 62; McGrath's, 40; Wolfe Island, 33; Thousand Island, 30; Silver Springs, 65; St. Lawrence, 30; Sunbury, 40; Perth Road, 30; Pine Hill, 65; Ontario, 50; Morning Star, 30; Argan, 35; Cataraqui, 35; Excelsior, 30; Forest, 85; Farmers' Friend, 150; Glenburnie, 40; Glenvale, 45; Granite Hill, 70; Gilt Edge, 35.

Bidding was spirited and these factories sold:

To O. C. Bissell at 10½c.—Battersea, Rose Hill, Sydenham, Elginburg. At 10 1-16c.—Excelsior, Gilt Edge, St. Lawrence, Silver Springs, Thousand Island, Morning Star.

L. W. Murphy, at 10 1-16c.—Arigan, Cornflower, Granite Hill, Morning Star, Sunbury, Wolfe Island.

James Whitton, at 10 1-16c.—Glenburnie.

After a lengthy debate, the board decided to make a good exhibit of cheese at the coming fall fair, and also to assist towards the prizes for the same by granting $1 per head from each salesman and buyer.

Mayor Minnes was present and thanked the board for the kind treatment accorded the request of the fair association.

Wheelmen And The Toll Gates.

Wheelmen are complaining of the practice of toll gate keepers at Cataraqui and Bath road of keeping the bars down at night. Several serious accidents have been narrowly averted lately, as it is almost impossible to see the bars until the rider is nearly on top of them. The toll gate keepers should bear in mind the case of the keeper at Cataraqui, prosecuted by the C.W. A. a few years ago for this same offence and who settled by agreeing to keep his bar up high enough to let wheelmen pass under and by paying the costs of the case. Unless keepers take heed the same thing will happen again. Last night a young Kingstonian came very near getting his head smashed on the bars at the Bath road gate. Another wheelman was hurt at the Cataraqui gate a few evenings ago.

Spraying Their Orchards.

Glenburnie, June 13.— A large party from the city spent Sunday on the shore of Collins' Lake. Patrick Hays and bride, Toronto, spent part of their honeymoon this week with his uncle, John P. Daly. William Blacklock is still confined in the general hospital. The brick work of George Draper's house will be finished in a few days. Several picnics and garden parties are expected to come off shortly. Patrons are well satisfied with their milk cheques for May. Nearly all the farmers are spraying their orchards to protect the fruit. A number of new pumps have been purchased.

Was Mother Of Sheriff Eilbeck.

The late Mrs. James Eilbeck, Newcastle, whose death occurred on the 12th inst., was one of the pioneers of Canada. She was of Highland descent, coming from Sutherlandshire, where she was born eighty-four years ago. Her maiden name was Christine Murray. The deceased lady was the mother of sheriff Eilbeck, of the Yukon, and of George, of Newcastle; Mrs. Robert Bedford, Marlette, Mich.; Mrs. (Maj.) Loveys, Embro, Ont., and of Miss Harriet Eilbeck, at home. The remains were interred in the Episcopal cemetery at Newcastle, Ont.

Died In The Penitentiary.

William J. Thompson died yesterday in Kingston penitentiary, where he was serving a seven-year sentence for stealing a horse and buggy from a farmer near Bracondale. He was sent to Kingston about four years ago. Thompson was thirty-five years of age and at the time the theft was committed, was a policeman at Toronto Junction. He was married on the day he was sent to Kingston penitentiary, and his widow, who resides in Toronto Junction, will ask that the remains be handed over to her for burial.

Placed On Sydenham Lake.

E. J. Benjamin, Yarker, has placed a handsome steam yacht on the waters of Sydenham lake. The craft was shipped out Wednesday by railway. Mr. Benjamin will also erect a fine summer residence on one of the islands in the lake. This spot is much frequented in the warm season by Kingstonians. In about two weeks, or as soon as the schools are closed, a large number will "migrate" northward, and spend July and August in this cool retreat.

Died In Portland, Oregon.

Word arrived in the city to-day of the death, in Portland, Oregon, on the 10th inst., of George K. Dean, youngest son of judge Dean, of Lindsay. The deceased, thirty-five years of age, was married to Miss Gertie Morton, sister of Mrs. Joseph Power, of this city. Mr. Power has not yet received any particulars of the death, save that the demise was due to heart failure.

Yacht Club Dance.

The first dance of the season at the yacht club house was held last evening, there being about one hundred present. Visitors present were: Miss Myles, Toronto; Miss Mackenzie, Montreal; Miss Steers, New York; George Walkem, Vancouver, B.C.; R. Sears, Toronto; Mr. Ireland, Chatham; and M. Drury, Montreal.

Grand Duke Of Oldenburg Dead.

Oldenburg, June 14.— The grand duke of Oldenburg, (Nicholas Frederick Peter) died yesterday, at his summer residence at Rastede. He was born in 1827.

GEN. BOTHA'S ARMY FLED.

DRIVEN FROM FIRST POSITION; EVACUATED SECOND.

The Casualty List Was Moderate in Numbers—The Boers Feared Their Rear Would be in Danger—A Town and District Surrender to Lyttleton.

London, June 14. — Lord Roberts reports to the war office under date of Pretoria, June 13th, 9:55 a.m., as follows:

"Methuen advanced to Honing Spruit yesterday and found all quiet. Kroonstadt is strongly held. Methuen returned to-day to Rhenoster river, where the railway is being repaired. We were engaged all yesterday with Botha's army. The enemy fought with considerable determination and held our cavalry on both flanks; but Ian Hamilton, assisted by the Guards' brigade of Pole-Carew's division, pushing forward, took the hill in his front, which, caused the enemy to fall back on their second position to the eastward. This they are still holding. It is slightly higher than the one we have captured. The great extent of country which has to be covered under modern conditions of warfare renders progress very slow.

"Details of the casualties have not reached me, but I understand they are moderate in numbers. The only further casualties reported to date are two officers wounded."

They Finally Quit.

London, June 14.—The war office issues the following report from lord Roberts under date of Pretoria, June 13, (afternoon): "The enemy evacuated their strong position during the night and have retired to the eastward, Buller's force and mine have afforded each other mutual assistance. At Pretoria the number of Boers withdrawing from Laing's Nek and Buller's advance to Volksrust made them feel their rear would be shortly endangered."

A Town Submits.

London, June 14.—Gen. Buller reports to the war office as follows:

"Headquarters at Laing's Nek, June 14, (morning.)—Gen. Lyttleton yesterday received the formal submission of the town and district of Waakerstroom which the enemy is believed to have completely evacuated."

Just As Expected.

London, June 14.—Lord Roberts' engagement with Gen. Botha terminated as expected, by the Boer commander-in-chief retiring from his positions. Beyond driving Botha further from the capital nothing much seems to have been accomplished. Lord Roberts does not mention any capture. The most important feature revealed by to-day's official despatches is the announcement that the army of Natal is at last in touch with lord Roberts' troops. The accomplishment of this movement, long delayed, should considerably accelerate the pacification of the Transvaal. That it is already bearing fruit is evidenced by the submission of the Wakkerstroom district to Gen. Lyttleton.

Another despatch from Gen. Buller says Gen. Clery encountered no opposition in his march from Ingogo to Laing's Nek, which he now occupies. Gen. Dartnell marched through Laing's Nek June 13th on his way to Charlestown. The press despatches say Charlestown was partially destroyed previous to its evacuation by the Boers, but that no damage was done at Volksrust.

Portugal Apprehensive.

London, June 14.— The Portuguese government is again reported to be fearing that the Boers will enter Delagoa Bay territory when forced to retreat from Lydenburg. The Portuguese have only 1,500 troops in East Africa and would be powerless to prevent an incursion.

Approve The Governor's Course

Vancouver, B. C., June 14.—At the general meeting of the Vancouver liberal association, held last evening, largely attended and thoroughly representative, a resolution was unanimously carried, endorsing the action of the lieutenant-governor during the late crisis, and strongly disapproving any action by the liberal government, leading to his removal. With regard to the alleged probability of Mr. Bostock replacing lieutenant-governor McInnes, the resolution declared that if the government should make such an appointment it would lose the confidence of the association and it believed of ninety per cent. of the liberals of this province.

A Beautiful Halo.

Buffalo, N.Y., June 14.—A ring of extraordinary beauty encircled the sun for an hour or two to-day. It first became noticeable before noon, and crowds gathered in all parts of the city to observe and to admire it. Forecaster Cuthbertson said it was one of the most beautiful halos he had ever witnessed. He said it was nothing very remarkable and was due to a peculiar combination of atmospheric conditions.

THE PHILOSOPHER.

Washington Star.

Oh! his face is very solemn
As he looks along the column
Where the economic theories are spread.
And he says we must be careful,
Likewise erudite and prayerful,
If we aren't—well, we might as well be dead.
And the coal is getting lower,
And the clock is ticking slower,
And the lawyer's written threatening a call.
He is poor as any peasant,
Some would say it was unpleasant,
But it doesn't seem to worry him at all.

His researches scientific
Are with doubts and fears prolific;
He says the earth will shrivel up and freeze,
And we won't have any fuel
To confront the winter cruel—
He is much disturbed o'er matters such as these.
His bank account is tiny,
And his sleeves are short and shiny;
And a creditor is waiting in the hall.
It is scarce the situation
For a man of education,
But it doesn't seem to worry him at all.

Clarence P. Jones arrived in the city this morning and will remain here in the future. He will appear to-night with the 14th regimental band.

H. C. Rogers and wife and J. C. Connors and wife, New York, were in the city to-day en route to Jones' Falls to spend the heated term.

George H. Daniels, general passenger agent of the N. Y. C. and H. R. railroad, passed east through the city today.

The summer time-table of the G. T. R. will go into force on June 24th.

LAUGHING GAS.

Mary and Her Landlord.

Mary opened a little shop
To help her on life's way,
And honest toil found its reward,
And it began to pay.

"How's biz?" the landlord often asked,
And Mary was imprudent;
Of course she never guessed he was
An economic student.

But Mary's landlord's eagle eye
Was watching how things went,
And when the first of May came round
He doubled Mary's rent.

The imposition staggered her,
But what could Mary do?
Subsistence bare is the tenant's share,
All above is the landlord's due.

So Mary kept on as before,
Improving as time went,
But step by step, with increased trade,
The landlord raised the rent.

And thus the merry game went on
Till Mary's life was spent;
As fast as God could prosper her
The landlord raised the rent.

Careful Maria.

"Maria is the most particular buyer I ever knew."

"Yes."

"She saw that a lot of slightly soiled thermometers were to be sold at Remnant's between 7:15 and 7:45 a. m. on Tuesday only, and so she hurried down there without her breakfast."

"Yes."

"She looked at the thermometers and shook her head."

"What was the trouble?"

"The store was too hot, and the thermometers all registered 80. Maria said she had seen just as good at Sample's at 72."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Girl In the Khaki Dress.

There she goes in the shopping square!
The men look back, the women stare,
The critic's remarks are passing aloud
As she wends her way through the gaping crowd,
But she hears them not, and she cares much less;
She's one of the first in a khaki dress.

She passes the cop on the shopping beat;
He smiles and points out into the street.
"The color's the same," he says, with a grin—
"The same as the mud she's walking in."
But she hears them not, and she cares much less;
She's one of the first in a khaki dress.

The newsboy grins: "Get on to her nibs!
Now, wudn't dat tickle yer under de ribs.
'Tis awning stuff, wid a mustard smear.
Take it away! It don't go here!"
But she hears them not, and she cares much less;
She's one of the first in a khaki dress.

'Tis a gantlet run for a thousand eyes,
But she braves the "Whews!" and the rude, "Oh, mys!"
And the girls who gape and love to say,
"She looks like a road on a rainy day!"
But she hears them not, and she cares much less;
She's one of the first in a khaki dress.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The County Clerk's Statement.

Kingston, June 14.—(To the Editor): In your issue of yesterday appears an article, under the heading, "Sheriff Was Justified," in which the writer states that I made an attack on sheriff Dawson and deputy sheriff Asselstine. That statement is incorrect. I simply reported the facts to the council regarding the board of audit, as has been done before, and as I conceived it my duty to do as a member of that board and a servant of the council. Permit me to say that the criticisms which I read from the deduction sheets were not my own, but those of Henry Totten, of the treasury department, Toronto, who acts for the provincial treasurer on the administration of justice accounts for the several counties of the province.

Besides making my report to the council, I stated that I wished to resent the insulting language which the sheriff had made use of with reference to myself. Surely one may resent such epithets as were applied to me by sheriff Dawson, without being open to a charge of making an attack.

Your correspondent's reference to the sheriff having thirty years precedent for the charges made and objected to by Mr. Totten, is illogical in the extreme. Would your correspondent or the taxpayers of Frontenac care to see the county treasurer follow the precedents in connection with his office?

I have no wish to enter into a newspaper discussion of this matter but I would like to add in fairness to the other members of the board of audit that they have no opportunity to go over the accounts before the board meets whereas the accounts are placed in my hands several days previously in order that I may compare the respective charges with the tariff of fees and state at the board wherein I think the accounts require special attention. — J. W. EDWARDS, county clerk.

Mr. Fralick's Offer.

J. W. Fralick will be willing to accept the terms of the insurance underwriters, coupled with those of the city council, for the rental of the city hall for opera house purposes. He would extend the stage four feet and would also want the use of the council chamber for dressing room purposes.

Plunge To Death.

Williamsport, Pa., June 14.—Six men were killed and another fatally injured on a logging railroad at Cammal. A train jumped the track in some unaccountable manner and plunged down a 300-foot embankment. Both firemen and engineer were instantly killed, as also were four Italian laborers.

Mount Refuses To Honor It.

Indianapolis, June 14.— Governor Mount refuses to honor the requisition of governor Beckham, of Kentucky, for the return of W. S. Taylor.

Another Bisley Man.

Ottawa, June 14.—Bombardier S. W. Bodley, 5th artillery, Victoria, B.C., has accepted a position on the Bisley team.

The captain of the steamer Philadelphia arrived at New York, reports seeing on June 5th, in the Atlantic, a burning bark. The name "Cleveland" was painted on the bow. There was no human beings alive on deck. The Cleveland, a Norweigian bark, sailed from Southampton on May 5th for Nova Scotia. She was built at Quebec in 1873.

The Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited, 14 King street west, Toronto, have been appointed administrators of the estate of the late Samuel Stinson, who died at the city of Ottawa, in March last, leaving an estate amounting to about $10,000.

Hanna says there is no chance for Bliss, Woodruff or Allison for the vice-presidency. The race is open, he says, and the president will not interfere.

WILLIAM CHRISTIE DEAD.

THE TORONTO BISCUIT MAKER AT REST.

He Suffered From a Species of Cancer—He Came to Canada From Scotland—Built Up a Business of Vast Importance.

Toronto, June 14.— William Christie, the well-known Toronto biscuit manufacturer, died at noon to-day, after a long illness, of a species of cancer. Mr. Christie was in his seventy-second year, a native of Huntley, Aberdeenshire, where he learned the business of baking before coming to Canada, in 1849. He started in Toronto as a journeyman, but speedily became an employer in partnership with Mr. Brown, under the style of Brown & Co., and later Christie, Brown & Co., The works of the company now employ hundreds of persons.

Mr. Christie was a prominent director of the industrial exhibition and the jockey club, and was greatly interested in horse breeding and athletic sports. He was in politics a radical with strong views on individualism.

Mr. Christie is survived by a son, Robert J. Christie, and three daughters, Mrs. J. J. Palmer, Mrs. D. S. Barclay and Mrs. T. J. Clark, all of Toronto.

ALL ABOUT THE HARMONICA.

Hundreds of Varieties Made and Many Thousands Sold Annually.

The harmonica, simple as it might seem to be, is made in hundreds of varieties, counting sizes and styles and their different musical keys. All single harmonicas, including the very cheapest, are produced in seven keys, A to G inclusive. Double harmonicas, with two sets of reeds, are made with the two sides in different keys, and then there are harmonicas three sided, four sided, five sided and six sided, each side being tuned in a different key. Single harmonicas are also sold in sets of four in as many keys. The key most commonly used is probably C.

The many thousands of harmonicas sold in this country annually are all imported, some from Austria, but by far the greater number from Germany. They are made largely in factories, but still to a considerable extent, either in whole or in part, in homes and often by women, cheap labor enabling the production of them at very low cost. In factories the tuners of harmonicas sit at tables that are partitioned off something like desks in telegraph offices to give each operator a separate inclosure and avoid confusion with other sounds close at hand. The reeds are tuned to those of a correctly tuned harmonica which is used as a guide, the work being done with a file and a knife, with which the several tongues are scraped or filed or cut in whatever degree may be required to bring them into tune.

Harmonicas are sold at all sorts of prices, from 5 cents to $3 or $4. At prices above 50 cents the harmonica is likely to be double. Double harmonicas of larger size and more elaborate finish range in price up to $1.50.

Harmonicas with more than two sides begin with the three sided ones at about $1.25 and run from that up in price, according to size and quality and number of sides, to those having six sides, in as many keys, and 72 holes and called concert harmonicas and selling at $3.50 or more. The harmonica is commonly deemed a toy and is chiefly sold and used as such, but good music can be got out of a good harmonica, and it is more or less used as a musical instrument and played with other instruments or as an accompaniment to the human voice. A stringed instrument could, of course, be tuned to play with a harmonica of any key, but that harmonica might not do to accompany other music written perhaps in a different key and played upon a piano and not easily transposed. Such and other requirements, as of the voice, are met by the harmonica that can be played in several keys, and the putting up together in a box of four single harmonicas of as many keys is with the same purpose in view.

Of odd harmonicas other than those that are standard and familiar there is one kind with a tremolo attachment by means of which a tremolo effect may be given to the notes. There is another kind of harmonica made with gong bells attached that can be manipulated by the player.

Of harmonica holders, designed to hold the harmonica to a player's lips while he is using his hands to play another instrument at the same time, which would be, most commonly, a guitar, there are at least three kinds. One is an adjustable holder that goes around and rests on the shoulders, the others being in one way another attached to and supported upon the player's clothing. And there are also made harmonica pouches, of leather and of chamois skin, and in various sizes and having at their opening end framed jaws that snap together as those of pouch pocketbooks do, in which harmonicas may be carried.

MILLENNIAL OF THE SAUSAGE.

Cleveland Plain Dealer.

There's dancing on the sunny meads
That smile along the Rhine,
There's yodling o'er the bubbling beads
That crown the foaming stein;
The keliner's board is dented
By the pewter's sturdy blow—
For sausage was invented
A thousand years ago.

The graceful maidens trip and trip
To sound of rippling flutes;
The old men deeply sip and sip
As grave as ancient nutes;
The fraus all sigh contented
As wine and music flow—
For sausage was invented
A thousand years ago.

From where the Moselle floweth fair,
From Bingen on the Rhine,
The tender zephyrs stir the air
With burdens half divine;
Rich cheeses softly scented
Waft odors to and fro—
For sausage was invented
A thousand years ago.

The cervelat is piping hot,
The bratwurst smelleth fine,
The wieners leap from out the pot
Beside the storied Rhine.
The kummel flask is vented,
Then here's to friend and foe!
For sausage was invented
A thousand years ago.

Sir W. Harcourt to Retire.

London, June 14.—The Derby Daily Telegraph says this morning that it understands Sir William Vernon Harcourt will not seek re-election to the house of commons, owing to advanced age and failing health.

London, June 14.— Sir William Vernon Harcourt, contradicts the report of his intention to retire from political life, at the time of the next general election.

Mrs. Langtry's Merman Won.

London, June 14.—At Ascot to-day the gold cup, value 1,000 sovereigns, with 3,000 sovereigns in specie in addition, was won by "Mr. Jersey's" (Mrs. Langtry's) Merman.

Did Your Tailor

Ever give you a misfit? Did you ever put your money down, take your new suit home, try it on, find it a botch? Then what? If a swearing man exercise your privilege a little, if not lose your temper, feel ugly all day Sunday, and figure out a good blowing-up for your tailor on Monday. You go down Monday, jump on your tailor all you want to, and he simply smiles. He argues and tries to make you think your suit fits like your skin. You've broken your date, if you had one, spoiled your temper, and you're out the price of a suit.

The remedy, patronize the "OAK HALL." We never let a man take a misfit suit home. It isn't policy, because the worst advertisement on earth is a man wearing a misfit. Our guarantee is simply satisfaction or money back.

Suits $6 50, $8, $10, $12, $14, $15. Fit and quality guaranteed.
