WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE

What Becomes Of The Patient?

Doctors have their hobbies as well as other people and in the treatment of disease often carry them too far for the patient's good. For instance in the treatment of indigestion or dyspepsia many doctors give bismuth and nothing else, others rely on pepsin to bring their patients through, still another doctor treats stomach troubles with the various vegetables essences and lent remedies becomes a hobby with the fruit salts.

Now one or the other of these excellent remedies becomes a hobby with the doctor who has had most success with the particular one in question, because all of them are first class remedies for indigestion and dyspepsia, but not one of them alone is so good as a combination of all of them, such as is found in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets which contain not only vegetable essences and fruit salts, but also the freshest, purest pepsin and bismuth, making altogether a remedy unsurpassed for every form of indigestion, sour stomach, nervous dyspepsia, belching gas, distress after eating, sleeplessness, headaches, etc.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is not a secret patent nostrum, but you can see for yourself what it is and knowing this its success as a dyspepsia cure is not surprising. All druggists recommend and sell them at 50 cents.

GIVEN A POOR RECEPTION.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER DOES NOT FIND FAVOR

With the People of Lennox—Small Number Heard Him Speak at Odessa—Senator Ferguson and George McInerney, M.P., Gave Addresses.

At Odessa on Saturday afternoon, the congregation of St. Bridget's Roman Catholic church, held a picnic to raise funds to pay off the debt on their edifice. It was a real political picnic, Sir Charles Tupper, George McInerney, M. P., for Kent county, New Brunswick, and senator Ferguson of Prince Edward Island, being invited to speak at the affair. The visitors arrived early in the afternoon in charge of mayor Pruyn, of Napanee, and Uriah Wilson, M.P., for Lennox. A procession headed by the 47th battalion band, was formed, and proceeded to Stevens' grove where less than two hundred people had assembled to hear the speeches of the distinguished conservatives. On arriving at the grounds, Ald. Morgan Shaw proposed three cheers for Sir Charles, but the response sounded like an empty echo.

Dr. R. T. Walkem, Q.C., presided. On the platform, among others were: Mayor Pruyn, G.F. Ruttan and T.W. Casey, Napanee; Dr. Meacham, M.P.P., for Lennox; George Dennison, ex-M.P.P., for Addington; Rev. Father Preizeau, Odessa; Rev. T. F. Dibb, Bath; M. Avery, Sharbot Lake, Bernard Twomey, chairman of committee.

An address of welcome was read to Sir Charles Tupper by Philip Oswald, of Regiopolis college, Kingston. It expressed the hearty thanks of St. Bridget's congregation for his courtesy in attending the picnic. It was thought that his presence would attract a large crowd. The address quietly stated that the occasion precluded the discussion of political questions from a party point of view. Reference was made to the prominent part Sir Charles took in cementing together the provinces of Canada, of forty-five years in public life, and the hope was expressed that he might be long spared to give his counsel in settling the new relations between the mother country and her colonies. Sir Charles was then presented with a bouquet of flowers by two little girls.

George McInerney, M.P., of Kent county, New Brunswick, was the first speaker. He said he was somewhat handicapped by the inscription which had appeared on the advertisement poster, calling him the "Silver tongued orator of Kent county." And, perhaps, he was right in saying so. He was delighted to abide for a time in a section of Canada where the home of empire loyalists had been and the county of Lennox was such a place. The speaker came before the assembly as an admirer and supporter of Sir Charles Tupper, and notwithstanding the terms of the address of welcome, delved at once into political questions. He referred to the great work done for the dominion of Canada by the late Sir John A. Macdonald and the present leader of the opposition. They had united Canada into one homogeneous people, had built railways extending from ocean to ocean, and had enlarged the liberties of the people.

In his opinion, if the terms of the address were to be carried out, it would be like the play of Hamlet being produced without Hamlet, for Sir Charles Tupper to come before an audience and leave political questions alone. (Laughter.) But he was sure the assembly would excuse Sir Charles should he make a slip. Mr. McInerney thought that Sir Charles had assuredly come to Lennox to stir up the people and to enter upon a missionary tour, converting the hardened grits. The speaker then referred to the conservative ranks, which, instead of being depleted, were being strengthened day by day, and the sturdy yeomanry of the country were rallying around that great party. It would be an impossibility, said the speaker, for Sir Charles Tupper to tell of the wrongs of the grits, this afternoon; it would take him many days to do that. He was sure that the people would like the present administration to get a good overhauling, but he was not to discuss that matter. However, he would say that he stood before them to uphold a leader who had cemented a country, which was united from sea to sea, with religious and civil liberty.

Sir Charles Tupper was quietly received when he arose to speak. He thanked the committee of the church for the kind and flattering address with which he had been greeted upon his arrival in that charming section of Canada. He referred to the admirable manner in which the Roman Catholic church all over the world could raise money for religious and other purposes. That church, he said, had a happy faculty of extracting coin from the people's pockets. (Laughter.) The chairman had endeavored to free him from the difficulties in which the address of welcome had placed him, because Dr. Walkem had supposed him incapable of speaking upon any other subject except politics. But he was glad to know that there were questions which were once regarded as party questions, but which are now no longer so, and upon these he was at liberty to speak. And so Sir Charles, with his old-time cunning, found a loop-hole to introduce party politics.

Sir Charles said he was very happy to accept the invitation to come to the county of Lennox. What a charming change it was to come from a bear garden in Ottawa and breathe the pure air of the fields instead of the not too pure air of the house of commons! He was gratified also to have an opportunity, as leader of her majesty's loyal opposition, to again greet the people, for there was much danger of growing out of touch with them. There was a possibility of a race growing up who did not know Joseph, and he would apply the same reasoning to himself as leader of the great conservative party in Canada. Sir Charles then paid a tribute to the member for Lennox—Mr. Wilson, whom, he said, had gained the respect and confidence of his party. He was also anxious to appear before the people because to many of them he was known only by the caricatures sent broadcast by the Globe newspaper. His wife had consoled him with the assurance that these caricatures did not really do justice to him. (Laughter). "At any rate," added Sir Charles, "if I am really like these caricatures, then the sooner I disappear the better. (Applause).

Sir Charles then gave a short resume of his public life since 1855. He noted the great changes that had taken place during that time, and made special reference to his own county, where for a long while there was religious bigotry and how he had been the only conservative who could poll a good Roman Catholic vote. That creed question had now been wiped out by the great principle of equal rights for all. Again Sir Charles reverted to the "law" laid down in the address of welcome, and stated that he thought some grit had something to do with drawing up the address. Why should he be precluded from talking party politics before the people? Perhaps it was because of his long public life and being in such close touch with prominent liberals in Nova Scotia, that it was decided not to let him loose here. (Laughter). But fortunately for Canada many old political scores had been settled and were things of the past. After a touching reference to Canada's soldiers in South Africa, and concerning colonial representation in the imperial house, which he held would not cement the colonies and the motherland any closer together than now, Sir Charles resumed his seat.

Senator Ferguson, of Prince Edward Island, was the last speaker. He discussed the usefulness of the upper house, and pointed out that in the whole history of the Canadian senate very few bills had been thrown out by that body. But the good senator forgot to explain that the senate has forever been a conservative one, and only throws out bills of a liberal government. He defended the course taken by the senate in its veto of several bills during the present liberal administration.

Votes of thanks were tendered the speakers and the chairman, and the proceedings concluded with cheers for the queen and for Sir Charles Tupper.

Distressing Diarrhœa.

Can Be Promptly Relieved and Cured By Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

The pain and suffering, the weakness and oftentimes collapse associated with an attack of diarrhœa make it a disease to be dreaded and for which prompt relief and a ready cure are greatly to be desired.

The salutary action of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in giving almost instant relief from the pain, checking the too frequent and irritating stools, settling the stomach and bracing up the weakened heart, render it without a peer for the treatment of bowel complaints of young or old.

Mrs. Peter Christensen, Parry Sound, in speaking of this remedy, says: "I have been very much troubled with diarrhœa for the last three summers, and have always had to have the doctor before I could get it stopped. This summer I used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and it cured the cramps and diarrhœa promptly. I have given it to my little girl for the colic and she got relief at once. I can highly recommend this most valuable remedy."

Always ask for Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and refuse substitutes or imitations, many of which are worthless and some of them highly dangerous.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Movements of the People—What They Are Saying and Doing.

Dr. Herbert Murray, Owen Sound, is visiting friends in the city.

Cecil F. Lavell, M. A., New York, is at home to spend the summer vacation.

Miss Edith Carmichael, Kingston, is the guest of Miss Mabel L. Conger, Picton.

Mr. and Mrs. James Barnaby, of Montreal, are spending several days with friends in the city.

Rechab Tandy, Toronto is a visitor in the city, the guest of his sister, Mrs. W. J. Chapman, Colborne street.

J. G. Elliott and wife took the trip to Ottawa, to-day on the steamer Rideau Queen as guests of the company.

Sir Charles Tupper was unable to spend Sunday in Kingston. After speaking at Odessa, he left immediately for Ottawa.

Militia general orders contain the promotion of Maj. J. B. Donaldson, from the reserve of officers, to be lieutenant-colonel, attached list.

Dr. R. E. Sparks and wife, left for Ottawa on the Rideau Queen. The doctor attends the convention of the dentists of eastern Ontario.

Miss Hulda Baker, Syracuse, N.Y., an elocutionist well known here, had the misfortune to fall down an elevator shaft, breaking a leg and dislocating an ankle.

Thomas Dowsley, of this city, left for Montreal, yesterday, to accept a position in Stewart's boot and shoe establishment. A large number of friends bade him farewell at the train.

H. Hallows, Trenton, in Kingston hospital for over ten weeks undergoing treatment for the hand, which he hurt at Gilmour's factory, has returned home. It was found necessary to amputate one finger.

The S.P.G. Bicentenary.

The clergy of the diocese have received a circular from Ven. archdeacon Bedford-Jones, commissary, in regard to the bicentenary of the society for the promotion of the gospel in foreign parts, the great missionary society of the church. It was actually started on Sunday, June 16th, 1701, under a royal charter granted on the petition of the primate, archbishop Tenison, by king William III. The circular refers to the blessings which the church all over the world has received through this society, and states that the archbishops and bishops have united in inviting a special commemoration of those blessings during the year beginning on Sunday, June 17th, 1900, and ending Sunday, June 16th, 1901. Offertories made at these special services are to be added to the "bicentenary fund of the S.P.G."

Visited The Island.

Yesterday a large number of Kingstonians went over to Wolfe Island on the 9:30 a.m. ferry and remained there nearly all day, returning on the 4 p.m. boat. All the island belles were at the wharf to welcome them. This is becoming a very popular outing for people who wish to return to the city early in the day. Many took their wheels over yesterday, and rode down to Halliday's, near the foot of the island, where dinner was procured.

THE NORTH KING'S RAMBLE

DOWN AMONG THE ISLANDS YESTERDAY.

A Delightful Trip—The Islands Now Look Their Loveliest—Every Accommodation Aboard the Popular Steamer.

What to do with one's self on Sunday is a problem that many people find difficult in considering. After keeping the shoulder to the wheel of toil for six long days in every week, the worker feels a longing, when the seventh day comes, to get away from the city's noise and turmoil, and rest, or find recreation in travelling. And he is not to be blamed for travelling on Sunday, when he has no opportunity of going on the other six days. People are thankful for excursions, so that they can get away from the every day scenes of the city, into the country where the air is pure, or down among the islands where the air is still purer and the scenery still more grand and refreshing.

The question of how to spend a Sunday can easily answered: Take a trip down the river on the popular steamer North King. She leaves Swift's wharf at 9 a.m., a very accommodating hour. At Gananoque she transfers her American passengers to the steamer Islander, of the Folger line, which takes them across to Clayton, on down to Alexandria Bay and back up to Gananoque again. The King proceeds down the Canadian channel to Rockport, passing through the finest scenery that the St. Lawrence has to show. Here, amid the myriad isles on the Canadian side, the scenery is still as it was left fresh from the hand of nature. Few traces of the artificial are to be seen; the islands appear in the wild, rugged, natural state. And that is, by far, the most beautiful state.

After stopping at Rockport for a few minutes the steamer then crosses Deer island flat, at the head of Grenadier island, and emerges into the deep waters of the American channel. Then the course is turned up the river again, past Alexandria Bay, Edgewood park, Westminster park, Point Vivian, St. Lawrence park, Thousand Island park, Round Island park, Clayton, and the hundreds of palatial summer residences of millionaires that lie between these points. Then, heading across the river again, the King meanders among a great many small and beautiful islands, through intricate channels and past many modest summer residences, until Gananoque is shortly reached. Here the people are given two hours to see the town.

There are two great attractions to be seen in the factory town; one in the Gananoque Inn and the other the Gananoque girls. They both look out for summer visitors. There must have been 200 of Gananoque's fair maidens on the wharf yesterday to see the boat out. In fact, the whole town turned out. The Islander arrived here at 4.30 p.m., and as soon as she had transferred her passengers again, the North King left for Kingston, arriving at 6 p.m.

Harry Gildersleeve's steamer is in finer condition this summer than ever before. The accommodations are almost perfect in every respect. The King averages about fifteen miles an hour, and this relieves the journey of a great deal of tediousness. Capt. John Farrell looked carefully after the welfare of his passengers. James Bartlett, Gananoque, and a science student of Queen's, is purser. He is very attentive and courteous to passengers, and has made himself one of the most popular pursers on the river. Steward Tilton has the reputation of being the best steward sailing. The meals are fully equal to any served in first class hotels.

A number of Kingstonians, besides American passengers, went down on the ramble yesterday. The weather was warm and bright, and the sail a most delightful one. The islands are now looking their best, for the sun has not yet scorched the grass or withered the leaves. It is a trip well worth taking, and very cheap when one considers that the price is only half a dollar.

HER TRIAL TRIP.

The New Steamer Rideau Queen Proves Satisfactory.

The trial trip of the steamer Rideau Queen, of the Rideau lakes' navigation company, was made on Saturday afternoon. It also partook of the form of a complimentary cruise for the citizens of the city. A large number availed themselves of the privilege, and were waiting on Swift's wharf when the steamer arrived from Davis' dry dock, at 4 p.m. Capt. Noonan was in charge, and he piloted the new steamer out into the lake, and when a position opposite Carruthers' point had been reached the engines were shut down and her valves tested. Inspector T. J. Thompson conducted the test, and found everything most satisfactory.

On the return trip the Queen made two miles in a trifle under the twelve miles an hour rate. Reaching the harbor again, she took a course around by Fort Frederick and Garden Island, and then into her wharf again. She runs very smoothly, no jar being perceptible at all. Her displacement is perfect, and all goes to show that there was good figuring and calculating on the part of the designers and builders. Capt. Noonan was extremely well pleased with the trial trip. The boat fully came up to his anticipations. Capt. Davis, the designer and builder of the Queen, was on board, and he expressed a similar idea. There had been, he said, no hitch in the construction or running of the boat from the start. She had been built to the satisfaction of the owners.

Painters and upholsterers were on board during the trip, and they were busy completing the fitting out of the steamer. The Queen left this morning for Ottawa on her maiden trip, carrying her full complement of passengers. She will make short calls at villages along the route, to give the people an opportunity to inspect the new boat.

Organizing A Competition.

The sisters of the Hotel Dieu at Cornwall are organizing a competition for an oil painting of the late bishop Macdonell, of Kingston. The competition will be carried on throughout the different parishes of the diocese of Alexandria, with a view to creating a fund for the benefit of their new hospital.

The Haymarkets Won.

The final baseball match between the Haymarket and Barriefield teams took place at Barriefield on Saturday afternoon. The score resulted: Haymarkets, forty; Barriefields, thirty-three. Mackinally and Hackett were the battery for the winners, and Davy and McMillan for the losers. George Dick umpired the match. The Haymarkets will meet any junior team in the city.

Changes In The Crews.

James Bartlett, Gananoque, the popular purser on the steamer North King, will be transferred this week to the steamer Columbian, which will run in conjunction with the King. D. N. McIntyre, son of Rev. Mr. McIntyre, Belleville, will take the position vacated by Mr. Bartlett. Many of the new crew of the Columbian were on board the North King yesterday, getting "broken in" to their duties and responsibilities.

Ask For Shorter Hours.

A deputation from the street railway employees' union met superintendent Nickle, of the company, on Sunday afternoon to discuss a proposition they had to make. The men desired shorter hours and asked for a daily limit of ten hours. This proposition Mr. Nickle promised would receive the serious consideration of the company. Another meeting will be held next Sunday afternoon.

Try It In Kingston.

A Windsor despatch says: Windsor's fire department has had so many false alarms of late that chief Cheyne has decided to have each fire box supplied with patent handcuffs. His apparatus is so adjusted that when an alarm hook is turned the hand is encircled with the handcuffs and the alarmist is held until someone comes to his relief. The experiment the chief says, has proved a success in Chicago and other cities.

Might Name The Lighthouses.

Excursionists down the river are continually enquiring the names of the lighthouses they pass, and they pass a good many of them during a cruise through the Thousand Islands. It would be a great accommodation if the government would have the name of each lighthouse painted on two sides of it. The houses are always painted white, and the appellation, if done in black characters, could be seen a long distance. Tourists would greatly appreciate it.

Returning From An Outing.

The yacht Mamie C. came down the Rideau this morning, and touched at Kingston on her way to the Thousand Islands. She belongs to Mr. Clarke, of Welcome island, above Alexandria Bay, and had on board the manager of the New York Central railroad, George M. Daniels, and party. They were just returning from a week's outing up the Rideau lakes. They had with them as guide George Root, who has been with Mr. Clarke for many years. He is a native of Rockport and one of the most reliable and genial guides on the river.

Dyspepsia.

Much will necessarily depend upon the care exercised in the selection of food, which is all important to the dyspeptic. Hamilton's Pills may be used with the greatest benefit in cases where liver and bowel complications are produced by or are a result of dyspepsia. Commence with one pill every second day immediately after dinner, and reduce the dose gradually until one-quarter of a pill only is taken, which will be found sufficient to stimulate the liver and assist in the more perfect assimilation of food in the stomach. Dyspeptics, try Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

The Women's Auxiliary.

The annual meeting of the women's auxiliary to missions was held in Brockville last week and was well attended. The meeting next year is to be held in Kingston. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Buxton Smith; first vice-president, Miss Gildersleeve; second vice-president, Mrs. Hague; recording secretary, Mrs. Smythe, corresponding secretary, Miss Daly; treasurer, Mrs. Worrell; Dorcas secretary, Miss Muckleston; leaflet editor, Miss Van Straubenzie; secretary of literature, Mrs. Norman Fraser; secretary for J.W.A. and C.C.M.G., Miss Lewin; secretary extra-cent-a-day, Miss McMorine; organizing secretary, Mrs. Bedford-Jones.

Militia Orders.

Dr. Neilson will visit the Kingston military camp on June 26th and 27th.

The undermentioned medical officers are authorized to undergo the course of instruction to be held at the divisional camp, Kingston, from the 21st to the 27th inst., inclusive: Surgeon-major J. A. McCammon, 56th regiment; major E. B. Echlin, A.M.S., commanding No. 11 bearer company; Lieut. J. H. Cormack, A.M.S.; Lieut. C. W. F. Correll, A.M.S.; surgeon-major Chevalier.

During the absence of Lieut.-Col. Cotton on staff three divisional camp Lieut.-Col. Vidal, acting assistant adjutant-general, will act temporarily in command of the Ottawa brigade.

The following additional gentlemen cadets of the Royal military college are authorized to be attached to corps authorized to assemble in camp as follows: No. 3 division, Kingston, 19th to 30th June, gentlemen cadets Caldwell, Stewart and Fessenden.

"I Can Eat What I Like."

Many people suffer terribly with pain in the stomach after every mouthful they eat.

Dyspepsia and indigestion keep them in constant misery.

After trying the hundred and one new-fangled remedies without much benefit, why not use the old reliable Burdock Blood Bitters and obtain a perfect and permanent cure?

Here is a case in point:

"I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia for three or four years, and tried almost every doctor round here and different dyspepsia remedies, but got little relief.

"I then started using Burdock Blood Bitters, and when I had finished the second bottle I was almost well, but continued taking it until I had completed the third bottle, when I was perfectly well. Before taking B.B.B. I could scarcely eat anything without having a pain in my stomach. Now I eat whatever I like without causing me the least discomfort." — MRS. THOMAS CLARK, Brussels, Ont.
