OVER THE TEA CUPS.

This is an Englishman's opinion of the perfect wife: "I am a bachelor, not from choice, but from necessity. I seek, I have sought, diligently, but hitherto I have failed to discover that not impossible she, the embodiment of my dreams, my soul's complement, the affinity that I am convinced awaits me in some corner of this mundane world. I know so well what I don't want. I don't want the too attractive girl, the girl who is always surrounded by a jabbering crowd, the girl who considers that all's fish that comes to her net, the girl who only wants to be off with the old love that she may be on with the new, the girl who welcomes every chance new-comer. No, she is not the girl for me. I don't want the fashionable girl, the girl who is a slave to every hair-dressing caprice of the hour, the girl of ribbons and fallals to catch the casual eye. That's the girl who will fritter away your money and fail to provide the Sunday dinner. That's not the girl for me. I don't want the sharp girl, the girl who has the retort discourteous for ever on the tip of her tongue, the girl with the fatal gift of ready repartee. Such a girl is apt to "nag" later in life. This is not the sort of girl of which wives are made, at any rate, it's not the sort for me. I want, oh, so little. I want a low-tongued, soft-voiced woman. She may not be beautiful in any other eyes but mine, but to me she shall be the fairest of beauty's daughters. I want a practical mind; I want a sympathetic heart. The girl who will meet you on the doorstep with a smile when your day's work is over, the girl who cooks as well as her mother, the girl who will exercise economy with discretion, who will not feed you on the fat of the land one week and starve you the next, the girl who is content with her modest home and her husband's modest income, who does not wish to emulate her richer neighbors, and who can wear a last year's gown "made over." The girl who will enter into your interests, who will make your ambitions her own. The girl with the merry heart that goes "all the way." That's the girl that's worth an honest man's love. That's the girl that most men want. That's the girl for me."

"Kitchener," says white-haired Bishop Brindle, of London, who has known the great general for years, "is reported to have a great aversion for women. But what is called his dislike to them is really shyness of character. In 1885 he was a simple captain, who spent most of his time in going out into the desert. He rarely saw a woman in civilized life. His dealings were largely with the Arabs, and when he went to Cairo he found himself in what may well have seemed to him a strange world. He did not know the people, and, at the time, nobody cared about or thought much of him. But since he has become Lord Kitchener"—and this little comment is memorible, coming from the source it does—"I have seen him paying his court to ladies in a very chivalrous manner."

One sees many chiffon-frothed parasols in the shops, but the really smart sunshade of the season is simple and very lightly trimmed. Finely tucked and embroidered edges, a big, bold butterfly or a spray of flowers, hand painted, on one of the godets, are about the extent of decoration desired by the well-dressed women. A sunshade in pale blue has a butterfly painted in darker blue tones and white and sequined with wee sequins just where the butterfly's wings might gleam. This sunshade was designed to be worn with a costume of beige color, relieved by the same tone of sky blue. For morning wear with tailor costumes parasols of spotted foulard or linen in quiet color are the favorites.

A minister during his discourse one Sabbath morning said: "In each blade of grass there is a sermon."

The following day one of his flock discovered the good man pushing a lawnmower about his yard, and paused to say: "Well, parson, I'm glad to see you engaged in cutting your sermons short."

One of the new cravats is of narrow velvet ribbon and has threaded on it little gold or enamelled slides, completed at the ends with gold bosses edged with tassel fringe. Sometimes three bands of velvet, trimmed with slides, encircle the neck, and have no dependent ends, and often, as a repetition of the same pleasing idea, the full lace or mousseline sleeves are held in at the wrists with other little bands.

Beer For Soldiers.

As regards canteens, Col. Aylmer said in an interview at London, that he did not believe in the canteen regulations, but when the orders were issued they should be strictly obeyed.

"I believe in having lager beer, not whiskey," said lots of it in the men's canteen," he said. "If they don't get it there, they will get it somewhere else."

WHAT AN ENGINEER SAYS.

Stomach Gave Out to Such an Extent That He Could Not Take Cabbage, Sweet Potatoes, Corn, Bread, Tea or Coffee.

Celery King Has Returned Him His Appetite.

A man in the position of an engineer must have nerves of steel. Hurling over the country on their iron horse they well know that if there is the least accident they will be ushered into eternity. A strain so severe tells sooner or later on a man and may make him a wreck physically. The stomach may give out. The nerves receive nourishment from there and then a decline sets in, awful in its terrible suddenness. An engineer who makes his run on the Midland division of the Grand Trunk writes us as follows about Celery King, the Great Nerve restorer and laxative. Celery King acting through the stomach and blood tones up the entire system and fills your body with healthy vitality.

"I am thirty years of age and an engineer and of course am exposed to all kinds of weather. I have had indigestion and chronic constipation for years. Had tried several doctors and several patent medicines to no effect. I could not eat anything scarcely such as cabbages, sweet potatoes, corn, bread, tea or coffee, in fact, not anything that was hard to digest. About one year ago a friend gave me a sample of Celery King. The first dose gave relief. I now eat all I want and anything I like, sleep well and have gained ten pounds in weight. All my friends notice the change. I thought I had heart trouble, but I never have any symptoms of it now." "J. H.," Peterboro.

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

The Various Events Which Have Created Interest.

Following the lead of other eastern rowing clubs, the Ottawa oarsmen have decided not to send a crew to Toronto to participate in the regatta to take place there shortly, the date is too early.

Albert Champion, the French middle distance champion, objects to Michael styling himself champion of the world, and offers to meet the "midget" in a race. Nelson and Caldwell have both accepted Michael's challenge, the races to take place at Montreal at an early date.

Burns W. Pierce, the American twenty-four hour motor-paced champion, is anxious to have some promoter put on a twenty-four-hour motor-paced contest in Canada. Pierce has issued a challenge to any and all pace followers, and named Charles W. Miller, Archie McEachern, Charles Tourville, E. D. Stevens and Louis Gimm.

Champion Angus McLeod has been challenged by Cotter, of New Brunswick, to ride a series of matched races for a purse of $250 a side in July, at Vancouver. The champion has not yet decided to accept. He is not satisfied with the financial end of the proposition, holding out for a $500 purse. McLeod will not participate in the championships at Ottawa on July 2nd.

At Montreal Saturday the Montreal lacrosse team won from the Shamrocks by a score of five to four. At Cornwall the home team won from Ottawa Capitals by a score of three to two. The list of events of the first provincial championship meeting of the Ontario athletic association, to be held on the Toronto lacrosse club grounds, Toronto, on the 14th of July next, comprise: 100 yards run, 440 yards run, running high jump, throwing sixteen-pound hammer, 440 yards run, 220 yards run, 880 yards run, running broad jump, one mile walk, 120 yards hurdle, mile run, putting sixteen-pound shot, pole vault, open to boys attending public schools, high schools, collegiate institutes and preparatory colleges, public or private. PAID FOR DIVORCE SUIT.

Aged Bridal Couple Settled Up Old Accounts.

Kokomo, Ind., June 19.—Mr. and Mrs. James Webster, an elderly couple from Versailles, Ind., came here to spend their honeymoon, the bride being recently divorced from Newton Irwin, a prominent resident of this city. On the arrival of the octogenarians a constable met them and the bride was capiased to appear in court and tell why the court and attorney fees were not paid in her divorce case. The bride attributed the neglect to lapse of memory, and the newly found husband promptly paid the costs of the divorce, the total amount being $200.

Health Preserved

Is, without doubt, the jewel of great price, and the one least valued. Disregard of symptoms that clearly indicate abnormal action of the liver, stomach or bowels is nothing less than criminal. Health through neglect too often vanishes like a "Will o' the Wisp," and the anxious seeker secures but pain and disappointment for his labor. No aid towards the preservation of health can surpass Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. These pills, being composed of vegetable substances, exert their remedial action without the evil effects too often following the use of pills containing mercury. For all bilious disorders they will even prove a positive specific. Hamilton's Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine.

Poole's Resort Responses.

Poole's Resort, June 15.—Rev. Mr. Conly has recommenced services at the school-house. H. Turkington has purchased a carriage for accommodation of summer guests. Mr. Poole has completed his barn. Norris Andrews, lately very ill, is recovering. M. Davis, lately returned after spending a short time with friends at Alexandria Bay. Reuben Purell is slowly recovering after severe illness. T. Murphy has returned after travelling since autumn. Mrs. J. W. Thompson and children are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Young, Wolfe Island. Visitors: Mrs. B. Andress, Alexandria Bay, and Mrs. Fred. Weeks, Grenadier Island, at N. Andress'.

The Belleville Intelligencer thinks three and one-half mills on the dollar a very reasonable rate for residents of Hastings county to pay. Residents of Frontenac county are far better off, their rate being one and two-third cents.

FREIGHT CARS ON STREETS

SEVERAL ALDERMEN OBJECT TO THEIR RUNNING.

The Civic Finance Committee's Report re L. H. Clarke's Malt House, Criticised at Last Night's Meeting of the Council—A By-Law May be Submitted to the People.

The civic committee on finance and accounts at last night's meeting of the city council reported as follows upon the communications of L. H. Clarke & Co., dated respectively May 21st and June 1st:

"Your committee recommends that at the municipal elections in January next (or sooner if deemed expedient) a by-law, to be approved by council, be submitted to the ratepayers for adoption, whereby the property, lands, premises, plant, machinery, works and stock of the said company shall, for a period of ten years (or for such less period as the same shall be occupied and used by the said company as a going concern in the business of malting barley) be exempted from municipal taxes (except school and local improvement) upon the value of the same above an assessment of $10,000, in the event of the company rebuilding and enlarging its works upon the present site and to be renewed for a further period of ten years if necessary.

"That in the event of the company acquiring other premises in this city and establishing malting works thereon, this committee recommends that a by-law to the same general effect as above be passed and submitted to the ratepayers.

"That in the event of the said malt house being retained in its present site, permission be granted to the electric railway company to haul freight cars to and from said malt house along and over their tracks in the city during the day time in hours now prohibited, provided that running of passenger cars shall not thereby be delayed, interrupted or interfered with.

"The committee is of the opinion that the council should do all in its power to secure the passing of the said by-law, and by the above concessions induce the company to consolidate its business here and make proposal extensions and improvements to their property."

Ald. Kent did not favor running freight cars through the streets in daytime. It would do more harm than the malt house would do good. To run freight cars through the parks and past private residences would be an eyesore. Mr. Clarke acknowledges this. If this permission is granted three cars a day would be run through the streets. Ald. Kent regretted to have to refer to this, but now was the time.

Ald. Walkem said there was a by-law now preventing freight cars from running on the streets in the day time, but it was ignored. "We might put a little bunting on the cars and let the people see the decorations," remarked the witty alderman. He thought the people would support the by-law.

Ald. Shaw spoke in favor of the by-law.

"The cars," said Ald. Craig, "are not to interfere with passenger traffic." If the business was large enough, continued Mr. Craig, a new site would be apt to be selected.

The report then passed.

ELOPES WITH ACTRESS.

Cleveland Man Must Suffer Wrath of Outraged Wife.

Columbus, Ohio, June 19.—A dramatic scene occurred in police court when Mrs. Lloyd F. Harms, of Cleveland, confronted her husband and the colored girl with whom he was arrested in this city. Mrs. Harms was clad in worn garments which had been presented her by friends that she might make a proper appearance, while the colored woman was dressed like an aristocrat in garments bought for her by Harms.

Harms is a Cleveland attorney, and was arrested in company with a member of a colored vaudeville troupe, whom he brought from Cleveland. When arrested they were occupying the same room, and their clothes were in the same trunk. The girl fainted when the arrest was made. She is a good looking quadroon.

Harms has been defiant, and the city brought his wife from Cleveland to prove his past record. Mrs. Harms says that he has run away with ten different women, and she has forgiven him, but this time he passed the bounds of mercy. She will prosecute him, not only on the charge for which he was present in court, but also for abandonment and nonsupport. She has two children, one a babe in arms.

Married At Athens.

Athens, June 18.—A very pretty house wedding took place this morning at the residence of the bride, when J. Alden Slack, of this village, was united in the bonds of holy matrimony to Mrs. M. Angie Parber. The ceremony was performed by Rev. rural dean Wright, rector of Lansdowne Rear. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a most bountiful wedding breakfast. The newly married couple have left on their wedding tour. They have the earnest wishes of the people of this village and surrounding country for their future happiness. The wedding gifts were most useful and costly, testifying to the high esteem in which both the bride and groom are held.

Most Remarkable.

Seven hours Oswego, 50c.; four hours Syracuse, $1.25. Steamer Columbian, Friday, 8 a.m.

A C. P. R. locomotive jumped the tracks on the Labelle branch, Sunday, and two Ottawa men in charge were badly hurt. Fireman Cardiff is in a Montreal hospital in a dangerous condition. How the accident happened is a mystery.

No order in council has yet been passed appointing Col. O'Grady-Haly major-general commanding the Canadian militia, although it is generally understood that he has been chosen to fill the position for one year.

All disorders caused by a bilious state of the system can be cured by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. No pain, griping or discomfort attending their use. Try them.

Four children, three boys and one girl, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the Leadville, Col., home for friendless children.

If you had taken two of Carter's Little Liver Pills before retiring you would not have had that coated tongue or bad taste in the mouth this morning. Keep a vial with you for occasional use.
