Is This Not Wonderful?

NEARLY 10 YEARS

Lockeport, April 6th, 1899

To Egyptian Rheumatic Oil Co., Ltd., Halifax, N. S.

I suffered severely from Rheumatism in my shoulders for a very long time (nearly ten years). I was unable to put on my clothing without assistance. I heard of Egyptian Rheumatic Oil, and was induced to try it. I found it gave me immediate relief and continued using it and am almost as well as ever I was. I faithfully recommend it to all sufferers.

Yours truly,
JACOB G. LOCKE.

C.P.R. LAND TAXATION.

Richardson's Amendment Has Few Supporters in House.

Ottawa, June 21.—This afternoon Mr. Richardson moved an amendment to the motion to go into supply, declaring that all C.P.R. lands in the northwest shall be patented before February 16th, 1901, the object being to make them subject to taxation. The western members presented the case from the standpoint of the people of the northwest. The amendment was opposed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Charles Tupper and was voted down, Mr. Richardson, finding only five supporters. In supply a number of items were passed and the house adjourned at 12.40.

The premier, in answer to Mr. Morrison, said that after the treaty of commerce and navigation between Great Britain and Japan, which was signed in London, July 16th, 1894, was negotiated, Canada was invited by Great Britain to declare whether or not she would become a party to it. The government came to the conclusion that Canada would not become a party to it. The reason for this was they did not want to alienate Canada's rights, and thereby preclude the possibility of making an arrangement in the future which might be beneficial to Canada.

Replying to Mr. Taylor, Dr. Borden said that he had made inquiries and asked for a report in reference to the case of Corpl. Courtney, who was degraded from his rank at Kingston for insubordination on the 18th of June, the day before the matter was brought to the attention of the house. That report had not yet been received, but he had a report from Lieut.-Col. F. G. Stone, inspector-general of artillery, an imperial officer, dated June 15th, as follows: "There are no grounds for considering that Corpl. Courtney was detailed for duty which would justify him in objecting to perform from conscientious motives."

Mr. Bergeron asked whether the report of the analysis of emergency rations by Prof. Rottan had been laid on the table. Dr. Borden replied that the report had been received, and was at once sent to the committee of investigation before copies had been made. He would endeavor to get a copy made of the information of the house.

Sir Charles Tupper asked whether the premier was prepared to make any statement in relevance to the condition of affairs in British Columbia.

Sir Wilfrid replied that he was sorry to say he was not in a position to make any statement to the house, but he hoped he would be in a position to do so to-morrow, but was not certain.

AN ABSENCE OF NEWS

From Pekin About Seymour's Force.

SEND RELIEF TO TIEN TSIN

ADMIRAL KEMPFF'S MESSAGE TO NAVY DEPARTMENT.

It Has Caused Considerable Uneasiness—French Minister Says There is Nothing to Justify the Alarming Reports — Germany Will Send Out Two Naval Batteries.

London, June 22.—There is still a disquieting absence of authentic news from Pekin and also concerning admiral Seymour's force. The uneasiness is increased by admiral Kempff's message to the American navy department. His reference to the despatch of a relief party to Tien Tsin is interpreted in some quarters as meaning that events have forced the hands of the allies, compelling them to move without waiting for the reinforcements that are considered necessary, elsewhere the divergence in admiral Bruce's and admiral Kempff's despatches, apparently transmitted from Taku on the same day, is regarded as furnishing a hope that the American admiral was misled by a native rumor, as the Japanese officers were the other day, and that the situation is less serious than admiral Kempff believed.

Apart from these despatches there is hardly any news of consequence. A force of British blue jackets has been landed at Woo Sung to protect the telegraph station, but as no signs of threatening danger were found, the men were re-embarked.

It is noteworthy that the situation is viewed in official quarters in Paris and Berlin with a certain degree of optimism.

M. Delcasse, the French foreign minister, in a declaration in the chamber of deputies, contended that there was absolutely nothing to justify the alarming reports of the last few days, while officials in Berlin do not conceal their disposition to believe that the foreign envoys at Pekin will be found to be safe. These hopeful views, however, do not affect the government's preparations in China. Germany's decision to send out two naval batteries with a total of about 2,000 men, involves the greatest undertaking of the kind that she has yet attempted, but all the departments are working together with characteristic exactness and the men will be ready in a few days.

The British cruisers Isis and Dido have been detached from the Mediterranean squadron and ordered to China. They have sailed for Malta.

A Shell In Her Boilers.

London, June 22.—A despatch to the Times from Shanghai says that steamers which left Taku after the bombardment of the forts there by the foreign fleet have arrived at Shanghai. Their officers report the Boxers caused great destruction on the night of June 15th, in the native city of Tien Tsin, in the presence of the foreign troops, who, however, were sufficiently strong to protect the foreign settlement.

The torpedo destroyer Whiting has arrived at Che Foo from Taku. She has an unexploded Chinese shell in one of her boilers. She is going to Nagasaki to repair.

Senator Davis Alarmed.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 22.—In the opinion of senator Davis, Minnesota, chairman of the senate committee on foreign affairs, the situation in China is even more serious than published, and may develop into an international problem such as the powers have not had to deal with in many years.

"No man can tell what will come out of the present situation in China," said senator Davis. "Generations to come may find that in awakening China the western world has brought into existence a giant which will insist on taking part in affairs at inopportune moments. It seems inevitable that China will be partitioned. Certainly, the acting empress will be dethroned. This cannot be done without a war which will probably repeat itself many times."

Safe On The Sixteenth.

Paris, June 22.—The minister of foreign affairs, M. Delcasse, in the chamber of deputies, yesterday, said he had received a despatch dated June 20th, saying that "the legations and foreigners at Pekin were safe and sound, June 16th."

M. Delcasse added: "At the present moment we have in China 2,500 men, and, before long shall have 4,000 and eight cruisers, four gunboats and a despatch vessel. France, united with Russia, will be able to work in concert with other powers to restore order and secure the institution of a government capable of guaranteeing all foreigners that safety which the Chinese enjoy in France. As regards the security of foreigners in China and of Frenchmen in Yunnan," continued M. Delcasse, "the government could only express hopes; but the Chinese government and the viceroy of Yunnan were fully aware of their responsibility."

Tien Tsin Bombarded.

Washington, D.C., June 22.—Acting secretary of the navy, Mr. Hackett, received a cablegram last evening from admiral Kempff, dated Che-Foo, June 21st, saying Tien Tsin is being bombarded and that much of the American consulate, as well as much of the foreign concessions, are being destroyed. A relief party is en route to Tien Tsin, including 120 Angrican marines, under major Waller.

The Chinese minister continues his confident declaration that there is no state of war existing. The state department hold to the same view, basing its position on the absence of any authentic information showing that the Chinese government has directed or been party to any of the overt acts so far committed against the foreign interests in China.

UNIQUE IN PARTY'S HISTORY.

Never Before Named Candidates For Offices Unanimously.

Philadelphia, June 22.—The closing scenes of the republican national convention yesterday made it unique in the history of the party.

For the first time since the organization of the party in 1856 both the candidates, president and vice-president, were the unanimous choice of the convention on the first ballot.

In 1868 and again in 1872 Grant received a unanimous nomination on the first ballot, but he was the only republican presidential candidate who did, and on both occasions the candidates for vice-president had opposition.

The convention did just what it had seemed to me almost certain to do ever since Sunday. The fact that Roosevelt felt that New York state needed him for two years more and the social life in Washington held few attractions for a man of his energy and temperament influenced a good many of the delegates from insisting upon his election, but after a canvass of the other candidates they swung back to Roosevelt like the needle to the pole.

When Alabama was called it yielded to Ohio and senator Foraker took the platform to nominate McKinley. Then the convention cut loose and cheered as senator Foraker concluded his nomination. The delegates started to cheer. One mighty wave of shout swept over the convention first. Then pandemonium appeared to have broken loose. Thousands of red, white and blue pampas plumes on the ends of long staffs were waved and flags, hats, coats and canes were flung into the air.

The cheering swelled to a steady roar. The standards of the state delegations were torn from the placards and carried to the platform, the cheers increasing as the procession advanced. For over fifteen minutes the roaring continued without abatement, the vast audience varying its programme by singing "John Brown's Body." The band was playing, but no one beyond the leader could hear it, you only knew it was playing from the movement of the leader's baton.

When the convention had cheered itself hoarse governor Roosevelt rose to second McKinley's nomination. His appearance was greeted by a wild yell from the back of the hall, where some of the western delegations sat, and then the audience went off its feet again. Senator Lodge after a few minutes tried to stop the cheering, but could not.

Finally there was comparative quiet, but Roosevelt's speech was so thickly punctuated with applause that it was hard to hear much of it. As he concluded there was a repetition of the cheering that had followed the first presentation of McKinley's name, only this time the cheers were mixed with cries of "Roosevelt."

When the roll call was completed every vote had been cast for McKinley, the only man except Ulysses S. Grant to receive every vote in a republican convention on the first ballot.

At 12.50, when chairman Lodge announced the result, a second demonstration that eclipsed the first was started and continued until the crowd in the hall was exhausted.

Lafayette Young, of Iowa, who had been an ardent Dolliver man, nominated governor Roosevelt in a speech that went straight to the hearts of the delegates and such of the vast audience as could hear him.

As he concluded with the mention of Roosevelt's name, there was an outburst that simply defied description. It started with a yell and changed to a howl. Then the band truck up "There'll Be a Hot Time," and the delegations started a parade about the hall, bearing the state standards.

Chairman Lodge rapped for order after a time and was answered by "three cheers for Teddy Roosevelt." After these there came a tiger, then three cheers more while the band played "America," and the audience sang it.

Finally the audience climbed down off the tables and chairs, but intermittent cheering was kept up until Michael Murray, of Boston, who seconded the nomination, was well into his speech. As he concluded there was another outburst of applause and cheers.

The convention would not keep quiet. It wanted Roosevelt nominated. Senator Depew took the platform and the convention came to order to listen to one of the most popular speeches of the convention. When he thought he had finished the convention yelled "more, more," and he had to continue.

At two o'clock the roll call on the vice-presidential nomination was announced. He received every vote in the convention except his own.

The announcement of the result was the signal for another demonstration.

Carter Broken In Health.

Leavenworth, Kan., June 22.—Close confinement within a penitentiary has proved too much for Oberlin M. Carter, ex-captain of engineers, United States army, and he is broken in health and spirits. He showed signs of giving way completely and warden McChughey has found it necessary to change his employment and place of confinement at night.

Special Service Boat.

Gananoque, June 22.—J. B. Stetson, of the Gananoque inn, has rented the steamer Antelope to run during the summer as a special service boat for tourists stopping at the inn. It will run a daily excursion out of here to some of the river points. Saturday it will run to Brockville.

Many citizens who desired to attend the excursion to Oswego this morning arrived at the wharf just a few minutes after nine o'clock and found that the steamer Columbian had started. Kingstonians are noted for the habit of lateness.

The "old boys" of Huron will meet at Goderich, July 4th. The 48th Highlanders' band, of Toronto, will help in a great day.

Sunday afternoon the Oddfellows will decorate the graves of departed brethren in Cataraqui cemetery.

OOM'S NOTES NO GOOD

Burghers Not Willing To Invest In Them.

THEY MAY YET BE FORCED

SINCE KRUGER HAS ISSUED A PROCLAMATION.

Baden-Powell Slept in Gen. Hutton's Camp on Sunday Night—Telling of the Fight in Which the Earl of Airlie Was Killed—Under British Protection.

London, June 22.—South African news is meagre and of small importance. Nothing has been received from Gen. Roberts. Chief interest centres in the movement to isolate the Transvaal from the Orange River colony, which Gen. Buller's advance to Zand Spruit is regarded as considerably furthering. The railway is open to Zand Spruit, but is damaged ahead of that place. The correspondents say that many Boers are surrendering.

A despatch to the Times from Lorenzo Marquez, says that the Transvaal government is in financial straits, and that president Kruger is trying to meet the emergency by issuing treasury notes, which, however, the people are refusing to accept. A proclamation has been issued, making their acceptance obligatory, and declaring that those burghers who refuse to accept them will be treated as enemies of the state, and their property will be liable to confiscation.

Telling Of The Fight.

Pretoria, June 18, via Kroonstadt, June 20, (9.50 p.m.)—On Tuesday last there was very hard fighting on both flanks of the Boer position and their centre was almost impregnable. Gen. French went to the left and entered a section of the country that was unsuitable for cavalry manoeuvres. His force was surrounded, and sustained a heavy cross fire. They made a splendid fight, however, and the Boers retreated just as the artillery ammunition was exhausted.

Hamilton's division advanced on the right, and Gen. Broadwood's brigade became involved rather seriously. While advancing between high kopjes against the Boers in their front they were surprised by a cross fire from snipers in a mealie field and on surrounding kopjes. The number of Boers increased rapidly, and their rifle fire caused much damage among the artillery horses. The Boers advanced over a rise in the ground for 500 or 600 yards, but were checked by artillery fire. Then the 12th lancers on the right made a frontal charge, while the Household cavalry went to the right and cleared the mealie field. It was in this fight that the earl of Airlie was killed.

After it was over he was found with a bullet in his heart. Col. Egerton Green was wounded in the thigh, and was taken prisoner. He has been heard of since as doing well. There were very few casualties among the British considering the short range at which the fighting took place.

No Transvaalers took part in the engagement. The entire force that opposed the British was made up of Hollanders who have settled in the Transvaal, colonial rebels and foreign mercenaries.

During the engagement two of the British guns were firing toward the front and two others towards the rear. Gen. Baden-Powell slept last night (Sunday) in Gen. Hutton's camp. He arrived here to-day with an escort. Col. Plumer remains at Rustenburg.

Railway communication has been restored, and a proclamation just issued warns the Boers that if the railway or telegraph is cut again the farm house nearest to the scene will be burned. Gen. Dewet's farm at Rhenoster has already been burned.

The wives of president Kruger, commandant Gen. Botha and Gen. Lucas Meyer remain at Pretoria under the protection of the British flag.

Found The Draft.

Cape Town, June 21.—The Ons Land, the Dutch newspaper, in discussing the new ministry of Sir Gordon Sprigg, says it will receive a fair trial, and will be judged by its works and not by its personnel.

Among the papers found in president Steyn's office at Bloemfontein was a draft, dated in July, of the manifesto, which he issued when the war broke out on Oct. 11th.

The Lie They Issued.

London, June 12.—The war office has issued a list of casualties in engagements around Heilbron, previously undisclosed.

Lord Roberts has adopted the Transvaal mining regulations for military administration.

A despatch from Lorenzo Marques says: "The Boers have printed and posted in every corner the following: 'Machadodorp, Monday.—The Paris exposition has closed and France has declared war against England. Fifty miles of railway have been destroyed in the Free State and 3,000 British have surrendered.'"

Five miles of telegraph from Komatipoort are down, and native runners traverse the distance. The Boers continue to assert that they have had successes east of Pretoria.

The first train for Pretoria left Cape Town yesterday.

Advance Unchecked.

London, June 22.—Gen. Buller is pressing his advance. On Wednesday he followed the Johannesburg railway to Paarde Kop, thirty-one miles from Standerton. About 300 Boers, singly or in small parties, have surrendered.

Paarde Kop, Transvaal, June 21.—The British column arrived here to-day. The presence of the army has induced many burghers to lay down their arms. The retreating Boers have destroyed a bridge and culverts, but the Sandspruit bridge is little damaged.

The police were inspected this morning by the commissioners.

CASE OF BLACK FRIDAY.

There Was a Break In Many Stocks To-Day.

Montreal, June 22.—The stock market had a mild sort of a black Friday to-day, due to the big break in the price of Canadian Pacific. London went down a half to-day and the local market was so weakened with the load it had to take care of yesterday that the local price succumbed to the extent to 1¾, the low water mark being 88. Of the 4,000 shares which the local market had to absorb yesterday were some 2,000 shares from Toronto, where an account had become so impaired by the recent declines that it had to be thrown on the market. Berlin's bad financial condition compelling a good deal of realizing, along with the bad crop prospects have been the bear cards. Montreal operators were compelled to realize on a lot of other stocks to-day to carry their Pacific along and the result was that the general list fell from one to five points.

Rev. Mr. Troop, pastor of St. Martin's Episcopal church, who recently resigned on account of the free pew question, has gained his point. At a meeting of the congregation last night it was decided that hereafter the seats should be free and unappropriated, and Mr. Troop consented to withdraw his resignation.

THE KHEDIVE ILL.

Egyptian Ruler in English Waters and May Have Diphtheria.

London, June 22.—Abbas Himli, the khedive of Egypt, arrived in English waters yesterday on his first official visit to this country. The royal yacht Osborne brought his highness from Flushing to Port Victoria, where he was received with a salute from the fleet anchored at Sheerness, but he was prevented by illness from continuing his journey.

The khedive is accompanied by the commander of the Anglo-Egyptian forces, Gen. Wingate, and Sir James Rennell Rodd, the British secretary of legation and secretary of the consulate general in Egypt.

The khedive later is said to be suffering from symptoms of diphtheria, which increased during the voyage. The attending physicians, after a consultation on board the royal yacht, determined to wait until Saturday before deciding on the question of his removal to London.

To Bid For Contract.

Philadelphia, June 22.—At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Bethlehem steel company, the announcement was made that the company proposes to bid for the entire contract for 36,000 tons of armor plate, for which bids had been requested by the government from all steel companies. A member of the board of directors said:

"The company will bid for the entire contract, and I think I may safely say the rate specified will be lower than any that we have ever offered the government before. The reason for this is easily found in the magnitude of the contract to be awarded. Heretofore the government has seldom made contracts for more than 2,000 tons of steel plate at any one time."

An Act To Be Amended.

Winnipeg, Man., June 22.—A civic deputation consisting of mayor Wilson and aldermen waited on the ministers yesterday morning in regard to the exemption of railways from payment of municipal taxation, stating that if the proposed action was carried out the city would be deprived of $6,000 in revenue and possibly $20,000 when the action pending between the C.P.R. and city is settled.

Premier Macdonald, replying, promised to give the subject serious consideration.

In the legislature yesterday afternoon assurance was given that the act would be amended.

Building New Cottage.

Alexandria Bay, June 22.—Work has been begun on George Boldt's new cottage, to be constructed on Heart island, during the summer. The work on the boathouse and clubhouse is now fairly under way and will be completed before much is done on the cottage. The workmen are delayed in the construction because of lack of material. The only way it can be taken to the island is with sailing sloops and these are inadequate.

Pleaded "Not Guilty."

Montreal, June 22.—Thomas O'Conner, a member of the Toronto lacrosse team of 1897, has been reinstated to amateur ranks by the C.A.A. He is the fifth member to be so treated.

Count De Toulouse Lantres, brought here from Chicago on a charge of obtaining $700 from the Bank of Nova Scotia, under false pretences, was arranged in the police court this morning and pleaded "not guilty."

Next War To Be With England.

Berlin, June 22.—A sensation has been caused by a declaration of Herr Mertel, a member of the Reichstag, and editor-in-chief of the Deutsche Tageszeitung, the Agrarian organ, who, in the course of a political speech at Koernburg said:

"Our next war will be naval and against England. Of this we have been quietly assured by the government and it was because of this assurance that the Agrarians voted for the naval bill."

Very Hot In Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Man., June 22.—Yesterday was one of the hottest days of the year. The thermometer at two o'clock in the afternoon registered ninety degrees in the shade. Very sultry weather prevailed all over the province.

Norman Hadskis, aged seventeen, son of George Hadskis, city tax collector, was drowned in the Red river, last night while swimming. The youth was showing a companion how to swim and misjudged his own abilities.

In Buying Silverware

You should exercise a little judgment. Remember, all is not gold that glitters, and some dealers are willing to handle inferior goods that look "just as nice," but they won't stand any wear. You can find the trademark of every reputable silver manufacturer stamped on our goods and the prices are just as reasonable in proportion to the quality we keep.
