ARMY REGULATIONS.

Col. Aylmer, acting commanding officer, at the close of his inspection at Niagara, is reported to have referred to the camp canteen. He would not, he said, permit spirits to be sold on the grounds, but believed the men should be allowed lager beer and other light refreshments. The men who wanted drink would have it, he said, and if they did not take too much it was better they should have it in the camp then on the street.

The W.C.T.U. and the Dominion Alliance will be pretty certain to make a note of this speech, in the Mail, and lay it before the honorable the minister of militia. According to the regulations not even lager beer can be sold on the camp ground, and there is no one who has the power to alter or amend them. A year ago complaint was made that the regulation was broken. It was denied. This year it is announced that the camps are under surveillance, and later on there may be a new demand for an enquiry and under circumstances which cannot be ignored.

Dr. Borden, in parliament, was understood to say that the canteen was not for the sale of liquor. Col. Aylmer thinks it is, and at Niagara he said: "I think we know our own business best." He has committed a great indiscretion, to say the least of it.

CHINA'S OPEN DOOR.

The attitude of the American government on the Chinese question is a little peculiar. The instruction given to the American representative and American forces is to protect only the lives of the Americans and their property also. "It succeeded in securing the recognition of the principle of the open door," says the Outlook, "and it will do everything in its power to keep that principle alive as a matter of universal policy in all parts of China." Just what the United States did to secure that open door is not quite apparent, but it is evident that if it is to keep the fifty millions of trade it has enjoyed it will have to act in concert with the other powers, and that is just what it does not want to do. The rebellion in China can only be supressed by international intervention. The Chinese army with its antique outfit and spirit of insubordination, is quite unequal to the task before it, and the powers that restore order will have something to say about the government henceforth. It may be, as the Outlook observes, that it is not certain the hour for dismemberment has arrived, but long since it was made clear that the powers that were most assertive of their influence were likewise in the better position to secure any advantages that were going. The United States may fence a bit, and its government may think it wise to stand off while other governments do the real police duty, but at heart its members are just as eager for territorial conquest, and a section of China is preferable to the Philippines at any time. Nothing short of the complete suppression of the Boxers will bring peace back to China, and the Chinese government, having conspired with them, is unfitted for the duty.

ALL EYES ON WEDNESDAY.

The by-law to bonus the Bent goods manufacturing company has passed in Windsor by a vote of 1,257 for, against five opposed. The board of trade, under president d'Avignon, worked in harmony with the city council in sustaining the by-law before the people, and the result is as much to their credit as to the public spirit of the lively western town. It was a rather hard proposition, because a three-fifth vote was necessary to carry, meaning 1,041 votes, whereas in Kingston, for a smelter, only a one-third favorable vote will be required, the government having given special privileges to municipalities in support of such a valuable industry to the country.

On Wednesday, unquestionably, all eyes here in Kingston will be upon the polls and all hearts upon the result. The great danger is that of indifference. Everybody feels that there is only one opinion in Kingston regarding the merits of the scheme. There are a few opposed, as there were to the water-works by-law and other useful propositions, but the reflecting sentiment of the city is with the council and board of trade. The proposed industry is highly meritorious. Not only will the vast expenditure of three or four hundred thousand dollars in the establishment of a plant bring fresh life to the city, but it is a guarantee of the permanent establishment of an industry employing from the start at least 100 men, and which, if successful, will lead to several other associate industries and to a wide expansion of its work. Then it feeds our railways, and in this respect Kingston requires influence. The railways do not consider its interests, but subordinate it to the convenience of larger cities. The greater business that Kingston can offer the more likely it is to command better accommodation. Then it will develop our back country. The sterility of this section has been a weakness to Kingston. Turn the rock into wealth and there will be a flow of business and strength to the town since it is the natural shipping port of eastern Ontario.

Iron is the king of industries. The smelter has been a great boon to Hamilton. Those who have projected the Kingston works are skilled engineers, energetic mine owners and capitalists. They have treated the city committees with great fairness and consideration, and their choice of Kingston has been of their own free will, from pure admiration of its suitability for manufacturing as well as for residence. Good feeling has marked the negotiations throughout and it will be a great pleasure for the council and board of trade to meet the citizens on Wednesday in the triumphal support of the by-law.

EDITORIAL VIEWS.

The Boers declare that they nearly caught Kitchener. The British, several times, nearly caught Botha and De Witt. The honors are divided.

The federal government appear to be clearing the decks of the ship of state for action. The people who will not believe that an election is near will get a severe shock.

Parliament, and its privileges, should not shield any man from the consequences of his misstatements. The men who represent the dignity of the people should be above abusing anyone.

McInnes has acted the wiser part of vacating his office and not waiting until he has been pushed out of it. He has been singularly unfortunate because he has been singularly lacking in judgment.

Hugh John Macdonald, regarding the school question as settled, refused to re-open it at the suggestion of the Winnipeg trustees. Now an appeal is being made to Ottawa. Perhaps Sir Charles Tupper is ready to again espouse the cause!

Toronto has been very generous towards a retiring high school teacher by giving him an allowance of $1,500 a year. A teacher should be paid a salary commensurate with his service, and out of it he should provide for his future necessities.

The Toronto News says Dr. Borden is shifting the blame of his department upon a subordinate. But Dr. Neilson comes forward and says that the minister is not to blame, that he left the food question to the medical staff, and it acted in good faith.

The government has been obliged to cancel a recent appointment on the Lachine canal because the Montreal liberals would not have it. The government may be awaking to the eternal fitness of things all around, but the process has been somewhat slow.

The Military Gazette has it that "the emergency food supplied to the Canadian contingent was not the article which served a satisfactory test in Kingston." The evidence of Dr. Neilson is that it was just the same. Perhaps the Gazette will be fair enough to make the correction.

The publisher of the Military Gazette denies that he apologized for the food scandal in his paper. He only regretted the personal attack on Dr. Borden. He "had no knowledge of the facts, and was not in a position to form an opinion." Which is about as near as some people can get to making an apology.

Uniform Appraisal.

Yesterday the board of trade passed a unanimous resolution in favor of a dominion board of appraisal. It was understood that the government had been considering the question, because goods are not appraised alike in all ports and the merchants of some cities suffer in consequence. By a central board giving one decision, uniform valuations will result and the merchants of all cities will be placed on the same footing. The board requested that Thomas Driver, of Kingston, be constituted one of the board. His efficiency and intelligence warrant the recommendation.

Conferred With Board.

Last night Mrs. Dr. Shortt and Miss Alice Chown waited upon the management committee of the board of education and conferred regarding domestic science classes for the girls of the senior fourth grade. The matter is under advisement. Mrs. Shortt leaves shortly for Toronto and Hamilton and the result of her investigations into the conduct of schools classes at these places will be reported to the committee. The directors of the domestic science school make a reasonable offer to the board.

A POPULAR HOTEL MAN.

H. Backus, Proprietor of Royal Hotel, Shelburne, Ont.

Tells of His Rescue From Indigestion by Dr. Arnold's English Toxin Pills—Every Other Remedy Was Useless.

Every commercial traveller, and in fact every person whose business necessitates travelling to Shelburne, knows H. Backus, the genial proprietor of the Royal hotel, and everyone who knows him respects him. On many occasions his friends have been under the necessity of offering him their sympathies with him on account of the pain he has had to endure as a result of indigestion, of a most severe and obstinate type, with its attendant evils of sour stomach, biliousness, sick headache, flatulence, etc. So severe were the attacks at times, that Mr. Backus was confined to his bed, and was under the care of his physician. The most rigid care had to be exercised in regulating his diet. Many articles of food, pastry, meats, etc., were rigorously debarred, as they caused the most intense agony. Various patent medicines of pretend wonderful merit were given to him, but none did him the slightest good. Mineral waters, etc., were tried, but without success. Mr. Backus reached finally a condition of almost continual suffering, writing of the case he says: "It was not until I began using Dr. Arnold's English Toxin Pills that I found peace. A few boxes of this splendid medicine worked wonders. My stomach is to-day in absolutely perfect condition, and my digestive system does its work promptly and perfectly. I have gained thirty pounds in weight in four weeks since starting to use Dr. Arnold's English Toxin Pills, and am robust and healthy, sleep and eat like a boy, awake refreshed and vigorous, feel twenty years younger, in fact."

Dr. Arnold's English Toxin Pills are sold at all drug stores, large box 75c., small box, 25c., or sent postpaid on receipt of price, by The Arnold Chemical Company, Limited, Canada Life Building, 11 King street west, Toronto.

THINKS OUT NEW SYSTEM.

Toronto Student Would Divorce Legislative From Executive.

Toronto, June 23.—Stapleton Caldecott, a student of municipal affairs, has been devoting his attention to a new system of municipal government for Toronto.

"We have outgrown our present system," said Mr. Caldecott, "and we must divorce the legislative from the executive."

"What I would suggest would be to have legislators—you may call them aldermen if you like—who would be elected from the whole city. There would be twenty-five of them.

"An executive body,—call them commissioners if you are so disposed—would be appointed by the aldermen. There would be five of them, and they would receive $5,000 a year. They would devote their entire time to the city's service. They would be appointed for no particular time, but would hold office while they conducted the business satisfactorily."
