WAS ACCIDENTALLY POISONED

Mrs. Cutts Takes Bug Poison in Mistake For Liquor.

A most distressing accident, which caused the death of a devoted wife and mother, occurred last night between ten and half past ten o'clock in the western part of the city. The unfortunate affair should serve as a warning to people who are in the habit of partaking of liquids from unlabeled bottles or who do not take the trouble to strike a light to ensure that they have the proper bottle.

Mrs. Mary Cutts, wife of George H. Cutts, coachman for H. A. Calvin, was not feeling very well last evening and retired early. Shortly after ten o'clock she was awakened by the home coming of her husband. She was afflicted with pains and arose for the purpose of taking a spoonful of liquor. Going to a cupboard in which were two eight ounce bottles, exactly alike, neither being labeled, she took the one which she thought contained the liquor and swallowed a teaspoonful of the stuff, which proved to be bug poison. At once he realized her mistake and cried out, "Oh, George," falling insensible almost instantly. Her husband called in some neighbors and then summoned Drs. Bell and Hanley, but ere they arrived the gentle spirit of the sufferer had taken its flight, death ensuing in less than five minutes from the time the poison was taken.

The two physicians used their utmost skill in trying to restore animation, trying artificial respiration and all other means in the hope of re-kindling the spark of life, but their efforts proved unavailing. Coroner Dundell was notified of the occurrence, but at the time did not consider an inquest necessary, everything pointing to accidental death. The afflicted husband was nearly crazed by his sad bereavement.

The deceased was formerly Miss Mary Smith, of English parentage, aged about thirty years. She had enjoyed only five years of married life and with her two children, aged two and three years respectively, was as happy and contented as could be.

Dr. Bell secured the two bottles in question. They are exactly alike and the liquids they contain do not vary a shade in color. The bottle of bug poison was purchased from a peddler and was not labelled, which is a direct violation of the law, and to this fact alone may be attributed the untimely death under such distressing circumstances of Mrs. Cutts. The saddened husband has the sympathy of a wide circle of friends in his bereavement. The stricken family reside in Wade's lane, almost fronting St. James' church.

THE REAL SITUATION

As To Chinese Troubles Not Yet Disclosed.

TO ASSAULT THE CHINESE.

A PROPOSAL MADE TO DO SO ON SUNDAY NIGHT.

There is Much Uneasiness at Chefoo—Merchants Are Preparing to Leave—Nothing Heard From Pekin Later Than June 16th.

London, June 26.—The suspense as to the real situation in China continues. The only information received by the government is rear admiral Bruce's despatch, and another announcing that the troops sent on the battleship Terrible from Hong Kong have arrived at Taku.

Have Reached Tien Tsin.

Chefoo, June 26.—Rear admiral Kempff reports, by a Japanese torpedo boat, that the combined forces entered Tien Tsin on Saturday, June 23rd, sustaining very small losses. They started on Sunday to relieve the force which left Tien Tsin on June 10th, and which is believed to be surrounded near Pekin.

According to Japanese reports admiral Seymour has been captured and the ministers have left Pekin guarded by Chinese soldiers. Their whereabouts are unknown.

A despatch from Chefoo, dated June 23rd reports that the Terrible has landed at Taku a brigade with improvisioned mounted guns for the relief column. Capt. Scott, who commands the Terrible, is the officer who invented the mobile mountings for the naval guns employed in the relief of Ladysmith. It is assured that the guns landed at Taku with their mountings are similar to those used in Natal. The brigade is also supposed to be a naval one, and additional to the military troops embarked at Hong Kong.

A despatch to the Central News, from Chefoo, dated June 25th, says that the Terrible has arrived there from Taku. She reports that a force of 800 Sikhs and 200 of the Welsh fusiliers, which she landed, succeeded in joining the German, American and Russian forces about nine miles from Tien Tsin and that it was proposed to assault the Chinese Sunday night.

The foregoing is not altogether clear. The cutting off of the force is apparently explained by a despatch to the Daily Telegraph, which was sent from Shanghai Monday. This says that successive failures have attended the efforts to relieve Tien Tsin, the Russians in the first instance and the Germans in the second, having been repulsed. The commander of the Austrian gun boat Zeenta has sent to the Austrian ministry of marine a despatch to the effect that Chefoo, which has hitherto been quiet, is now threatened. He adds that he left fifteen men to protect the consulate on Monday and went with all speed to Taku with consular despatches.

There is a similar report from an unofficial source, according to which four guns have been added to the armament of the west fort at Chefoo, the garrison of which has been increased to 1,000 men. The residents of the town are uneasy and merchants are closing their offices and preparing to leave.

A despatch to the Central News from Shanghai says that director of railways Sheng has informed the consuls that his statement that the legations in Pekin were safe up to June 20th, was erroneous. The date should have been June 16th, instead of June 20th. The mistake arose through confusing the foreign calendars.

In the house of commons, referring to the failure of the American and Russian forces to reach Tien Tsin June 21st, the parliamentary secretary of the foreign office, Mr. Broderick, said that since then the British troops from Hong Kong have arrived at Taku and it was believed that 3,000 Japanese, 1,000 German and 2,000 French troops had also arrived there, but the government had no information regarding later operations.

To Stay Disturbances.

Hong Kong, June 25.—Strong reinforcements of Indian police with three Maxim guns have been sent from Kowloon to oppose the expected spread of disturbances in San Chuen. Anti foreign placards have been posted in Canton.

Thinks Worst Has Happened.

London, June 26.—"Foreign official opinion here," says a despatch from Shanghai to the Daily Express, dated yesterday, "inclines to the belief that the worst has happened to the legations at Pekin and to admiral Seymour as well. Even if the legations were safe on June 19th, there is no guarantee that they are safe now. The situation, in fact, grows more and more gloomy. The entire absence of reliable news from the capital seems to justify the worst construction which can be put upon it.

"Bad news comes from Nankin, where the unrest is said to be growing hourly. Viceroy Liu Kin Yih has telegraphed the British authorities that he has ordered the five cruisers which have been lying off the harbor here to proceed to Nankin."

"General Ma's army," says a correspondent at Shan Hai Kwan, "consisting of 4,000 men, left a week ago for Pekin and Gen. Sung Ching's forces, numbering 2,500, left for the same place on June 15th.

"A careful estimate of the number and armament of the Che troops around Pekin puts the total at 300,000, and it is calculated that these troops possess 227 centimetre creusot guns, eighteen Krupps and 150 Maxims.

"Their supply of ammunition is practicall inexhaustible. It has been mainly supplied by a German firm at Carlowitz. Fully three-fourths of the Che forces are badly drilled, wholly undisciplined and quite unfamiliar with modern weapons."

Another Shanghai despatch says: "Li Ping Heng, the former governor of Shan Tung, who is intensely anti-foreign, has gone to the Kiang Yin forts on the Yang Tse. He has declared his intention of resisting the landing of British forces in that region."

Unite With Other Powers.

Berlin, June 26.—I was informed today by the foreign office that in case of a declaration of war against China, Germany will take part in the operations with the other powers. The declaration of war depends upon the explanations which have been demanded from China.

A COMBINED MOVEMENT

To Be Made Against the Forces of Dewet.

London, June 26.—The most important information from South Africa is Gen. Roberts' announcement of a combined movement in the Orange River Colony against commandant Dewet, who has been showing the most capable generalship. A despatch from Maseru, Basutoland, dated June 24th, reports that a number of Boers who slipped through the British lines between Ficksburg and Senekal, are moving in the neighborhood of Thaba N'Chu and Winburg, and are causing uneasiness in the Ladybrand district. It is possible that this was the force that Gen. Clements routed. Another despatch from Maseru says that there was heavy cannonading towards Hammonia all day Saturday.

According to the Times correspondent at Kroonstadt, commandant Dewet's burghers here are deserting daily. The tension among those remaining staunch is such that, whenever firing is heard, they burst into prayer and psalm singing.

Delayed The Supplies.

Cape Town, June 25.—A quantity of clothing and medicines consigned to Machadodorp, in the Transvaal for the benefit of British prisoners there has been delayed at Delagoa Bay. It is understood that Mr. Hay, the American consul at Pretoria, is going to interview president Kruger in the interest of the prisoners.

Had Sharp Fighting.

Pretoria, June 24, (via Kroonstadt).—Commandant Gen. Botha, after his retirement subsequent to his engagement with Gen. Roberts' forces took a very strong position north of Silverton, across the railway. On the following Saturday, one of his big guns, which had been placed on the track shelled the camp of the 11th British division. Gen. Hamilton and Gen. Broadwood were sent to attack the Boers and they made a long detour on the right. Gen. French commanded the troops on the left while the 11th division had the centre. The Boers disposed their whole force on the flanks and surrounded Gen. French, who was heavily engaged Monday. He succeeded, however, in driving the Boers to the east, but not until his artillery ammunition was almost exhausted. On the right flank, Gen. Broadwood's two batteries were surprised by a heavy rifle fire from an unsuspected position. They were saved only by a brilliant charge of the 12th Lancers, who killed twenty five Boers, but lost their commanding officer. A charge of the Household cavalry was checked by an impassable donga. Part of the main position was captured by the British Monday evening. Tuesday morning the Boers had disappeared, and Gen. Roberts rode over their position.

The British prisoners who were liberated at Waterval are forming composite regiments, which will be commanded by officers who were also captured by the Boers.

When Gen. French released the prisoners the men of "U" battery, who were captured at Sannas Post, seized the Boer Maxim guns covering the prison and dragged them twelve miles to Pretoria.

A prominent relative of president Kruger obtained a pass in order to visit the president, with letters urging him to return to Pretoria in the interests of the Boer residents, many of whom complain that their savings have been removed from the banks by the government. The envoy travelled north in a hotel omnibus, but this progress was stopped by commandant Gen. Botha, who told him that affairs had now become entirely military and were beyond the president's control. He directed the envoy to return to Pretoria and to explain the situation to the burghers at length. The envoy was also told to explain the situation to Mrs. Kruger.

A great quantity of supplies that were captured by the Boers in Natal, especially at Dundee, were found stored here. These included a hundred tons of compressed forage, biscuits and articles that the Boers were unable to use. They have now been returned to the army.

In view of the interruption to the communications south, Pretoria fort and Johannesburg have been connected by heliograph. Communication by this means were opened yesterday. The first question transmitted was one asking if Gen. Roberts would accept the presidency of the soldiers' institute at Johannesburg.

In 1878 and 1869, while in their teens, they were engaged to marry, but there was a lover's quarrel. He married, and less than two years ago his wife died. A few weeks ago Mrs. Mayer, who is a widow, went to San Francisco with an invalid sister and Mr. Spalding, followed her. They met and were married without notifying any of their friends until the ceremony had been performed.

THOUGHT 'TWAS MURDER.

Innocent Cause of a Wild Rumor and the Outcome.

For a time last night the police thought they had a murder case on hand. Between eleven and twelve o'clock the police received word that a man residing on Corrigan street had murdered his daughter. Police constable Naylon was despatched to investigate and on his way thither met a doctor who had also been summoned, having been told the same story. Upon arriving near the dwelling in question they found it surrounded by a vast crowd of people, who threatened to lynch the perpetrator of what they fully expected had been a terrible crime.

Now, as to the cause of all this uproar. It appears that upon the strength of a newspaper advertisement a man named John Conway moved his family into the city from Bedford. He is very strict with his family, and last night when his daughter, Miss Jennie Conway, aged twenty-one, requested permission to attend the Salvation army meeting in the cricket field, he granted it, but stipulated that she should return with her brother. Together with her brother and sister she went to the meeting and in returning she and her sister went on ahead while her brother walked behind with one of his acquaintances. The girls arrived home a few minutes ahead of their brother, and their father scolded them.

The father retired and the children remained in the kitchen conversing. One of them made a remark which was displeasing to the eldest girl, and was told to "shut up." The father upstairs heard the words, which he thought was addressed to him, so he came down and "cuffed" the supposed offender, who straightway became hysterical and aroused the whole neighborhood by her screeches. Hearing these the mother jumped out of bed and in the dark ran against the edge of a door and cut open her forehead. The daughter continued screeching until she lapsed into unconsciousness. Meanwhile a large gathering of neighbors assembled around the house, and seeing the unconscious girl and the mother with blood streaming from the wound in her forehead, concluded that murder had been committed.

The physician summoned examined the girl and diagnosing her case, quickly restored her to consciousness. Several stitches were required to close the wound in the mother's forehead. It is said by the police that the husband, because of the threatening attitude of the crowd, barricaded himself in a room, prepared to defend himself should needs be.
