INDIA FACES NEW HORROR.

WILL BRING DEATH FROM COLD AND DAMPNESS.

Louis Klopsch Returns After His Investigation of the Conditions in the Famine District—Two Million Lives Will Yet be Lost, He Believes—Cattle Practically All Dead.

London, June 18.—Louis Klopsch, proprietor of the Christian Herald, of New York, after spending a week in Paris on his way home from India, sailed for New York from Plymouth Tuesday on board the Hamburg-American line steamer Pennsylvania.

In an interview previous to his departure Mr. Klopsch said the mortality during the wet season in India was just commencing and must assume stupendous proportions, outnumbering the total of the deaths during the past six months from all causes, unless 20,000,000 blankets are quickly provided. The monsoon, India's greatest blessing, will prove appallingly disastrous on account of the cold and, Mr. Klopsch also said, the mortality will exceed 2,000,000. He further asserted that ninety per cent. of the cattle in the richest farming districts have perished.

Mr. Klopsch is none the worse for his long trip and is thoroughly satisfied with the methods adopted in the distribution of the American relief. One of his last acts in India was to buy 100,000 blankets for the sufferers.

How To Pronounce Chinese Names.

Boston Transcript.

An acknowledged authority on the pronunciation of Chinese names as transliterated into English assures us that there need be no serious difficulty in sounding the many Chinese names now appearing in the newspapers if the speaker will remember that the vowels in these names are uniformly those of the Italian or continental alphabet, namely, "a" is always about as in far, "e" always approximately as in they or hey, "i" always like i in machine or pin, "o" either like o of note, or now, and "u" always as the u of rule. "G" also, it should be remembered, every syllable has an independent value and should be given that value in pronunciation. "G" As for vowel sounds, they are pronounced exactly as written. These three rules will, if obeyed, insure a pronunciation of Chinese names as can be secured without oral instruction.

For example, under the first rule, one would say tai-kwo for Taku, not take-you as one may frequently hear the word pronounced; he-long-chang for Li Hung Chang, not li hung-chang; pek-king for Peking, not peking; shang-hai-kwan for Shanhaikwan, not shanghaikwan; tsong-li-yah-mun for Tsung Li Yamen, not tsong li yayment, and so on. Under the second rule Tien Tsin is pronounced tee-yen tsin, accenting the yen syllable, not teen tsin. Gen Nich's name is Neych. The Chinese coin tael is not tale, but tah-ale, pronounced quickly. Yunnan fu is yoon-nan-foo, not yuman-fu. In like manner all words are pronounced with syllabic distinctness and with uniform vowel sound. Under the third rule the province name Szechuan is sounded, not szekan, but nearly as echo-wan, emphasizing the "echo" very lightly. Nganhwei as ing-ang-hoo-way-ee, dropping the initial "n" sound. Liao-tung peninsula is leaho-tong, and the German possession Kiau Chau is Kowhow-hahow.

However, without multiplying examples, the reader of news from the much troubled far east will find his way through the many difficult names he is to meet in his reading in the near future, with sufficient safety, if he will but observe the three simple rules here given for their correct pronunciation.

Very Successful Camp.

Rev. A. Sims has returned from Westport where he had charge of the camp meeting of the Free Methodist district. He reports the camp as being the most successful ever conducted. There pitched twenty-six tents besides numerous other tents. Addresses were delivered by Rev. J. O'Regan, Perth, N.Y., and many pastors, resulting in the conversion of souls. The attendance was large and much good resulted. Not only was the camp well conducted, but the meetings were enthusiastic all the way through and much encouragement and spirituality were gained.

Mayor Minnes Pleased.

Mayor Minnes is well pleased with the result of the vote on the abolition bylaw. It was the cleanest and quietest polling that the city has ever witnessed. The fact that so many voted for the measure and so few against it is evidence that people have confidence in the scheme. Just as soon as the company is properly incorporated the city council will have a special meeting to formally ratify the will of the people.

Have The Sole Patent.

Hooper Bros., of this city, covered the boiler of the steamer Rideau Queen with triple-light asbestos, which they invented and of which they have the sole patent. The material is the lightest asbestos that has yet been made, and is a perfect non-conductor of heat.

WAS KINDLY REMEMBERED.

Rev. J. H. H. Coleman Not Forgotten by Congregation.

After the weekly prayer meeting in St. James' church last evening Rev. J. H. H. Coleman, who is about to depart for a new field of labor, was made the recipient of a couple of gifts from church workers. In behalf of the congregation Mrs. Chrysler presented Mr. Coleman with a purse containing $75 as a slight token of the congregation's appreciation of his labor during his stay among them. Miss Rosalind Corbett, in behalf of the boys' brigade, also presented Mr. Coleman with a handsome silk umbrella. Mr. Coleman, though deeply affected by these expressions of kindness and good will, replied suitably.

During his labors as curate of St. James' church, Mr. Coleman made many warm friends, endearing himself to the whole congregation. He was constantly a hard worker, possessing considerable executive ability, which he put to good service. Owing to his energy during the past year the finances of the church were much improved. He took an active part in Sunday school work, and as a result that part of the church work thrived under his guidance. It was mainly owing to his energy that the boys' brigade was again organized and put on a strong footing. Mr. Coleman leaves to-morrow to take up his new duties at Stirling and Frankford.

EARTH'S BLOSSOMS.

Good Roads

Oh, you husband, when you grumble at
Your wife's dressmaker's bill,
And about a costly bonnet fret and
stew,
Did you ever stop to reason how this world would take a chill
If your pretty wife and daughter dressed like you?

With your sombre black cravat, and
your ugly shiny hat,
You'd be cured a perfect antidote for mirth
You are practical enough, like the kitchen garden stuff,
But the women are the roses of the earth.

When a crowd of men are gathered it's a sad and solemn show—
It's a living breathing spectacle of gloom
Every single blow's garment might be better off from a crew
That had picked about an undertaker's room.

But if you let a woman go to that gathering of war
Across you will see a sight that's cheap
at any price
For, mid the mental hand, little and tender, she'll stand
Like a flashing, gleaming bird of paradise.

So we mustn't grow and grumble, though the bills be what they please,
For the satins and the other precious stuff
Not to carry though our trous to do gallantry at the knees
And we often are obliged to trim our sails
Though we labor every day so that they may be as easy.
When we see 'em, don't we get our money's worth?
Though they do come rather high we must have 'em, you and I.
For the women are the roses of the earth.

Rang The Wrong Bell.

A Kingston alderman, who was in Gananoque on Tuesday, relates the following incident: A farmer drove to the hay market with a load of hay, which he succeeded in selling. He could not find the weighman when he went to have his load weighed. Now there is a bell located near the hay market to call the weighman, and close to this bell there is another—the fire bell. The farmer didn't know which was which, and so accidentally rang the fire bell. In a minute or so the whole town gathered at the market to witness a supposed fire. The farmer couldn't understand it.

A Distinguished Canadian.

On Sunday, July 8th, the coadjutor bishop of Chicago, Rev. Charles P. Anderson, will preach the rite of confirmation in St. James' church. Coadjutor bishop Anderson is about to visit his native village, Orangeville, Ont., near Kempitville, and has been secured by Mr. MacMaring for the service. Rev. Mr. Anderson though a young man and a Canadian was unanimously elected to the coadjutor bishopric by the synod of Illinois.

Amherst Island Hay Crop Fails.

Farmers from Amherst Island, in the city to-day, said that the hay crop there was almost a total failure this year. They are ploughing up many of their hay fields and sowing them down. The heavy frost in the spring and the absence of rain in May destroyed the hay crop. A good rain during the first week of June helped the grain, but it was late to be of any use to the hay crop. There will be a great scarcity of hay this fall.

Picnic Well Attended.

Rev. Fr. Collins' Roman Catholic picnic, held in Cunningham's grove, Cushendall, Wednesday, was very well attended. A good programme of sports was run off in the afternoon. A fine tea was served on the grounds between five and seven p.m. A great many Kingstonians drove or wheeled down late in the afternoon, and spent the evening there.

The visitors were: Miss Nash, New York; Miss Foote, Denver, Col.; Miss Catherine O'Hara, Chatham; Miss Gray, Ottawa; Miss Miles and Miss Haney, Toronto; Miss Regan, London.

FRUEHLINGS LIED

Colorado Springs Gazette.

See the plan
Mow the lawn!
Note his fine display of brawn!
See him shed his coat and vest
Longing, too, to shed the rest
Mars the mower's handle pressed
At his belt
Where a welt
Groweth with his growing zest!

Note his brow
Dripping brow,
As the mower dull doth plough
Through the high, neglected grass,
Leaving here and there a mass
Quite untouched, and gayly pass
To some branch,
Prostrate branch,
That he did not see, alas!

See him then
Quickly stop,
Fevered head to wildly mop!
Mark him, as he turns the hough
To his neighbor's yard, and now
Note how his machine doth plough
Up the sod,
Yielding sod,
While he curseth roundly, wow!

Mark the stone,
Cursed stone!
And the old, grass hidden bone!
Hear the clashing loudly ring!
Hear him sulphurous mouthings fling!
See him then in anger wing
To the town,
With a frown,
To hire a man to do the thing!

New Boat For Forger Line?

The rumor is current at Clayton and river points that the Thousand Island steamboat company is negotiating for another steamer to run on the St. Lawrence this season in connection with the other boats of the "White Squadron." The boat under consideration is a steam yacht, carrying 150 passengers and having a record of twenty-two miles an hour. She will likely be run on special excursions. Howard S. Folger, general manager of the line, when questioned did not deny the report.

HE GAVE UP DRINKING.

For the Last Fifteen Years a Very Prominent Toronto Man Had Been Troubled With Kidney Complaint and Rheumatism—Lost His Best Job Through Ill-Health.

Celery King Cured Him—He Recommends it to Everyone He Knows.

Unsolicited testimonials constantly reach us bearing witness to the efficacy of Celery King. We publish the following letter. In withholding the name it will be seen that we respect the wishes of all those sending in testimonials:

"I have been troubled with nervousness, lumbago and kidney trouble for the last fifteen years and have taken medicine for rheumatism, kidney complaint and nervousness off and on. Also have taken proprietary medicines and I don't know what all without any good effect. I lost my best job through my poor health. I stopped drinking about a year ago. I thought thereby by taking more medicine it would have a better effect, but I might have taken water and it would have done me more good. About a month ago I got a terrible headache. It usually affected my forehead, but this time it affected my temples. I had a continual pressing on my temples. I did not know what to do for it until I saw an advertisement in an evening paper and I thought I would try "Celery King," although I did not think it would help me. It was not long before I got rid of my headache. My nervousness disappeared and now I can stoop over without feeling weakness in my back. I think if I had taken Celery King fifteen years ago I would be a rich man to-day. You can send anybody to me you choose and I will cheerfully answer any questions. I am home every evening. My age is forty-five years. Please do not publish my name.

LONG-RECORD RIDES.

The Records Have Been Eclipsed in Years Past.

The war correspondents in South Africa in their recent despatches have dwelt on the so-called record-breaking performances of the British army in the Transvaal. There was, for instance, the fine ride of the Natal mounted carbineers, who rode eighty-five miles in twelve hours over the sun-scorched veldt or the dash of French's force for the relief of Kimberley, when the troopers stayed in the saddle for more than seven hours and then rode for five miles at full gallop into the besieged town. While these rides are worth boasting of, they cannot be classed as record-breakers. Of course, the ride of a body of cavalry in their full equipments which burdens every horse with nearly 250 pounds, must not be compared with long-distance records achieved by single riders in racing trim, such as count Stahrenberg, who rode one horse over a distance 350 miles in seventy hours, or baron Cotter, who rode from Vienna to Paris, a distance of 625 miles, in twelve and a half days. One of the most famous long distance rides in history was that of king Charles XII. of Sweden, who in 1714 rode from Demotica, in Turkey to Stralsund in Sweden, a distance of 1,300 miles in a fortnight. On that occasion the king rode night and day, accompanied only by one officer, both taking care of their own horses and never changing their clothes.

The present South African records were eclipsed as long ago as 1842, when Dick King, a British despatch rider, covered the 600 miles from Port Natal to Grahamstown in nine days, crossing seven large rivers and numberless smaller spruits on the way. King's ride resulted in the relief of the hard-pressed garrison of Port Natal, which was then besieged by Boers. Many years afterward, Archibald Forbes, the famous war correspondent, made another South African record when he carried the first news of the battle of Ulundi to the nearest telegraph instrument, riding 110 miles in fifteen hours to do so.

Thanks to the wide stretches of plains and ceaseless depredations of elusive Indians, the American cavalry and northwest mounted police of Canada, perhaps, have more opportunities for creating records in riding than any other army in the world. Thus the recent record of the Natal carbineers was anticipated, but a few years ago, by a troop of United States cavalry commanded by Capt. S. F. Fountain, who rode eighty-four miles in eight hours. Then there was the celebrated half day ride of sixty miles done by the Texas Rangers at the time of their last unpleasantness with Mexican cattle thieves on the Rio Grande. Another famous long distance ride stands to the credit of the late Gen. Lawton. As the bearer of certain important despatches in 1876 he rode to Gen. Crook's headquarters at Red Cloud from Sidney, Neb., covering 125 miles in twenty-six hours without changing his horse. It is recorded that, although his mount arrived in fair condition, the rider looked five years older than he did the day before.

Bath Breezes.

Bath, June 27.—Mr. Douglass and wife, Rochester, N.Y., spent a short time here on their wedding trip. Mr. Douglass is secretary of the Y.M.C.A. of that city. A large quantity of furniture from Kingston and New York has arrived for the Brown Bros' summer hotel. The steamer North King calls here three times a week now, Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday. William Calvert and wife, Kingston, spent Sunday with H. Calvert. William Topliffe has had his store and dwelling painted, which adds to its appearance very much. A. W. Davy has gone to Croyden on a visit to his brother, Benjamin Davy.
