PROTEST AGAINST LAW

A Firm Wants Free Entry of Seal Goods.

ORDER OF THE GOVERNMENT

SACQUES IN USE BEFORE DEC. 29 ARE ADMISSABLE.

The Representations of a Firm Who Claimed They Held Much Stock in London, Eng.—Tourists Can Wear the Garments Without Trouble at the Boundary Lines, So a Government Official Asserts.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The treasury department has been informed that Wiel & Co., fur importers of New York, will protest against the operation of one feature of the new sealing law with the intention of bringing the matter into the courts. The firm represents that it had in London at the time the sealing bill became a law a large number of seal skins in process of dressing and preparation for shipment, and that free entry should be allowed these skins at the port of New York.

When the attention of assistant secretary Howell was called to the difficulties experienced at Detroit and Suspension Bridge by tourists and others in the matter of detention of their seal skin garments he immediately sent the following telegram to the collectors of customs at those ports: "Admit seal skin garments imported as personal effects if they are shown to have been in use by owners prior to 29th ultimo." Mr. Howell said that it had been held by the treasury that seal skins actually in transit to the United States prior to the passage of the act of Dec. 29th, 1897, were not subject to the provisions of that act and it would be manifestly unfair to hold that seal skin garments purchased by tourists prior to Dec. 29th, and used by them in their travel between the United States and Canada were subject to the provisions of this act on their arrival in the United States.

NOT SERIOUSLY CONSIDERED.

Fitzsimmons Laughs at Corbett's Challenge—Must Fight Maher.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 12.—"Well now, what do you think of that?" was all that Fitzsimmons would say last night when shown a despatch from St. Louis, announcing the offer of Corbett of $35,000 if Fitzsimmons would fight him. The proposition seemed to amuse him and he refused to consider it seriously, referring the inquirer to his manager. Little more was to be learned from Martin Julian, however, for he promptly stated that in his opinion Corbett was troubled with paresis and that this despatch proved it. He said further that the position of Fitzsimmons had already been clearly stated and it was unnecessary to waste words over it. Fitzsimmons had money invested and in the bank and did did not have to fight, but after urgent requests had agreed to have another fight with Corbett if the latter would first prove that he was not a back number by defeating Maher.

An Interesting County Case

BROCKVILLE, Jan. 12.—An interesting case came up before magistrate Deacon in the police court here yesterday. The plaintiffs are W. I. Mallory and wife and the defendant is Dr. Lane, who is charged with assaulting the plaintiff at the close of a concert given in Mallorytown on Dec. 31st, 1897. The two men, who are not very friendly each to each, got into an argument when leaving the hall and the plaintiffs allege that Dr. Lane struck at them with his cane, hitting Mrs. Mallory. This the defendant denies. A large number of witnesses were summoned and considerable interest is manifested in the case, which will be continued to-day.

Chicago Scared By $100.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Arthur Van Blatt came here from Carbondale, Ill., with $110. He spent ten dollars, but when he tried to get the hundred-dollar bill changed he found himself in trouble. He had not gone to a hotel and he did not know any one in Chicago. He offered the bill at a lunch counter, but there was not that much money in the house. They looked suspiciously at the bill and at him. He went to saloons, tobacco stores, hotels, lunch houses, and every open store for blocks and blocks. The police could not help him, and he is hungry and does not know what to do.

Had Frequently Escaped.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Jan. 12.—Convict George W. Patterson, Utica, escaped from the Onondaga county penitentiary yesterday by cutting a hole through his cell roof and descending on a sheet and blanket rope. He was captured by New York Central detectives at East Syracuse later. Patterson has done several terms in the United States and Canada, and has escaped from penal institutions in this city and Kingston, Ont., before.

India's New Currency Scheme.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—On Friday next a bill will be introduced into the India legislative council to carry into effect the new Indian currency. It will add greatly to the monetary circulation by the creation of new notes against gold. The Times says: "It may be feared that the scheme will meet with the stern reprobation of bi-metallists, but it appears to have the hearty support of the banks and others interested."

How Outsiders Regard It.

MILLER THE HEROIC.

Poet of the Sierras Playing a Star Part in the Golden Drama of the North.

JOAQUIN MILLER.

VICTORIA, B.C., Jan. 12.—The steamer Topeka, from Alaska yesterday, reports the arrival in Dawson recently of Joaquin Miller, the poet, who in endeavoring to force his way from Circle City, against a blizzard, lost his ears, several toes, a finger, being indeed, so badly frozen that months will be required to recover strength. Miller is upwards of sixty years of age, yet brave as a lion. When he heard that those strung along the river were in danger of starvation he determined to carry the news to inspector Constantine. The miners at Circle City endeavored to dissuade him but he eluded them and ultimately accomplished his self-imposed task, though at a costly price. Capt. Hansen, of the Alaska commercial company, has the poet as his guest.

ALLISON'S CONFESSION.

The Young Murderer Says He Intended to Kill Anthony Orr.

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—The jail officials have furnished further particulars as given by Allison relating to his crime. It had been his intention, he says, to kill both Mr. and Mrs. Orr several weeks before the murder. He wanted to get even with them for what he terms their ill-treatment of him. Once Mrs. Orr slapped Allison's face and that aroused him. It made him her deadly enemy. He dug the grave in the swamp on the Sunday two weeks before the day of the murder, and it was his intention to kill Anthony Orr and bury him there.

ARMED DERVISHES.

They Are Congregating In Great Strength In Egypt

LONDON, Jan 12.—The Cairo correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says: "It is the belief here that the British operations are due to the presence of the French at Fashoda, rather than to the Dervish advance. The Dervish movement is hampered by lack of transport, but it is believed that 40,000 Dervishes are covering Omdurman, opposite Khartoum, and 20,000 more are at Metemmeh and Serendy, between eighty and ninety miles north of Omdurman. It is estimated that one-eighth are armed with rifles."

Danced Herself To Death.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—"I could die dancing," is what Mrs. Mamie Shelly, of 227 West 62nd street, often told her friends. On Sunday night she had a little party of acquaintances in her flat, and they spent the night dancing. On retiring for the night she assured her husband that she had had a "lovely time," and could "die dancing." When he arose to go to work Monday morning his wife complained of being tired, and he told her to remain in bed. When he arrived home at night he found his wife cold in death. Mrs. Shelly's oft repeated wish had been granted, for death had come as the result of her last dance.

Hockey In Montreal.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 12.—The Victorias defeated the Montrealers last night in the championship hockey series by four goals to three, after a hard and exciting contest. At the end of the first half the score was three to one in favor of Montreal, but the Victorias came up three goals in the second half, while their opponents made one. It was good, clean hockey from start to finish, and the excitement among the 1,500 spectators was intense.

NOTHING BUT DIVISIONS.

Conservative Members Put Themselves on Record—Playing to the Gallery.

TORONTO, Jan. 11.—The opposition, apparently in pursuance of a pre-arranged plan, lost no opportunity to day of dividing the house, with the result that little else was accomplished beyond the recording of votes, the outcome of which was never in doubt. They pursued the policy of challenging almost every appropriation that the house was asked to concur in. Instead of accepting one division as the record of their attitude towards the expenditures to which they objected they insisted in exhausting time and patience by repeating over and over again the tedious proceedings of taking the vote. The party whips were kept busy rounding up the members, and the clerks of the house were fully occupied. The appropriations which were made the subject of talk represented different branches of the public service. The following reductions were proposed:—Public works salaries, $1,000; registrar-general's branch additional clerk, $900; inspector Noxon's salary, $2,400; sessional clerks, $3,000; education, $17,250; London asylum, $1,700; Kingston asylum, $1,300; Penetanguishene reformatory, $2,500; parliament buildings, $4,000; miscellaneous expense, $10,000.

AWKWARD PREDICAMENT.

Married Twice, Yet Husbandless—A Young Woman's Plight.

A woman who has passed through two marriage ceremonies at different times and with different men, now living, in two countries, yet is without a husband, was lodged in jail here yesterday on a charge of bigamy. Some years ago a young woman married a man named Peterson at Gouverneur, N. Y. Not long after the celebration of the ceremony she discovered her husband already had a wife living, so she packed up and left him, coming to Canada. A little over a year ago she married a man named Miller, living near Donaldson's Mills. The second marriage proved as unhappy as the first, as Miller soon put his wife out of the house and married again. He justified his action by claiming to have received a letter from the woman's first husband. Mrs. Peterson-Miller thereupon came to the city and applied to county crown attorney Whiting for a writ, threatening Miller with action for bigamy in default of his allowing her alimony. She served the writ, whereupon Miller had a warrant issued for her arrest on a charge of bigamy. She had her preliminary hearing before justice of the peace Donaldson, who committed her for trial.

By his action Miller may find that his course will rebound like a boomerang and strike him with all its force. The county crown attorney says Miller is the bigamist, and not the woman, who will likely be freed as soon as her case is placed before the judge.

Death followed at once. Mr. Sims is thirty-four years old and is a constable in Temple Hill. In Danger Of Inundation.

MONTREAL, Jan. 12.—A report from Chambly, Que., says there is danger of a serious flood there. The Richelieu river, which has for the first time in the memory of the oldest resident frozen completely over this year, has risen twenty-six feet within the past few days. The two bridges are in danger and if a south wind should come up nothing can save them. The railway bridge is resting on the ice, and the water is only a few inches from the new iron foot bridge. The water has inundated the country for some distance, and grave fears are entertained for the safety of the farmhouses in the vicinity. Yuile's woollen mills are in imminent danger, but every precaution is being taken to prevent a disaster at that point.
