THE DAILY WHIG.

"Opifer per Orbem Dicor.

CAN DECEIVE NO ONE.

The tory organ was filled with several contradictions on Saturday. We are somewhat of the opinion that if a matter is printed in the WHIG it is generally so, and, therefore, have good ground to take exception to its arraignment. The News to declare that there are enthusiastic meetings for McIntyre is buncumbe. The WHIG knows as a fact how Mr. McIntyre spoke of retirement, to whom he spoke it, when he halted in his canvass, and when he was finally induced to declare that he was in the field to stay. The WHIG also has heard from reliable sources of the disagreements that have occurred in the conservative rooms. It has also heard of several incidents of leading conservatives of the city, not knowing they were talking to men out of line with them, have professed that they have not the ghost of a chance in this campaign, and when they were told that they were talking to people not in sympathy with them, at once began to boast that they would beat Britton by three or four hundred, as if they were not in the first place speaking their honest convictions. It is well known in Kingston what the situation is, and the News deceives no one. If it is playing for outside effect the game is not worth the candle, for deception discredits the paper which indulges in it and diminishes its usefulness to its party.

GENERAL REPUDIATION.

The conservatives have been paying some attention to politics in British Columbia, and have sent out numerous embassies whose mission has been to cultivate the favor of the far-west electors.

The name of Sir John Macdonald in the Pacific province had, aforetime, the effect of raising the enthusiasm of the electors, and Sir Charles Tupper has labored under the delusion, labors under it still, that his name is something to conjure with it. But is it? The electors of Kingston have been giving to the Tupper candidate in this campaign some manifestation of their displeasure, and they can understand, and appreciate, the repudiation that is reported from east and west, and last of all and from the least expected quarter, from British Columbia.

The Daily Columbian, published at New Westminster and a conservative paper, has reached the conclusion, and expresses it as the conviction of the conservative party, that in the interest of the country "an entire change of government at Ottawa is imperatively demanded, and that the first duty of our representative at Ottawa will be to co-operate in bringing about such a change."

The Tupper dynasty will meet its doom on June 23rd. A great tidal wave is sweeping the country, a tidal wave of reform, retrenchment, anti-corruption and anti-coercion, and when it has passed there will be nothing left of the Tupper faction. Then will come the end of the history which began with confederation, and which Sir Charles has been writing with his own hand.

A PATRON MAKING TROUBLE.

A great commotion has been created by Mr. Welsh, described as the secretary-treasurer of the Patrons of Industry, who, at Caradoc, said he had the evidence of a combine of the liberals, McCarthyites and patrons against the government.

Mr. Welsh talks like one who has been a conservative, whose conservative prejudices remain, and who is, at the expense of the order he is elected to serve, a bit anxious to help his old political allies. At any rate he had no particular occasion, at Caradoc, to go off at half-cock and make statements he cannot perhaps verify.

Mr. Welsh's complaint is that the patrons should not enter a combine against the government. He will have to admit that in parliament parties having similar platforms, or united in any given reform, or on any public measure, would have to act according to some friendly arrangement, and it can be safely left to Mr. Mallory, the president of the patrons, to defend his position against all comers and against all odds. The liberals, the patrons, and the McCarthyites are tariff reformers and anti-remedialists, and upon these two prominent and conspicuous issues they see the unwisdom, no doubt, of creating three-cornered contests and so of weakening themselves and defeating the object they have in view.

Mr. Mallory has discussed with the secretary of the patrons the plan of arranging the campaign so that it will end in the election of the largest number of tariff reformers and anti-coercionists. Was he guilty of any wrong in doing this? If so Mr. Welsh has recourse to the patrons' executive meeting, to which he has had to go anyway. A conservative meeting was not the first place he should have aired his views, and the fact that he was so eager to consult the enemy, to supply them with the president's letter, smacks of what is to be expected from a nest of traitors.

Will be found an excellent remedy for sick headache. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

The largest stock of floor oilcloths and linoleums in the city at R. McFaul's Kingston carpet warehouse.

THE TUPPERS DISCOUNTED.

The Tuppers, father and son, are not meeting with the receptions they have expected in the east. At Montreal, at the great event in which the conservative leaders expended so much energy and money, Sir Charles was maddened by the interruptions he received, and he went away storming at the liberals and the liberal leader, and accusing them of hostilities, which arose in large part from the men who formerly supported his party and had seceded from it on his account.

In the maritime provinces the Tuppers have stirred up a great feeling against themselves by their unfair, cowardly, and deceptive tactics. In Winnipeg and Montreal the remedial bill was referred to as the necessary outcome of a legal decision, as an act in conformity with the constitution itself. Away down in Cape Breton, in Antigonish, and in other constituencies in which the Roman Catholic votes are numerous, the remedial bill is the issue of the election, and an appeal is made to the electors to support the government because it is willing to legislate as the bishops and clergy of the Roman Catholic church desire. This proceeding has been properly denounced, and referred to as an effort to rouse prejudices which later on cannot be put down and disowned.

Worse still, the grand old humbug, the man who has sickened the people with his egotism, has again resorted to bribery on a wholesale plan in order to win the support of constituencies here and there. He gave some proof, and proof the most direct and positive, of the evil in his heart when he promised a subsidy to the Hudson's Bay railway, a scheme so wild and reckless that even Sir Donald Smith has been forced to admit that would be ruinous to Canada's credit at home and abroad. At Quebec he had no hesitation in promising the bridge, discussed in a former election, and anything else that the city desires at the country's expense.

In Queen's and Shelburne a liberal was approached with the proposition that if the liberal candidate, Mr. Forbes, a popular man and a possible winner, were thrown aside and Sir Hibbert Tupper elected by acclamation, the government would subsidize the railway which is of local importance and which is to run through from Lockport to the coast line. The offer was indignantly spurned, and the publication of it shows the desperation of the Tuppers in this their last fight for power and pelf. Why should Sir Hibbert want to represent Queen's and Shelburne? Because in Pictou, N.S., he has lost his grip and is in great danger of defeat. He sees this and would like, at any cost to the country, with any bribe no matter how huge, to find a spot where he can feel secure.

Most remarkable of all, as indicating the lowered popularity of the premier, the Toronto conservatives, in view of Sir Charles' early visit, are planning how he may be smuggled into and out of the city with the least fuss and disturbance. They realize that he cannot be allowed to face a great public assembly without getting it hot from the anti-remedialists, and Mr. Foster's experience is one to be remembered. My, how are the mighty fallen! A premier afraid to face the people!

Lapointe to Go to the Asylum.

Arrangements have been concluded whereby Lapointe, the actor of the terrible shooting tragedy on March 9th, and who last week was acquitted at Brockville on the charge of murder on the ground of insanity, will very shortly be placed in the Brockville asylum. It was generally supposed the prisoner's destination would be the Kingston penitentiary, in which there is a ward for insane criminals, but this, it appears, was not possible, for the reason that the jury, by their verdict, did not class Lapointe as a criminal.

The Road Movement.

A. W. Campbell, C.E., appointed provincial instructor in road-making, has entered upon his duties. His office is in the new parliament buildings, Toronto. One of his duties is to assist road-masters, overseers of highways, and members and officials of municipal councils. He will be available to visit localities requiring his services, and those desiring his instruction and advice should communicate at once. Such service will be free of expense to municipalities.

Drowned At Watertown, N. Y.

Daniel Dalton, a brakesman in the R. W. & O. RR., lost his life through carelessness on May 29th. He fell from a bridge into the water below and was drowned. Years ago he lived in Tantanaga township, near Napanee, in the province of Ontario. There he knew Dalton, who came there six years ago, an emigrant boy from Tipperary, Ireland. There he was adopted by a family. The remains were brought to his old home for burial.

CONROY IS INTERVIEWED

BY A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE CANTON PLAINDEALER.

The Murderer's Story—He Says His Wife Assaulted Him First—Asserts That the Act Was Not Premeditated on His Part—Thinks the Newspapers Haven't Treated Him Well.

A representative of the Canton Plaindealer interviewed Conroy, the Ogdensburg murderer, in the Canton jail, in the presence of sheriff Smith, and reports Conroy as saying:

"I have not been treated well by the newspapers, and I do not want to see much of reporters. I suppose I ought to say but little to any but my attorneys, but the sheriff says you will do right by me and I am willing to say something. Any talk that my act was premeditated is utterly false. I no more intended to do it than anything in the world. I do not know how it happened. I loved my wife Kate dearly, and if I had twenty lives I would willingly have sacrificed them all, one at a time, for her sake and to shield her good name and honor. She knew I loved her and wanted to get her away from her surroundings. I went to Montreal in February, and she came down to see me and stayed a few days and then went back to Ogdensburg. She asked me to be true to her, and I said if she was as true to me as I was to her there would be no trouble. She said I must believe nothing I heard about her at Ogdensburg. This made me suspicious, and then when she went back I heard rumors. I worried about her and wanted to do something, and so I went back to Ogdensburg, where I heard more. I talked with her and asked her to go to Toledo with me, but she refused. She said I could come back to Ogdensburg and live with her, but I said I could not stand it to have it thrown in my face that she was not true to me, by every acquaintance. She said if anyone told me so to slap their face. I told her if she would go away with me I would forgive and forget all and we would begin over again, but that I could not live under it in Ogdensburg. She refused to go. I went to the recorder and told him all, and he advised me to go back home and make up, if possible, and see him at ten o'clock the next morning. I went home and again asked my wife to go away with me. I put my arms about her neck and pleaded with her, because I loved her, but she said she would not. She then began to get ready to go out. I told her she must not, as the recorder told me to keep her in the house until the next morning. She said that it was a free country and that she would go anyway. I laughed and said she had gone out a few days before and stayed all night, and that now I was going to be the boss a little while and that she could not go.

"Kate had a bad temper, just as I have, and when I wouldn't let her go she grabbed up a small butcher knife and I took it away from her.

"When I took it away from her I cut one of her hands. Just then the people came to the door and I told her to go and wash her hands, and she started for the sink. I do not think I closed the door, but they say I did. I went to the sink and took her hand in mine and washed the blood from it, and it must have been when she was going to the sink that the blood got on the floor. I told her I was sorry to hurt her. Then she said again she was going out and I went toward the door and told her that she must do as the recorder told me to have her do, and that she could not go out. She got angry and grabbed up the larger butcher knife and came at me again toward the door. She made a stab at me and I grabbed for the knife. She hit me in the left breast and cut my coat here, (showing a cut about half an inch long). I made a grab for the knife and in doing so it cut my hand here (showing a small scar on the middle finger of the right hand.) I have a quick temper and she was mad. When she hit me with the knife and I was cut I lost my head and then I do not remember any more. I cannot tell what happened. I was frantic and saw blood and was perfectly crazy. I must have done the deed and must suffer for it I suppose, and all I ask is justice. If I cannot get it in this world I know I can in the next. I would have given my life twenty times over for hers, and will take any punishment that is given."

The conversation had lasted some time. Conroy told a good deal about his life in Montreal. He said that when he saw Kate's corpse in the morgue it unnerved him, and that he fell on her neck and wept like a child. He seemed to have his nerves in perfect control and wanted to see the Ogdensburg papers, and this was his last request as the reporter left.

This interview has been submitted to sheriff Smith who pronounced it correctly reported in every particular.

ITS FAME SPREADING.

A New Remedy in General Use in Manitoba And The Northwest.

WINNIPEG, June 1. — The effects of the regular wave of sickness which sweeps over this portion of the dominion in the spring are noticeable in the increasing amount of druggists' sales. There has been quite a run on the kidney remedy now so well known under the name of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The recovery from Bright's disease of Arthur Coley, of Somerset, through their use, an account of which appeared in the papers, gave a considerable impetus to the sale, and the remedy has become indispensable in many Manitoba households, its fame having penetrated into the remotest parts of the province and North West Territories.

Folgers' White Squadron.

Watertown, N.Y., Times.

The full fleet of steamers of the Thousand Island steamboat company, popularly known as the white squadron, will be placed in commission on June 15th, in connection with the schedule of the R.W. & O. railway.

This fleet of steamers has had the usual renovation of white paint and will, therefore, appear in their immaculate spring suits, as usual. The St. Lawrence will run in connection with all the principal incoming and outgoing fast trains arriving at Clayton. The steamer Empire State will handle all the principal railroad excursions for the river, besides running her popular trips to the city of Kingston, and will also run one trip a week from Kingston and river points to Ogdensburg and return.

The steamer Islander will connect with local trains and will also make her famous fifty mile ramble each afternoon among the islands, running the Lost Channel the same as last season.

The steamer America will also handle large excursion parties on the river and continue to run her popular Monday trips from Alexandria Bay and river points to Kingston and Lake-on-the-Mountain and return.

Wants Pay For A Ducking.

Watertown, N.Y., Times.

The Alexandria Bay steamboat company has been made defendant in an action brought by Nathan J. Pakelnishky, president of the Syracuse loan and security company. The damages claimed are $2,000. Pakelnishky claims that on Aug. 4th last he was standing on the gang plank of the New Island Wanderer at Alexandria Bay, preparatory to boarding the steamer, and that the steamer started to move out without giving any warning. The result was that the plaintiff fell into the river and it is alleged that he lost a gold watch valued at $100.

The steamboat people say that he was warned to get off the plank, and that he stood hesitating whether he would take their boat or that of the rival company.

Bright's disease of the kidneys, diabetes and other diseases of the kidney and liver, which you are being so frightened about, Hop Bitters is the only thing that will surely and permanently prevent and cure. All other pretended cures only relieve for a time and then make you many times worse.

If sick headache is misery, what are Carter's Little Liver Pills if they will positively cure it? People who have used them speak frankly of their worth. They are small and easy to take.

A MEMORIAL DAY SERMON.

Lessons From the Four Years' War of the Rebellion.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—A sermon commemorative of the decoration of soldiers' graves was delivered by Rev. Dr. Talmage to-day. He recounted much of the war history of the United States and gave interesting reminiscences. Here are some vigorous sentences:

Bravery always appreciates bravery, though it fight on the other side, and if a soldier of the Federal army had been a month ago at Savannah he would not have been ashamed to march in the floral processions to the cemetery. And if yesterday a confederate soldier was at Arlington he was glad to put a sprig of heartsease on the silent heart of the dead.

There was no more need of that war between north and south than at this moment I should plunge a dagger through your heart. There were a few christian philanthropists in those days, scoffed at both by north and south, who had the right of it. If they had been heard on both sides, we should have had no war and no slavery.

I swear you by the graves of your fathers and brothers and sons to a new hatred for the champion curse of the universe—war. O Lord God, with the hottest bolt of Thine omnipotent indignation strike that monster down forever and ever. Imprison it in the deepest dungeon of the eternal penitentiary. Bolt it in with all the iron ever forged in cannon or molded into howitzers. Cleave it with all the sabers that ever glittered in battle and wring its soul with all the pangs which it ever caused. Let it feel all the conflagrations of the homesteads it has ever destroyed. Deeper down let it fall and in fiercer flame let it burn till it has gathered into its heart all the suffering of eternity as well as time. In the name of the millions of graves of its victims, I denounce it. The nations need more the spirit of treaty and less of the spirit of war.

We are floating off farther and farther from the possibility of sectional strife.

No possibility of civil war. But about foreign invasion I am not so certain. When I spoke against war I said nothing against self defense.

There is no room on this continent for any other nation—except Canada, and a better neighbor no one ever had. If you don't think so, go to Montreal and Toronto and see how they will treat you. Other than that there is absolutely no room for that any other nation. But I am not so sure some of the arrogant nations of Europe may not some day challenge us. I do not know that those forts around New York bay are to sleep all through the next century. I do not know that the Barnegat light-house will not yet look off upon a hostile navy. I do not know but that a half dozen nations, envious of our prosperity, may want to give us a wrestle. During our civil war there were two or three nations that could hardly keep their hands off us. It is very easy to pick national quarrels, and if our nation escapes much longer it will be the exception.

If foreign foes should come, we want men like those of 1812 and like those of 1862 to meet them.

The church of God is in woeful need of men who can stand under fire. The lion of the worldly derision roars and the sheep tremble. In great reformatory movements at the first shot how many fall back. The great obstacle to the church's advancement is the inanity, the vacuity, the soft prettiness, the namby pambyism of professed christians. Great on a parade, cowards in battle. Afraid of getting their plumes ruffled, they carry a parasol over their helmet. They go into battle not with warrior's gauntlet but with kid gloves, not clutching the sword hilt too tightly lest the glove split at the back.

In all our reformatory and christain work the great want is more backbone, more mettle, more daring, more prowess. We would in all our churches like to trade off a hundred do nothings for one do everything. "Quit yourselves like men; be strong."

THOUSUND ISLAND PARK

Making Ready For the Opening of the Season.

THOUSAND ISLAND PARK, June 1.—The park looks lovely after the late rains. Although the weather has been unusually cool quite a number of cottagers continue to arrive. Rev. G. H. Guile, of Potsdam, N.Y., is having his cottage on South Bay enlarged and painted. Mrs. Lee, Buffalo, has arrived, and is having her new cottage on Island avenue completed. W. Skinner, Kingston, Ont., was here last week looking after his cottage. The Empire State made her first call of the season last Monday, looking fine as usual.

The park trustees had a meeting last week considering improvements to be made. Ira Ingersoll is erecting a cottage on the corner of Rainbow and Island avenues for Mrs. E. Sears, of Warners, N. Y. C. E. Peterson and party, of Red Creek, N. Y., are stopping at his cottage here, and are having a good time fishing. Capt. O. D. Hill, of Rodman, has arrived, and is fitting up his yacht Reindeer.

The plumbers are kept very busy just now as the water will be turned on in a few days. Charles Flynn, of Lowville, N.Y., engineer of the engine house, has arrived and is fitting up. The school has closed for the summer season and the schoolhouse is getting painted. James Sears has added a wing to his cottage on Rainbow avenue. The sloop Flying Cloud is kept busily engaged in carrying fine gravel for the association, and also in carrying lumber for the various contractors. The steamer Little Mac ran an excursion among the islands, on Sunday afternoon, and was well patronized.

THE DISTRICT DASHES.

News of the District Condensed From the Whig Exchanges.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clayes were in St. Louis last week when the terrible cyclone swept down upon that city.

Barton Babcock, Belleville, was fined $5 and costs for ill-using a horse, and $2 and costs for immoderate driving.

Peter Davern, Trenton, was lodged in the county jail for one month for having stolen a quantity of lumber from the C. O. R. at Trenton.

Rev. Mr. Fisher, Thomasburg, had two ribs broken on Saturday last. A dog frightened his horse, causing it to run away. He was thrown out.

A young lad about six years of age, named Clair, while playing on the boom logs under the Grand Trunk railway bridge, Trenton, lost his balance, falling into the water and was drowned.

About the Liver.

A lazy, slow or torpid liver influences the whole system, causing biliousness, sick headache, sallow complexion, languor and dullness. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver, purifies the secretions and cures all forms of liver troubles. We say so and here is the proof:

I hereby wish to thank you for the great benefit derived by me from your Burdock Blood Bitters. For three years I was troubled with liver complaint and tried everything to no purpose. I had almost given up hope until one day I determined to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I can say now that marked improvement resulted from the use of the first bottle and at the end of the sixth bottle I discontinued its use, being completely cured. GEO. NICHOL, Seaforth, Ont.

I can certify to the above in every particular, W. G. MCLENNAN, Seaforth, Ont.

WOODBURN WEST, June 1.—Farmers have finished seeding and are now busy planting their corn and potatoes. The recent rains have chased a cloud from many a farmer's brow. Quite a few of our young people celebrated the queen's birthday in Kingston, and some who "saw it out" arrived home in the small hours of the morning. A load from here went on a fishing trip to Washburn on Monday. Our teachers attended the convention held in Kingston on May 21st and 22nd. Thomas Todd has purchased a piano. The Woodburn Granites football team is getting things into full swing for the summer. It practiced at F. Hutton's on Saturday last. James McGee, ill, is able to be around again. F. Married at Moscow.

MOSCOW, June 1. — A pleasant event occurred at the residence of Chester Brown, on Wednesday, May 27th, when his daughter, Carrie Gertrude, was united in marriage to John A. Love, of Yarker. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. G. Clark, B.A., Yarkor, in the presence of a large number of the friends of the bride and groom. The bride was tastefully attired in a cream cashmere dress, trimmed with ribbon, and looked charming, as did the bridesmaids, Miss Luella Wager and Miss Nellie Snider. The groom was assisted by Clayton Brown and Alfred Galbraith. After the ceremony the guests partook of a sumptuous repast, at which a most enjoyable time was spent until time for the young couple to take their leave. The majority of the guests accompanied the bridal party to the train, where Mr. and Mrs. Love took their departure for Lindsay. They expect to spend a couple of weeks there visiting friends and relatives. The bride's presents were numerous and expensive, showing the esteem in which the young lady was held by a large circle of friends. The groom is also popularly known.

Want Mr. Miller Again.

CUSHENDALL, June 1.—The grain fields on the first of the month present a fairly good appearance, but the grass has not the flourishing, verdant appearance it should possess at this time of year. Our cheesemakers find more work to do now as the season advances. One of them, Sherman Caverley, has given up bicycling and taken to a horse and rig instead. We sincerely hope the decision of the Methodist conference, now assembled, will enable our young minister, Rev. J. H. Miller, to remain with us at Zion church for another year. This young man is steadily improving in style and delivery; and his sermon, on Sunday night last, was considered by many to be the most interesting and natural effort he has yet put forth. He is also deservedly popular with all classes, and we hope he may not have to leave us.

As this is the last month for school a full attendance is requested. Rev. A. B. Johnston is attending Methodist conference at Stanstead. Mrs. Johnston and children are visiting at Collins Bay. Mr. Caverley made a call on his son at the factory on Saturday last. E. Leatherland, of Elginburg, made a flying visit through our locality on Sunday last, calling on several of his old friends. Spence McFarlane visited his father on the same day.

THE CHIEF ENGINEER

The "Empress of India's" Chief Engineer Tells an Interesting Story.

Mr. Francis Somerville, one of the best known men in the steamboat traffic on the rivers and lakes of Ontario, having been engaged in this business for fifty years, and who resides at No. 195 Upper Colborne street, Kingston, speaks as follows of his recovery from the sickness which has affected him for some time.

Said Mr. Somerville: "The grip left me with kidney troubles and gravel. I had severe pain over the kidneys and in the small of my back, also between the shoulders and great pain in the bladder.

"The urine was very dark-colored with a great deal of muddy sediment. I went to Mr. McLeod's drug store and bought two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. I have taken them with what people tell me is the usual good result.

"They have cleared the urine, removed the sediment, relieved me of distressing pain in the back and between the shoulders, and have built me up in a surprising manner. In fact, I am entirely free from the troubles which affected me before taking these remarkable pills, and I recommend them as a certain cure for all troubles arising from kidney disorders."
