CANADIANS ABROAD.

A census bulletin of the United States shows that the number of native-born Canadians over the border is now about one million, or a fifth of the entire race, to say nothing of their descendants born in the United States and counted as natives of the republic. This is more than 10 per cent. of the total foreign-born population in the states, who in turn number 15 per cent. of the total. It is chiefly in the northern states that the Canadians are to be found. In all the south there are only 13,000 natives of the dominion, and in the far west the numbers are comparatively small. But in the New England states, in Michigan, in New York and in Dakota they are an important element. They number more than 200,000 in Massachusetts, 180,000 in Michigan, and 68,000 in New York. In Maine, of a foreign born total of 78,000, not less than 52,000 are Canadians. In New Hampshire, of 73,000 foreign born, 46,000 are Canadians. In Vermont, out of 44,000 foreign born, 25,000 are Canadians. Turning to the cities it is found that Lowell, Mass., has 15,742 Canadians, and Manchester, N.S., 12,391. Detroit has 18,000 Canadian born inhabitants to 7,500 Irish born. Duluth has 3,700 Canadians to 1,600 Germans and 700 Irish. Seattle has 2,700 Canadians, Tacoma has 2,000, Denver has 2,700, St. Paul has 4,800 and Minneapolis 7,700.

This is a discouraging record, and tells of the exodus which has been apparent to every one, but the extent of which has been either minified or misunderstood. Canada seems to be just as good a country as the United States, and possessed of as many riches in land, wood and minerals, but the capital is lacking, and those foreigners with large means who were supposed to be directing their attention thither a decade ago and who were sure to make investment if protection were sustained, have been as distant and as neglectful as before. Capital is scarce, and of course work is scarce, and the young men have to go where brain and brawn are in demand. A good many go hence fully believing that it would have been different were the trade policy of the country more friendly than it is and more encouraging of international commerce. The tariff walls are menacing to the reciprocity which seems to be so necessary. And sixty millions of people are better able to get along when they have room and wealth, even though exclusive, than five millions whose protected monopolies are taxing them to death.

CONSERVATIVE BLUFF.

The Hamilton "Spectator" prides itself upon its grace of diction and elevated treatment of political issues. But it can use some coarse language occasionally, as the following editorial paragraph will testify:

"When the parliamentary session was drawing to a close, and when he knew that there was not time to reply, that cowardly grit bully, Jim Lister, made a vicious and nasty attack upon the judges of the country. He took very good care to mention no names; but promised to impeach one of the judges at next session, and prove that the judge paid $2,000 for his office. He will do nothing of the kind. It is simply a bluff, all of a piece of Lister's ten-times-worse promises of two years ago."

Now giving Mr. Lister his due was he the instigator of the discussion in the commons touching the conduct of some of the judges? Mr. Tarte was the instigator of the row, and he acted in pursuance of a pledge given the electors when last made a member of parliament, though it must be said he was in no hurry about acting, and finally spoke of the judiciary merely to save himself from the irony and sarcasm of his opponents. The discussion once opened was participated in by several members of the house, including Mr. Lister, who kept within reasonable bounds in criticising those judges who appear to invite attention during succeeding elections. Nor was Mr. Lister one whit more severe than Mr. Laurier, who is extremely careful in what he has say and who is credited with these sentiments:

"The bench must be treated with great respect, but there would be different degrees of respect given, and all would have the respect their conduct warranted. It was absurd to say that Mr. Tarte had attacked the whole judiciary, and it would be equally absurd to say that the bench of the province commanded to-day the same respect as some years ago. The reason was obvious. He challenged the government to name a single judge chosen by the government who had been a liberal in politics.

Mr. Ouimet—"Belanger and Doherty."

"Mr. Laurier said they were appointed not by the present government but by the one preceding that of Mr. Mackenzie. He spoke of the present government as dating from 1878. They had appointed men to the bench simply because they had been party hacks. That was their sole qualification. The government was doing with the Quebec bench what it had done and were doing with the senate of Canada, which was filled up from year to year by creatures of the government. It had been truly asserted that judges in Quebec had paid for their appointments, and the hon. gentlemen opposite knew the same as well as he did. It was also true they had contributed to election funds, and he believed the fact would be proved before long. He condemned the practice of having judges act on political committees, and thought Mr. Mercier had made a great mistake from a constitutional point of view in consenting to be tried by any authority except the legislature. He pointed out that so far as Mr. Tarte was concerned he had not had an opportunity of bringing an impeachment this session. He had not been prevented for two weeks from taking his seat and after that the session lasted only some six weeks."

The taunt, therefore, of the "Spectator" that Mr. Lister was only bluffing in his reference to the judiciary, may be properly appraised. Mr. Lister may not be an ideal man, judged by the standard which prevails in the "Spectator," but he is not a coward and he will be heard from again, and so will Mr. Tarte.

CAN YOU IDENTIFY HIM?

One of the Gentlemen Who Dispense Legal Opinions to the People.

No. 2. A learned gentleman, past middle age, of middle height and marked ability.

Lineage suggestive of the rank and bearing now so characteristic of the family.

Beginning life with a sublime consciousness of its growing responsibilities and assuming these responsibilities with consummate tact and courage. Blessed with a fine physique, healthy and buoyant in appearance, with a lively intellect that goes on developing, with an ambition that seems to be well cared for, and a dignity that is sometimes oppressive.

Deserving of compliment in that he has not been in his career above toiling with his muscles and so qualifying for that profession to which he has lent considerable credit. Yet causing a pang of regret that he has not always been proud of the apprenticeship that enriched his nobility.

Given sometimes to carry his head a little high, but meaning no disrespect to friends he does not see. Perhaps accused of ostentation and frigidity of manner when his failing is absent-mindedness, yet never so lost in thought as to fail in that grandest of all accomplishments, the proper elaboration of a client's account. Said to have lapses of memory on rare occasions and has been a menace to those of litigious disposition, because of their inability to distinguish between the long and short consultations.

A politician of varying moods and tenses. Alleged to be eager for a seat in parliament in order that he may grow in grace and in the knowledge that passeth understanding. Disappointed time and again in his political aspirations through the unaccountable eccentricities of the people. For a season a member of the city council, where he did efficient service, rising above the petty jealousies that affect some men, and making an honest effort to administer public affairs in an honorable way, occasionally exercising his sound sense and good judgment towards the settlement of personal entanglements and receiving the usual reward of the oftimes artful peacemaker.

Hopeful of being one day a judge, and thus satisfying all who know of his intellectual accomplishments that he will be an ornament to the bench. An unrequited supporter of a great and good man else he would have long since been a member of the judiciary. Reputed to have been conjured by the mysterious one with the promise of a promotion which did not materialize, and which, of course, passed with a million of other unfulfilled promises issuing from the same source, into respectful forgetfulness.

Politically, a conservative who has, no doubt, felt that government by the party is not without its imperfections, but finding no occasion to be disturbed over the general trend of conservative rule.

A lover of arms, with the air of a military man, though not wearing the uniform of the guards nor of any other branch of the service.

A married man, with a handsome wife, a pleasant home and a host of friends, all more or less æsthetically inclined.

A churchman? Oh, yes, zealous in its councils and willing in its service. A society man, an active worker, a leader in the mystic circle in which he moves.

A social favorite? Very much so. A liberal entertainer, a bright conversationalist, and a gifted after-dinner speaker. Approachable? Not always. Friendly when talked to? Very friendly.

Feeling that in these dull times nothing suffers as much as law, and, like your humble servant, waiting patiently for something to turn up,

"Kid" Somers' Success.

Toronto News.

The only Toronto boy to-day playing ball, professionally, is Billy Somers (better known as "Kid" Somers). I met Billy two weeks ago, just before he left for Nashville, Tenn., where he plays this season. He looked well and will, no doubt, do good work this year. He is a catcher and a good one at that. Somers is twenty-five years of age and started to play professionally with Kingston, Ont., in 1888. In 1889 he played with Springfield, Ohio, in the tri-state league; in 1890 with Harrisburg, Penn.; 1891 at Dayton, Ohio, in the north-western league, and in 1892 with Quincy, Ill., till they disbanded and then with Chattanooga, Tenn., in the southern league and manager Ted Sullivan, of Nashville, secured him last fall for his Nashville team. Somers is a good batter and has been with two champion teams during his short time in the professional arena.

No One Need Pity You.

If you die of consumption without having tried that celebrated cure, now being talked about by everyone, and known as "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil," you are not entitled to any pity. If you want to stay with your friends in the flesh, do not let an hour pass by without sending to the nearest drug store for "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil." Read about the wonderful cures it has brought. This is the electrical age of wonders, and this emulsion is the product of the latest researches in science. In big bottles, 50c and $1.00 at Wade's drug store.

The Mackenzie Fellowships.

TORONTO, April 4.—By the death of the widow of Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, the university of Toronto receives in trust $10,250, to be devoted to scholarships or fellowships in political science, to be called "The Alexander Mackenzie Memorial Scholarships" or "The Alexander Mackenzie Fellowships."

This amount, barring interest, was collected from the friends of the late premier to provide for his widow, with the understanding that the fund would be transferred to the university at her death.

Important Political Rumor.

MONTREAL, April 4.—It was rumored in political circles this morning that the Hon. Mr. Laurier is coming to live in Montreal, where he will open a federal political bureau, making this his headquarters as leader of the liberal party throughout the dominion. The same rumor adds that the party has subscribed sufficiently to allow Mr. Laurier to devote himself exclusively to politics.

He Had Good Health.

A letter received from Calgary, N.W.T., states that the assertion in the Wolfe Island correspondence to the WHIG was incorrect as regards his losing cattle during the cold snap in February. Mr. Willis says he never felt better in his life and that he has not been ill since he left Wolfe Island.

SWEETENED THEM ALL UP

THE MERCHANTS AND CLERKS READY FOR SPRING TRADE.

The Patrons of Industry Are at Work—The Bursting of a Combine Among Cheesemen—Death of Mrs. David Dodge—The General District Items.

SOUTH MARYSBURG, April 4.—Since last writing the snow has left us and spring with her singing birds, and wild geese, egg buyers and other accompaniments usual to the season have arrived, much to the satisfaction of everybody. The gale of Friday last gave the ice a good shaking up, and open water has reached as far west in the lake as Waupoos and South Bay point. Good Friday being a holiday a good number of Picton's merchants and clerks came out to the sugar bushes in the Marysburgs where they sweetened themselves up in good shape for the spring trade.

David Hughes has bought the remainder of the Cardwell farm at Black River for $1,300. The revival services in the Methodist church, Black River, were brought to a close on Thursday evening last. They were a success. A ladies' aid and young people's prayer meeting has been organized in connection with the same church. Several largely attended public meetings have been held at different points here recently in connection with the Patrons of Industry. The meetings were addressed by J. M. Kennedy, of Lambton, Ont.; G. M. Rose, of Waupoos, and others.

There was quite a commotion here last week among the owners of cheese factories, which might safely be attributed to the bursting of a combine among them. The result is quite satisfactory to the patrons of the various factories, as they have within the past few days been informed that their cheese will be manufactured for 1½c per pound instead of 2c as formerly, and we have also been informed that the proposed amalgamation of the Point Traverse factory with that of South Bay will not be consummated, and that McLaughlin will continue business at the old stand, and Collier will postpone further work on his factory at South Bay.

J. F. Dodge broke through the ice several times while crossing Smith's bay on foot on Good Friday. Timber Island has been bought by a Toronto man, it is said, with a view of making it a pleasure resort, but we think that it will, for sometime, remain a colt pasture before the aforesaid happens. Sugar-making is in full swing and the make will be an average one, both as to quality and quantity. Mrs. Wm. Noble, whose illness during the past two weeks was the cause of much alarm among the neighbors, is growing better daily. There are some pretty severe cases of grip in these localities at present. A thunder storm, the second for the season, passed over this place on Tuesday morning. Miss Jane Delancy, of Trenton, is visiting friends here this week. Mrs. David Dodge, Milford, whose illness we noted a few weeks ago, died on Sunday evening last. Her funeral took place on Tuesday from Milford to South Bay.

Westbrooke Waftings.

WESTBROOKE, April 4.—The spring freshet holds out well. The number of logs at the mill exceeds last year's number. Half of the logs are sawn. The mill has proven itself a benefit in more ways than being in proximity to the surrounding woodland, by affording congenial, lucrative employment to a number of men, increasing road traffic, a beneficial source to toll men, and supplying local ice houses with packing. A large number of loads of saw dust have been carried off, including one by the faithful ox. It was a reminiscence of ancient days when his strength was utilized to break the fallow land, or draw his owner to the mart, or perchance with his sweetheart cuddled in the old ox cart to the parson's. William Gates, who anticipated going to Buffalo, has changed his mind, and engaged with Mr. Leslie at Collins Bay. He will work on the wrecking vessel again.

Mr. Bridge, apiarist, encountered an accident last week while returning from the city on the stage. He got out of the stage at Cataraqui and attempted to ascend the steps while the stage was moving at a rapid rate, but slipped. The stage, very heavily laden with freight, ran over his foot. J. Scott had his leg fractured while scuffling with W. Shannon. An old-fashioned prayer-meeting will be held at A. Howie's, Friday night, under the auspices of the Free Methodists.

Dennis Kerrin has moved to Sharpton. James Howie is convalescent. Mrs. M. Sproule is visiting at Kepler; Miss S. Bridge at Verona. Misses L. Sproule and N. Gates, school teachers, were home at Easter. A sugar social is announced for to-morrow night, when Mr. Chisholm will deliver his twice postponed speech on "The Railway of Life."

Gifts And Fond Farewells.

WESTBROOK, April 3.—On Good Friday evening, March 31st, in the Methodist church, Westbrook, a large number of friends connected with the congregation and Sabbath school gathered to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gardiner, who, having disposed of their farm are removing to Kingston. Refreshments having been served by the ladies of the church, the meeting was called to order, and Thomas Sproule placed in the chair. After devotional exercises, at the request of the chairman, Rev. F. Chisholm, in the name of the congregation and Sabbath school presented Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner with two large and comfortable parlor chairs, richly upholstered in ruby and gold brocaded plush, and a splendid hanging lamp. On behalf of himself and wife, in a very touching address, Mr. Gardiner accepted these tokens of esteem and christian love. Short addresses expressive of the high regard in which both Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner are held, and appreciative of their services were delivered by the chairman, Thomas Sproule; Rev. F. Chisholm, Rev. A. E. Pates and Frank Marshall. It is with deep regret that the Westbrook friends part with Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner. They have both been connected with Westbrook Methodism since childhood a period of nearly twenty-five years. In recent years as superintendent of the Sabbath school, Mr. Gardiner has rendered efficient service, whilst as organist in the church choir, with her husband as tenor singer, Mrs. Gardiner has done much to sustain the reputation of the "Leonard" choir of which her father, Nathaniel Leonard, is leader. Their places will be hard to fill. Our loss is Kingston's gain.

A Minister's Opinion.

In very few words, and to the point, the Rev. T. W. Hawkins, pastor Baptist church, Fonersville, Mo., U. S. A., expresses himself. February 7, 1890: "St. Jacobs Oil is without a peer for pains, bruises, aches, etc."

Christ Church, Cataraqui.

The annual vestry meeting was held, last evening, at Christ church, Cataraqui. A goodly number were present. The meeting was opened with prayer by the rector. The accounts were read and approved. It was found that after the current expenses of the year were paid there was a small balance on hand; also a nucleus of about $20 for a fund for the repairs of the church. William Waddington was re-elected as warden for the congregation, and J. Northmore was re-appointed by the rector. J. Baker, W. Roach, H. Conniter, R. I. Simpson and T. Weston were appointed sidesmen, and H. I. Simpson and J. Baker auditors. Wm. Waddington was elected delegate to the synod for three years. The vestry expressed its regards for Wm. H. Lancaster and his family who have moved to the states and its regret for the loss the congregation sustained by their departure. It was decided to do the necessary repairs on the church season as possible.

ELGINBURG EVENTS.

The Wedding Bells Continue to Sound—The Movement of Visitors.

ELGINBURG, April 4.—And still they come, i.e., loving hearts yearning to be made one. The old idea, that it is not good for man or woman to live alone still prevails. Rev. S. Shibley is still receiving very frequent calls at home and abroad to exercise his clerical function in behalf of such. The latest pair receiving his assistance and benediction was Geo. Clyde and Miss Lunan, of Cataraqui, who visited the parsonage on Wednesday of last week. "But the end is not yet," as the sweet chimes are still ringing "more to follow." S. Clubby is now one of our number. Factory Cottage is now the home of Isaac Lake and wife. James Dougherty and James Beatance have each lost a brood sow and Thomas Edwards a valuable cow. G. Beatance has left the G.T.R. and is employed on chief Leslie's wreckers of Collinsby.

H. Gage, our former teacher, was with us last week and took charge of the Sunday night prayer meeting. He talks of taking a course at Albert college. W. Irvine, B.A., spent Easter with his sister, Mrs. L. Spooner, and P. J. Pope, M.A., with his parents; W. Peck, of Toronto, accompanied the latter. George Porter will spend the summer with G. B. Harding. Miss H. Heagy, of Kingston, recently spent a few days here. She and Miss Janie Irvine start for Manitoba in the near future. Miss Flossie Chapman, of Kingston, is at J. Clegg's. Many from other neighborhoods attend the Sunday night services in the Methodist church.

SUMMER SPORTS.

Athletes Should Prepare Now—Perfect Health Necessary to Achieve Success!

The time for summer sports is rapidly approaching and should remind all athletes, that they require a certain preparation in order to fit them to take part in the various games now so popular in Canada.

Close confinement during the winter season in imperfectly ventilated shops, offices and dwellings, has weakened the system. Thousands of young men have become nervous, dyspeptic and morose, many are over-worked and run down physically, and feel that they are not what they should be.

At this time a word of advice is given in a kindly spirit to all who have aspirations to excel in athletics. The system needs toning and strengthening; every nerve, tissue and muscle needs a food—a strength-builder. This strength and life-giver is Paine's Celery Compound. If this grand remedy is faithfully used for a few weeks before lacrosse, baseball and bicycle men take the field a wonderful degree of strength, vigor and vitality is secured for the summer campaign. Members of every well known athletic association speak loudly in favor of Paine's Celery Compound. Thousands have tried it and acknowledge its great worth as a recuperator and builder. Try its powers, young man, if you wish to be strong.

Covered By Water.

DONALDSON'S CORNERS, April 3.—Spring seems to have fairly set in at last and people in general seem to be satisfied with the result of their labors for the winter. The mills are expected to start on the 5th. They have been thoroughly repaired and more machinery added. The water is over the track on the Wilbur meadow. The trains have to run very slowly through it. Col. Dixon has been bringing some more of the boys to time for disturbing the meetings. Probably a few more of his 825 visits will learn them something. For some time past some of them have been acting ridiculously in the church. They promise to be better boys in the future. Henry Hutton has gone on a visit to Kingston and vicinity. Wm. Duffy talks of going west this spring. John Allan goes to the other side to-day. He has accepted a situation there. S. J. Allan's oldest son is very sick.

A Tribute To Worth.

While some are going east,
And others going west,
All say they want a paper
And aim to choose the best.
You say you do not know
What really is the best
Be sure you take the BRITISH WHIG
For it has stood the test.
You say how do I know?
You may ask thousands more,
They all will say the BRITISH WHIG
Is loyal to the core.
Its sun has never set
Although it's somewhat old,
It never has deceived a friend
Nor left him in the cold.
Some people like to read,
But do not like to pay,
Just think how many read the WHIG
That owe for it to-day.
The number I can't tell
Nor neither do I know,
But where so many thousands read
There's always something's slow.
The WHIG has many friends,
Increasing every day,
The best friends that the WHIG has got
Are those that read and pay.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The best stomach tonics known to medical science are so happily combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla that it cures Indigestion, and Dyspepsia in its severest forms, when other medicines fail. In many cases Hood's Sarsaparilla seems to possess a magical touch, so quick and so gratifying the relief. Read the following from an aged and respected citizen of St. Mary's, Ont.:

"I am very glad to give this testimonial as to what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I suffered very much with dyspepsia. I have been taking medicine and I never had anything do me as much good as Hood's Sarsaparilla. Every symptom of the dyspepsia has entirely disappeared and I feel that I cannot praise the medicine too highly."

For 25 Years

From Mr. Sanderson, the Druggist.

"I know Mr. Aikens to be a strictly honest, straightforward man, and this much pleasure in testifying to the truth of the testimonial he gives above." F. G. SANDERSON, Druggist, Queen Street, St. Mary's, Ontario.

"Canada for the Canadians."

"Canada for the Canadians." That is a good cry! You can build up good citizens, good ships and railways, and great commercial prosperity upon that cry.

Some people think if a thing only comes to them from a great distance it must be better than the same thing at home. Distance fosters illusions. The truth that a prophet hath no honor in his own country still has application. Berlin, or London, or Paris, sounds so much grander than Montreal. So some people think! Not sensible people? Foolish people who think that big names make the thing better and lend dignity to their position.

Common sense will have ultimate triumph.

Common sense has achieved a signal victory in one particular. Ladies' Wraps were always expensive. They have always been imported. The duty and the glamor of distance and the imposing sound of big cities, gave them a high price and a great vogue.

Why not make Ladies' Wraps here in Canada?

That thought occurred to the proprietors of MELISSA. They should, perhaps, have been seized with it earlier, for their success with the Men's Coats had been immediate and great. Would the loyal women of Canada not buy an article which was a necessity with them, made right at their doors, in that article was a good deal better than the article which came from a long distance?

It was an experiment, but from the moment the skilled artists, which the manufacturers of MELISSA employed, got to work, and showed specimens of their craft, success was assured.

So then, ladies, in every city and town and village of the Dominion, you can buy wraps for yourselves and children, more tasteful, more truly artistic in finish, more stylish and fastidious in outline than any that have been imported.

There was a need for the MELISSA in Ladies' Wraps: They had to put up with unsightly rubber garments, much to their discomfort, but they have now perfect fit, with infinite variety of shade and grace; and, not least, absolute protection from the rain, in garments which it will be a pride to wear, and at prices which put them within easy reach.

Here is a new departure, a patriotic enterprise worthy of support for the sake of that national solidarity which the politicians talk about, but chiefly worthy because of its intrinsic merit.

Travellers will soon be on the road with Fall samples.
