ABANDONED FARMS.

The theory that manufacturing creates a home market which builds up the farming interest receives a bad blow from the statistics lately reported of the state of Rhode Island. That state is studded with manufactories as is no other state of the same area in the union, and yet it has more abandoned farms in proportion to its size than any other state in New England or out of it. One town is cited as containing no less than eighty-nine abandoned farms, and this town is within twenty miles of Providence, a city of over 182,000 people, and possessed of ready rail communication with that state. Providence county has 192 such farms; Washington county 155, and Kent 122, all teeming with a manufacturing or non-agricultural population.—Boston "Herald."

The remedy for abandoned farms is, according to some who do not believe that the politician is the author of all evil, to set the same agency in operation for bringing in settlers which has been used for taking them away. The real estate agent has created business for himself and money for his pocket by inducing comfortably housed and well-doing people to believe that Manitoba and Dakota offer better conditions of existence than Ontario, for example. The result is that all the money which has been spent in the movement has gone into the pockets of land speculators, railway companies, ticket agents and real estate agents. It is more than probable that had the present population of Manitoba, composed of Ontario farmers, been kept at home their aggregate wealth would have been greater now than it is ever likely to be.

The rich future before Eastern Ontario through the extension of the dairy business may be hastened by combined efforts to bring into the rear townships Danes, Swedes and Norwegians, whose aptitude for the dairy business and frugal farm economies is in advance of the people of other countries. The farmers are more deeply concerned in working out this problem than even the shop keepers. The lack of agricultural labor, what with higher education and emigration to Manitoba and to the United States, is a social problem which can only be grappled with by a social effort to promote the settlement of the cheap land of our rear townships. Let the farmers' institutes discuss the matter, apart from politics, and endeavor to find a remedy without grumbling about the cause of the evil.

CALLING BAD NAMES.

The opposition in the British parliament, so sure that they could defeat the home rule bill by scores of amendments, proposed only to irritate and annoy, have now become abusive. The leaders have entered on a campaign of bad names. Mr. Balfour refers to Mr. Gladstone's resort to the closure as "the height of political infamy," and Lord Churchill asks, "Is he a lunatic or is he a traitor?" The mutterings of the minor lights are many and abusive, but no one takes them into account. The "Week" sums up the situation very correctly when it says:

"The opposition, especially the unionists under the leadership of Mr. Chamberlain, will no doubt make effective use of the 'tyrannical' course of the government in the coming campaign. Nevertheless there will be this to be said, and the retort should be effective in proportion to its truth, that the chief necessity for the closure arose from the fact that the amendments proposed and the speeches made in committee against the bill were obviously not intended to amend or improve but to defeat and destroy it. Had the fact been otherwise, had the discussion and criticism been directed no longer against the principle of the bill after that principle had been affirmed by the house, but with a view to its improvement, the government would not have dared to set a limit to the fullest discussion."

Mr. Gladstone indeed has had great patience with the opposition, and endured it longer than any man less experienced and so less confident of final success. The old man is not moved to say much in reply to the abuse that is heaped upon him. The vaporings of but one he has referred to, those of Arnold Forster, which he described as wanton, venomous and indecent. That means a lot, and much more than a casual reading would indicate.

The cause of so much fury among the anti-home rule party is not far to seek. Parliament having once passed the bill will have given shape to a scheme which cannot be set aside. Hitherto home rule has been treated as a delusion or a dream, but it is becoming a great reality, and the government, whatever it is, must deal with it. A legislature for Ireland is now assured; the only unsettled thing about it is the power it should have. It is the recognition of this fact that excites the conservatives. Why? They have declared that home rule cannot be, and they are realizing how impossible it is for them to prevent it.

Another Record Made.

For nearly forty years Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been the leading and surest cure for cholera, colic, diarrhœa, dysentery and all summer complaints. It is a record to be proud of.

HANDSOME STREET GOWNS.

The gown in the center is of cream serge, with revers of lilac corded silk. The gown on the left is of speckled crepon with rows of magenta satin ribbon on the skirt. The third costume is of white serge, with a fall of lace at the neck and china silk gigot sleeves.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS.

The Canada Pacific railway company, in selling its town lots in the northwest, attaches to each deed the stipulation that liquor shall not be sold upon them. One way of forcing sobriety.

The Ottawa council has adopted the scheme of insuring from accidents their employees of the city who are making drains or who are employed in other hazardous occupations. At $1.75 per $1,000 of the pay list the protection is one the corporation can very well afford to pay.

* * *

Mr. Blake doesn't mind the criticism of the London "Morning Post," but goes right on making his speeches and helping to pass the home rule bill. It was an old theory of Sir John Macdonald that a man was no good unless he had the newspapers after him. Their attacks indicated that he wasn't idling his time away.

Mind Reader Seymour has gone to Chicago, to bury himself for six months, and so show the power of the individual to suspend animation indefinitely. The pity is that some others, who are not mind readers but great everyday troublers, cannot imitate Seymour's example, that is bury themselves, and forget to wake up.

* * *

The Hamilton "Spectator" is after Mr. Laurier, whom it denounces because he is a Frenchman, and with a vigor which, in the opinion of the Ottawa "Journal," "should be worth thousands of votes to the liberals in Quebec, and which must be quite a source of disgust to sensible conservatives in Ontario." The inspiration of such an attack comes from a bad source.

The Duke of Veragua, a remote descendant of Columbus, and so entertained by the Americans and exhibited as a curiosity, has gone into bankruptcy. While he was booming the Chicago fair a confidant in Spain robbed him, and unless something wonderful occurs he will be without home or money. A subscription list has been started by the Americans in his behalf.

President Mills and Prof. Shaw, of the Guelph agricultural farm, are at loggerheads. The ability of Prof. Shaw is undoubted, but he is not the head of the institution and cannot ignore that official. President Mills may not know as much about practical agriculture as Prof. Shaw, but he may know more about running a college. The functions of each must be duly acknowleeged.

The Dominion History.

For several years educationists have been looking forward to the production of a text book of Canadian history by competition. The preliminary arrangements are now complete, $2,000 having been subscribed. The author of the best book shall be awarded a royalty of 10 per cent. of its retail price. As there are over 16,000 public schools, the prize will be of great value. Authors of the next four manuscripts of merit will receive $200 each. The dominion committee will receive manuscripts up to January 1st, 1895.

The promoters of this movement to have the school history of Canada written from a dominion instead of a provincial standpoint as at present, hope to inspire boys and girls with a true sense of the nobility of the heritage of Canadians and so to create unity of patriotic sentiment.

She Was In His Arms.

Clayton-on-the-St. Lawrence.

Mr. Shaver relates a ludicrous incident of the Fourth of July excursion to Ogdensburg, in which his predecessor, Frank Hugo, figured prominently. As the St. Lawrence pulled up at the Brockville wharf, with six hundred and fifty passengers on board, she was met by a surging crowd of over four hundred, all of whom plunged forward the moment the gang plank was thrown out. In the wild rush a buxom woman, of some two hundred pounds avoirdupois, was projected violently into Mr. Hugo's arms, outstretched to check the crowd. While he was endeavoring to extricate himself from his uncomfortable position, her feminine voice piped out "Don't get funny, young man."

Telephone To Adolphustown.

Work has been commenced in earnest on the line from Adolphustown to Napanee. Theo. C. Fraser has been awarded the contract of furnishing the poles, and has been drawing them to the places where they are required. It is said, also, that the cable has been purchased and will be laid direct from the old Quaker meeting house to the farm of James McMurrin, on the opposite shore. It will run from thence to John F. Parks', North Fredericksburgh, then through to Chas. Hough's and follow the Napanee river to Napanee.

Clarendon And Miller Council,

PLEVNA, July 7.—An adjourned meeting of the court of revision was held for completion of the assessment roll. It was examined lot by lot, leading to discovery of several lots not assessed for years and correcting a great many mistakes. This work will add considerably to the income of the township. After the court closed the council met. John Card was instructed to repair the Allman bridge. Adjourned until Aug. 12th.

Hanson's Magic Corn Salve cures corns and bunions with three applications. 15c per box at Wade's drug store, Kingston.

NORWOOD PARAGRAPHS.

The Election of Officers of the Farmers' Institute.

NORWOOD, July 10.—The high and public schools closed last week. The examinations are now being carried on and will be finished in a few days. The Hastings stage leaves here now at 5 a.m. instead of 6 a.m., and arrives here at 8 a.m. instead of 9 a.m. No change has been made in the afternoon time. Herbert Reynolds nearly met death by drowning at Hastings last week. He was standing upon a stone fishing, and while so doing the stone gave away and he was launched into the river, but being a good swimmer he reached the shore safely. L.O.L. No. 34 and L.T.B. lodge No. 20, of this place, will celebrate the 12th at Port Hope. The travelling dairy will be here on Tuesday, July 18th.

A meeting of the directors of the East Peterborough farmers' institute was held here last week. After some accounts had been ordered to be paid the election of officers was proceeded with, and the following were elected: President, J. Birdsall, Birdsall; 1st vice-president, E. Hawthorne, Warsaw; 2nd vice-president, R. Burgess, Norwood; sec.-treasurer, C. O'Rielly, Norwood; auditors, J. B. Pearce, and Wm. O'Shea, Norwood; delegates to Central farmers' institute, F. Birdsall and E. Hawthorne. A party consisting of Commodore Garrow, Trent Bridge, and Messrs. Thos. Fraser and Taylor, had a successful day's fish at Trent Bridge on the 1st. They were successful in capturing seven lunge. Jas. Jotcham, sanitary inspector, has handed in his report, in which he desires the council to make some improvements etc., in the sanitary condition of the town.

George Carter, of Asphodel, was attacked by a bull, last week, and painfully injured. T. W. Graham and Miss Mary Ann Lee, both of Dummer, were married at George Brown's last week. C. N. Callander, Miss Eaton and Mrs. M. Finlay are attending the C. E. convention at Montreal. Col. Smart visited friends in town last week.

Council Of Palmerston And Canonton.

June 10.—Special meeting; members all present. The council examined the rolls and maps in accordance with resolution of May 20th.

June 24.—Court of revision was held. David Bushel and Wm. Scott's assessments on houses were transferred to the K. & P. RR. Co. Thomas Lee, assessed separately for lots 26 and 27, in con. 7, P., instead of Lee and Allan. Allan McDougall's name placed on roll for lot 24, con. 11, P. On proposal of James Moore, seconded by Peter White, the following names were added to the roll as wage earners of an income of $300: John G. Craig, Matthew Ferguson, William Ferguson, William Allan, Andrew Craig, George Anthone and G. A. Manion, all of the Mississippi P.O. Also as manhood franchise the names of Thomas Laborn, William Gemmill, James Colquhoun, William Hughes, Alex. Wilson, John McQuilty, Allan Peters, Gilbert Coville, David Ferguson, William McVeigh, Charles Warner, James McVeigh, Peter Ellis, Andrew Jackson, Charles Bateson, David Scott, Benj. Gibson, James Riddle, Benedict Solomon, sr., William Hannah, Anthony Daw, Hugh McDonnell, Robert McKinnon, Edward Hughes.

July 1.—The assessor's roll was accepted as finally revised.

June 24.—All present except Samuel Shanks. Norman Clark was allowed his statute labor for 1888 and 1894 in compensation for eleven days work in 1892. The reeve was authorized to let a job to repair or reconstruct a bridge over the Clyde damaged by floods. Voted to Wm. Rancier, pathmaster, $10 for repairs to the Clarendon road ordered last spring. The reeve was authorized to advertise the sale of timber growing or lying on the road allowance across a portion of lot 15, concession 8, and concession line 8, as far as the Ragged Chutes, and apply the proceeds to construct a road laid out by the municipality. This council acknowledged the receipt of a petition to break up school section 3 and 5 and construct a new school section, added to the Wilbur school, and having given the case earnest consideration, decline action as the sections aforesaid are already very weak. The council examined the rolls and maps as resolved May 20th.

July 1st.—The minutes of last special meeting were adopted and the list of arrears of taxes from 1887 to 1892 inclusive, were accepted, a by-law confirming the same to be presented at the next meeting, on the last Saturday in August.

He Cannot Live Here.

DONALDSON'S MILLS, July 10.—The late rains have done much good in this section, but are causing the farmers to mingle joy with regret; joy over the prospects of a good crop and regret that they cannot secure help to save it. If the man who lost an eye recently looking for work in Kingston would come out here I think he could be accommodated. If good men can be found good wages can be relied on. The friends of the Fourth assembled at Mr. Peters' on that evening and judging from the strains of music which filled the air one would say they enjoyed themselves. Peters' orchestra furnished the music which was enjoyed by the neighbors at their homes. Many of our people are going to Plevna on the 12th. A good time is expected. One of the best conservatives in this place, after reading the resolution of the conservative association of Grenfell, Assinaboia, in which they disclaimed the premier, remarked, "I glory in their spunk." Surely this feeling cannot exist without having its effect. Mr. Bremner, the student, is well liked by all. He is an earnest worker and will be greatly missed when he leaves us. "Canada first, Canada last, Canada ever" is the words used by a young man, late of Napanee, but now in Rochester, in a letter to your correspondent recently. This young man is a staunch conservative. Isn't it too bad he cannot live under the N. P.?
