CAN WIPE THEM OUT.

The Orange supreme lodge has put a stopper on free speech, a liberty it has loudly proclaimed. It has vested the grand master with authority to wipe out any lodge which ventures to express itself as differing with him. "The grand lodge," says the Montreal "Witness," has not conferred on Clark Wallace the final infallibility which the vatican council conferred upon the pope, but a sort of temporary absolutism subject to the approval or disapproval of the grand lodge when it meets. He is to be like the captain of a ship, absolute during the voyage but liable to be displaced when the voyage is over. During the interval which elapses between meeting and meeting any lodge which dares to differ with him is to be instantly extinguished." The blow has been struck at those lodges that have expressed themselves as not favoring Orangemen in the cabinet stultifying themselves before the country and the order.

CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES.

J. Castell Hopkins has been writing to the "Asiatic Quarterly Review" on "The Position of Canada." Mr. Hopkins is a political extremist who is usually true to his characteristics. Thus we find the "Canadian Gazette" referring to him as one who "writes from one standpoint only," and that is the ultra-loyal, and of course he had to reflect upon the liberals of Canada. Still the "Canadian Gazette" is fair and is persuaded that "Mr. Laurier and his friends would make him answer, and be as emphatic in their assertions of loyalty to Canada as even Mr. Hopkins himself. Some people may think it a pity to introduce these local political elements into the British consideration of Canadian questions. 'We surely have local politics enough here in the mother country just now." There is a rebuke in the criticism which ought to do J. Castell Hopkins some good. As a loyalist who is continually preaching his own virtues he is open to suspicion, just as the man who continually tells of his honesty will stand watching.

GLADSTONE'S HEALTH.

A contemporary discussing the home rule bill says: "The house of lords will certainly reject the bill and Gladstone is too old, too pressed for time to overthrow the power of the peerage in the system of government. The lords cannot be terrified by a threatening voice from a coffin. They know that the voice will soon be stilled, and that no one will be left who is capable of carrying out its threats. A worrying policy for a year or two, at most, is all that is required to bring victory to the side of the lords and unionists." The idea therefore, is that if the legislation which Mr. Gladstone has in hand can be deferred until he has became physically incapacitated all will be well. But that is a delusion. The conversion of the grand old man to local government for Ireland, and the attempt which he has made to carry it into effect, have given a force to the agitation which must remain until the end aimed at has been brought about. Home rule was for many years a sentiment merely, now it is a great reality which cannot be ignored though Mr. Gladstone may not be its chief advocate. "The voice from the coffin" has spoken the words that make home rule an issue that no party and no government can refuse to deal with. The danger of disaster for the present lies with the Irish representatives themselves, some of whom object to the final passage of the bill in its amended form. They may commit the folly of rejecting it and failing to get a substitute. Mr. Redmond's impetuosity cannot be exchanged for Mr. Gladstone's wisdom at this crisis in parliamentary affairs.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS.

Laurier is having a triumphal tour through Quebec. Even in Joliette, a tory stronghold, where C. A. Cornellier, Q.C., and J. M. Tellier, M.P.P., went off at half-cock, he was tendered a perfect ovation.

The last public act of Lord Aberdeen, before sailing for Canada, it is announced, "will be the laying of the corner stone of the new Salvation army barracks in London." That settles it. His lordship cannot be admitted to the clubs at Ottawa. His plebian practices are demoralizing to aristocratic nerves.

The tramps are said to be a great nuisance in the western part of Ontario. The lock-ups are nightly sought for shelter by men who have walked up from American towns. Ald. Curtis has a remedy which he can recommend. It worked wonders in Kingston, and is worth a trial abroad.

Dr. Saunders, the chief of the Ottawa experimental farm, has got himself into trouble with the government organs by neglecting to give them scraps of information before it reached the liberal and independent press. The impudence of some pap-fed journalists knows no bounds. It's time it got a reprimand.

Oswego is going to invite the whole state, and maybe Kingston, to its centennial in 1896. The event for the "big go" is the one hundredth anniversary of the hauling down of the British flag at Fort Ontario, after the war of the revolution. Pending the final settlement of affairs between the two nations Oswego was one of the posts retained by the British, and the facts of history will show that it was the last post surrendered by them to the victorious Americans.

The annual report of the finance department on the loan companies and building societies of Canada for 1892 has been printed. There are about ninety of these companies in Canada, and seventy have reported to the department. Of current loans on real estate there was one hundred and nine millions, an increase. In Ontario alone the amount of mortgage indebtedness is now over $100,000,000. These are signs of a financial depression not often referred to, and an offset to the savings bank deposits which are quoted as an evidence of the people's prosperity.

CONGRESSMAN R. P. BLAND.

Hon. Richard P. Bland, of Missouri, the well known champion of silver, will be a prominent figure in the special session of congress when the attempt is made to repeal the Sherman silver purchase act. Mr. Bland was father of the bill that gave the United States the Bland silver dollar.

A Happy Gathering.

The members of the Sunny Plains Union Sunday school and their friends spent a very pleasant afternoon on Aug. 10th at a basket picnic held on Graves' Point, Pittsburg. The committee to whose efforts the success of the affair was largely due was composed of Misses B. Vanhorn, M. Milton, A. McKenzie, B. Graves and Messrs. F. Graves, E. Bulch and W. Vanhorn. The weather was everything that could be desired, an ideal picnic day, and the majority of the picnicers took advantage of the calm state of the river and enjoyed themselves rowing about. On land some most exciting races took place, the contestants displaying varied ideas in regard to the turning post, some disliking to go around it, some embracing it while others knocked it over. The refreshment booth was well looked after by a young lady whose business qualities were noticed and duly commented on by some of the frequenters of the lemonade corner. The sum cleared at the booth was $5.50, which will go towards the Sunday school library fund. Altogether the picnic was a decided success, owing in a great measure to the extreme beauty of the spot where it was held, and the thanks of the members of the Sabbath school are due to the owner of the place, S. Graves, for his kindness in permitting them to use it.

A Great Debate.

The debate on the repeal of the Sherman act, now going on in the house of representatives at Washington, opened in a brilliant and masterful manner in favor of mono-metallism by representative Rayner, of Maryland, on Thursday last, has continued day by day, and is producing some very original ideas on financial questions generally. Bland is the leader of the bi-metallists, his arguments are logical and bristling with good points in favor of the maintenance of both metals as standard coins. Mr. Bland quotes the case of France, which has upheld the standard of silver in that country for over seventy years at a ratio of fifteen and a half to one, as a precedent for the guidance of the United States government. Good nature, so far, seems to prevail among the advocates of the different theories offered as a solution to the financial problem. A bright young member from Missouri, named Pence, brought down the house by inquiring if any member could inform him how it was possible that gentlemen holding such extremely opposite views on the silver question come to be elected on the democratic platform.

State Of Trade in Denver.

William Stratford, a miner, of Parkcity, Utah territory, is visiting his parents here. He spent a day and night in Denver, Colorado, and says the condition of trade there is deplorable. There are thousands of people out of employment and railway companies carry people free away from the city to points where work is expected. On his return Mr. Stratford will spend several weeks at the fair in Chicago. He thinks the only remedy for the financial trouble in the United States is to make a United States silver dollar worth its weight, and then there will be plenty of work in the silver mines and business will resume its usual activity.

The Law Is Broken.

Mr. Rosencrans, of the board of trade, Chicago, and party, returned from a trip down the Rideau, the other day. The party had good luck but still Mr. Rosencrans thinks it would be a good idea if the law regarding the catching of fish was more stringently carried out. Tourists give their fish to the fishermen, who sell them, and thus the lakes are being cleared out. The law says a tourist cannot catch more than a dozen bass without throwing the fish back in the water again. If the present practice is not soon discouraged there will soon be very few fish in Big Rideau lake.

Are You Nervous.

Are you all tired out, do you have that tired feeling or sick headache? You can be relieved of all these symptoms by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which give nerve, mental and bodily strength and thoroughly purifies the blood. It also creates a good appetite, cures indigestion, heartburn and dyspepsia.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy in action and sure in effect. 25c a box.

Full Of Grasshoppers.

A leading citizen went fishing near the Brothers islands one day last week, and during the afternoon only caught four bass, after using several kinds of bait. The fish looked puffed, and a post mortem to ascertain the cause revealed that they were full of grasshoppers.

Had To Pay Full Fare.

W. Brown and wife, of Ompah, left yesterday for the world's fair. Mr. Brown thought he could buy tickets for the round trip at $17.50 each, but was disappointed when told that sum was the regular fare between Kingston and Chicago except on excursion days.

ADVANCEMENT MADE.

IMPROVEMENTS IN SCHOOLS IN PRESCOTT AND RURAL

The Results Following the Recommendations Made and Accepted Four Years Ago—The Classification of the Schools Now and Then—French Children Becoming English.

Four years ago the minister of education appointed J. J. Tilley, inspector of the county model schools, and the Rev. Prof. Reynar, of Victoria university, and the Rev. D. D. McLeod, of Barrie, to inspect and report upon the teaching of English in what are commonly known as the French schools in the province of Ontario. They recommended that certain things should be done by the education department to facilitate the teaching of English in the districts visited. The most important of the recommendations were the establishing of a special model school for the training of French teachers, the withdrawal of all unauthorized text books from the schools, and the introduction of bi-lingual readers. The recommendations were carried into effect, and after four years the minister reappointed the same gentleman to see what progress had been made under the measure introduced since their former visit. As the recommendations made in 1889 had special reference to the schools in Prescott and Russell, the inspection was this year limited to the schools formerly visited in these counties. The report of the recent visit of inspection has just been published.

The establishment of the Plantagenet model school and the work it is doing are fully spoken of. All subjects in the curriculum in this school are taught in English and students are licensed to teach only when they are able to pass the prescribed examination in the English language. French grammar, composition and reading are also taught, but not as a substitute for English. It is worthy of note also, as pointed out in the report, that the benefits of the school are not confined to the eastern counties, but that it has already furnished several teachers to other parts of the province in which the French language prevails, and students from other districts, including Quebec, have also begun to attend it.

The advancement made in the standing of the schools is very gratifying. Out of the 56 schools visited in 1889 17 were classified as very satisfactory, 21 as fair, and 18 "as schools in which the pupils know very little English." Now the classification is: 30 as very satisfactory, 15 as fair, and 11 as inferior.

In the supply of English text-books the increase is very marked. In 1889 the whole number of classes in English reading-books was 177, now there are 208 classes, an increase of 51 per cent. The increase in English text-books other than readers is still more marked, or from 25 in 1889, to 119 in 1893, an increase of 376 per cent.

The time given for teaching in English, which was two hours daily in 1889, is now three hours.

The most remarkable increase, however, is in the number of French children learning English. In 1889 there were 3,210 French children enrolled, and of these only 2,481 were learning English, while now there are 3,649 enrolled, and of these 3,581 are learning English. This shows a reduction in the number not learning English from 729 in 1889 to 59 at the present time. And the commissioner further states that nearly all of these 59 had attended school but a few weeks.

In 1889 the teachers were classified as to their knowledge of English as follows: 26 good, 20 fair and 19 as 'not competent to teach English with any degree of efficiency.' For 1893 the classification is: 51 good (of these 19 excellent), 11 fair, 9 inferior and 1 as incompetent to teach English.

Studying At Oxford.

Rev. G. R. Beamish, late of St. James', Kingston, has been in attendance on lectures at Oxford university since his arrival in England; he digests four lectures on an average each day. There are about 200 in attendance from all parts of the United Kingdom, but Mr. Beamish has the unique honor of being the only Canadian. There are three in attendance from the United States. The lectures are wide in their range of subjects, embracing old and new testament theology and criticism, Palestinian research, especially Babylonian and Ephesian findings, with reference to the Jewish and christian religions, archæology, philosophy, social and ethical questions, church music and architecture, apologetics, etc. They are all characterized by broad and scholarly treatment and an earnest desire for truth. Among the lecturers are Prof. Gore, Dr. Bright, Dr. Sanday, Dr. Driver, Prof. Sayce, Sir Charles Wilson and the bishops of Salisbury (Wordsworth), Chester and Peterborough (Creighton). Gore's lectures are most admirable. He is the man whom Canon Furse styled the "wisest man in England." There one feels as if he were at the fountain head of all known truth. Oxford is not, as generally represented, given over to high churchism. This class of thinkers are a comparatively small section of the whole. The services are invariably musical, but visitors and students are unable to discover more than one ritualistic church. Mr. Beamish obtained license from the archbishops of Canterbury and has been doing Sunday duty in Surrey, Berks and Yorkshire, with offers of such duty to keep him engaged four months more.

A Kindly Message.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 12th: To John Mills and family: Dear and sorrowing friends,—We, the members of the ladies' aid of the Methodist church, Portsmouth, feel it to be our duty to tender to you and your children our very sincere sympathy with you in the sore bereavement which Providence has seen fit to send upon you all. We also pray that He, whose promises never fail, may be with you to comfort and guide you, so that at last you may meet the dear departed wife and mother in that land where death, sorrow and separation are unknown. We, too, have to mourn the loss of a faithful worker in our society and a consistent and beloved member of our church.—Yours in christian sympathy, MEMBERS OF THE LADIES' AID.

THE HOLYOKE OF CANADA.

Another New Mill at Hull Getting Ready for Running Night and Day.

A paper making machine valued at $25,000 will arrive in Hull in a few days to be placed in the E. B. Eddy company's new mill, at which a large gang of men are putting the finishing touches. The duty on this machine which comes from New York state, will be heavy.

The new mill, the third the company has started since it began operations about a year and a half ago, is the old wash and door factory, altered to suit paper making. The alterations have been extensive, amounting practically to an entire gutting of the building, and a big force of men have been working since May. When ready for operations the mill, with the machinery, will cost between $60,000 and $70,000. The building is two stories stone, and in size is 180 feet long by 60 feet wide.

A MILLION GALLONS A DAY.

The new mill will be used principally for making book and writing paper and the machine will be one of the finest anywhere in America. In this building there will be four water filters which will filter 1,000,000 gallons of water daily. Several additional water wheels will also be put in.

It is likely also that before long, to meet the growing demands of the company's business, the big three story stone store house 220 feet long and 80 feet wide will be turned into a paper mill. When the suggestion was made to Mr. Eddy he smiled significantly and said "Perhaps."

"Look here," he added in his characteristic way, "let me tell you something. This place is going to be the Holyoke of Canada. And don't you forget it."

RUNNING NIGHT AND DAY.

"Why, ever since we started, a year and a half ago, the only time these machines have rested was on Sunday. Day and night they have gone, and even so, we have been unable to fill the orders. Every twenty-four hours we turn out fifteen tons of paper for the newspapers. Nearly every paper of any account in Canada is on our order books. A newspaper man from Australia was here recently and talked of us exporting to Australia, but till we get more machinery we can't do any such thing. But we will," said Mr. Eddy.

HALF A MILLION IN BUILDINGS.

The various buildings and machinery used by the company have involved an expenditure of between $450,000 and $500,000. The labor employed is principally skilled and high priced. Several of the men have been brought from England.

The company now make besides newspaper, wrapping and tissue.

"Will you likely make note paper or wall paper?" Mr. Eddy was asked.

"Perhaps, perhaps," he replied, "goodness knows where we will stop. It's all within the bounds of possibility. We can do it, you know," he added confidentally, and judging by the present evidences, the chances are certainly pretty much that way.

J. A. Hendry is the obliging agent for this company in Kingston, and considers nothing a trouble so long as he can convenience the trade in their dealings with the company. A large stock of the leading sizes and kinds of papers including brown wrappings, Manillas, white tar, drug, tissues and posters, also of matches, wooden-ware and indurated fibre ware, is carried in store here, corner Ontario and Johnson streets.

LOST ON THE PRAIRIE.

An English Girl Tormented by Mosquitoes And Poisonous Insects for Hours.

Saskatchewan Times.

Last Friday Miss Lillie Manseweff of Stoney Creek, and lately from England, wandered away from her home in search of berries, and became lost. She is a young girl of twenty and not in any way familiar with our prairies. Her friends became anxious on account of her long stay, and started out in search of her. She was not to be found. The neighbors were notified and hunted all night with no better result. The mosquitoes and flies were more numerous than they had been for many years, and it was questioned whether she could survive the long night or not. The search was renewed the next day and still no trace of her could be found any place. Settlers were notified for miles and miles and the search began in earnest with the firing of guns, shouting and a close search of the whole district, both by men on foot and on horseback. Night brought no tidings to the anxious home. Searchers feared she had wandered into the great unknown district to the east; many believed she had become exhausted and had fallen into the tall grass or brush, yet hope was not given up for fires were started and a new energy took possession of many, for they realized that the last few hours were precious. Midnight came, and it was circulated from mouth to mouth that she had been found. Such was the case. Two strangers had happened on her four miles from home in a famished and exhausted condition. Terrible were the sufferings of those forty hours. Almost famished with hunger, made nervous by the terrible loneliness, and above all tormented with the poisonous insects she had given up all hope of ever being found, and was ready to sink exhausted.

Buying Canadian Horses.

SPERING VALLEY, Aug. 15.—The farmers are through heying and report a splendid yield, but claim the grain will be the worst here for some years. A great many are cutting with the mower instead of the reaper. The potatoes are a good size and dry, but very few in the hills. Old farmers say this is the dryest season they ever saw in this section. G. N. Young received a letter from his brother in Manitoba lately and he writes in glowing terms of that country. He thinks any man without capital is just wasting his time in Ontario as he can do a good deal better out there. He says they have felt the need of rain a little this season, but notwithstanding the crops look well. N. Darling starts for Manitoba on the 15th for the purpose of collecting money for horses sold there last spring. Miss Phoebe M. Bath, of Kempville, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Green. Mr. Cardiff, Pine, N.Y., passed through here with four large horses purchased in the back country for $375. A few years ago one of the teams would have brought almost that money. They weighed over 1,350 lbs. each. The Americans still like Canadian horses.
