His Successors Had No Scruples

Toronto Mail.

Indeed in his desire to avoid the very appearance of evil he carried punctilio to an absurd limit. It was the happiness of Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie during his term of office to celebrate their silver wedding. Nothing was said about it until the day of days came round, when they gave a small party to ministers, who happened to be then in town, and to a very few of their other more intimate friends. Two or three of the invited sent during the day little appropriate presents with their congratulations. Ridiculous as it may seem it is nevertheless true that the gifts gave Mr. Mackenzie real misery for a time. He thought that in some way they compromised him—that he could not afterwards be as free as he was before with the givers. Perhaps he thought it an attack upon his independence. He bought one of the number to get the rest to take the presents away, and he treated the matter so seriously and sorrowfully and severely that nobody had the heart or the courage to laugh his scruples out of countenance.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

The Little Things Picked Up About the Wharves and Elsewhere.

The barge Dorchester is loading 20,000 bushels of peas at Richardson's for Montreal.

The tug Jessie Hall with the barge Cornwall left for Charlotte for coal for the M.T. company's own use.

The tug Active with the barges Jennie and Regina left for Toledo, last night, to load grain for Montreal.

The Sloop Idlewild arrived from Milnhaven this morning with 16,000 bushels of barley for Richardson & Sons.

The schr. Delaware, unloading lumber at Rathbun's, will leave for Trenton to-night to load lumber for the box factory at Oswego.

The tug Bronson arrived from Napanee with barge Alberta, loaded with grain for Richardson. They leave for Gananoque to-night to load grain for Kingston.

A large crowd of people were at the dock yesterday afternoon to see the prop. Glengarry and the tug Walkerpick up their tows and steam out of the harbor en route for lake Superior.

The new boat, Columbia, now being built in New York for the Richelieu and Ontario navigation company, is of an entirely original type. She will be 180 feet in length and 36 feet beam (the full size of the St. Lawrence locks) at the water line. She will carry twin screws and must show a speed of 18 miles an hour on her trial trip. She is to launched at the end of May. She will run three independent trips every week between Kingston and Montreal.

The tug Bedford came near capsizing in the river on Saturday. In placing the schooner Kate Eccles, loaded with barley at the north western elevator dock, the tug ran up into a reef or rock about 110 feet directly off the old Northern transportation freight office. At the time the tug struck the shoal the vessel took a veer towards the dock and those on the tug were compelled to let go of the tow-line to save the boat from capsizing. The river is in very bad condition.

A NUMBER OF BLAZES.

Fire Caused by Spontaneous Combustion —A Shed Destroyed at Cataraqui.

This morning at seven o'clock a fire was discovered in the cellar underneath McMahon Bros'. hardware store. The flames gathered around a post in the centre of a row of barrels filled with oil. Had not the blaze been discovered in time the oils would have been ignited and a disastrous fire might have been the result. The firemen arrived promptly and put the flames out before they spread. The rafters in the cellar were burned and the goods in the building were damaged by smoke. In order to relieve the building of smoke the front windows upstairs were knocked out. The building and goods were insured. The firemen say the fire started in a barrel of sawdust, caused by spontaneous combustion.

Yesterday afternoon the firemen were called to Queen street to put out a blaze on the roof of a building occupied by Mr. McDonald, pilot. There were no persons in the house at the time and dense clouds of smoke issued from the roof. On a close examination it was found that the roof had been set on fire by firecrackers, which it is supposed were placed there by boys. The blaze was put out easily. The building is owned by Mr Cunningham.

Yesterday afternoon, about four o'clock, the residents of Cataraqui were alarmed by the news that a house was on fire in the vicinity of the Methodist church. Men, women and children rushed to the spot. Fire was found to be in the drive-house at the side of the church. Willing hands did everything possible to save the building, but were not successful. The boards, being dry, burned rapidly, and in a short time the structure had disappeared in smoke. The fire first caught in the grass of the Methodist burial ground from a smoker's match, a party having come from Westbrook to remove a body from the vault and bury it. At first very little exertion would have averted danger, but neglect lead to heavy loss. The shed was a great public convenience being used by all classes visiting the village.

Odessa Church Notes.

Good Friday was properly observed here by church people with divine service both morning and evening. At the evening service Rev. Mr. Dibb preached to a large congregation on the words of the creed, "He descended into hell." The sermon was rather longer than usual, but was listened to with close attention throughout. The annual vestry meeting was held on Monday evening and the usual business transacted. The adults bible class will, in future, be held on Friday evenings at 7:15 p.m., being preceded by a short litany service. All are welcome. The portion of scripture now being studied is the book of the Acts of the holy apostles. On Sunday next, the first Sunday after Easter, the holy communion will be administered at St. Alban's church, at 10:30 a.m. Rev. M. M. Harding, assistant priest of St. George's cathedral, Kingston, will be the celebrant.

Boys in the Police Court.

Two boys from Portsmouth were charged to day, with the larceny of a punt from the K. & M. forwarding company. Their parents pleaded for their children, who admitted guilt. The magistrate brought tears to their eyes as he reprimanded them.

The adjourned case of William Brogan, disorderly on street, and being an incorrigible youth and beyond the control of his guardians, was up again. The magistrate told him he would have to remand him again until the order for his transfer to the reformatory was received. With this Brogan burst into tears and muttered between his sobs: "I don't like to go back to that jail again; I would sooner be sent to the reformatory at once." The colonel consoled his injured feelings by telling Brogan he would be allowed to remain in the police cells over night.

A Fine Institution.

KINGSTON, April 20.—(To the Editor): On the 14th inst. it afforded me much pleasure to be taken through different wards of the general hospital. Under the management of the present superintendent and matron it is becoming a model institution. Cleanliness and comfort, as far as it is possible for these to be attained under the circumstances, is evidently the object kept in view by those in charge. It is sincerely to be hoped that the governors, who are so deeply interested in the institution, will be better provided than ever with funds as the public become aware, more fully, of the worthiness of the object.—GEORGE PORTREPS.

AN OFFICE SOUGHT FOR.

THE WORK OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE CANVASSED.

There Are Denials For Various Stories Afloat—Ald. Gaskin Did Not Ask the Aid of the Ministers—What the Rank and File Are Talking About.

The friends of the candidates for the vacancy in the customs department, who were rejected by the executive committee of the conservative association, feel bad and cannot keep from telling of the treatment they received by men whom they thought were particular friends.

Some impressions of the meeting of the executive committee that have gone abroad are not quite correct. The Swifts were not induced by any one to stay away from the caucus. They positively could not attend owing to business engagements. Then again Capt. Gaskin is credited with having worked in conjunction with Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, in order to make the majority of the committee for Elliott. It is said that Ald. Gaskin caused the minister of justice to write a letter to the president of the conservative association, stating that all candidates appointed to positions in the customs department must have qualifying papers. It is true that the letter was written, but Ald. Gaskin denies it was written at his solicitation. It is also claimed that R. J. Elliott's application was not sent in for a position in the customs department until the day before the committee met. Capt. Gaskin says that Elliott's application for a position was registered long ago. He was the only applicant, of twenty, that had the qualifying papers. Ald. Gaskin feels hurt because reports, that he claims are untrue, are being circulated about him.

Some people say that Mr. Metcalfe will not sanction Elliott's appointment, but others claim that he has promised to endorse the action of the executive committee.

Then it is argued that the selection was illegal because there was not a full representation of the committee present when it was made; that there was only eight members present when there should have been fourteen.

Another argument is that the young men's liberal conservative association should have representation on the executive board. Older heads think the young men have no claim to any such distinction.

There will be considerable wire-pulling before an appointment is made. B. W. Folger says he thinks none of the candidates named will get the appointment. A non-resident may be selected.

A DISPUTE IN COURT.

Mrs. Harris Accused Mr. Harpell of Assault—The Evidence Heard.

The docket at the police court this morning was particularly interesting and kept the spectators in eager anticipation of the result of the assault case brought by Mrs. Harris against John Harpell.

Mrs. Harris said she lived in the same neighborhood as John Harpell, on Victoria street. The assault occurred on the 18th between 1:30 o'clock and 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the back of witness' garden. "Harpell grabbed my son, William John by the throat and I wound my arms around the boy and told Harpell to let go of my child as he was dragging him. He called me vile names and said he would not let go. He dragged the boy and I about thirty feet distance and undone my arms and left the marks on the flesh. I told Harry Atwood and my youngest boy to run and tell their father to come. Harpell then let go after I was completely covered with mud. I could not sleep last night and walked the floor part of the night from the pain in my side, which I believe was due to the hard treatment received."

Magistrate—"Have you any questions to ask the witness?"

Harpell—"No, there is no use of asking her any questions."

Mrs. Devine testified she saw prisoner and plaintiff at Mr. Harris' door. She heard a noise at the door and Mr. Harpell told her he would have her arrested. The plaintiff showed witness her wrist which was red and badly marked.

Cross-examined by defendant—"Didn't Mrs. Harris raise the stick and say, 'If you were a man I would strike you.'"

Witness—"I saw her raise the stick. I don't know whether you were going home or not."

Thomas Reid was called. He noticed Harpell drag Mrs. Harris along the ground. He was standing exactly 142 feet from the place. There was a board fence and a picket fence between them. The fences were about four feet high.

Defendant—"The fences are five feet four inches high and he was standing on an incline."

John Harpell, took the stand. He told the story in substance as follows: "On Monday afternoon about 1 o'clock I saw a fire starting alongside my fence on Toronto street and upon going down there found C. Shelby and John Lawson; two small boys running away from the place. I stamped the fire out and went home again. Soon afterwards I noticed the fire started again and went over and found Mrs. Harris' boys there. Mrs Harris came running over and told me to leave her boys alone. She struck me with her fist once on the arm and again on the shoulder. She then clinched William by the collar and I also held and dragged both some feet." Witness told the boy he was going to take him to the police station for pulling down his fence.

Robert Harpell corroborated his father's evidence. Mrs. Harris dared his father to wait till her David came.

Mrs. Harris—"Where were you, Robert, dear, when you saw me there?"

Witness—"I was running through the field." The boys had burned part of the fence.

The magistrate adjourned the case till tomorrow to hear other witnesses.

THE "RIDEAU BELLE"

Two Trips Per Week Between Kingston and Ottawa—New Machinery.

This season the tidy steamer "Rideau Belle" will make two fast trips per week between Kingston and Ottawa. She will be commanded by Capt. Fleming, the most popular mariner on the Rideau, with Geo. Fleming as engineer, and E. Fleming as purser. The "Belle" has received a thorough overhauling, having been cleansed and painted both inside and out. Her cabin and staterooms have received special attention so that every comfort can be afforded passengers and making the accommodation second to none on the route. Her engine was improved in the Kingston foundry, which has added, at least, one mile per hour to her speed, and enabling her to make even better time than heretofore. A feature in the "Belle's" trips will be punctuality. She will arrive and depart at the different places on the route just when announced to do so, hence, passengers and those who ship freight on her can rely on despatch and the time table being adhered to. This will prove a boon to merchants.

Resolution of Condolence.

Moved and resolved that we, the Catholic Order of Foresters, regret and mourn the loss of so good and faithful a member as our late brother Bercius Sauve. May his soul rest in peace. We further move that a copy of this be forwarded his parents and inserted in our local papers. Be it resolved, kindly accept our word of consolation. If God has plucked the bright blossom from your home it is for a purpose none of us dare judge. He alone can pour balm upon your crushed hearts.

The holy joy is yours of knowing that angelic eyes now watch for your coming and your beautiful boy will receive you, when "Life's dark days are over." If the tenderest or much loving sympathy could soothe you dear parents be assured, that you have it from the loving brothers of your beloved son Bercius; the Catholic Order of Foresters.

CITY AND VICINITY.

Hotel Arrivals.

Arrivals at the British American Hotel—A. Taylor, T. S. Aspinall, C. Caldwell, C. E. Ruperet, T. Galer, G. B. Meadows, Thos. Norman, Toronto; F. Chinneck, Napanee; G. N. Beaumont, Gananoque; W. G. Hunt, Montreal; D. McMillan, Cincinnati; Isaac Waterman, London.

A Suit Over The Will.

The Purcell will case is now before the court of chancery, Cornwall. Archbishop Cleary by one will was given a large sum to be used for the poor and needy in the county of Frontenac and also some to the superioresses of the Kingston convents. D. A. O'Sullivan acts for the archbishop.

A Protest Against the Liquor Traffic.

A resolution was carried in St. Lawrence division, S.O.T., on Monday night, requesting the commissioners to issue no new licenses for the year 1892-93, more particularly in the residential parts of the city. A copy of the resolution was sent to the commissioners and they will consider it tonight.

Ald. Curtis' Wards.

Prof. McCook, of Hartford, Conn., has been investigating the tramp question, and finds that out of a total of 1,295 of professional tie counters 56 per cent. were American born, 90 per cent. could read and write, 459 of them claimed to be strictly temperate, while 30 actually claimed to be total abstainers.

Friendly to the Promoters.

The railway committee was in a quandary at its last meeting because it could not find a parliamentarian to oppose the belt line bill and aid the city in having necessary amendments framed. The city member was ill and the others in this district were friendly to the promoters of the bill. Who will be got?

The Horses Should Be Tied.

J. E. Jones says the law to the effect that weights should be attached to the heads of all horses when standing in front of stores, etc., should be enforced in Kingston. He believes this would prevent the numerous runaways daily occurring. In Toronto he says if a person does not carry a weight in his rig he is arrested.

It Came At Least.

Caretaker Sheppard says the new flag for the court house, made by Oldrieve and Horn, is the most handsome dominion flag in the city. The emblem is 15x30 feet and the appearance it presents floating in the breeze perhaps makes up to some degree for the delay in securing one. It was unfurled yesterday out of respect to the memory of the late Hon. A. Mackenzie.

Agreed to all Requests.

At the meeting of the railway committee recently it was decided to send a deputation to secure, in connection with the bill for the belt line railroad, rights that Mr. Folger promised to consent to. A clause will be inserted in the bill giving railroad companies permission to use the belt line when it is built. He has agreed to every proposition the railroad committee made in connection with the bill.

Refused to Sign.

There was a row at the Easter vestry meeting of the Church of the Ascension, Hamilton. Rev. E. P. Crawford refused to sign the minutes of the special meetings, and this roused the ire of those opposed to Mr. Crawford's incumbency. After a stormy session Mr. Gaviller approached the platform to read a resolution asking the rector to resign, but Mr. Crawford was too much for him for he declared the meeting closed.

The First of the Season.

Had it not been for the ready assistance of the mate of the schr. B. W. Folger a sad drowning accident might have occurred yesterday afternoon. J. Brophy's sailing yacht, Kathleen, containing three young men, was in the vicinity of Murney's tower when one of the boys, by stepping to one side, capsized it. The boys struggled in the water, hanging on to the buoy for dear life, until rescued and brought to shore by the Folger's crew.

What "Coffin" is Doing.

The Belleville Ontario says "Coffin" Macdonald, on his release from penitentiary, secured rooms in a leading Kingston hotel at $140 a month. Then he tried to borrow "a few dollars" from the proprietor, but failed. In another place he made a clerk's acquaintance in a store and visited it often. As soon as he was identified he was fired, along with the clerk. "Coffin" has had twelve residents of Thurlow arrested for abducting his wife, etc, and claims $1,000 damages from each.

Cannot Be Floated.

If rain does not come soon there will be a panic in the lumber market. In the lumbering districts north of Kingston the rivers and streams are so low logs cannot be moved. All the streams that lead to the Ottawa river are unserviceable, and millions of feet of timber are awaiting heavy rain falls. What particular effect this will have upon the market will be hard to foretell. But there is one thing certain the prices will be advanced in all the yards. Thousands of men who handle the logs have to remain idle, and railways and steamboats will suffer.

Consumed the Money.

A serious loss, we are informed, befell Mr. Wright, the C.P.R. town ticket agent at Pembroke, a few nights ago. Alone in his private office, he had been engaged in making up his cash at a table by the light of a coal oil lamp. The money, about $350, was lying on the table with remittance slips, etc. Mr. Wright left the office through a back door for a few minutes, and when he returned all the loose inflammable material on and around the table was ablaze, and the money and a number of papers had been consumed. He smothered the flames, but nothing but flying ashes was left of the pile of bank notes. The lamp had exploded and the money and papers must have been saturated with the oil.

The Right Man Appointed.

The police seem to be of opinion that the right man has been promoted to the sergeancy. Although one or two of the officers had an eye to the appointment, still they were willing to give way in favor of officer Snodden, and only intimated their desire for the position after having been led to believe that another officer was more popular with the commissioners. Officer Snodden is a man of no mean ability, and, together with his prepossessing appearance and muscular build, is certainly one of the most model policemen Kingston ever possessed. At the appointed time for falling in for duty, last night, the night staff suggested that officer Snodden celebrate the event by "putting up" the oysters. All the necessary "plans and specifications" were drawn up, and in less time than it takes to tell, the force were promised a good time in the near future at the expense of their newly appointed superior.

The Scotchmen's Night.

Last evening an entertainment of a very excellent character was held in the Oddfellows' hall, corner of Montreal and Princess streets, under the auspices of the Sons of Scotland. There was a large attendance of members and friends, and a very fine programme was submitted. W. Massie, presided and, in opening the proceedings, made a capital address. Selections on the bagpipes by A. J. Macdonald, of Wolfe Island, were probably the most taking items. Mr. Mackie, G.T.R. station, read a selection from Sir Walter Scott's "Lady of the Lake." J. Massie sang "My Ain Fireside" and Capt. Paul caused much merriment by the rendition of a humorous piece entitled "A First of April Joke." Mr. Borrower's songs took well, and a recitation by Mr. Scott was highly appreciated. Mr. McNiel, president of St. Andrew's society, distinguished himself in a recitation entitled "The Bashful Man." John Massie sang acceptably. Miss Mercer took part in a glee and Miss King presided at the organ.

Heroes of Unknown Seas and Savage Lands.

Daily Ontario, Belleville.

Any book portraying startling adventures and heroic deeds and strange sights will always be warmly welcomed. The king of such books is without doubt "Heroes of Unknown Seas and Savage Lands," published by the World Publishing Co., Guelph, Ont. The book is written by J. W. Buel, one of the most enchanting writers of the day, and who is peculiarly qualified for such a task as this, assisted by John Clark Redpath, the greatest of American historians. It relates the romantic adventures of all the great explorers and restless rovers of the sea. It tells the startling story of the accidental discovery of America by the sea kings of the north. It gives the story of the buccaneers of the southern seas, the relentless and sanguinary pirates of the Spanish main, the romantic and bloody deeds of the conquerors of Peru and Mexico, the marvellous voyage of the Portuguese to the southern coasts of Africa and the golden shores of far off Cathay, and many other marvellous deeds of ancient discovery and heroic achievement. Here are described the real and fabled monsters of the deep, the heroism of adventure, the contact with savages on remote shores. Here are the records of Marco Polo's travels thorough India and China, of De Gama's voyage, of the discoveries and death of Magellan. It is a record of the authors long and patient researches into fields which for centuries have been deserted, and its chief value lies in the invariable accuracy and authenticity of every statement it contains, making it a perfect mine of new, accurate and interesting information. The book is splendidly illustrated with three hundred fine cuts, four double page magnificent colored plates, and handsomely bound. Altogether, it is a work of exceptional interest and merit and will undoubtedly have, as it will deserve, an immense sale. Agents wanted. Apply to the World Publishing Co., Guelph, Ontario.

THE WORK OF WOMEN.

The Annual Meeting of a Missionary Body —Addresses By Several Gentlemen.

The annual meeting of the Kingston branch of the women's auxiliary to the Anglican board of domestic and foreign missions was held in St. George's hall last evening. There was a very good attendance. After the opening of the meeting, with prayer and the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, the recording secretary, Miss Hooper, presented the report for the year. From the report it appeared that $289.17 had been raised by the cathedral branch; $164 93 by the St. James' branch, and $60.35 by St. Paul's branch. Bales of clothing, etc., were reported as sent by the cathedral and St. James' branches. A report was also read of the work of the St. James' children's guild. The discussion of the report was followed by the election of officers which resulted:
