A Jail on Fire.

SUDBURY, June 9.—A fire broke out, at 10 p.m., last night, in the jail, and before the fire engine reached the spot the whole structure was enveloped in flames. The fire communicated to the residence of the jailor, destroying everything. Incendiarism is supposed to be the cause as the members of the household were all away visiting at the time. The total loss is about $5,000; no insurance.

The Things That Are Talked About by the Lively Boys.

Several of the boys are figuring on the C. L. B. excursion to Montreal on the 15th.

S. Harkness purchased a fine bay horse from a man living near Gananoque for $260 "Black Dick," a McCurdy colt, owned by S. Harkness, is in training at the Cataraqui driving park. It made a mile yesterday in 3:05.

The Belleville bowling club cannot come to Kingston now because of the absence of some of its best players. A later date will be acceptable.

In the 2:40 class trot at Lepine park, Montreal, "Billy S." owned by P. McLaughlin, of this city, took third place. The races were witnessed by a large assemblage.

In writing to a friend Hector Jack, practising with Dr. Gandier, Merrickville, says: "I see by the Kingston Whig that the lacrosse boys are having great practice."

Now that the bicycle track is completed on the athletic grounds the green space should be placed at the disposal of the different clubs. Both baseball and lacrosse teams have been waiting to bring clubs to the city.

Friends in Kingston were glad to hear of Ralph Hooper beating Porter, at Toronto, on May 24th, in the 220 yards dash. Ralph is an old Kingston boy in whom the fraternity puts great confidence as a sprinter. Porter has a record of 10 2-5 sec.

MAY HAVE A CANDIDATE.

Mr. Calvin's Views Presented—Opposed to Boodling in Any Form

Certain movements among leading politicians indicate that there may be a contest in the county of Frontenac, notwithstanding that a liberal candidate was not selected at the convention. It will be known this evening whether B. M. Britton, Q.C., will consent to oppose Mr. Calvin. The nomination will be held to-morrow in the town hall, at Cataraqui, and will begin at 12 o'clock and, if necessary, continue until 2 p.m. Addresses will be made on behalf of the conservatives and liberals. Some good speakers from the city will be present.

Yesterday afternoon there was a conference attended by T. Clyde, H. A. Calvin, J. B. Walkem and others. At the meeting Mr. Calvin read a letter, containing his views on the question asked by Mr. Clyde in reference to the Canada charges and freer trade between Canada and the United States. Mr. Calvin wrote in favor of freer trade and opposed boodling in every form. It was a rough draft Mr. Calvin read, and to-day he sent a complete document by post to Mr. Clyde.

The correspondence may be read at the meeting to-morrow.

A great many prominent liberals in the county think Mr. Britton, Q.C., could defeat Mr. Calvin.

A MATRIMONIAL EVENT.

Miss Tempe L. Faulkiner Led to the Altar by Mr. Hinds, Kingston.

Belleville Ontario.

This morning (Wednesday) happy wedding bells pealed forth in joyful melody as another lovely bride was led to Hymen's altar in the person of Miss Tempe Lytton Faulkiner, eldest daughter of ex-Ald. N. Baldwin Faulkiner. The fortunate young man was W. G. Hinds, of the Merchants bank, Kingston, formerly of the Merchants bank, of this city. The bride was given away, at ten o'clock, by her father. Long before that hour the handsome little church, St. John's, was crowded with people anxious to catch a glimpse of the bride. Miss M. Warren Fox kiner, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, while Ald. John S. Skinner, Kingston, did the honors of groomsman. The church was decked in a profusion of flowers. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. F. Hagarty, M.A., rector. The bride had always been an active worker in the church. After the ceremony the guests drove to the handsome residence on Commercial street, where a recherche repast was spread. The happy couple left in the afternoon for an extended wedding tour in the east.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Is He the Same?

KINGSTON, June 9.—(To the Editor): In your issue of 7th you publish advice given by Ald. Curtis, concerning the capture of the gang of robbers now around the city. The doctor seems desirous of their capture, in fact he suggests that a band of citizens scour the country for them. Can you inform me if this is the same Ald. Curtis who, a few weeks ago, gave it as his opinion that when a criminal is escaping from the penitentiary he should be assisted by citizens? If so, does the doctor mean to say that, though those robbers ought to be captured, yet, if they were tried, sentenced, happened to escape and were again at large, they would, therefore, be so much improved that citizens should aid them in escaping from punishment? Perhaps, however, the doctor, in the light of current events, may have changed his former opinion and would not now express himself as being so willing to aid escaped convicts. It is to be hoped so.—COMMON SENSE.

A QUARTETTE OF TOUGHS

BUT THE COMPANY DID NOT REPRESENT THE BURGLARS.

The Police Called Out and the Discovery Made in a Farmer's Barn—The Young Woman Fainted But Soon Recovered—Police Court Proceedings.

A sensation was created in the city last night by E. R. Ross, who drove to the city about six o'clock and notified the police that there were men in his barn on the Perth road. The object of his visit was exaggerated by people and the report spread fast that the men who committed the recent burglaries were confined in Ross' barn. The people were confirmed in their opinion when they saw officers Hutson, Ballantyne, Aiken and Sneddon drive out with Mr. Ross. They had their bushwhacking clothes on, with long rubber boots and looked as if they were after desperadoes and determined to catch them. Notwithstanding that his load was heavy Mr. Ross forced his horses at a fast rate and gave the policemen a lively drive.

When they got to the barn they were surprised to learn it was not occupied by tramps, but by three young men and a girl from the city. All were under the influence of liquor and were very much alarmed when the policemen dropped on them. They did not want to come to the city at first and had to be forced to leave the barn.

Before the return trip was made it was known over a large section of the country that a posse of police had driven out the Perth road to capture burglars. Men and women were greatly relieved by the news and thought they would be entirely free from the visits of bad men in future. On coming home the police were heartily received. The people, occupying houses along the road, were out and cheered, so great was their joy that the burglars (?) were caught. The women yelled, "String them up," and seemed enthusiastic. When the prisoners got to the police station they registered as follows: James Killeen, Joseph McQuade, Timothy Gallivan and Jennie Granahan.

The girl took a fit after she was placed in the cells and her screams could be heard for a long distance. A large crowd of people were attracted and loitered about the shambles for several hours. Finally Miss Granahan recovered and peace prevailed. The crowd dispersed, satisfied that the burglars had been caught.

Police Court Proceedings.

The police court room was unable to accommodate the crowd that wished to gain entrance this morning and the police were finally obliged to lock the door. Calling on Jennie McGranahan the magistrate read the charge of vagrancy preferred against her. "What do you say? is it true?"

After much hesitation the girl choked down her sobs as she murmured, "Yes."

Chief Horsey said she had a very bad reputation. The colonel asked her if she had any friends or relatives in the city. She replied "yes," and gave particulars.

Ollie Small saw the girl very often on the street. She had been found in Mr. Ross' barn with three young fellows.

Magistrate—"I will send you to the Mercer reformatory for one year and 360 days. You will have to live a decent life for two years at least. I hope it will do you good."

At first the girl seemed to try to take the sentence easy, but as she was led out of the dock she could not repress her feelings and gave vent to violent emotion.

The charge of trespass against James Killeen, Joseph McQuade and Timothy Gallivan was then heard. The fellows claimed they had gone in the barn to escape the rain.

E. R. Rees testified that when he returned home from the city one of his men told him of a girl and three fellows being in his barn. He supposed they were the burglars and informed the police of the matter. He was about a mile distant when he saw the quartette disappearing down the K. & P. track.

Officer Sneddon swore to the arrest, but could not give convicting evidence of their being in the barn. The magistrate adjourned the case till to-morrow to secure other witnesses.

Things of Passing Moment.

The report that the residence of S. Omer, corner of Johnson and Collingwood streets, was visited by burglars last night, was not entirely correct. Occupants of the house heard a noise on the premises at a late hour but no attempts were made by any one to get in the building.

Last night, at a late hour, a telephone message was sent to Portsmouth, from the lower G.T.R. station, to the effect that two tramps, one of whom answered the description of the burglar who entered the Aikins house, were in sight. A gang of men was driven to the depot but when they got there the tramps had gone.

People are so much alarmed over reports of burglaries that if a dog runs across their yards they conceive the idea that burglars are trying to get into their houses.

Warden Avery received a letter from county crown attorney Whiting, yesterday, suggesting that men be sent out to look for the burglars. Mr. Avery wired back for men to be despatched at once around the surrounding community.

John Breden is very much alarmed because his watch dog was interfered with on Tuesday night. The dog is wicked and it was supposed that no person dare go near the premises at night, but it appears that he was stolen. On Wednesday morning, between five and six o'clock, the dog was found chained to a fence at the corner of Union and Beverly streets. It was not thought possible that a stranger could go near the animal, and Mr. Breden does not understand the removal.

Montreal Methodist Conference.

PEMBROKE, June 8.—Cornwall was selected as next place for conference. The change from the first draft of stations are: Elginburg, S. Shibley; Gananoque, F. C. Reynolds; Pittsburg, Wm. Pimlott, Geo. Campbell; Sydenham, D. Winter; Prescott, S. J. Hughes; Addison, Wm. Knox; Maitland, T. H. Conley; Matilda, F. W. A. Meyer; Wm. Brown; Clayton, N. B. Topping; Fitzroy Harbor, Geo. C. Poyser; Sutton's Corners, Wm. Philp Westmeath, A. E. Johnston; Calabogie, H. Hill; Lockaley, A. J. Ellis.

Montreal (Laguchetiere street), F. McAmmond; Montreal (St. Henri and Cote St. Paul), C. E. Bland, R. G. Pearson; Lachine, T. Harris; Lachute, W. Craig, F. S. Morrison; Richmond, R. F. Oliver; Nepean, Fred. Tripp; Vankleek Hill, J. N. Tredrea, A. J. Belton; Aylwin, Que., G. C. Wood.

Quebec, T. J. Mansell; Cookshire, C. D. Baldwin; Coaticook, E. B. Ryckman; Megantic, E. H. Thurlow; St. John's, Alt. McCann; Chambly, John Watson; Franklin Centre, G. B. H. Davis; Ormstown, John Davies.

The election of district chairmen and financial secretaries was then proceeded with. The tellers did not return until 1:35 a.m. and then reported the following elections: Montreal, Dr. Williams; Kingston, Dr. Griffith; Brockville, Rev. H. Cairns; Matilda, Rev. J. Mavety; Pembroke, Rev. J. Scanlon; Perth, Rev. W. Jackson.

Financial secretaries: Montreal, Rev. J. T. Pitcher; Kingston, Rev. D. C. Sanderson; Brockville, Rev. Dr. Saunders; Matilda, Rev. T. C. Brown; Pembroke, Rev. W. Hanna; Nipissing, Rev. A. Henderson; Perth, Rev. S. D. Chown.

The Government Won't Do It.

Representatives of the dominion government who have power to act, have refused to put the shooting ranges at Barriefield in proper condition for service. The corps which will use the ranges in the rifle leagues will have to repair it at their own expense. The battery, Royal military college cadets and 14th battalion, have contributed towards the needed improvements.

In another column appears the death notice of Mrs. Mastin, of West Lake, aged thirty-three years, after four months suffering from general debility. She is a daughter of A. Chadwick, Odessa, and sister of A. Chadwick, Kingston.

CITY AND VICINITY.

A Pointer to Potato Growers.

James Downing, who has considerable experience in gardening, states that no matter how rainy the season may be if potatoes are planted with eyes down they will not rot, but if they are planted with the cut side down they will surely decay in wet weather. He learned this lesson in England fifty years ago.

The Bouquet Contest.

Although having met with disaster Capt. Garrett appeared in the city yesterday wearing his "prettiest" smile. The cause of the captain's excessive geniality proved to be due to the fact of his having been presented with a handsome bouquet at Cobourg. This is the first of the season. Capt. Craig will have to keep an eye out for the beautiful.

Police Court—Thursday.

William Murphy was charged with begging. He had but lately got out of jail. He promised he would go to Trenton to work on the boat, and the magistrate levied a fine of $25 and costs or six months in jail, giving him a chance to leave the city.

The case against the policeman was settled out of court.

Hotel Arrivals.

Arrivals at the British American Hotel—W. C. Hackett, A. Peden, W. A. Doyle, G. Ramsden, F. Lewis, J. H. Richardson, Montreal; J. F. Hogan, New York; E. B. Wallace, Toronto; Mrs. Emax and son, Wellington; J. F. Egan, London, Eng.; A. Maleston, Kincardine; W. H. Auts, Aulisville; J. S. Hetherington and wife, Kansas city, Ark.; A. G. West, Toronto.

Taken Back to the Cape.

Yesterday afternoon Weston Cameron, a young man about eighteen years of age, was arrested on the strength of a telegram from Cape Vincent. He was picked from among many people on the steamer Maud by officer Bateson, who conducted him to the police station. He will be charged at Cape Vincent with larceny of boots, a watch, $20 and other articles. On being searched he was found to be well armed. He wore a belt and in it was stuck a fine bull-dog revolver, and in one of his pockets a similar instrument was secured. He was well prepared for a trip to Prince Edward county where his home is. He was taken back to Cape Vincent, this afternoon, to stand his trial.

Band on the Wharf.

By kind permission of the commandant and officers the band of "A" battery, R.C.A., will play this evening, (weather permitting), on the Queen's wharf, at 7:30 p.m., the following programme:

March—"Algerine"	Hall
Overture—Silvana	Weber
Valse—Rêmembrance	Waldteufel
Cavatina for lib. clarionet (Bandsman Hilskhor)	Gassner
Danse du Tambourin	Bogetti
Polka (cornet solo)—I Ask Here (Bandsman Heyward)	Brooke
Characteristic piece — Hall of the Hen-Coop
Regimental March — Knights	Laurendaw
"God save the Queen."

T. C. CAREY, Bandmaster.

A Second Bereavement.

There is deep sympathy in Kingston for J. Ferguson, G.T.R. agent, lately of Collins Bay, now of Mallorytown. Last March he lost by death a loving daughter, one a great pride and, because of business talents, a great assistance to him. Her younger sister devotedly nursed her in her trying illness, and was in turn taken ill on the day of the funeral, with nervous affection, aggravated by grief. Despite efforts of five physicians, she, too, has passed away, and Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson are sorely bereaved. A son is now alone left to them. The burial taking place to-day at Grafton. The estimable qualities of the whole family intensify the universal regret at the double sorrow and loss.

Hard Work to Settle Them.

The members of the stationing committee of the Montreal conference had a desperate time settling the ministers. "I have been working on the committee for over twenty-four years," said a clergyman yesterday, "and we never experienced such trouble as this year." It was stated that a chief cause was none of the clergymen had superannuated and of the thirteen deaths eleven were superannuates so that there was no elasticity. As a result some men got promotions but at the expense of others who receded for a while. Most of the ministers are satisfied though there are heart-breaks in a few cases. The Kingston district, which showed the largest increase of membership in the conference, is as well manned as ever it was and a year of prosperity is anticipated under Rev. Dr. Griffin's chairmanship.

The Camp Staff.

On June 21 st, the 3rd and 4th regiments of cavalry; Prescott troop; 49th battalion infantry, County of Northumberland; 46th battalion; Durham, and the garrison section of "A" battery will go into camp at Belleville. The camp staff will be constituted as follows: Lt. Col. Strange, D.A.G. in command; brigade major, Capt. Gaudet, of "A" battery; instructor of musketry, Lt. Col. Macpherson of the active list, Ottawa; supply officer, Major Heron, governor-general's foot guard, Ottawa; principal medical officer, Dr. Turner, 3rd troop cavalry, Cobourg; camp quartermaster, Major Biggar, 15th battalion, Belleville. These appointments have not been officially confirmed from Ottawa, but Lt.-Col. Strange, D.A.G., thinks no changes will be made. The camp will be located on the same site as last year.

Touring Cyclists.

Mr. Schofield, of Philadelphia, and A. Elliott Dennett, of the Massachusetts bicycle club of Boston, arrived in the city last evening. Mr. Dennett has been an extensive wheeler and is a good authority on bicycle racing. He has attended every prominent meet in the United States for years. The cyclists entered Canada by the Niagara route, and wheeled from Toronto to Belleville. Owing to wet weather they had to come to the city by train. They report that the roads in Canada are better for wheeling on than those in the United States. They have been out two weeks and have had a very pleasant trip. They left this morning for Boston. While here they were well entertained by C. Greene. They will ride through the most of New York state and will likely attend the C.W.A. meet here on dominion day.

The Military Properties.

It is well to be specific in reflections, even though good be as good as a hint sometimes to blind horses. In parodying the words of the citizen who had visited Fort Henry "hundreds of times" with strangers we here unduly, without intent, on the caretaker of Fort Henry, Sergeant James March. We have been assured that he has endeavored to extend all courtesy in his power, but his means are limited as his orders allow him little liberty except a written pass be given by some military grand vizier, eager to show he has a little power. The chief discourtesies we have in view emanate from other military enclosures, and on enquiry we learn that at one of them, where much incivility has been received, a soldier has been given sole charge whose character may be judged when delirium tremens is no yearly stranger to him. Surely for each and all of the forts and towers mention can be chosen whose sobriety and behavior are assured. Are there not sufficient men of good standing in the battery for these few positions? The absurdity of requiring a pass to the worthless old fortifications, crumbling to decay and without a gun that any modern fighter would take as a gift, is bad enough, for no one is going to spy out, copy or steal them. But not decent men be placed in charge of every one of them, even if officers deny him the discretion of admitting visitors.

The rush is for Armstrong's new store and its low prices.

NOT OUT OF THE CITY.

His Character is Unimpeachable—Mr. Dean Was Not at Lockport.

George K. Dean, of this city, is not guilty of having broken the laws of this country or of the United States. It has been insinuated by the western press that he was the Dean referred to as having been implicated, with a lawyer, in opium smuggling at Lockport, N.Y.

He was interviewed by a reporter last evening and said: "People, in making statements about me, should be very careful and not get information mixed. The best proof that I am not the Dean referred to in the despatches is that I am in the city. I have been here since Hardy's election and have not been absent a day. The papers insinuating that I am the man will have to take their words back."
