Interesting Closing Exercises.

Police Court—Thursday.

Mary Harris, a confirmed vagrant and of unsavory character, was before the court this morning. She was sent to the Mercer Reformatory for two years, less four days. James Willis was fined $2 and costs for drunkenness and John Pruso was given time in which to leave the city.

Canvassing For Subscriptions.

Last night committees of the leading members in each of the Anglican churches of the city were named to at once canvass for subscriptions towards the erection of a See House, to be presented to Bishop Lewis next June. Before the central committee appeal to the outside parishes they will see what Kingston will do towards the laudable object.

Making a Military Inspection.

Col. Irwin, Inspector of Artillery, was in the city yesterday and made an inspection of the stores at Fort Henry. Along with Lieut.-Col. Villiers he also made an inspection of the men's quarters, and expressed much satisfaction with the cleanliness and neatness manifested. He was also delighted with the soldierly appearance and action of the main guard.

The Saved Army.

Lieut. Grant has gone to Verona for a few days. General Lindsay will be in Kingston Sunday. The army band is to be started in Kingston. Several of the old musicians have promised to assist. A grand jubilee occurs next Thursday to raise money to pay off the indebtedness for rent and gas. The tent will be here next week and will be erected on the battery ground opposite the Ontario Hall.

Quoiting on the Island.

The quoit match between Dr. Spankie and an unknown did not take place on Wolfe Island last night as expected. Great disappointment was felt by quite a gathering of friends. Mr. Loomis consented to play the doctor one game and succeeded in making it very hot for him, the game standing 18 to 18 when the Dr. succeeded in making his ringer at the proper time. It seems to be a favorite amusement of his to allow a man to almost reach safety, when he snatches the game from him by a shot which could not be beaten and which is hard to tie.

A Clergyman Makes Explanation.

Ven. Archdeacon Jones explains that his fervid appeals for missionary support have been on behalf of domestic not foreign missions, though he is chairman of the foreign mission committee of Ontario Synod, and that the reason for Lennox deanery being at the foot of the list in contributions is that its parishes are very few in comparison to the number in other deaneries, and are struggling country ones save one; that all the contributions of last year came from his own parish of Napanee, a small town compared with some other in other deaneries.

Letter Carriers' Excursion.

The moonlight excursion of the letter carriers was the popular event of last evening. The Maud left the wharf at 8:15 o'clock with about 300 persons on board. The steamer ran up to the penitentiary and, turning, went down the river. The boat was decorated with Chinese lanterns. The 14th P.W.O. Rifles' band provided excellent music, and the dancing was greatly enjoyed. The steamer went as far as St. John's Island and on its return, when opposite the city, fireworks were set off under the control of Mr. Collins. The boat returned to the wharf about 11:30 o'clock. The letter carriers sold about 400 tickets, so that the expenses were fully met. In future the excursion of the carriers will be an annual affair.

ST. MARY OF THE LAKE.

CLOSING EXERCISES AT THIS POPULAR SCHOOL—A GOOD TIME.

A Programme of Merit Provided by the Young Ladies—Miss Bella Herndon in Her Element—His Lordship Addressed—He Makes a Most Appropriate Reply.

The closing exercises of the school of St. Mary of the Lake, under the direction of the Sisters of the Congregation de Notre Dame, took place on Tuesday afternoon. There were present His Lordship Most Rev. Dr. Cleary, Bishop of Kingston; Rev. Father Kelly, secretary; Rev. Fr. Twohey, chairman of the S.S. Board; Rev. Frs. Twomey and McRae; Brothers Halward and Edward, and parents and friends of the pupils. The hall was artistically decorated with flowers and evergreens and presented a delightful appearance.

A VERY INTERESTING PROGRAMME.

The programme commenced with a duett, entitled "Mephisto Galop," performed on two pianos by Misses B. Herndon, M. Devlin, M. McKenty and W. Mullin. A floral offering was then made to His Lordship by Misses F. Murphy, O. Beaupre, R. Johnson, V. Murphy and H. Short. The address accompanying this presentation was gracefully delivered by Miss Flora Murphy. A solo and chorus, "Welcome Here," was then given, the solo parts being well sung by Misses W. Mullin and B. Herndon. This was followed by a duett, "Grand March," which was well received. The next piece was an excellent and instructive dialogue entitled, "The Revolt of the Bees," in which several characters figured. The queen was represented by Miss Bella Herndon, the guardians of the hive by Misses M. Mullin and M. Killorin, and the leaders of the working bees by Misses W. Mullin and M. Devlin. The piece was cleverly performed and created great interest. The "Ivy Green" was then sweetly sung by Miss Herndon, and was followed by the playing of "Irish Diamonds" by Misses McKenty and Herndon.

ADDRESS TO THE BISHOP.

Miss May Mullin then came forward and read an address to His Lordship. The reading was excellent and the words beautiful and touching. They principally related to the love and gratitude they owed to and felt for His Lordship, because of the deep interest he unceasingly manifested in their welfare, as evidenced by the visits he made them, and the kind and encouraging words he so often addressed to them, and which they would ever fondly cherish, no matter where their lot in the future may be cast.

A VERY APPROPRIATE REPLY.

His Lordship replied in a very feeling manner. He considered that he did not deserve the thanks and compliments they had so kindly and generously paid him. He had not visited them as often as he desired, for various reasons, which he briefly stated. Nevertheless, they could be assured that he thought of them none the less, and that he felt as much interest in their happiness as did their parents. He counselled them to always give that edification that was expected of them by all who are so deeply concerned in their greatest welfare, both here and hereafter. He warned them in respect to the company they keep and the books they read, saying that their parents and guardians should always be consulted in matters of such importance. The reading of novels and romances, he said, destroys both the mind and the heart of the young female, rendering her thoughtless, foolish, giddy and unreal. He said that nothing was more lovely or more admired in the Christian maiden than modesty and unaffected simplicity, which never fail to win all hearts, and which no art can ever replace. He closed his pathetic address by wishing them a happy vacation and calling down on them God's choicest blessings.

Classes will again reopen at St. Mary of the Lake on the first Monday in September, when it is hoped a large number of boarders will present themselves for admission.

BURGLARY AT MR. BRITTON'S.

A Lot of Valuable Silverware Stolen—The Theft a Genuine Surprise.

The residence of B. M. Britton, Q.C., was entered last evening by burglars and to-day a considerable quantity of silver plate is missing. Mr. E. H. Britton was expected by the train from the east, and for his convenience the front door was left unlocked. Through it admission to the house was no doubt obtained, and to the dining room the thieves seem to have confined their attention. They cleaned the table of all the silver left upon it, and relieved the sideboard and cupboard of many articles. The burglary first became apparent to one of Mr. Britton's domestics, who, descending to the dining room early this morning, was surprised at the bareness of the table she had set for breakfast. Neither fork nor spoon was to be seen. Thinking that another girl had been playing a joke upon her she went upstairs and began her enquiries. The person addressed knew nothing of the silver, and together they went about looking it up. A glance at the sideboard and cupboard suggested the truth of the situation—that the house had been robbed. There is no telling at what hour the theft occurred. It must have been late, however, and possibly about the time of young Mr. Britton's return. It was done, too, by inexperienced hands, as the articles taken were indiscriminately selected. The loss is considerable.

A TIME PIECE FOR CHARLES.

The Boys Turn up Again and Honor a Bridegroom-Elect.—A Pleasant Evening.

It was just 8:35 o'clock by John Smith's jumbo watch last night, when a large number of the young men of Kingston assembled in the parlor of the British American Hotel. The boys were in attendance to spend the evening in a social way with Chas. Livingston, jr., who is to-night to pass from the dreary state of bachelordom, and to whom they desired to convey their hearty good wishes along with an expression of their regard. Capt. R. Crawford was deputed to leave a finely upholstered chair, (into which Bob Eilbeck conveniently slipped) and take a position at the centre table. He did so and without any formality called on Mr. McKay to read the following address:

"A few of your innumerable friends desire to offer you their hearty congratulations upon the eve of your marriage and to present you with a small mark of the high esteem in which they hold you. An intimate friendship of years has led us to appreciate the manliness and kindliness of your character and to make, we trust friendship imperishable. Our intercourse in the past has been so pleasant that we must confess a slight shade of respect in the thought that a woman has again entered our Eden and for the future our claims upon your time will have frequently to yield to her superior rights. We must, however, congratulate you upon having found as the wishes of your heart one so possessed of every grace and virtue, that her fetters will be as bands of roses, full of charms and delightful to bear. You both have our most sincere and heartfelt wishes for the happy and prosperous outcome of your 'world-without-end bargain.' May every joy smile upon you, and may 'God, the best maker of all marriages, combine your hearts in one.'

"In selecting something to perpetuate the recollections of this expression of our good will, we trust that it is not inappropriate to ask you, in view of the increased expense you are assuming, to accept this clock as something where you will always find "tick." Nor have we forgotten that it will enable your wife to time your goings and comings, not, however, we hope, short comings."

The cover was drawn on a small stand disclosing a beautiful clock in gold and plush, beneath a glass globe. The design was delightful and as an ornament will undoubtedly be a "thing of beauty and a joy forever." The clock was obtained from Smith Bros. and was valued at $45.

Mr. Livingston, who stood during the reading of the parchment, replied expressing thanks for the remembrance from the boys. He never anticipated that he held such a warm place in their affections. In all his movements and in all his enjoyments he had ever found the young men of the city willing and active to make things pleasant. In his new state he hoped to still retain their regard, and that his new home they would always find the latch-string hanging outwards.

Afterwards numerous toasts were proposed and nearly every gentleman present had a few kind expressions to make regarding the worthy citizen whom they were honouring. A few songs were given in an appropriate way. With hands crossed and with the groom-elect in the centre of the circle the company vigorously sang "Auld Lang Syne," and departed.

TROUBLE ABOUT A HOUSE

A PORTION BUILT ON THE STREET LINE MUST BE REMOVED.

A Popular Lady Tries to Influence the Streets' Committee to Reconsider a Decision—A Request from the K. & P. RR Co.—A Nuisance Ground.

Some weeks ago a house was erected on the corner of Johnson and Division streets by W. Snowden, contractor, for S. Harkness, son-in-law of Mrs. Grimason. It was found by the city engineer that the building encroached on both streets. The greater encroachment was on Division street. The matter was reported to the streets committee. The members of this body decided that the portion of the building on Division street must be removed. The decision was appealed against by the contractor. He appeared before the committee at its last session. They gave him a hearing. The matter was discussed and the committee were unanimous that the house should be moved. Their second decision was not accepted by the parties interested. Mrs. Grimason, a lady of influence, was the one to lead in the second attempt to have the matter arranged so that the house would not have to be torn down. A petition was drawn up and circulated, praying that the streets committee reconsider their action. The document was signed by the majority of the members. After they were visited by Mrs. Grimason, the streets committee met yesterday afternoon. The members were all present except Ald. McKelvey. His name was not on the petition.

GOING OVER THE FAST AGAIN.

Chairman Gildersleeve intimated the business, and said that the matter had been previously discussed and a decision reached. To reconsider the matter, was, according to his views, extremely bad. Whether they would reconsider the affair was a matter for the committee to decide.

Ald. Thompson—Read the names of the aldermen on the petition.

The chairman—Oh, the majority signed it.

Ald. W. Wilson—I am one.

Ald. Adams—I am another.

Ald. McDermott said that a gentleman had told him that the universal feeling among the people of Division street was against the action of the committee. Aldermen were canvassed to disapprove the committee's decision.

Ald. W. Wilson—I don't think anyone was canvassed on that line.

Ald. McDermott—I say there was. Judge Price and others, had pronounced against the decision. It was under these circumstances that I put my name to the document, requesting a meeting of the committee. I thought it would be well to have the matter reconsidered. I consider that Mr. Snowden was not aware he was building on the street line.

THE LAW MUST BE ENFORCED.

Engineer Irving said other houses on the same street were on the street line, but the house in question was six inches further on the street than the others. A chart of the city property showed this.

The chairman observed that if the committee did not enforce the law in this case they could not conscientiously compel other people to obey.

Ald. Adams thought that if the building were allowed to remain it would not hurt the appearance of the street. It was in an out of the-way place.

Ald. W. Wilson—The only difficulty I see in this matter is the establishing of a precedent.

Ald. Thompson reiterated that the question was whether the committee had any power to give away public property.

Ald. Hobart contended that if the house was allowed to remain on the street they would not be giving away public property. If the building was ever burned down the parties rebuilding could be made to get off the street line.

Ald. Thompson said that if Mrs. Grimason or any other party thought the action of the committee was a hardship they could petition the council against their decision. He thought the matter should be referred back to the council at any rate.

Ald. Hobart favoured the committee taking the matter into council. He moved the reconsideration of the matter.

The motion was defeated on a tie vote.

COMMUNICATION FROM A COMPANY.

The communication of Mr. Nash, surveyor, on behalf of the K. & P. RR., asking that the course of the drain emptying at the foot of King street be diverted, sent to the committee for consideration at its last meeting, was not taken up because of a request from the K. & P. RR. Company. The company submitted a new proposal. It was to the effect that if the city would allow them to put a gate on King street, at Place de Armes, they would extend the drains underneath their track so that they would empty into Cataraqui Bay.

Ald. McDermott was in favor of the proposition.

Ald. Thompson, although opposed to the fencing of King street, said that something should be done to get rid of the cesspool at the foot of King street. It was a public nuisance. He actually saw cart loads of decayed and rotten apples and large quantities of garbage in the pool. He would not live in the locality of this nuisance ground if he were paid for it. There was a great deal of talk about the health officer doing his duty, but that gentleman failed to make any improvement at the foot of King street.

The committee authorized the city engineer to confer with Superintendent Folger.

The committee then adjourned.

CAPT. CRAIG'S LETTER.

What He Saw on Different Trips—He Has Disposed of the Steamer Star.

Capt. Craig writes as follows, about his trip to Montreal: "The only thing that marred the trip to Montreal on Sunday last per steamer Corinthian was the rain and a delay of two hours at Kingston, waiting for a G.T.R. special train having on board members of the G.A.R., from Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska. In passing through the rapids puns were indulged in and the best of good humor prevailed. A timid gentleman from a prairie state, said he preferred the 'rabbits' on the prairie to the 'rapids' of the River. Another gentleman from the sunny south remarked that he would not be able to stand the climate of Canada long and would therefore 'climb it' south as 'rapidly' as possible. All the excursionists were well pleased with the treatment they received at the hands of Capt. Ada, Purser Footner and Steward Bushel, all Kingstonians. After a short stay in Montreal I returned to Toronto where I disposed of my interest in the steamer Star, and the Toronto and Grimsby route to good advantage. I go to St. Catharines and will return to Kingston immediately to further other deals."

Will Speak on Sunday.

P. Wathen, formerly of Kingston and now a resident of Huntingdon, Que., is in the city. He is still doing evangelistic work. He says that during the past fifteen months upwards of 400 conversions have occurred through his ministrations. He is here for the purpose of quieting rumors regarding himself. Having been requested to speak to the citizens he has consented, and at 2:30 o'clock on Sunday will make an address on the market square. Mr. Wathen still claims association with the Salvation Army.
