A Fire Near Newburg.

A fire broke out in the residence of T. Knowlton, two miles east of Newburg, at half past twelve on Monday last. The wind was blowing a perfect hurricane at the time, so that none of the contents were saved. The barn, about thirty rods away from the house, was also burnt. A span of horses had a narrow escape. They were in the barn at the time. A wood house and a storeroom containing all Mr. Knowlton's sleighs, reapers, mowers, harness, sawing machines. The loss is very heavy. It will probably reach $20,000. He was insured.

The Daddy of Gordon Street.

Last evening, at the merchants dinner, the mayor, in calling upon Mr. Snowden to respond to the toast of "Trade and Commerce," called him the "Daddy of Gordon Street." When the latter got up to speak he corrected his worship. Although he had built on the greater portion of the street he was not by any means "the Daddy of it." The remarks of Mr. Snowden convulsed the house with laughter. The mayor explained that Mr. Snowden had misunderstood him. He meant that he was the greatest builder on Gordon street.

Married Last Evening.

Last evening at 9 o'clock Mr. C. Livingston, jr., of the firm of Livingston Bros., and Miss Callie E. Wilmot, daughter of Mr. Nathaniel Wilmot, Ordance street, were united in marriage in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The occasion is one calling forth the heartest felicitations. Both of the contracting parties are popular, and the event will be hailed with satisfaction and delight. The WHIG, figuratively speaking, fires the traditional old boots at the couple, and wishes them unalloyed happiness in their new relations. Mr. and Mrs. Livingston left for the west on this morning's express.

They will arrive at the Guthrie Home, London, early in July. This will be Mr. Middlemore's thirteenth annual visit with juvenile emigrants from Birmingham, England, since 1872. Many applications have been made for the children but more are required. Further particulars may be obtained by addressing H. Gibbens, Manager of the Guthrie Home, London.

INAUGURAL OF THE SPACIOUS HOTEL —MANY MERCHANTS PRESENT.

The Host Presented an Excellent Bill of Fare, which was Heartily Relished—The Speakers of the Evening—Objecting to the Seat by-Law—Kingston Merchants' Stability—Her Educational Advantages.

On the 6th of October last the Windsor Hotel was burned down. It has been rebuilt, and is now a well qualified house. The rooms are large and well furnished, and under the management of Mr. P. McLaughlin it must have a successful career. Some weeks ago the Princess street merchants adjacent to the new building, who contribute an annual bonus, decided to inaugurate the Windsor by a supper, and last evening at 8 o'clock about one hundred and twenty-five persons, including a number from the county, sat down in the spacious dining room. The tables were spread in a sumptuous way. The room was attractively decorated with streamers of red, white and blue, and Chinese lanterns.

WHAT COMPOSED THE MENU.

Soup—Ox joint and vegetables.

Fish—Boiled salmon and Hollandaise sauce.

Entries—Stewed kidneys in wine, friciasse giblets, croquets of fowls.

After dinner letters of regret were read from Bishop Cleary, Hon. G. A. Kirkpatrick, Col. Twitchell, Rev. W. B. Carey, A. Gunn, M.P., Principal Grant and Messrs. John Kerr, C. Hamilton and F. Rowlands.

PROGRAMME OF TOASTS.

Before proceding with it Mayor Smyth explained that it was not his intention to have presided at the gathering, but owing to the extreme modesty of Ald. Dunn it fell to his lot. The mayor considered it a great honor to occupy the chair.

The first toast proposed by the chairman was Her Majesty the Queen. Only two predecessors have ever sat on the throne as long as she had. They could not expect that the illustrious personage would continue to fill the position much longer. He hoped that as long as she had her health and faculties, however, she would continue to rule the British Empire in as distinguished a manner as she had in the past. The toast was heartily drank and Mr. Middleton sung "God Save the Queen," the company assisting in the chorus.

The toasts of the "Governor General" and "Mayor and Corporation," followed. Ex-Warden Fair proposed the latter toast. He referred to the market by-law as being a great grievance to the farmers of the county. It was a great inconvenience to them to be compelled to weigh their meat before selling it on the market scales. He thought it was unfair for the city council to think all the honesty in the country was vested in their weigh man. He declared the farmers were being cheated and imposed upon.

DOWN ON THE BY-LAW.

The mayor concurred, saying that the by law should be repealed.

Ald. Dunn was not aware that the council was to be catechised relative to by-laws at the supper. He thought that the city council should confer with the county council in the matter. He was in favour of tolls being thrown off both in the city and county. It would be better for all parties.

Mr. Duff, Storrington—Give us something about the weighman

Ald. Dunn—There are other aldermen present, probably they will say something about him.

Ald. Wilson thanked Mr. Fair for the attack he had made on the city council, and also thanked those present for attending the supper.

HONORING THE BRAVE SOLDIERS.

Sheriff Ferguson proposed the "Army and Navy" and briefly referred to the brave young men in the North-West. Major Power responded to the toast, and Mr. Middleton sang "The Red, White and Blue."

T. H. McGuire proposed the "Warden and County Council." All were glad to see the Windsor Hotel built up again. He eulogized the owner of the house, Mr. Britton, Q.C., and spoke in high terms of the proprietor, Mr. P. McLoughlin. He alluded to his rural friends and intimated that the people of Kingston felt a great interest in them. One could not get along without the other. The citizens were anxious for the welfare of the farmer. He alluded to the able manner in which gentlemen composing the county council had managed affairs in years past and he was sure that the present warden and councilmen were not behind their predecessors.

Reeve Haycock, of Kingston township, was glad to be present. The dinner was the greatest bonanza the farmers had secured from the city merchants for some time. He favored free tolls, and had always advocated such. He asked for a free market to the farmers.

Capt. Joyner was glad that the Windsor Hotel was for the accommodation of farmers. He complained of the market by-law.

STABILITY OF KINGSTON MERCHANTS.

"Trade and Commerce" was the next toast. In proposing this toast the Mayor referred to the merchants as mainly instrumental in helping the city to make the rapid strides in past years.

R. M. Horsey said there was no city in Canada that had a better name for stability than Kingston. He hoped the merchants would long retain the spirit of activity that had been manifested in the past.

Messrs. Hewton, Snowden and Polson also spoke to the toast.

The toast of the "Learned Professions" was proposed by Mr. J. L. Haycock. Able and eloquent responses were made by Mr. B. M. Britton, Q.C., and Dr. Henderson.

CANADA EXCELS IN EDUCATION.

Mr. Mudie proposed the educational interests. He felt complimented in having the honour of proposing the toast. They were sensible, of course, of the importance of the theme of education, in which they must all feel deeply interested. This country early commenced an excellent public school system, for which they were deeply indebted to Dr. Ryerson. He referred to the excellence of the higher educational institutions of the country, such as Queen's, Toronto, and Victoria Universities. These institutions afforded such an education as to fit men to freely take their places among the foremost nations of the world. He did not know of any city where there were so many advantages presented to persons to acquire a thorough education as in Kingston. Besides Queen's College, erected partly through the munificence of the merchants of the city, they had a Military College, the only one in Canada. It afforded an education to young men so that they might excel in military circles. Then there was another institution, in the vicinity of Kingston, which, although it was for criminals, gave its tenants an education. He alluded to the Kingston penitentiary. In concluding he said that he was glad to state that as far as he knew there were none of the city merchants who had ever been sent to prison for any crime. Messrs. R. M. Horsey and I. Wood responded to the toast. After toasts were proposed to the "Agricultural Industries," "The Press," "The Ladies," and "The Committee" the meeting dispersed at midnight.

The tug St. Peter with another tow was going the same way as the St. Francis. When opposite Molson's wharf the latter boat ran in the way of the former and the barge laden with peas struck the wharf with such violence that all the joints in her box were instantly opened. She at once began to sink and after all on board had been safely landed, she was towed as rapidly as possible to St. Helen's Island, where, upon nearing shore, she sank. She lies in comparatively shallow water and is in a bad condition. Efforts will be made at once by the Transportation Company to raise the barge, which, with the cargo, is fully insured.

WITH THE LADIES' AID.

A Most Enjoyable Excursion Down the River—Evidences of Summer Life.

About two hundred persons patronized the excursion of the Queen street Methodist church on the steamer Hero yesterday afternoon. The day was extremely pleasant and just hot enough to make escape from life in the city desirable. Those who availed themselves of the trip on the elegantly appointed steamer had an enjoyable time. The steamer left the wharf promptly at 1:30 o'clock. She steamed rapidly down the river. At the Thousand Island Park a goodly number disembarked, and for an hour and more rambled about the delightful grounds. Those who visited Alexandria Bay found the place assuming a lovely appearance. There are every indications of a most successful season. Both the huge hotels are receiving guests, and the residences of the islands are filling up with families. The usual decorations are being put out. A number of new and elegant houses are seen on islands near the great summer resort. On entering the Thousand Island hotel the Canadians were greeted heartily by Charles P. Clewes, an old hotel man, familiar to travellers who have stopped either at the Queen's, in Toronto, or Windsor, in Montreal. He is now manager of the summer hotel. Stepping over to the Crossman Henry O'Brien smiled luxuriantly, and paid great attention to the visitors, showing his fellow citizens through the mammoth hostelry. The return voyage was very pleasant. During the evening songs of a spiritual character were given in a very happy way. The boat landed its passengers on Gunn's wharf at 8 o'clock.

ALTERNATING FUN AND FIGHT.

Two Damsels Retire From a Hotel and do Not Return Until Morning.

Last evening two maidens, attached to a city hotel, went for a drive with two promising sports. They did not return until an early hour this morning. After the girls left them, the escorts had a dispute about the money that would have to be paid to the livery stable keeper for the use of his carriage. The outcome of this row was a fight between a man who offered suggestions and one of the young gallants; and the youth had his face wrecked. One of the girls was discharged from her place this morning. The other will be asked to follow suit. The fight may result in a police court investigation.

Election of Officers.

A very pleasant time was spent by the members of the St. Lawrence Division, Sons of Temperance, at their lodge room last evening. It was the quarterly meeting, at which the officers of the lodge are elected. After the election cake and lemonade were passed among the members. The following are the officers elected:

W.P.—Bro. J. Schroeder.
W.A.—Bro. McCormack.

DISCOVERED AT WORK.

BRINGING A BAD YOUNG MAN TO TIME —HE ACKNOWLEDGES LARCENY

Prevalence of Scarlet Fever in the Town—The Schools Closed—The Actions of a Trio of Girls—They are Given Time to Quit the City—The Misconduct of a Dry Goods Clerk.

To-day the public schools were closed, several days sooner than had been intended. The following correspondence will explain the cause for haste:

"Mayor's Office, June 25.

"DEAR SIR,—The Medical Health Officer reports scarlet fever prevalent. As we cannot rely upon parents keeping children in quarantine who are infected or come from infected homes he advises me to ask your board to close the public schools at once. I am, very truly yours,

"E. H. SMYTHE,
"Mayor."

The above communication was addressed to the chairman of the Board of Education, who penned the following to Mr. H. Savage:

"Kingston, June 25.

"DEAR MR. SAVAGE,—As far as I can see it will be well for the committee on school management to comply with the request of the chairman of the Board of Health. Yours truly,

"R. VASHON ROGERS."

Mr. Savage acted at once. He called upon not only members of the committee, but of the board, and found that a majority of them favoured the closing of the schools this afternoon. The haste of action prevented, of course, anything of course, like formality or ceremony, and the distribution of prizes will be made by the various school chairmen during the vacation. The results of the recent promotion examinations will also be published.

The mayor was seen to-day and said he did not think there was ground for serious alarm in regard to the scarlet fever. The members of the Board of Health were taking all necessary steps to prevent the disease from becoming epidemic. It is quite prevalent in the lower parts of Cataraqui Ward, and some deaths have occurred. A case on Brock street is of a malignant type.

A physician stated that the fever would likely travel over a good deal of the city before it was stopped, but its character could be made comparatively harmless by the exercise of care. Ventilation, good air and pure water, contributed largely to the safety of sufferers from scarlet fever.

Another says the disease is found along the route of the North Street drain, proving most conclusively the necessity for a more perfect drainage system. This doctor said he could not say that the disease was epidemic in form passing through the country, but he could say that it was propagated by defective sewage arrangements. The sufferers in many instances live in tenement houses and belong to poor families. The deaths have not been numerous.

A Cobourg despatch denies the truth of the telegram in the Mail, sent from Kingston, that sixty cases of scarlet fever had occurred in Cobourg. There is no truth whatever in the report. The schools are all open, and there has not been a case of the kind in Cobourg for more than a year.

Dr. Fee says that about twenty cases of scarlet fever have come under his notice. They have been mostly in Chatham and Division streets, and all have been of a mild type. Some of the children having the disease got better without being even confined to bed. The disease is more of an epidemic this year than it was last year. The doctor thinks that the furore created about it is unnecessary.

GIRLS ON THE STREET.

A Trio From Napanee Gathered In—They Were Given Time to Leave.

For several days three bold young girls, aged from 17 to 20 years, had been walking about the city and acting unbecomingly. The police watched them and, when possessed of doubts as to their character, arrested them. Detective McGarry made the capture. They appeared before the police magistrate this morning and gave their names as Jennie Wager, Mary McDole and Hattie Vandewater. They were quite jolly in the dock. Hattie Vandewater had been an employee in a hotel and was charged with larceny of coins from A. Foster. She denied the accusation and said the coins in her possession were found in a room vacated by show people. She was remanded. To the charge of vagrancy she said she was looking for a place but could not secure any. She claimed to be from Napanee, to which town she would gladly return. Jennie Wager was contradictory in her statements. She was also anxious to leave Kingston for her home in Napanee. Mary McDole, the oldest of the trio, came from Napanee on Wednesday. She didn't think she would stop. The magistrate gave the two until 4 o'clock to clear out of the city. If they were found on the street again they will go to the Mercer Institute.

A letter was found in Hattie Vandewater's pocket, and it has produced a sensation in a certain dry goods house. One of the clerks, a new comer to the city, confessed to larceny. He provided the young woman with clothing and other things at his employer's expense. When Detective McGarry secured the letter he interviewed the young man, but a direct denial was given to the accusation. Six button buff gloves and silk and cotton stockings were produced; then the fellow acknowledged his guilt. He was at once dismissed. He fell in with the young woman recently, and to "get solid" with her deluged her with dry goods. Other clerks are said to have been engaged in similar work. The girl Wager, though young looking, is said to be married. Mary McDole is a novice in sin. She is of good parentage and her people may possibly save her before she gets beyond their power.

Collegiate Institute.

On account of serious sickness in Mr. Knight's family he has been unable to attend the Collegiate Institute all week, and will not be present at the closing exercises of the school on Monday next at 3 p.m. He has, however, through correspondence and through the assistance of Messrs. Cameron and Irvine, made every arrangement for closing exercises of an unusually interesting character. There will be readings, recitations, music, vocal and instrumental, presentation of class prizes, and also presentation to Miss Nettie Horne, of the Governor General's medal won last year. In the absence of the chairman, the Hon. Dr. Sullivan, His Worship Mayor Smythe will preside.

A Clever Act in Fishing.

Mr. S. Sutherland while fishing at Charleston last week caught a 7 lb. pike and a bass weighing ¾ lbs. at the same time with a fly. The bass caught on to the hook first, and the pike saw the act. It made a grab at the bass and swallowed it all but the tail. The hook caught in the pike's jaw. This made the union strong and Mr. Sutherland accomplished what is generally conceded to be a clever feat in angling, viz., catching two heavy fish on one hook at the same time.
