SIGHT

The pain and silent sight
Stretched her mantle o'er the burning West,
And stilled the tumult of the world of light

Deep into rest.

On dark and broken plumes
Their twilight droops subdued the closing sky.
And in the gathering wilderness of glooms
Her shadows lie.

And from the many strand
The raptures floating idly forth are borne
On the veil where dim and distant stand
The hills of morn.

And, breaking from repose,
The stars down quivering through the cloudy screen,
Hymn the benisons of the airy close
With light serene.

With golden lustre dim
The crescent moon is hovering on high,
Her pale light drifting slowly o'er the rim
Of the blue sky.

Beneath the bounding arch
I watched the golden cycles as they run,
All passing in a grand triumphal march
To meet the sun.

And so I wait alone
Until the glory of the night has ceased,
And the red eagle mounts his blazing throne
In the far East.

CENTREVILLE CONCERT.

Reply to an Unjust Critic—What He Calls Stale—The Programme Given in Full.

To the Editor, Brutal Whig.

SIR,—My attention has been called to the following article which appeared in the Napanee Express correspondence:

"The annual tea meeting in connection with the C.M. Church was held in the Town Hall on New Year's evening, and financially it was a success, realizing in the neighbourhood of $60. Music was furnished by Kingstonians. Now, Mr. Editor, I wonder how long they think they can palm off their stale recitations and silly songs upon us. Why, sir, they acted as though they were singing to a lot of Ignoramuses. Some of the pieces were an insult to the community."

I feel it my duty to characterize the whole thing as untrue and liable to mislead any one whose eye might happen to see it. Subjoined I give the programme in full:

Chorus—"Poor, O King"—Company
Address—Chairman
Solo—"I Fear no Foe"—Mr. Galloway.
Instrumental Trio—Messrs. Cooper, Bentley and Armath
Solo—"Sweet Evaline"—Mr. Dover
Address—Rev. Mr. Boden
Solo—"Going Home to Die"—Mr. Bentley
Instrumental Trio—Cooper Bentley and Armath
Solo—"Trust"—Mrs. Galloway
Soldiers' Chorus—Company
Address—Rev. Mr. Baker
Solo and Chorus—"Over the Garden Wall"—Mr. Galloway."
Instrumental Trio—(with song)—Cooper, Bentley Crumley and Driver
Solo—"Pick a Box"—Mr. Crumley
Solo and Chorus—"Oh, Looking Day"—Company
Instrumental Trio—Cooper, Bentley and Armath
Solo—"Dunstanse's Lament"—Mr. Cooper
Solo—"Consider the Lilies"—Mrs. Galloway

It will be seen by the above, how many stale recitations were given unless indeed he chooses to characterize the addresses as such. Permit me to say, with regard to the songs which our worthy musical critic chooses to call silly, that they were the only songs that received even a fair share of applause, some of them being encored. I need not add, Mr. Editor, that had the statement not been made that all the music for the programme was forgotten our self-imposed critic would have considered the concert a grand one and goes home contented. As it was the Committee expressed themselves as very much pleased with the result, and I think your readers have only to look over the names of the pieces to judge whether they were built to be sung in any community or under any circumstances. Criticisms such as the above are not only unjust but uncalled for, especially when it is considered that no charge is made for the services rendered, particularly when the criticism comes from one who don't know what he is talking about. Yours truly, One Who was There.

Jan. 10th.

THE END OF A TRAGEDY.

The investigation into the death of M. de Mazas, editor-in-chief of the Paris Gaulois, has been concluded. M. Richard, editor of the Petit Caporal, who killed him in a duel, and MM. Georges Price and D. Bois Glavy, the seconds of M. Richard, were acquitted. The Court held that M. Richard was the offending party. The duel occurred on Sunday, the 3rd September. M. de Mazas was killed outright and M. Richard received three serious wounds, from which, however, he soon recovered. The two antagonists were the editors of rival Bonapartist papers, and took to abusing each other in the columns of their papers in such ferocious style that a duel to the death was the result. M. de Mazas' wife, who was the provoker of the duel, got wind of the affair, and when the two urge editors first repaired to M. Gorman to fight out their quarrel she put the gendarmes on their tracks and the duel was prevented. The two antagonists, however, subsequently met in the garden of a common friend at Nogent and there fought without interruption. The affair lasted scarcely a minute. M. de Mazas threw himself on M. Richard, striking Implacard, and the latter, without even covering himself, held his weapon forward. M. de Mazas throwing himself blindly on it. M. Dubarit's wounds were very serious. His adversary was so rapid that when he drew blood the wounds had not time to inter-fere until his impetuosity was checked by a threat fell in the chest.

Facts Regarding the Quakers troubles—One of the Friends States the Case.

There recently appeared in the Wave a report with reference to troubles among the Prince Edward county Quakers. "One of the Friends," writes to the Picton Gazette on the subject as follows:

"Having noticed an editorial in thy last number, entitled 'Whither are we drifting,' which is likely to convey a totally erroneous impression to the public, I ask permission to state the facts as they really have been enacted, and ask all unprejudiced persons to judge for themselves. For many years, not for two or three as stated, many persons from the States, duly accredited as ministers, have come among us preaching doctrines and introducing innovations in our form of worship totally repugnant to the principles and settled convictions of the society for the last two hundred years. This, although protested against by such, as conscientiously believed it their duty to maintain the fundamental principles on which the society was founded, was unhappily adopted by many bearing our name in Canada, who wished to conform themselves more to the world and seek

SALVATION BY AN EASIER WAY

than by the Cross of Christ. This culminated over two years ago in separation of those of the society in Prince Edward. We hold two other sides that for peace sake they might have their choice of hour on first day (Sunday) They chose 10 a.m., and we 2 p.m., and then chose fifth day (Thursday) and we fifth day previous for our usual week day worship. We found our own fuel, paid a person to make fires, and paid one-half the expenses of cleaning houses, etc. There was nothing on our part like a feeling of distrust and bitterness; on the contrary, we tried to maintain a Christian spirit towards them. About two weeks ago they informed us that they were going to shut us out of the house. We then took legal advice, and when we went to meeting on the 24th we found the door locked and two men beckoning us to enter. We quietly took off the hinges and went in, made a fire, and sat down as usual. One of those men and his brother came in calling out several times, 'There will be no meeting here this afternoon.' I made a show of taking down the names of those present, although quietly requested to either sit down or withdraw. After this they went out into the hall and disturbed us hammering, etc., and would not allow Andrew Wycoh and others outside to enter. We however held our meeting and went home. Two nights after they spent nearly with bars and bolts, and when we got there to hold our usual meeting we found the gate and house fastened against us and were forbidden to enter. Procuring a crowbar we drew the staple and opened the gate. We then put the crowbar under the sash and lifted it out, but by each party pulling on it the sash and glass were broken. Some of our party, however, found means to get in at the back door, and so opened the front door. On attempting to make a fire we discovered that they had filled the stovepipe upstairs with mule so that it would not draw. Which of the seven that occupied the house or the one outside was guilty of that measure I am unable to say. As last first day they did not disturb us we were in hopes that a better spirit prevailed, so we procured a lock with two keys and offered them one, but they would not allow us to put it on, and expressed their determination to lock us out every meeting day. This threat was put in force again to-day with the same result as before. As they have now commenced a suit in Chancery it will soon be decided who is right and who is wrong. We defend the action in law, not so much for the value of the property as for the principle involved in it, as it will show which is orthodox and heterodox. I think it is not too much to say that we have the universal sympathy of the public around Bloomfield."

ALL NIGHT FASTENING THE DOOR

DEATH OF AN OLD SAILOR.

Captain Joseph Kennedy, of Toronto, died yesterday morning after a brief illness. He was one of the oldest and most experienced navigators of Canadian waters. In 1840 he served with Capt. McAllan, of Whitby. Five years later he was master of the schooner Prince of Wales. Afterwards he took charge of vessels owned by H. & S. Jones, of Montreal, commencing in the freighters, the propeller St. Thomas, and subsequently all the new vessels of the firm as they were built. During his long experience Captain Kennedy never lost a vessel, and in received money and addresses from passengers whom he landed safely through storms so severe that all but the most sanguine despaired of ever reaching them again. Last summer Capt. Kennedy became part owner of the steamer John Harris, and ran it as an excursion steamer on Toronto Bay.

Joseph A. Rogers, of Cannington, states that he has taken Burdock Blood Bitters with great benefit in a lingering complaint and adds that he would recommend it to all.

Bedroom disease that may be warded by wetting the hair at night, and every night for two or three weeks with the Graphine Hair Restorer. Sold at 50c per bottle by all druggists.

DOUBLE SUICIDE.

An Unfortunate Pair End Their Life With Poison—Plans too Well Carried Out.

One of the saddest tragedies in Detroit was enacted between Saturday night and Sunday evening. Mrs. J. Edward Monck, at the Franklin House, was found dead in bed. About 6 o'clock her husband called a boy and gave him their child to give to Mrs. Higgins, connected with the house, to care for. Monck locked the door of his wife's bedroom and disappeared. About midnight Mrs. Higgins became tired of the child, and the bell boy knocked at Mrs. Monck's door, no response came. The night clerk unlocked the door, pushed it open, when he found Mrs. Monck dead. The

was that she had been dead three hours. A considerable amount of a whitish substance was found on a dressing case in her room, which has since been ascertained to be morphine. There is no doubt she committed suicide with the knowledge of her husband. The lady was turned over to an undertaker. When taken to the rooms to be prepared for burial, on the second finger of the left hand was found a small slip of folded paper, which read as follows: "Sweet Helen, I will keep the promise I made you. Jack."

Between 9 and 10 o'clock Saturday evening a man stepped up to the office of the Brunswick Hotel and registered his name as Frank Howard. He informed the clerk before that he did not want any breakfast. His room adjoined that of a lady and gentleman, who were kept awake at intervals during the night by heavy breathing, interrupted with groans. Throughout Sunday the heavy breathing could be heard. About four o'clock it suddenly ceased and they began to suspect that something was wrong. One of the proprietors of the hotel was notified.

BREAK DOWN THE DOOR,

and found the man insensible. A doctor used every means of resuscitation, but the man died about seven o'clock. In the pocket of his coat was found a half filled bottle of morphine, and in other pockets were found papers which disclosed his name to be J. Edward Monck. His suicide and that of his wife was concerted. It is possible no administered to her the morphine before he left the Franklin House; that he remained by her side until the poison had taken a firm hold upon her system; that he then wrote the note and placed it where it was subsequently found in order that if she revived she might be encouraged in the resolve that they had previously made to die. Monck had been with the Customs Department at Chatham. For neglect of duty he was suspended, and has been making efforts for reinstatement, but without avail. For a few days previous to his death he had shown signs of despondency. His wife would have been 23 in May. She and Monck had boarded at the Franklin House for four weeks. It is said his fondness for his wife and the fact that he desired to keep his marriage secret cost him his position in the Customs Department, as he neglected his business at Chatham and spent considerable time with her in Detroit. The father of deceased, Richard Monck, is at present Tax Collector for Chatham. Eugene Lacra, father of Mrs. Monck, arrived in Detroit on Sunday evening.

In my own case, with a badly ulcerated throat, after a physician prescribing it for several days to no effect, the Eclectric Oil cured it thoroughly in twenty-four hours, and in threatened croup in my children this winter it never failed to relieve almost immediately.

ZOPESA.

(FROM BRAZIL.)

The New Compound, its wonderful affinity to the Digestive Apparatus and the Liver, increasing the dissolving juices, relieving almost instantly the dreadful results of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, and the TORPID LIVER, makes Zopesa an every day necessity in every house.

It acts gently and speedily in Biliousness, Costiveness, Headache, Sick Headache, Distress after Eating, Wind on the Stomach, Heartburn, Pains in the Side and Back, Want of Appetite, Want of Energy, Low Spirits, Foul Stomach. It invigorates the Liver, carries off all surplus bile, regulates the Bowels, and gives tone to the whole system.

Cut this out and take it to your Druggist and get a 10 cent Sample, or a large bottle for 75 cents, and tell your neighbor about it.
