OPERA HOUSE SERVICES

The Propriety of Them Discussed—Too Much Standing on Etiquette—Notable Workers.

To the Editor, British Whig.

DEAR SIR,—Some professors of religion seem to have the idea that there is only one place in which to sow the seed of divine truth, and that is from the pulpits of the several churches. It has been said that the services that are held in the Opera House every Sabbath evening are so irregular and the surroundings of such a character that it would be a violation of christian propriety to attend them. Were not the servants of Christ and his disciples irregular? They dined no gowns, read no liturgy, but preached the gospel wherever opportunity afforded. They did not stand on conventionalities, or what is termed to-day ministerial etiquette. The place to them was only a secondary consideration; they taught the blessed truth that God is a spirit and that only a spiritual worship is acceptable to Him. Any one, be he minister or layman, who can object to religious services which only have for their object the salvation of souls, must live very much within himself, painfully contracted. Men who are doing work for God can afford to be frowned upon by the free-and-easy going professors of religion. Thomas Chalmers, who when he was surrounded by people in high places and by the aristocrats of Edinburgh because of the theory by which he proposed to elevate the poor, went right on to do his work, so that Thomas Carlyle, who was then a comparative boy, but who knew how to appreciate moral worth, wrote: "What a glorious old man that Thomas Chalmers is! While we stand wringing our hands over the filth and wretchedness of our entire be takes a shovel and goes down into the dirtiest goshlin of Bloxsport, Edinburgh, clears out the sewers and fills them with living water. "Glorious old Dr. Chalmers. He who could do this would not have objected to preach Christ and Him crucified in an Opera House. Dr. Chalmers was no ordinary man as a pulpit orator. He stood high above all his compeers, but he hesitated not to step out of the pulpit into the streets when required to do work for his Blessed Master. There is a possibility of being a little too particular as to the manner in which the Lord's work ought to be done. Christ says, "Go work in my vineyard." Surely the vineyard is not exclusively confined to the Churches; the word is a much wider signification. Wesley caught the correct idea of its meaning when he said, "The world is my parish." We are to sow the seed by all waters, on the banks of the stagnant pool as well as by the crystal fountain—sow it any where or everywhere where there is sufficient soil to cover the seed. Never mind if we have to stoop a little lower to do the work than we have been accustomed to do. If we have to go down into the horrible pit and among the mire and the clay to rescue the perishing we shall be crown the, more for the work, but all the better, and especially on the day when the crowns shall be distributed by our Lord and righteous Judge for faithful service. I am glad that the divinity students of Queen's University, in their noble efforts to reach the masses by holding services in the Opera House, have had the support and sympathy of many of the ministers in the city, and also that of their liberal and large-hearted Principal, Dr. Grant. I would advise the students to work on in their Master's service whenever opportunity presents itself, and pay no heed to the oppositionists. There always were such and I suppose always will be.

Fight on, young men, brilliant eyes are on you,
Man dies but glory lives.

PERIO.

STORRINGTON ASSESSMENT.

To the Editor, British Whig.

DEAR SIR,—Permit me to explain to the public the cause of much of the vexation and dissatisfaction manifested at the various polls of this Township on Monday, the 1st inst.

On that day many respectable farmers, after driving from four to six miles to record their votes, discovered on arriving at the polls that through the inadvertence of the Township Assessor, their names either did not appear on the Voters' List or that they were assessed as owners instead of tenants or farmers' sons and vice versa. These men by reason of their being improperly assessed, had to undergo in many instances a humiliating scrubbing at the polls, besides being prevented from voting by the agent of some aspirant, for even hours whom candidature I was supposed they did not favor.

During the day several cases came to light of freeholders, owning improved farms of from 50 to 200 acres, being disfranchised through their properties not being assessed at all, the township thus losing the taxes that should have been collected on those properties.

Hoping that the new Council will, when the proper time comes, [illegible] a thorough system of Assessors, and by so doing prevent a repetition of the culpable blunderings of last year.

I remain yours respectfully,

A SUFFERER.

Storrington, Jan. 8.

FITZSIMMONS QUALIFICATIONS.

To the Editor, British Whig.

SIR,—I am requested to correct a misunderstanding which has occurred in reference to a certificate I gave to Mr. John Wilmot to settle a certain dispute, and which he saw fit to publish in last week's issue. I may state that in 1882 Mr. Wilmot did not have any conversation with me relative to the declaration to be made by any member of the Municipal Council, but in 1881, sometime after the first meeting of the Council he called on me to ascertain the amount at which Mr. Whitney's property was assessed. On obtaining the information asked for, Mr. Wilmot stated that Mr. Whitney was disqualified, as his property was heavily mortgaged, but he would not interfere, although strongly urged to do so. In the following year (1882) Mr. Whitney was again returned, and at the first sitting, before filling up the declarations of qualification, I asked him what property I should insert in the declaration, as I was informed he could not qualify on his real estate, it being mortgaged, and if so, he could have the income that related to him included and it sufficient he could qualify.

INTERMEDIATE STATE.

Need of a New Testament Revision—Doctrine of the Church of England—A History Given.

To the Editor, British Whig.

DEAR SIR,—Now that the fact of an intermediate state has been settled would it not be well to have another Committee appointed for the revision of the New Testament so that it may be brought into harmony with the doctrine? This is especially called for from the fact that it is held by persons belonging to a church teaching every doctrine contained in the sacred word and holding no doctrine not found therein.

The writings of the Apostle Paul evidently need to be rectified, for to say the least, he must be guilty of a lapsus lingue when he expresses a desire to depart and be with Christ, which would be better than continued life here. He meant or should have meant Paradise. Then all his talk about those who present in the body are absent from the Lord is radically wrong, and so throughout. The apocalyptic vision should likewise be corrected, for the souls of the departed and the saints seen by John are evidently set forth as being in the wrong place. Before the Kingston Christians accept of this dogma a revision is called for, as it is evident the whole consensus of the New Testament, as it now stands, is against such a view.

It seems singular that in connection with a doctrine which in the Church of England is left as an open question this challenge should be made, namely "Show me a doctrine in the Bible which the Church of England does not teach, and show me a doctrine of the Church of England which is not in the Bible." I feel sure it would interest many of your readers if an explanation were made of a few facts relating to doctrines held and practices sanctioned by the Church of England. Among these the following might be embraced:

1. The doctrine of Baptismal regeneration, as held by a large number of the clergy and laity.

2. The scriptural warrant for Apostolical succession in the ministry and for the order of a priesthood in the Christian Church.

3. The teachings relating to the Real Presence in the sacrament of the Lord's supper.

4. The authority for saints days, for auricular confession and priestly absolution from sin.

5. The warrant for exclusiveness which the Anglican Church alone among the Protestant Churches practices.

6. The New Testament example for receiving all sorts of persons into the fold of the Church irrespective of moral character or any change of heart.

7. The sanction for the consignment of the dead, no matter what the life has been, to the grave, "in sure and certain hope of the resurrection to eternal life through Our Lord Jesus Christ, etc."

8. Explanation of the anomaly of a Church holding a Calvanistic confession or creed signed by all its clergy, when generally speaking its clergymen hold Armenian views in theology.

Further, it would be interesting to know the reasons why in England the preponderance of the Christian people who have done and are doing the most aggressive work are found without the pale of the Anglican Church, established and endowed as it is, and why its disestablishment seems to be in the near future.

True, it is possible to make a Church so broad, so national and so of the world that it may include within its pale teachers of the most divergent views, and therefore, include all the doctrines of the Bible; but to say that all the doctrines taught in the Church of England by her regularly ordained clergy are found in the Bible is quite another thing.

Permit me to say that it is not intended to imply that the doctrines and usages referred to are by any means the leading features of the Episcopal Church in England or America. Its history and record in spite of imperfections manifested, is honorable and bright, and especially since the Evangelical revival within its borders has it been doing good service for Christ, and the world, and this the whole brotherhood of Churches recognizes. We have heard of the dire disasters threatened this earth when it comes into certain relation to the sun. Shall we then infer that it is owing to the Churches aphelion that such wide divergence of doctrine and discipline prevails.

PRINCELY HOSPITALITY.

Magnificent Fete in France—A Famous Gathering—A Grand Dinner and Ball.

There has been a magnificent royal fete at Ferrieres, France, the country seat of Baron Rothschild. A special train conveyed the Count and Countess de Paris and the Princess Amalie d'Orleans, a large number of the old aristocracy, and a multitude of distinguished men from Paris. At the railway station carriages with four horses and postillions awaited the coming of the guests. They were received in the magnificent hall, hung with priceless tapestry and splendid pictures. The hall itself is a marvel, being 30 ft. high, and not having a single window. Dinner was served at 8 o'clock, after which a reception was held in a saloon hung with Cordova leather, and which opened into "the white room," where stand the piano and armchair of Marie Antoinette. Then followed a little comedy in one act, entitled "Fin de Bail," in which Miles Richemberg and Ecrain appeared. This was succeeded by bouffe operetta, in which Richemberg played "Elle" and the younger Coquelin "Lui." Next morning there was a grand breakfast at half past 10, after which the Countess de Paris visited the famous greenhouses. Meanwhile the gentlemen were making and havoc among the pheasants, and 1,590 birds fell before nine guns. The poor pheasants never had such a wretched time since Baron James Rothschild received the Emperor Napoleon III. at Ferrieres. Lord de Grey alone slaughtered no less than 800. The ladies watched the battu from afar, and at half past four the marksmen adjourned to the "English House," which M. de Rothschild purchased at the International Exhibition. Later on the gentlemen met in the salle des chasses, famous as the room where the historical interview took place between Bismarck and Jules Favre during the war. Then came dinner and a ball in the evening, and the cotillon was danced.

NOT A FAIR VERDICT.

The Liberal vote at the polls was almost equal to the Conservative. He revised his first calculations and compared them with those of Mr. Meredith, who had challenged his figures. The result was according to his figures, and he considered them accurate, that 136,800 Conservatives voted and 133,800 Liberals, a total Conservative majority of 3,100. Of the ninety-two members elected the Conservatives were not really entitled to any more than forty-six and a half members, and the Liberals forty-five and a half. Really, however, the former had 55.20 per cent. more than they were entitled to. The Conservatives, by a gross abuse of power, in the gerrymandering act, had weakened the Liberals in a great many seats. In the eight hived constituencies of the Liberals they had an average majority of 900; in the eight hived Conservative constituencies the Government thought 400 majority enough. Take that part of the Province east of Dunham. There were 75,00 votes therein. Well, they voted 40,000 Conservative and 35,000 Reformers, entitling them to 46 Conservative members and 14 Reformers, but actually represented by 27 Conservative and 8 Reform members. A total majority of 150 votes would have wiped out these 8 seats. Take the nine ridings joining Durham, the Northumberlands, the Hastings, the Victorias. The Conservatives got 12,594 and the Reformers got 10,950 votes. Yet the Tories got every member.—Mr. Blake.

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electros and Eclectric Oil for the genuine Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another, but as their own their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of Northrop & Lyman, the proprietors for Canada, on the back.

Rheumatism.

North Eli, Eastern Township, P. Q.

SIR,—I have great pleasure in giving testimony to the efficacy of your Electric Belts, Bands, and Insoles, having been afflicted with Rheumatism for thirty years. When I purchased the Belts, etc., last summer, I could scarcely walk, but now I am well, although in my seventy-sixth year.

THOMAS JAMESON, J. P.

Sold by W. J. Wilson, at the Pharmacy Heath & Gunn's old stand.

C. R. Hall, Grayville, Ill., writes: "I have sold at retail, 156 bottles of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, guaranteeing every bottle. I must say I never sold a medicine in my life that gave such universal satisfaction. In my own case, with a badly ulcerated throat, after a physician prescribing it for several days to no effect, the Eclectric Oil cured it thoroughly in twenty-four hours, and in threatened croup in my children this winter it never failed to relieve almost immediately.

SEEING is believing. Read the testimonials in the pamphlet of Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure, then buy a bottle and relieve yourself of all those distressing pains. Your druggist can tell you all about it.

As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."
