ISSUING A WRIT.—To-day Messrs. Walkem & Walkem issued a writ which will force the Reeve of Pittsburgh to show that he is qualified. The same firm will attack the return of three other competitors for municipal honors.

A STATEMENT.—Mr. McGuire states that he alluded to an Alderman in St. Lawrence Ward as one who was a Conservative in the late elections, got votes as such, and went with the Liberals in the Council. Ald. Whiting may have something to say about this.

NOT CONSIDERED INSANE.—Michael Lee, the murderer of Maggie Howie, is still outside the Asylum. The officers of the Penitentiary are convinced that he is not insane. He is a good worker, a shrewd talker, and maintains that in killing the girl he was doing a righteous act.

DUNCAN ON THE WARPATH.—Duncan C. Ross is out with a challenge to wrestle the three champions of Scotland for $2,000. The same offer is open to Chief McKinnon and H. A. McDonald, of Canada, and T. F. Lynch and Captain Daly, of New York. Duncan is well known here.

DEATH OF MRS. BROCK.—Rev. Mr. Brock has the sympathy of very many in the bereavement at which he has been called upon to bear. His wife—a faithful and fond partner of 43 years—died last evening. Her remains will not be interred until Tuesday, pending the arrival from Manitoba of an only surviving son.

ST. GEORGE'S CATHEDRAL.—Some questions will be answered in the sermon to be preached by Rev. Dr. Wilson on "Heaven" in the Cathedral to-morrow evening at 7 o'clock. By resolution of the vestry all seats are free at the evening service, and pewholders are requested to accommodate strangers with them.

She has made a specialty of "Camille," in which she has achieved her greatest success. She has splendid support.

TAMWORTH ELOPEMENT.—On Sunday evening an elopement occurred at Tamworth. The gentleman in the case was Phillip McKim and the lady Miss York. They attended the Sunday evening service, disappeared, at Croydon are said to have been married, and are now in Belleville. The friends of the lady gave chase, but a capture was out of the question.

PORTSMOUTH HARBOUR.—Portsmouth has spent $[illegible] in removing sunken barges and [illegible] the harbor, and the Government spent $8,000 in straightening the channel. The harbor is now looked upon as one of the best on the lakes. It is accessible in the stormiest weather. Vessels can sale in and out quite easily. The advantages of the pier and harbor will probably be advertised and inducements given a Company to locate there—if the M. T. Company do not remove from the city.

AN IMPORTANT MOVEMENT.

The Gananoque Journal understands that a petition is being circulated for signatures, asking the Government to make the Gananoque and Wilmot waters navigable, by erecting locks at Marble Rock and the outlet of Charleston Lake, also locks at Lyndhurst and Morton. This would connect the waters so that boats could ply from Charleston, Lyndhurst, Delta and other inland places, to either Kingston, Ottawa or Gananoque.

SHIPMENT OF BARLEY.

One of the grain buyers of Ogdensburg tells this: "In the town of Masson, St. Lawrence county, I met a Canadian in competition buying barley. He took his barley to Canada and shipped it to Boston as Canadian grain. I shipped mine direct to Boston. The result was that he received seven cents more per bushel for his barley than I did for mine. This is a very pertinent of the relative merits and value of New York State and Canadian barley."

AT A CEMETERY VAULT.

The Express prints an account of the attempt made to effect an entrance into the Napanee cemetery vault in order to secure the body of the daughter of Mr. McKillop, the cause of whose death was a puzzle to the physicians. Close to the door were two crow bars, two drills and a heavy sledge, and convenient to the cemetery was found an old sleigh which was doubtless intended to carry the body or bodies away. There were marks on the door of heavy blows by the sledge, and the stone work round the door bore evidence of having been tampered with by the drills and crow bars. It is supposed that the attempt was made on Tuesday night. Kingston students are suspected, because on Tuesday five or six medical students from Kingston put up at an Odessa hotel and left just before daylight, ostensibly to go to Kingston but in reality taking the road to Napanee.

It is improbable that Kingstonians committed the offence. The Medical College is well supplied with dissecting matter. In Montreal and Toronto, however, big prices are paid for bodies. The other day the body of a convict was received at the Royal College, but it was stolen and no trace has been secured of it. It has not left the city, however. The medicos are much excited over the affair and the leading question now is, "Who stole the body?"

GIVE US THE DATE.

The unfounded rumors which have appeared lately in the Wave, concerning the alleged desire to withdraw Mr. Metcalfe and substitute Capt. Gaskin, were thoroughly exposed at the Tory Convention.—News.

Captain Gaskin's organ will please give the date upon which the Wave made the statement above quoted. Rumours were current that Mr. Metcalfe was likely to be withdrawn, and they are said to have been set afloat by Conservatives who attended a caucus some nights ago. The Wave gave them publicity, but in no way intimated that Captain Gaskin was the coming man. A new substitute he would be for Mr. Metcalfe.

SETTLED THE CASE.

Defendant Pleads Guilty to Technical Assault, but the Case is Finally Dismissed.

On Thursday morning last, as already reported, an altercation occurred in the Market Square between ex-Mayor Gaskin and Sheriff Ferguson, resulting in the former being summoned before the Police Magistrate to answer a charge of assault. On the day that the row occurred we recited no particulars, preferring that the evidence should be published and consequently the sworn version of the mêlée given. Before giving the scene at the Police Court we present the circumstances as narrated by eye-witnesses. On Wednesday last, at the annual meeting of the County of Frontenac Agricultural Association, Sheriff Ferguson stated, in the course of his public address, that had he and four or five farmers been in control of the improvements and erections at the palace grounds for the recent fair, he believed $1,000 or $1,500 would have been saved. The statement was published in this paper. Therefore ex-Mayor Gaskin was agitated about it, and seeing Sheriff Ferguson on Thursday morning, conversing with Warden Fair and James Abernethy on the market, approached and asked Mr. Ferguson if he had made the remark published. The Sheriff said he had. Mr. Gaskin then used very offensive language. He termed the Sheriff a —— fraud, shaking his fist at the time in the officer's face. The Sheriff warned the ex-Mayor off. The ex-Mayor then made a remark, with imprecations, to the effect that he would boot the Sheriff. A separation followed, and an action was entered before the Police Magistrate. Yesterday mediators endeavored to bring about a settlement of the case. The friends of both parties assembled at the British American Hotel, where it was understood an apology was to be offered by the ex-Mayor. Sheriff Ferguson was requested to appear. When he did so and saw Mr. Gaskin he left, "because," as he told a reporter this morning, "he did not want to be in the company of such a man."

POLICE COURT PROCEEDINGS.

This morning the case attracted to the Court a large crowd, many in the audience being of high standing in the city. John Gaskin was called and appeared. John McIntyre, Q.C., appeared as his counsel. The Magistrate asked if a settlement could not be arranged.

Mr. McIntyre said that unfortunately his client had committed a technical assault. He thought the Sheriff would not say in the language of the charge that he had been beaten by Mr. Gaskin. The assault had been made while in a spirit of angry gesticulation. The Sheriff was not physically hurt. Mr. Gaskin, therefore, pleaded "guilty" to a technical assault.

The learned counsel was about to make some further remarks when the Sheriff was called from the Mayor's office where Judge Price, Wm. Breden, James Agnew, Mayor Livingston and several others were congregated. A short conversation followed, the Sheriff returned, and the ex-Mayor was called in. In a few moments he stepped in front of the Sheriff and said that he was as the Sheriff was an old man. He committed the breach while he was in a passion. According to the published item it looked as though he had wrongfully done away with the funds. He had spent them as correctly as possible.

The Magistrate—No one doubts that.

Ex-Mayor Gaskin said when he made use of the language he was excited. He had endeavored to make satisfactory explanations. He intended to write to the Sheriff about the statement, but meeting him on the market spoke to him. He was sorry for what had happened.

Mr. McIntyre said that was what he was instructed to say. The friends of the Sheriff and Mr. Gaskin had endeavored all day yesterday to reach a settlement, but such, for reasons, had not been accomplished.

ADMITTING THE ASSAULT.

Sheriff Ferguson, in reply, said that if the Police Magistrate heard the evidence of the quiet persons with him at the time he would agree that he had no right to settle. He was a conservator of the peace, the same as the Police Magistrate, and when insulted he had a right to protection. He claimed that ex-Mayor Gaskin had used towards him the most abusive language. He had been living in the city for half a century and no man could charge him with being a blackguard or with having told a falsehood. His character would stand scrutiny better than that of (pointing to defendant.) "I am not of a revengeful spirit and am satisfied with the apology."

THE MAGISTRATE'S WARNING.

The Magistrate addressed the defendant and hoped that in future he would be more careful about what he said. The case might have gone further than it had.

The Sheriff said he was nearly provoked to strike Capt. Gaskin with his cane, but had more respect for himself.

The Sheriff then retired and the ex-Mayor, (in a low voice) remarked, "It's a good job you didn't." The room was cleared two minutes afterwards.

DUTY ON COAL.

A large firm of southern iron miners who have works in Georgia, Toledo, Pittsburg and other places will send a deputation to Ottawa, in a few weeks, to wait upon the Government in reference to the coal tariff. In the event of a favorable decision being arrived at whereby the Company can import coal from Erie, Pa., at a sufficiently low rate they propose to develop the iron mines on Kingston and Pembroke Railway in the vicinity of Calabogie Lake where the Bathurst furnace is at present being worked. They will this season ex tonnage in the neighborhood, at present 10½ percent, which gives the English iron an advantage over the Canadian product. A Toronto iron firm are said to be interested in this project. Sir Leonard Tilley has been waited upon already by Col. Collier, of that flower, to whom the hon. gentleman promised he would lay the question before the Government.

SALVATION ARMY.

AN OFFICIAL SKETCH OF ITS WORK AND POSITION—ITS GROWTH AND RESOURCES, ETC.

A Special Mission—Using New Methods to Convert the Ministry—Work in an Entirely New Field.

As a few days the Salvation Army corps will commence operations here, creating a stir which is anticipated and already discussed, we have thought it well to supply some additional facts concerning the organization, gleaned from official sources. The army was organized or 1865 by William Booth, the present leader. Booth was brought up in the Church of England, converted among the Wesleyans, afterwards became a minister of the New Connection and travelled in a great many parts of England until 1861, when he resigned his position and gave himself up, with his wife, to evangelistic work. In 1865 he operated in East London, where he was appalled at the fact that the bulk of the population were totally ignorant and deficient of real religion. He went to work to rescue them and the Salvationists operate by holding meeting out of doors and marching along the streets. They visit saloons, prisons and private houses, they hold meetings in theatres, music halls, and the room on reserve those who are pleasure seekers; they sing popular airs, use every day language and adopt novel and striking forms of illustrating the truth.

WHY CALLED AN ARMY?

The organization has been called an army because it has been fashioned, substantially as such, and the reason for its existence being were the military form of government has been adopted. We stated a day or two since that the army numbered 30,000. Statistics to hand show that in 1881 the corps occupied 910 buildings, they paid a rental of £8,207, they expended on property and furnishing £18,331, there was accommodation in the buildings for 633,000, the number of people reached in the streets weekly was 3,000,000, and received and expended by the people for the year ending April 14, 1881, exclusive of America, £14,669. The converts contribute to the support of the army; they must present all they have as well as themselves to the service. Collections are taken up at the various stations and at the services. Each officer goes forth to the war, "trusting in God" for his support, and has no claim on any one for salary and remuneration. Their necessities are usually supplied, but many suffer hardship. The working expenses of the corps vary, but they average £4 and £5 per week. Mr. Booth, since the commencement of the movement, has been supported from an entirely independent source than the funds of the army.

ATTRACTING THE PUBLIC NOTICE.

Their places of meeting are designated as "Salvation Warehouses," "Salvation Stores." In this way they say they avoid the prejudice of some against churches and chapels. It was explained that the first necessity of the movement is to attract attention. The army defends the beating of drums in processions and remark that there cannot certainly be anything more objectionable in their calling the poor people into theatres and halls by such a means than Christians calling their congregations by a bell. A novel method is pursued in their use of posters announcing the meetings. They are written to attract drunkards, gamblers, debauchees and degraded women, and consequently notice is given of something to be done or some strange person to appear. They adopt this course because they know that ordinary religious announcements will not be read by the man they desire to reach. The motto "Fire and Blood" means "the precious blood of atonement by which only we are saved; the fire signifies the Holy Spirit sanctifying all who are true soldiers."

FOLLOWING A BOUTEN.

When the Army enters a town its purpose is to make a permanent lodgment and to raise up a force that shall continue the war and go on increasing until the whole district is overcome. It is wholly different from what is styled revival meetings. Their object is to spread through the entire world and continue an aggressive war against sin in every shape. The Army has no political character or aim, it is in no way hostile to existing evangelical denominations, and many of its converts go to swell the membership of the churches. Its object is not to recruit its ranks from those of surrounding churches, and it avows its objection to accept as members any who belong to any of the churches, but prefers the looking after the uncared for and thinking them by invitations and meetings adapted to meet their tastes and habits and so attract them to the meetings. The Salvation Army is an agency for good. It has been in operation for [illegible] years and is winning favour from the good and wealthy. The doors, alone [illegible] are immense. Its influence has extended to regenerating drunkards and has stirred them up to renewed energy, and very many who lived with despair, distrust and were strangers to the movement are now convinced of the great work being accomplished.

There is talk of a collision between the Army and Prentice Boys, the latter having been, under the lease, deprived of the use of the Victoria Music Hall according to a late engagement. This should not be. If a breach of contract has been committed the Trustees of the Hall should be held for damages. The Salvationists have done nothing over which there can be dispute.

THE SUMMER FORECAST.

The coming season of 1883 will witness even a greater rush to the St. Lawrence than before. The three principal park resorts, Westminster, Thousand Island and Round Island have appointed their officers for the present year, and the annual reports show each to be in good financial standing. The Round Island Association showed a surplus of $6,000 over liabilities, and advised many island and hotel improvements for next season. Westminster stock is also booming, while the Thousand Island improvements are the order of the day.

POLITICAL MEETINGS.

Reform Candidate, Dr. J. M. Fair—A Tory Scuffle—An Adjournment For Two Weeks.

This afternoon, Reform Hall, Golden Lion Block, was crowded to the doors by the yeomanry of Frontenac County for the purpose of forming an association, and selecting a candidate to contest the Riding in the Reform interest. The election of the officers for the Association resulted as follows:

President—John Simpson, Cataraqui.
First Vice-President—J. S. Baker, Kingston.
Second Vice-President—P. McCallum, Pittsburg.
Associate Vice-Presidents—Thomas Cliff, Kingston Township; J. Dawson, Wolfe Island; A. Rankin, Storrington; Thos. Todd, Pittsburg; J. W. Fisher, Portsmouth; Thos. Fryer, Howe Island.
Secretary-Treasurer—John McGrath, Storrington.
Executive Committee—Messrs. Wm. Craig, T. C. Stark, C. Morrison, George Woodman, J. Campbell, George Baillie.

The election of officers being completed, the meeting organized. Various contributions were handed to the Treasurer.

The nomination of a candidate was next proceeded with.

Three delegates from each municipality were appointed to select a candidate and it resulted in the selection of Marshall Fair, Warden of the County. The nomination was unanimously endorsed by the meeting and the support of the Convention tendered to him.

CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATION.

This afternoon a number of the Conservatives of the county met at the Waggoner House to organize for the next Local Election and select a candidate. The organization was proceeded with but a standard bearer was not selected. During the discussion John Wilmot and D. Donaldson, of the Township of Pittsburg had a personal encounter; unheard they came to blows and caused a fearful commotion.

Friends interposed and peace was eventually restored, but the incident had a demoralizing influence. Delegates were selected and two weeks hence another meeting will be held for the nomination of a candidate. There are several aspirants, and it will be no easy matter to reach a unanimous choice.
