No failure of crops has ever occurred.

Oregon wheat commands a higher price than that of any other country in the Liverpool market.

An immense area of very fertile Railroad and Government Lands within easy reach of the trunk lines of the North Pacific RR., the Oregon Railway & Navigation, and the Oregon & California RR. Cos. and their numerous branches in the great Valleys of the Columbia and its tributaries, are now offered for sale at Low Prices, and on easy Terms, or open to pre-emption and Homestead Entry.

The great movement of population to the Columbia region now in progress will be enormously increased by the completion of the Northern Pacific RR. and the Oregon Railway & Navigation Co's systems. THE FIDDLER.

A halting man in rusty coat,
By sixty winters seamed and hent,
Still drawing a thin and wiry note
From out a battered instrument.

Beside the kitchen chimney-place,
Whose generous pile log flickers wide,
A link with lost and lavished days,
He tastes the cheer of Christmas-tide.

The mug of cider emptied thrice,
He lights his pipe and tips his chair,
And once again, with narrowed eyes,
He plays the swift, fantastic air.

It guides the boy without, who flings
To left and right the clotted snow,
Or snatches at the tune, and sings,
And hand on latch, forbears to go.

It serves the master's jest, perchance,
The girlish laughter in the hall,
Or leads the light and scattered dance,
A rhythmic pleasure a rise and fall.

And through the crackling hemlock boughs
The hissing of the lighted tree,
It rounds the humming of the house,
To fuller mirth and gayety.

To him, the clashing strains repeat
The hollow music of the past;
He pipes to greet the rushing sleet
And whistles to the empty blast.

Across the worn and creaking strings
He feels a gilded passion glow,
As young as yonder boy, who brings
The Christmas message through the snow.

HEAVEN AND HAPPINESS.

REV. DR. WILSON ANSWERS SOME THEOLOGICAL QUESTIONS—CORRECTING A FEW COMMON ERRORS.

Degrees of Glory and Happiness—We Shall Never be Angels—Reward of Holiness and Virtue.

Last evening the Rev. Dr. Wilson preached to a very large congregation in St. George's Cathedral, and dealt with some phases of the recent religious controversy. His theme was:

"In my Father's house are many mansions."—St. John, xiv 2.

Having spoken of the false doctrine of Purgatory and the true doctrine of Paradise I desire, said he, to speak of our final home of glory. Before doing so I wish to answer two questions which have been asked of me since my last sermon.

1. What is the state of the wicked dead?

2. Where was Samuel after death?

It is painful to speak of the wicked dead, but the following statement, gathered from Holy Scripture, may help those desiring to know the truth. The souls of the righteous pass at death into Paradise and rest in felicity until the resurrection. Then soul and body, reunited, have their righteousness declared before God and the angels and hear the gracious words, "Come ye Blessed of My Father," etc., and pass to the right hand of the judge, into the Highest Heaven. The souls of the wicked pass into Hades, into that part of it called the "place of torment," separated by a great gulf from Paradise. Here they remain with a "fearful looking for of judgment and fiery indignation" until the resurrection when soul and body, joined again, rise to shame and everlasting contempt. In obedience to the awful command, "Depart ye cursed," they pass to the left hand of the Judge, into the lowest and final hell. In that day, so often spoken of by St. Paul,—never the day of death but always the day of judgment and of glory—Paradise will be absorbed in Heaven, and death and Hades shall be cast into the lake of fire. Life with God will be eternal in Heaven; death, apart from Him, will be hell eternal. A word as to

THE CASE OF SAMUEL.

Samuel, when called from Paradise, said to Saul, "To-morrow shalt thou and thy sons be with me." What do the words "with me" mean? If Saul and his sons were wicked how could they be with Samuel, who was a good man in the next world? The explanation is not difficult. The best authorities tell us that "with me" means simply in Hades, the land of the dead, but in a different part of it, just as Dives might be said to be with Abraham, because they were in the other world, but widely separated by the great gulf which none can pass. "With me," according to Henry and Scott, mean no more than that they, Saul and his sons, shall be in the eternal world. The phrase expresses the existence of a future and determines nothing against the different conditions of the righteous and the wicked therein. Adam Clark, the great Methodist commentator, thinks it means no more than that Saul and his sons should die, and quotes the beautiful lines of Charles Wesley as expressing hope even for the unhappy king and his sons:

"What do these solemn words portend?
A ray of hope amid the gloom of fate,
Thou and thy sons, though slain, shall be
To-morrow in rest with me;
Not to a state of hellish pain
If Saul with Samuel can remain,
Not in a state of damned despair
If loving Jonathan be there."

They who would speak rightly of it would need to have heavenly minds. The Heaven of the Bible is a place not of spiritual enjoyment alone, nor of bodily enjoyment alone, but of pure and perfect happiness, body and soul. Paradise is the rest for the soul, and it is the only place in which we shall be even for a time purely spiritual beings while the body is resting in the grave. But in Heaven, body and soul re-united, and with every power and faculty purified and made fit for the Master's use, we shall see God and enter upon that fullness of joy which only the presence of God can give to the whole man. And the great truth on which this statement is based is the fact that our Lord is Heaven to-night is there in His body as well as His soul—in that body, that in which He suffered, died, and arose again, in which He ascended to Heaven, in which He pleads for us before the Throne, in which He will come again to judge the world and receive His people unto Himself. Christ will never again lay aside His human body, which He took again on the resurrection day, and we, too, will never lay aside our glorified bodies when once we are "clothed upon" with immortality at our resurrection.

ANOTHER COMMON ERROR

is that we shall be angels. The Sunday school hymn, so dear to us, expresses the popular view of many besides little children:

"I want to be an angel,
And with the angels stand."

Now we may sing it, we may pray to be like them in glory and might, and above all to imitate their glorious virtues, but angels we shall never be, either in this world or in the next. Neither in Paradise nor in Heaven shall we ever lose our human nature and take upon us the nature of angels. Equal to the angels we shall be (St. Matthew xxii., 30), superior to them it may be, for St. Paul says we shall judge angels (1. Cor. vi., 3), but angels we shall not be, simply men and women, and for all eternity, only purified from all defect and defilement and made fit in body and soul for the presence and enjoyment of God. Here again Christ is our example. "He took not on him the nature of an angel" (Heb. ii., 16), but our human nature, never to lay it down again and by that great fact of the Incarnation He has made our nature holy and even greater in honor than that of angels, so that in Heaven human nature is higher than even angels, for God lives in the one and not in the other, and Christ is the God-Man, not the God-Angel for evermore. Then in the fullest sense "We are with Christ and Christ with us."

ONE OTHER FALSE OPINION

I would mention and correct. The common notion of Heaven is that of a large hall in which a vast number of people are gathered, but all on a perfect equality, with no distinctions of any kind between them. Thank God there will be no false distinctions in Heaven, none of the poor empty shams which so often distinguish a separate people on earth, none of the false rank which money gives to a bad man sometimes, and the want of money takes away from a good man in the world. None of the unreal and artificial degrees of social standing which modern society so often makes, elevating the wicked and degrading the righteous according to its fancy, but distinctions founded upon worth and truth, degrees of honor and glory arranged by God who cannot err and based upon His free mercy in Christ and our use of the grace He so freely gives us in Him. One house, many mansions. Room for all yet not all in the same room. Not a dead level of uniformity but a place for every one according to his growth in spiritual stature and his capacity for seeing God. The scripture proof of this doctrine of

DEGREES OF GLORY AND HAPPINESS

in Heaven is so plain that I shall simply refer you to the passages which teach it and ask you to study them for yourselves. 1. The angels of Heaven differ in degree and power. We read of archangels; angels, powers, thrones, dominions, principalities, cherubims and seraphims. (1 Luke xii-22. Eph. i-21, Rom viii 38, Jude, ix.) 2. The parable of the pounds. (Luke xix, 16.) 3. The parable of the talents. (St. Matt. xxv-15.) 4. It is answer of Christ to the request of the mother of Zebedee's children. (St. Matt. xx-20.) 5. The constant mention of the kingdom of Heaven. (St. Matt. xiii, etc.) 6. The statement again and again that men are to be rewarded according to their works. (Rev. xxi-12.) "Behold I come quickly, and my reward is with me to give every man according as his work shall be." These and scores of other passages prove conclusively that our place in Heaven at last will be assigned to us according to our capacity for happiness and fitness for the vision of God. Our place there will depend upon our growth in grace and meekness to Christ here. To see God is the privilege of the pure in heart (St. Matt. v-8; 1 John, iii 2, 3.) What is the practical use of this doctrine? To make our life here truer and purer by telling us that our life in Heaven is to be not so much another life as the continuation of this, and that a life of glory there implies a life of grace here; to help us to bear bravely all the injustice and wrong of this world, all the tyranny of its false distinctions. In Heaven a man will be honoured

NOT BECAUSE HE IS RICH

but because he is holy. Especially will this doctrine of degrees of glory and happiness in Heaven help us, if acted upon, to get rid of the miserable low view of Christianity which so many have—that as long as a man escapes Hell and gets into Heaven that is all he need care about. If only saved at last, saved even as by fire, and just get into Heaven before the doors are shut, this many say will be enough for me. Now the text and the doctrine rebuke this miserable selfish idea of salvation and Heaven; not the salvation of my own soul simply but that of all whom I can influence for good; not simply escape from Hell but an abundant entrance into Heaven; not even Heaven itself but the presence of God without which Heaven would be Hell; not a place in Heaven but a high place, near the throne, at the Saviour's feet.

My God, I love thee not because
I hope for Heaven thereby,
Nor yet because who love Thee not
Must die eternally.

Not with the hope of gaining aught,
Not seeking a reward,
But as I myself have loved me,
O, everlasting Lord!
