PARADISE NOT HEAVEN.

"Theophilus" Objects to Rev. Mr. Hagar's Conclusions—The Intermediate State.

To the Editor British Whig.

SIR,—I cannot accept the arguments advanced to demolish Dr. Wilson's sermon on Paradise appearing in the issue of the 11th. The Rev. J. M. Hagar says that thoughtful men have touched this subject lightly on the meagre proofs which the Scriptures furnish. The Reverend gentleman has also failed to give the public any very weighty evidence against it. He aspires to the dignity of a logician, with the cool precision of research. But I have grave doubts whether he is a logician. He advances the astoundingly illogical assertion that it is quite impossible to conceive Paradise—the highest Heaven or Hades, as being three distinct abodes. The difficulty which presents itself to his mind of conceiving Paradise as being a different state from Hades is that the spirit of the penitent thief went with Christ into Paradise while the Apostle's Creed states that Christ descended into Hades. This is the logical dilemma from which he sees no way of escape. Now there are many Scriptural proofs which dispose of this difficulty. Let us produce the following assertion of Christ—which proves His omnipresence. "For where two or three are gathered together in my name there am I in the midst of them."—Matt. 18, chap.

Now every Sunday when the various denominations gather together in their respective churches Christ asserts th, t He is in the midst of them. It makes no difference to Him how many churches there are for He is present in all. So likewise He can be present with the spirits of the just in Paradise at the same time that He is present with the unjust in Hades. It is, therefore, perfectly evident that the assertion of St. Peter in his 1st epistle 3rd chap. "By which also He (Christ) went and preached to the spirits in prison" is in perfect harmony with Christ's own words to the thief. "To-day shalt thou be with me in Paradise." What becomes now of Rev. Mr Hagar's irresistible logical position

He also sets forth arguments to prove that it is inconceivable to regard Paradise as being in any respect a distinct place from Heaven itself. Now previous to the fall of our first parents Eden was a Paradise to them, and a distant locality from the Paradise about which I am writing, as well as from Hades or the highest Heaven. In the name of logic, therefore, why cannot this other Paradise exist after the same manner as Eden? In respect of freedom from sin, Adam and Eve were, previous to the fall, as pure as the angels are at this moment, around the Throne of God. Is it any more absurd to regard the Paradise of the spirits of just men as being one state with Heaven in respect of freedom from the guilt of sin, and yet not one state as regards locality? I think it will be admitted that this conclusion of the Rev. gentleman is a argumentum ad ignorantiam.

Again he asserts that the visions which St. John the Divine beheld, as pictured in Revelation, were visions of the same things as St. Paul beheld when caught up to Paradise, as he assumes that St. Paul ascended to the highest Heaven. The chapter in Corynthians from which this is quoted sets forth no positive assertion that this Paradise was the highest Heaven itself. It merely says third Heaven. In I Cor. ii., it is declared, "Eye hath not seen nor ear heard, neither hath it entered into the heart of man the things which God had prepared for them that love Him." And in the vision of St. John in Rev. xxi., concerning the New Jerusalem, the third verse says: "And I heard a great voice out of Heaven saying, 'Behold the tabernacle of God is with men and He will dwell with them.'" Now it will be noticed that this vision was revealed as to be fulfilled immediately after the decisions of the last judgment, as this event precedes the unfolding of the glories of the New Jerusalem, as declared in the 20th chapter. At that time those things which are declared in the ninth verse of the second chapter of I. Cor. (to be hidden), will be disclosed to the glorified saints, not before. Paradise most certainly is a place of detention as contended by Dr. Wilson in opposition to the views of Rev. Mr. Hagar, who claims it to be a place of the glorious manifestations of the highest Heaven.

If the spirits of just men go to the highest Heaven immediately after death how can that agree with the assertion, "God will dwell with them," of the last quotation? It must be inferred that none of the saints will dwell with God until after the last judgment. I challenge any person to prove from Scripture that they do.—Yours truly,

THEOPHILUS.

True to Her Trust.

Too much cannot be said of the ever-faithful wife and mother, constantly watching and caring for her dear ones, never neglecting a single duty in their behalf. When they are assailed by disease and the system should have a thorough cleansing, the stomach and bowels regulated, blood purified, malarial poison exterminated, she must know that Eclectric Bitters are the only sure remedy. They are the best and surest medicine in the world, and only cost fifty cents. Sold by J. Geo King.

A Good Filter.

To have pure water in the house every family should have a good filter, the health and comfort depends largely upon the use of properly filtered water. The liver is the true filter for the blood, and Burdock Blood Bitters keep the liver and all the secretory organs in a healthy condition. It is the grand blood purifying, liver regulating tonic.

Indigestion.

This seven headed monster is more easily overcome by the use of NORDEN'S ELECTRIC BELT than by any other remedy, and it cannot possibly do any injury. Guaranteed genuine. Sole agent, W. J. Wilson, at "The Pharmacy" 183 Princess St.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

(As a NERVE FOOD.)

Dr. J. W. Smith, Wellington, O., says: "I have used it advantageously in impaired nervous supply."

Mr. Alexander Robinson, of Exeter, in writing about one of the most popular articles, and one that has done more good to the afflicted than any other medicine has during the short time it has been in existence, says: "I have used four bottles of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, and have been cured of dyspepsia that troubled me for over ten years. Part of that time I had it very bad, and I was at considerable expense trying to get relief; but this excellent medicine was the first and only relief I had received."

This cause of death. It is known almost to a certainty that in fatal disease the individual dies either by the brain, heart or lungs. How wise then is the effort to maintain a perfect state of health? Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters are a veritable "Health Giver." They free the system from all impurities; cure Biliousness, Dyspepsia, and all disease of the Stomach, Liver or Bowels. In large bottles at 50 cents. Sold by all Druggists.

INSANITY is in almost all cases the outgrowth of an overwrought brain. Dr. E. C. West's Nerve and Brain Treatment removes the cause and effects a cure. Sold by W. J. Wilson.

PRETTY GIRLS.

Eloquent Testimonial to their Charms from a New Yorker—Rosy Cheeks at the Carnival.

The correspondent of the N. Y. Sun, who attended the Montreal Carnival, is glowing tribute to the beauty of Canadian women. He says: To a New Yorker, who has heard the beauties of Baltimore, Brooklyn and Murray Hill girls raised beyond comparison, the Montreal girls and those from the other Canadian cities proved as interesting as anything where such objects are looked at was novel. No woman would dare go into the street painted as much or with such a pronounced red as superabundant health and spirits has died every pair of girlish cheeks. It is not likely that any drug could produce the flush and sparkle that one sees in every pair of girlish eyes; for the young women here get the charms they boast of by skating side by side with their brothers, rucing on snowshoes with the men, tobogganing wherever tobogganing can be practiced, walking like Indians and running like deer. A group of them in of as many bright colors as a bunch of garden flowers, and one gets the impression that they dress heavily, but this comes of the habit they have of tying a bright colored woollen comfortable over their heads and around their necks when ever they go out of doors in cold weather. To-day, at the snowshoe race, the tobogganing hills, and in the sleighs, the women from the United States shivered under their seal skin sacques, while the Montreal girls stood knee deep in snow, sat on the snow banks or stood on the hill tops half hours at a stretch. "I must tell you how these girls dress," said a New York woman to her husband. "First, they start with flannel from head to foot—and such flannel! Why, it's an eight of an inch thick. Then they go on like other women, except that they put on more skirts, and usually a quilted one that's as warm as a wood fire. Then they put on a dress, and over that a chamois jacket that fits like a shoe in the mud. Then they put ribbed woollen stockings over their stockings, and arctics over their shoes. They don't care any more about the looks of their feet than the St. Louis woman do. Then they put on knit wristlets, then gloves, then a fur or cloth dolman, then a fur cap, and finally a coil of worsted comforters. When they are dressed, if they are hurled at a speed of a mile a minute from a toboggan, they are unhurt. If they fall through the ice they are not wet. If the thermometer drops to 15 below they roast of it the next day and wish they had known it at the time."

SULPHOLINE LOTION.

An External Means of Curing Skin Diseases.

THERE is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days and in every case if it works just as the advertisement represents, it should be worth ten times its cost for its quick, thorough, and permanent effects. Sulpholine is not a cosmetic, but a medicine, which cures by its influence with the cuticle, which is the outlet of the pores of the skin. It is perfectly harmless, and can be used by the most delicate without risk or inconvenience, while its effects are so marked and decisive that every sufferer will be anxious to try it. Sulpholine is sold by all druggists, at 50 cents per bottle, or six bottles for $2.50, and should be applied to the affected parts twice a day.
